A REGULATION for postponing the operation of Section LXI, Regulation VIII, 1793, in the Zillah of Boglepore, to the end of Kautic 1201 Bengal Era. Passed by the Governor General in Council on the 14*th March* 1794, corresponding with the 3*d Chyte* 1200 Bengal Era; the 28*th Phaugun* 1201 Fussily; the 3*d Chyte* 1201 Willaity; the 20*th Phaugun* 1850 Sumbat; and the 11*th Shabaan* 1208 Higeree.

REPRESENTATIONS having been made to the Governor General in Council, that the Proprietors and Farmers of Land and the Dependant Talookdars in the Zillah of Boglepore, have not been able to complete the delivery of Pottahs to their Ryots in conformity to the Rules contained in Regulation VIII, 1793, and that it will be necessary to allow them a further period for that purpose, the following Rule has been enacted.

II. The Proprietors and Farmers of Land, and Dependant Talookdars in the Zillah of Boglepore, are allowed until the end of Kautic 1201 Bengal Era, to complete the delivery of Pottahs to their Ryots in conformity to the Rules prescribed in Regulation VIII, 1793, and and the Rule contained in Section LXI. of that Regulation, which directs that after the expiration of the year 1208 of the Eras current in the several Provinces, no engagements for rent contrary to those ordered in that Regulation, be held valid, and that in the event of any claims being preferred by Proprietors of Estates, or Dependant Talookdars, Farmers, or Ryots, on Engagements wherein the consolidation of the Assul, Abwaub, &c. shall appear not to have been made, they are to be non suited with Costs, shall not be considered to be, or to have been, in force in the Zillah of Boglepore, until the 1st of Aughun 1201 Bengal Era.

A. D. 1794. REGULATION III.

A REGULATION for exempting Proprietors of Land (with certain exceptions) from being confined for arrears of Revenue; and for prescribing the process by which Tehseeldars are to demand payment of arrears; and for enabling the Collectors to recover from Native Officers employed under them, public Money or Papers which they may embezzle or retain; and for expediting the trial of causes relating to the public Revenue or the Rents of Individuals.—Passed by the Governor General in Council, on the 14th March, 1794; corresponding with the 3d Chyte 1200 Bengal Era; the 28th Phaugun 1201 Fussily; the 3d Chyte 1201 Willaity; the 28th Phaugun 1850 Sumbut; and the 11th Shabaan 1208 Higeree.

FROM the earliest times, the Rulers of these Provinces have exercised a discretionary power of confining Proprietors of Land who have failed in the discharge of the public Revenue, in addition to attaching and disposing of their property to make good the deficiency. The Governor General in Council considering their property alone a sufficient security for the public dues, and being solicitous to refrain from every mode of coercion not absolutely necessary for realizing them; and instances having occurred of Sezawuls, Tehseeldars, Aumeens, and other native Officers, withholding the public Money, or omitting to attend the Collectors to adjust their accounts, or retaining Papers which came into their possession in their official capacity; and it being necessary that the Collectors should have the means of recovering the public dues and Papers from such persons; and, it being essential to the punctual collection of the Revenue, and the encouragement of agriculture, that all causes between Government and its subjects, and between individuals, regarding Revenue or Rent, should be determined as expeditiously as possible; the Governor General in Council has passed the following rules.

Proprietors and Farmers of Land to pay the Kist of each month on or before the first of the following month without waiting for its being demanded.

II. Every Proprietor of Land (which designation whenever it occurs in any Regulation is to be considered to include Zemindars, Independent Talookdars, and all Actual Proprietors of Land who pay the Revenue assessed upon their Estates immediately to Government) and Farmer of Land, is to cause the whole of the instalment for each month to be paid into the treasury of the Collector of the Zillah, or to the Tehseeldar, or other Officer who may be appointed to receive the public Revenue assessed on his Estate or farm, on or before the first day of the following month, without waiting for the amount being demanded by the Collector, or the Tehseeldar, or other Officer.

Proprietors of Land not to be liable to be confined for arrears.

III. Proprietors of Land shall not be liable to be confined for arrears of public Revenue, or for any demands of the nature of those specified in Section XI., Regulation XIV, 1793, excepting in the cases mentioned in Section XIV. Arrears due from Proprietors of Land, are to be recovered in the manner hereafter prescribed.

Exception to the Rule.

Arrears how to be recovered.

How arrears are to be demanded.

IV. If the whole, or the portion of the instalment, due from a Proprietor of Land on account of any one month, shall remain undischarged from Sect. IV to Sect. VII both inclusive rescinded by Sect. XXI. Reg. VII. 1799 charge, on the sixteenth of the following month, the Collector is to require payment of the arrear in the manner prescribed in Section III, Regulation XIV, 1793, and to apprize him by a notice inserted in the written demand, that in the event of his not discharging it by the limited time, he will be subjected, as a penalty, to the payment of an interest of Twelve per Cent. per Annum, on the amount of the arrear under Section VII, Regulation XIV, 1793.

Penalty for not discharging arrears.

V. If a Proprietor of Land, after having been served with a written demand for an arrear as prescribed in Section IV, shall not discharge the amount of it by the limited time, the Collector is to submit to the Board of Revenue a statement of such of his Lands as he may think it advisable to have sold to make good the amount. The Board of Revenue are to cause the Lands specified in the statement, or any other Lands belonging to the Defaulter which they may deem it preferable to dispose of, to be put up to sale agreeably to the Rules prescribed for disposing of Lands for arrears of Revenue, with this alteration, that instead of deferring the publication of the advertisement for the sale of the Lands until they have obtained the sanction of the Governor General in Council to the sale, they are of their own authority to direct the advertisement prescribed in Section XXVI, Regulation XIV, 1793, to be published. They are, however, immediately after, to report the amount of the arrear, the Lands ordered to be sold, the Jumma at which they are to be disposed of, and the place of sale, to the Governor General in Council, so as to obtain his sanction to the sale previous to its being made, without which sanction, it is not to take place. The Collectors are accordingly enjoined never to proceed to the sale of any Lands, until they have received notice through the Board of Revenue that the Governor General in Council has sanctioned the sale.

Collector how to proceed in the event of the Proprietor not discharging the demand.

Board of Revenue to order the Lands of the defaulter to be sold without waiting for the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council.

But to obtain his sanction after the advertisement has been published and not to proceed to the sale without it.

VI. If a Proprietor whose Lands may have been advertised for sale under the preceding Section, shall discharge the arrears at any time previous to the day of sale, he shall nevertheless pay the penalty specified in Section IV.

Proprietors whose lands are ordered to be put up to sale, to pay the penalty in Section IV, altho' they should discharge the arrears.

VII.

Lands ordered to be put up to sale, to be discharged of for whatever arrears may be due from the Proprietor up to the day of sale.

Sect. IV. Reg. XIV. 1793

VII. As it may often occur, that after Lands belonging to a defaulting Proprietor have been put up to sale, further arrears may become due from him previous to the day of sale, and consequently that notwithstanding he may have discharged the whole of the original arrear, a considerable balance may still be outstanding against him, it is declared, that when the Lands of a Proprietor are put up to sale to make good an arrear, they shall be liable to be sold on the day fixed, for the discharge of all arrears that may be due from him up to the day of sale, whether they shall have accumulated prior or subsequent to the Lands being advertised for sale, including the penalty prescribed in Section IV.

Tuccavy, &c. are to be recovered in the same manner as arrears of Revenue.

VIII. Arrears due from Proprietors on account of advances made to them by Government for any of the purposes specified in Section XL, Regulation XIV, 1793, are to be recovered by the same process as balances of Revenue.

Board of Revenue empowered to order the Collector to attach Lands directed to be sold, under the Rules prescribed in Sections VI and XXV, Regulation XIV, 1793.

Sections ten & eleven rescinded by Sect. XXIV. Reg. II. 1799.

IX. When the Lands of a Proprietor are ordered to be sold for the discharge of arrears, the Board of Revenue are empowered, in cases in which they may deem it expedient so to do, to order the Collector to attach the Lands, and commit them to the charge of an Aumeen, or a Tehseeldar, or other Officer, under Sections VI and XXV, Regulation XIV, 1793, for the purposes therein specified. But the Collector is not to attach the Lands under those Sections, without receiving previous directions from the Board of Revenue to that effect.

Proprietors resisting the officers deputed by the Collector under Section IX, to be proceeded against in the same manner as when resisting the Process issued against them under Section V, Regulation XIV, 1793.

X. If a Proprietor of Land shall resist, or cause to be resisted, the Aumeen or other Officer whom the Collector by the authority of the Board of Revenue may depute to attach his Lands, the Collector is to proceed against him in the manner in which he is directed by Regulation XIV, 1793, to proceed against Proprietors who resist the process which he may issue under Section V of that Regulation to take their persons into custody; and all the Rules contained in that Regulation respecting Proprietors who may resist, or cause to be resisted, the process issued by Collectors under that Section, are to be considered applicable to Proprietors who may resist, or cause to be resisted, the Officer who may be deputed by the Collector to attach their Lands under Section IX, of this Regulation.

Sections IX, X, XI, XIV, and XXII, of Regulation XIV, 1793, repealed.

XI. There being ground to believe that many Proprietors and Farmers of Land have availed themselves of the Rules in Sections IX, X, XI, XIV, and XXII, Regulation XIV, 1793, to withold payment of the public dues, and the persons of Proprietors of Land being no longer liable to be confined for arrears excepting in the cases specified in this Regulation, Sections IX, X, XI, XIV, and XXII, of Regulation XIV, 1793 are rescinded, and Proprietors and Farmers of Land shall be bound to discharge all sums that may be demanded of them by the Collector on the part of Government in the manner prescribed in Section III, Regulation XIV, 1793, under pain of being proceeded against for such sums as for arrears.

Proprietors and Farmers of Land how to recover sums exacted from them beyond their engagements.

XII. That Proprietors and Farmers of Land may be enabled to recover sums that may be exacted from them by the Collector on the part of Government, above what they may be bound to pay by their engagements, and that they may be indemnified from all loss they may sustain by such exactions, it is declared, that if a Collector shall demand a sum of Money from a Proprietor or Farmer of Land, on account of Arrears in the manner prescribed in Section III, Regulation XIV, 1793, and the Proprietor or Farmer shall deny, by a writing to that effect addressed to the Collector, the justness of the whole or a part of the demand, but to prevent any further Process being issued against him, shall discharge the whole of the demand, the Proprietor or Farmer shall be at liberty to sue the Collector in the Dewanny Adawlut of the Zillah, for the recovery of the sum which he may consider to have been unjustly taken from him, and the Court shall give judgement in favor of the Complainant for all such sums as may be proved to have been unduly exacted from him, and the amount of such judgement shall be refunded to him from the public treasury of the Zillah, with interest at the rate of Twelve per Cent. per Annum, from the date of the exaction, to the date of the decree. All the Rules in Regulation XIV, 1793, respecting suits instituted against a Collector for sums actually received by him on the part of Government from any Proprietor or Farmer of Land, or from the Surety of any Farmer, are to be considered applicable to suits that may be instituted against a Collector under this Section.

What Rules in Reg. XIV, 1793, are to be considered applicable to suits instituted against the Collector under this Section.

XIII. When arrears shall become due from Proprietors or Farmers of Land, whose Revenue may be made payable to a Tehseeldar, or other Officer appointed by Government to collect it, such Officer is to demand the payment of the arrears by the same Process as Collectors are required to observe in requiring the discharge of arrears by Section III, Regulation XIV, 1793. If the Defaulter shall not liquidate the arrears by the prescribed period, the Tehseeldar or other Officer is to report the amount of the arrear to the Collector, who is to proceed to the recovery of it by the same Process as he is directed to observe in recovering arrears due from Proprietors or Farmers paying Revenue immediately to the treasury of the Zillah.

How Tehseeldars or other public officers are to require payment of arrears from Proprietors or Farmers paying Revenue to them.

XIV. If the whole of the Lands of a Proprietor shall be sold for the discharge of arrears of Revenue, or any of the demands specified in Section XL, Regulation XIV, 1793, and the proceeds of the sale shall not be sufficient to make good the arrears; or, if the Lands of a defaulting Proprietor shall be put up to sale, and no person shall offer to purchase them; in the first case, the person of the Defaulter and any personal property which he may possess, and in the second, his person and property of every description, shall be liable for the balance to the operation of all the Rules regarding defaulting Proprietors contained in Regulation XIV, 1793, excepting the Rules in the several Sections of that Cases in which Proprietors of Land are liable to be imprisoned under Regulation XIV, 1793.

Regulation

Regulations which are rescinded by Section XI. Whenever a Collector may confine a Proprietor under this Section, after all his Lands have been disposed of, he is immediately to report the circumstances to the Board of Revenue, who are to submit them for the information of the Governor General in Council.

Collector to inform the Board of Revenue when he may confine a Proprietor after his lands have been sold.

(XV.) The Collectors are to take security for the personal appearance of the Tehseeldars, Sezawuls, Aumeens, Dewans, Sherishtadars, Moonshies, Mohurrers, and all Native Officers, entrusted with the receipt or payment of public Money, or the charge of public accounts, who now are, or may be hereafter employed under them, in their capacity of Collectors of the Revenue. The Surety is to bind himself to produce the Officer for whom he may become Security before the Collector, whenever his attendance may be required, until he shall be discharged from the public service, and shall have received a writing from the Collector, signifying that he has no demand upon him on the part of Government, either for money, papers, or accounts, belonging to the public, that may have been committed to him, or come into his possession in his official capacity; and further, that in the event of his not producing such Officer, he will be responsible for all demands that the Collector may have upon him for public money, papers or accounts, and be liable to be proceeded against in every respect in the same manner as the Officer himself, had he been forthcoming. When any such Officer is removed, or resigns, the Collector is to grant him an acquittal to the above effect, after he shall have delivered up all public papers, accounts, or money, that may have been committed to his charge. The Collectors may require such Officers to give new Sureties, in cases in which they may have ground to believe that the former Sureties, whether admitted by themselves or their predecessors, are not responsible.

Collectors to take security for the personal appearance of the Native Officers hereinafter mentioned.

Conditions to which the Surety is to be bound.

(XVI.) If a Collector shall have a claim on the part of Government on any of the Native Officers described in the preced-

The Collector is authorized likewise to attach such part of the real or personal property belonging to the Officer, as may be sufficient to make good the Sum which may be due from him. If his property shall be in another Zillah, he is to apply to the Collector of that Zillah, who shall cause it to be attached. If the property shall be within the Cities of Patna, Dacca, or Moorshedabad, the Collector is to apply to the Judge of the Zillah, through the Vakeel of Government, to make application to the Judge of such City to attach and deliver it into the charge of the nearest Collector. In the event of the death of any such Officer, the Surety is to be exonerated from all responsibility, and the Collector is to proceed against his heirs, by a regular suit in the Court to which they may be amenable, for any claims which Government may have upon the deceased. The suit is to be carried on by the Vakeel of Government, and at the public expence, and the Rules in Regulation XIV, 1793, regarding suits so carried on by the Collectors, are to be held applicable to it.

XVII. If any such Native Officer who may have retained public Money or Papers in his possession, shall abscond, or not be forthcoming, the Collector may proceed against the Surety upon his engagement, or apprehend the Offender and commit him to prison, if he be within the limits of the Zillah; or, if he shall have taken refuge in any other Zillah, or in either of the Cities of Patna, Dacca or Moorshedabad, and the Collector shall deem it necessary to require his personal attendance that he may proceed against him instead of his Surety, the Collector is to apply to the Judge of the Zillah to request the Judge within whose jurisdiction the Officer may be or reside, to cause him to be apprehended. The Judge to whom the application may be made, is to convey the Officer in safe custody to the Jail of the Zillah from which he may have absconded.

Collectors how to proceed where Officers abscond or are not forthcoming.

XVIII. When a Collector shall have occasion to require any such Officer to attend to adjust his accounts that the sum due from him may be ascertained, and he shall not attend upon being required by a writing to that effect under the official seal and signature of the Collector to be fixed up in his Cutcherry, and at the place in the Zillah at which the Officer may have last resided, the Collector is empowered to prepare the most accurate statement that he may be able of the Money or Papers in the possession of such Officer, and proceed against the Surety upon his engagement, for the balance or papers, in the same manner as if the accounts had been adjusted, and the list of the papers prepared, in the presence of the Officer, or, he may cause the Officer to be apprehended by his own authority under Section XVI, if he be within the limits of the Zillah, or if he shall have taken up his abode in any other Zillah, or in either of the Cities of Patna, Dacca or Moorshedabad, by application to the Judge in the manner directed in Section XVII. If it should afterwards appear upon enquiry before the Court, that no part, or a portion only, of the sum demanded was due from him; or that the papers required were not in his possession, the Collector shall not be liable to pay any damages for having confined him, and all Officers or Sureties confined for a demand of Money to be released in the mode herein specified.

XIX. If any such Officer or his Surety shall be confined on account of a claim for public Money, and previous to the sale of his property, or supposing the Collector not to have been able to get possession of any property belonging to him, at any time subsequent to his confinement, shall deny the justness of the whole or any part of the demand made upon him by the Collector, and find some responsible person who will become security that he will institute a suit in the Court in fifteen days against the Collector to try the demand, and to pay the sum that may be awarded against him with costs and interest at the rate of Twelve per Cent. from the date on which the sum may be demanded of him to the date of the decree, the Court is to discharge the Officer or Surety, and proceed to the trial of the Suit; and if any property belonging to the Officer or Surety shall have been ordered to be sold, the sale shall be countermanded, and the property restored to the owner.

Native Officers or their Sureties at liberty to sue the Collector whilst in confinement.

XX. If any such Native Officer, or his Surety, shall be committed to custody by the Collector, and shall not obtain his release in the mode specified in Section XIX, he shall nevertheless be at liberty whilst in confinement, to sue the Collector by whom he may have been confined, should he deem the demand upon him unjust.

Collectors to appoint an authorized Vakeel of the Court to defend the suits herein specified.

XXI. The Collectors are to appoint one of the authorized Vakeels of the Courts to defend any suits which may be instituted against them by any such Native Officers or their heirs, or Sureties, under this Regulation; and all the Rules in Regulation XIV, 1793, regarding suits instituted against the Collector for sums demanded or received by him on behalf of Government, and which are not repealed by this Regulation, are to be considered applicable to such suits.

A. D. 1794. REGULATION IV.

A REGULATION for exempting the part of the Zillah of Ramgur included in the Soubah of Behar, from the the operation of the Rules in Regulation VIII, 1793, regarding the appointment of Putwarries, and the delivery of Pottahs to the Ryots; and for postponing the operation of Section LXI, Regulation VIII, 1793, in the Zillahs of Rajeshahy, Purneah, and the Zemindaary of Nuddea; and for providing for cases in which Ryots may omit or refuse to take out the prescribed Pottahs when tendered to them; and for determining any disputes that may arise between the Proprietors and Farmers of Land regarding the rates of Pottahs that are to be granted pursuant to Regulation VIII, 1793, or the rates at which Pottahs expiring or becoming cancelled under Regulation XLIV, 1793, are to be renewed. PASSED by the Governor General in Council on the 27th March 1794; corresponding with the 16th Chyte 1200 Bengal Era; the 11th Chyte 1201 Fussily; the 16th Chyte 1201 Willaity; the 11th Chyte 1851 Sumbut; and the 24th Shabaan 1208 Higeree.

THE

THE Proprietors and Farmers of Land in the portion of the Zillah of Ramgur included in the Soubah of Behar, having represented the impracticability of conforming to the Regulations for granting Pottahs, from the body of the Ryots in that part of the country being unable to read or write, and being accustomed to cultivate the Lands under verbal agreements and terms entirely dissimilar to those which prevail in other parts of the Provinces; and having also stated the heavy expence to which they would be subjected, were they to be compelled to appoint Putwarries to keep the accounts of the Villages under the Rules prescribed in Section LXII, Regulation VIII, 1793, owing to the small number of the Villages, their distance from each other, and the inconsiderable Revenue, which, from the inland situation, and the mountainous and uncultivated state of the country, is collected from them; and the Proprietors and Farmers of Land in the Zillah of Purneah, and the Proprietor of the Zemindarry of Nuddea, having represented that a further time will be required to enable them to complete the delivery of Pottahs to the Ryots; and it having appeared that Ryots frequently omit or refuse to take out Pottahs, although the persons from whom they are entitled to demand them offer to grant them in the form and on the terms prescribed; and it being essential to the protection of the Ryots, and the future prosperity of the country, that Rules should be adopted for determining disputes that may arise between the Ryots, and the Proprietors and Farmers of Land, or Dependant Talookdars, regarding the rates of the Pottahs required to be granted by Regulation VIII, 1793, or the rates at which Pottahs that may expire or become cancelled under Regulation XLIV, 1793, are to be renewed; the Governor General in Council has enacted the following Rules.

Behar portion of the Ramgur Zillah exempted from the Rules regarding Pottahs.

II. The Rules contained in Sections LIV, LVI, LVII, LVIII, LIX, LXI, Regulation VIII, 1793, are not to be considered applicable to that part of the Zillah of Ramgur which is included in the Soubah of Behar.

III.

III. Clause Second, Section LXII, Regulation VIII, 1793, is declared not to extend to the Districts alluded to in the preceding Section; but the Gomastahs or Officers whom the Proprietors or Farmers of Land, or the under Farmers or Ryots in those Districts, may entertain for keeping such written or other Village accounts as are kept, shall be bound to produce such accounts in the cases in which the Courts of Judicature, or the Collectors, are empowered by the abovementioned or any other Regulation to require them; and such officers, as well as their constituents, are to be considered liable to all the Rules in that Section (the Rules in Clause Ninth excepted) in the same manner as the Proprietors, Dependant Talookdars, Farmers, and Putwarries, in other Districts.

Qualification of Section LXII, Regulation VIII 1793, regarding the Districts abovementioned.

IV. The Proprietors and Farmers of Land, and the Dependant Talookdars in Purneah, are allowed until the expiration of the year 1200 Bengal Era, and the Proprietor of the Zemindarry of Nuddea, until the expiration of the year 1201 of the same Era, to complete the delivery of Pottahs to their respective Ryots, in conformity to the Rules prescribed in Regulation VIII, 1793, and the Rule contained in Section LXI of that Regulation, which directs that after the expiration of the year 1198 of the Eras current in the different Provinces, no Engagements for Rent contrary to those ordered in that Regulation shall be held valid, and that in the event of any claims being preferred by Proprietors of Estates, or Dependant Talookdars, Farmers, or Ryots, on Engagements wherein the consolidation of the Assul, Abwaub, &c. shall appear not to have been made, they are to be nonsuited with costs, shall not be considered to be or to have been in force in the before mentioned Zillah and Zemindarry respectively, until the expiration of the periods above specified.

Further period allowed for distributing Pottahs in the Zillah of Purneah, and in the Zemindarry of Nuddea.

grant them in the form and on the terms prescribed by the Regulations, it is declared, that if a Proprietor or Farmer of Land, or a Dependant Talookdar, after the approbation of the Collector to the form of the Pottah or Pottahs for the Lands in his Estate or Farm shall have been obtained, as prescribed in Section LVIII, Regulation VIII, 1793, shall fix up in the principal Cutcherry or Cutcherries of his Estate or Farm, a notification in writing under his Seal and Signature, specifying that Pottahs according to the form approved, and at the established rates, will be immediately granted to all Ryots who may apply for them, and stating where and when and by whom the Pottahs will be delivered, the notification shall be considered as a legal tender of a Pottah, and the Proprietor of Land, the Farmer, or the Dependant Talookdar shall be deemed to have complied with the orders in Section LIX, Regulation VIII, 1793, and the persons so tendering Pottahs shall be entitled to recover the Rents due to them from such Ryots, either by the process of distraint laid down in Regulation XVII, 1793, or by suit in the Dewanny Adawlut.

Rules for determining disputes regarding the rates of Pottahs to be granted under Regulation VIII, 1793.

VI. The approbation of the Collector required to be obtained to Pottahs by Section LVIII, Regulation VIII, 1793, is to be considered to extend to the form only. If a dispute shall arise between the Ryots and the persons from whom they may be entitled to demand Pottahs, regarding the rates of the Pottahs (whether the Rent be payable in money or kind) it shall be determined in the Dewanny Adawlut of the Zillah in which the Lands may be situated, according to the rates established in the Pergunnah for Lands of the same description and quality as those respecting which the dispute may arise.

Rule in the preceding Section applied to the renewal of Pottahs that may expire or become cancelled under Regulation XLIV, 1793.

VII. The Rules in the preceding Section are to be considered applicable not only to the Pottahs which the Ryots are entitled to demand in the first instance under Regulation VIII, 1793, but also to the renewal of Pottahs which may expire or become cancelled under Regulation XLIV, 1793. And to remove all doubt regarding

regarding the rates at which the Ryots shall be entitled, to have their Pottahs renewed, it is declared, that no Proprietor or Farmer of Land, or any other person, shall require Ryots whose Pottahs may expire or become cancelled under the last mentioned Regulation, to take out new Pottahs at higher rates than the established rates of the Pergunnah for Lands of the same quality and description, but that Ryots shall be entitled to have such Pottahs renewed at the established rates, upon making application for that purpose to the person by whom their Pottahs are to be granted, in the same manner as they are entitled to demand Pottahs in the first instance, by Regulation VIII, 1793.

A. D. 1794. REGULATION V.

A REGULATION for restricting the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, and the Provincial Courts of Appeal, from admitting appeals from decisions passed by any of the Courts of Dewanny Adawlut, heretofore denominated Courts of Mofussil Dewanny Adawlut, between the 6th April 1781, and the 1st May 1793, that were declared to be final by the Regulations for the administration of Justice which existed during that period.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council on the 30th May 1794; corresponding with the 19th Jeyte 1201 Bengal Era; the 16th Jeyte 1201 Fussily; the 19th Jeyte 1201 Willaity; the 16th Jeyte 1851 Sumbut; and the 29th Showaul 1208 Higeree.

BY the Regulations for the administration of Justice which were in force between the 6th of April 1781, and the 1st May 1793, all decisions passed by any Mofussil Dewanny Adawlut, wherever established or before whomsoever held, were declared to be final where the Decree was for a Zemindarry, Talookdarry, Chowdrai, or any Land, or House, being Lakheraje, the stated annual produce of which did not exceed the sum of One hundred Sicca Rupees, or where the Decree was for a Zemindarry, Talookdarry, Chowdrai, or any Land or House, being Malguzarry, the Jumma or annual Revenue payable to Government was not more than One thousand Sicca Rupees, or, if the Land was Malguzarry Aymá, where the quit Rent payable to Government did not exceed Fifty Sicca Rupees, and in all other cases, where the Decree was for a sum of money or thing the amount or value of which was not more than One thousand Sicca Rupees. By Section XII, Regulation V, 1793, it is declared that an Appeal shall lie from all decisions of the Zillah and City Courts (heretofore denominated Courts of Mofussil Dewanny Adawlut) without limitation as to the value or amount of the Property decreed, provided an Appeal from the decision be presented within three Calendar months after it may be passed, either to the Provincial Court, or to the Court by which the Decree may have been given. By the same Section however, a power is lodged in the Provincial Courts of receiving Appeals from decisions after the expiration of the three months, provided the Appellant can show good cause to their satisfaction for not having preferred the Appeal within the limited time. Doubts having arisen whether the abovementioned power vested in the Provincial Courts of admitting Appeals from decisions after the elapse of the limited period of three months, was meant to extend to decisions passed prior to the 1st May 1793, which were not appealable by the Regulations that existed when the Decrees were given; and as the admitting of an Appeal either to the Provincial Courts, or to the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, from such Decrees, would be injurious to Property held in virtue of them, as well as to those persons who deemed themselves aggrieved by any such Decrees, but whose Petitions to appeal from them were rejected in consequence of the Regulations then in force declaring them to be final; and it being necessary, in order to prevent Property held under Decrees of the late Courts of Mofussil Dewanny Adawlut, and of the Zillah and City Courts, being considered insecure, that the powers vested in the Provincial Courts of Appeal of receiving under the restrictions prescribed in Regulation V. 1793. Appeals from Decrees of the former Courts that were appealable by the Regulations under which they were given; and from the Decrees of the latter Courts in all cases, after the elapse of the period limited for preferring the Appeal, should be exercised with due caution; the following Rules have been enacted.

No Appeals to be received from decrees of the Courts of Mofussil Dewanny Adawlut passed before the 1st May 1793, that were final by the Regulations which existed when they were given.

II. The Provincial Courts of Appeal, and the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, are prohibited admitting an Appeal from any decision passed subsequent to the 6th April 1781, and previous to the 1st May 1793, by any of the late Courts of Mofussil Dewanny Adawlut established in the several Collectorships (now denominated Zillahs) and in the Cities of Patna, Dacca, and Moorshedabad, where the Decree is for any Zemindarry, Talookdarry, Chowdrai, or other Land or House being Lakheraje, the stated annual produce of which shall not exceed the sum of One hundred Rupees; or, where the Decree is for any Ayma Land paying a quit Rent to Government, not exceeding the annual amount of Fifty Sicca Rupees, or where the Decree is for any Zemindarry, Talookdarry, or Chowdrai, or any House or Land being Malguzarry, where the stated Jumma or annual Revenue payable to Government shall not exceed One thousand Sicca Rupees; and in all other cases where the Decree is for any sum of money or thing the amount or value of which shall not exceed the sum of One thousand Sicca Rupees. Provided however, that if the Provincial Courts of Appeal shall have admitted any Appeals previous to the date of this Regulation, either of their own authority, or pursuant to orders from the Governor General in Council, or the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, from decisions passed by any Mofussil Dewanny Adawlut prior to the 1st May, 1793, in any causes which were not appealable by the Regulations that existed when the Decrees were given, they shall try and decide such Appeals, notwithstanding any thing that may be said to the contrary in this Regulation.

Exception to the Rule.

III.

Provincial Courts to exercise with caution the powers vested in them of admitting Appeals after the limited time.

III. As all Property held under Decrees passed by the late Courts of Mofussil Dewanny Adawlut previous to the 1st May 1793, which were appealable under the Regulations that were in force when the Decrees were given, and also under Decrees of the Zillah and City Courts which have been passed subsequent to the 1st May 1793, or that may be hereafter passed by those Courts, would be considered to be insecure, were it always liable to be again contested after the elapse of the period limited for appealing from the Decrees, the Provincial Courts of Appeal are to exercise with due caution the power vested in them by Section XII, Regulation V, 1793, of admitting Appeals from Decrees of the late Courts of Mofussil Dewanny Adawlut, passed previous to the 1st May 1793, which were not final by the Regulations that existed when the Decrees were given, and also from Decrees that have been passed by any Zillah or City Court since the 1st May 1793, or that may be hereafter given by those Courts, where the Petition of Appeal shall have been presented after the limited period of three Calendar months. Upon the principles above stated, they are also to be careful not to try any Appeal, although the Petition of Appeal shall have been filed within the prescribed time, or admitted after the elapse of it, where the Appellant shall have omitted to proceed in the Appeal for six weeks, unless he can show good and satisfactory cause for the omission, as required in Section XXI, Regulation V, 1793.

Also also of trying appeals after the Appellant has omitted to proceed in them for six weeks.

A. D. 1794. REGULATION VI.

A REGULATION for postponing to the 10*th April* 1795, the operation of such parts of Sections XVIII, XIX, XX, and XXIII, Regulation XXXV, 1793, as regard the Silver Coin.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council on the 30*th May* 1794, corresponding with the 19*th Jeyte* 1201 Bengal Era; the 16*th Jeyte* 1201 Fussily; the 19*th Jeyte* 1201 Willaity; the 16*th Jeyte* 1851 Sumbut; and the 29*th Showal* 1208 Higeree.

BY Section XVIII, Regulation XXXV, 1793, it was enacted, that after the 10th April 1794, corresponding with the 30th Chyte 1200 Bengal Era, the 25th Chyte 1201 Fussily, the 30th Chyte 1201 Willaity, the 25th Chyte 1851 Sumbut, and the 9th Ramzaan 1208 Higeree, no other Rupee excepting the Sicca of the Nineteenth Sun, should be received at any of the public Treasuries, or issued therefrom, or be considered as a legal tender of payment in any public or private transaction. This Rule was a confirmation of a Rule to the same effect, passed on the 24th October 1792, at which time it was presumed, that by the abovementioned period, a sufficient number of Sicca Rupees of the Nineteenth Sun would have been introduced into circulation for rendering it the only legal tender of payment, and enforcing the other Rules in that Regulation that were to take place from the same date. The Governor General in Council having received representations from different parts of the country, that the number of Sicca Rupees of the Nineteenth Sun now in circulation is not sufficient for the purposes abovementioned, and that rejecting all other species of Rupees at the Treasuries in the different Zillahs at present, would impede the collection of the Revenue, and be productive of much inconvenience to the people at large, the following Rule has been enacted.

Operation of the Rules in Regulation XXXV, 1793, herein specified, postponed to the 10th April 1795.

II. Such parts of Sections XVIII, XIX, XX, and XXIII, Regulation XXXV, 1793, as regard the Silver Coin, are not to be considered to be, or to have been, in force, until the 10th of April 1795, corresponding with the 30th Chyte 1201 Bengal Era, the 6th Bysaak 1202 Fussily, the 30th Chyte 1202 Willaity, the 6th Bysaak 1802 Sumbut, the 19th Ramzaan 1209 Higeree, after which period, all the Rules contained in those Sections are to be considered in full force. Until the arrival of that period, Rupees of sorts are to be received at the public Treasuries, and to be current under the Rules that were in force regarding them previous to the 10th April 1794.

A.D. 1794. REGULATION VII.

A REGULATION for enabling one Judge of Circuit to hold the Courts for the half yearly and monthly Jail deliveries: and for empowering one of the Judges of the Provincial Court of Appeal in each Division to remain at the Sudder Station to transact certain parts of the business of the Court, whilst the other Judges are making the Circuits; and for providing against the absence or indisposition of the Judges or their Law Officers, and against Vacancies in the Judicial and Law Appointments.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 17th October 1794, corresponding with the 3d Kartic 1201 Bengal Era, the 9th Kartic 1202 Fussly, the 3d Kartic 1202 Willaity; the 9th Kartic 1851 Sumbut, and the 22d Rabee ul Awal 1209 Hijeree.

BY Section XLI. Regulation IX. 1793. one of the two Courts directed to be formed in each Division, for expediting the half yearly Jail deliveries in the several Zillahs prescribed by Section XIX. of that Regulation, is required to be held by the first Judge, and the other Court, by the second and third Judges of Circuit.

Circuit. During the absence of the Judges on the Circuits, the exercise of their functions as Judges of the Provincial Courts of Appeal in civil cases is unavoidably suspended. As necessary consequences of the Courts of Appeal being shut during these periods, persons desirous of appealing from the Decrees of the Zillah or City Courts are often prevented from filing their petitions within the limited period, whilst others who have allowed the time for appealing to elapse, urge the absence of the Judges from the station at which the Courts are held, as a plea for not having preferred their petitions within the prescribed time; answers to references to the Courts are delayed, the execution of their orders and process is suspended; and the decision of Appeals retarded. By Section XLVI, of the same Regulation, it is likewise ordered, that all the Judges of the Courts, on their return from the Circuits, shall sit in Court at the Monthly Jail deliveries directed to be held at the Sudder stations. In consequence of this Rule, a very considerable part of the time of the Judges during the intervals between the half yearly Circuits, is occupied with Criminal trials in so much as not to leave them sufficient time for completing the business of the Courts of Appeal before the arrival of the period for performing the next Circuit. With a view therefore to expedite the decision of Appeals in civil causes, without retarding the half yearly and monthly Jail deliveries, and also to obviate interruption to the administrations of justice from the absence or indisposition of any of the Judges or their Law Officers, or from vacancies in the Judicial or Law Appointments, the following Rules have been enacted.

Sections of Regulation IX, 1793, rescinded.

II. Sections XLI, XLII, XLIII, XLIV, XLV, XLVI, Regulation IX, 1793, are rescinded.

III. To expedite the half yearly Jail deliveries in the Zillahs, two Courts are to be formed in each Division. Each Court is to be superintended by one of the Judges of Circuit. The Register and the Cauzy are to accompany one Court, and one of the Assistants to the Register, and the Moofty, are to attend the other. The Judges of Circuit however are empowered, whenever it may appear to them advisable, to order their Registers and their Assistants to remain at the Sudder Station during the Circuits, for the purpose of translating the records of the Court which may be referable to the Nizamut Adawlut, or for the performance of any other duty.

The Registers to be attended by one Law officer to accompany each Court.

Fifth. The remaining Judge of the Court of Circuit in each Division, is to continue at the Sudder Station for the purpose specified in Section XII.

The remaining Judge of each Court to continue at the Sudder Station.

The same Judge and Law Officer not to make two Circuits successively at the same station.

VI. The two Courts in each division are to proceed alternately to the stations specified in Section V, so that the same Judge and Law Officer may never make two Circuits successively at the same station. The Nizamut Adawlut however are empowered to dispense occasionally with the Rule contained in this Section, as also with the Rule in Clause Second, Section IV, in any particular cases in which it may appear to them necessary.

Nizamut Adawlut empowered occasionally to dispense with the Rule in Clause Second, Section IV.

VII. No Judge is to absent himself from his station without the previous sanction of the Nizamut Adawlut, nor shall any Judge, when present at his station, omit to go the Circuit as prescribed, unless he should be prevented by indisposition, or other unavoidable impediment, the earliest notice of which is to be transmitted to that Court.

Provisions made for the absence or indisposition of one of the Judges, also for the vacancy of one of the Seats in the Court.

VIII. First. In the event of the absence or indisposition of one of the Judges, or of one of the seats in the Court being vacant, so as not to admit of one Judge remaining at the Sudder station for the purposes specified in Section XII, whilst the other two Judges perform the Circuits, the two remaining Judges shall nevertheless proceed with the two Courts of half yearly Jail Delivery to the stations prescribed in Section V, and the Governor General in Council will either grant a special Commission to the Register of the Court to execute the whole or any part of the business allotted to the Judge remaining at the Sudder station, or appoint any other person for that purpose, or make such provision for the case as he may deem proper, until the absent or indisposed Judge shall return or recover, or the vacant seat in the Court shall be supplied.

and also for the death or indisposition of a Judge whilst on the circuit.

Second. Should either of the Judges die on the Circuit, or be indisposed on the Circuit, as to be unable to hold a Court, the Governor General in Council will either order the Judge who may remain at the Sudder station to complete the business of the Circuit, or make such other provision for the case as may appear to him advisable.

12. When the Courts in the Divisions of Patna, Dacca and Moorshedabad, have completed the Jail deliveries in the several Zillahs in which half yearly Jail deliveries are directed to be made, they are to repair without delay to their respective Sudder stations of Patna, Dacca, and Moorshedabad. The Judge of the Court of Circuit for the Division of Patna who may first return from the Circuit, is immediately on his arrival, to proceed to try all persons committed or held to bail to take their trial in the City of Patna; the Judge of the Court of Circuit for the Division of Moorshedabad who may first return from the Circuit, shall in like manner proceed to try all persons committed or held to bail to take their trial in the City and in the Zillah of Moorshedabad, and the Judge of the Dacca Division who may first return from the Circuit, is to proceed immediately to try all persons committed or held to bail to take their trial in the City of Dacca, and in the Zillah of Dacca Jelalpore. On the first of the month next but one after the month in which one of the two Courts in each of the three abovementioned Divisions may return to their respective Sudder stations, and upon the first of every succeeding month until the Courts proceed again on the half yearly Circuit, a Court of general Jail delivery is to be held for the said Cities, and for the Zillahs of Moorshedabad and Dacca Jelalpore, and the Court is to continue to sit until the business of the monthly session is completed. Agreeably to the above rule, if the Judge of any one of the above Divisions who may first complete the business of the Circuit, shall return to the Sudder station on the 15th of January, he is to try all persons committed or held to bail to take their trial as above directed, and the next Jail delivery is to be held on the first of March, and on the first of every succeeding month until the Courts proceed again upon the Circuit. But when the first of the month shall fall on Sunday, the Courts of monthly Jail delivery directed to be held in the three Cities and the two Zillahs above specified, shall not be opened until the Monday following, nor shall any of the Courts of Circuit sit on Sunday on any occasion whatever.

By whom and when the Jail deliveries are to be made at the Sudder stations of Patna, Dacca, and Moorshedabad.

Courts of Circuit not to sit on Sunday in any case whatever.

Judges to hold the monthly Courts of Jail Delivery at the City Stations in Rotation.

X. The Courts of monthly Jail delivery directed in Section IX, to be held at the stations of Patna, Dacca, and Moorshedabad, are to be held before one of the Judges of each Division, who are to hold the Sessions in Rotation, that the other two Judges may at the same time hold a Court of Appeals.

Jail Deliveries in the Twenty-four Pergunnahs when and how to be made.

XI. When the Judges of the Division of Calcutta have completed the half yearly Jail deliveries in the Zillahs mentioned in Section V, they are to return to their station in the vicinity of Calcutta, and to hold Jail Deliveries for the Zillah of the Twenty-four Pergunnahs in the same manner as the Courts of Circuit in the other Divisions are directed in Section IX, to hold Jail deliveries for the Cities at which they are respectively stationed.

A. D. 1794. REGULATION VIII.

REGULATION for extending and defining the powers given by Section VI, Regulation XIII, 1793, to the Registers of the Zillah and City Courts, to try and decide causes referred to them by the Judges of their respective Courts, and for empowering the Zillah and City Courts in certain cases, to refer Rent and Revenue Accounts to the Collectors for report.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 14th November 1794, corresponding with the 1st Aughun 1201 Bengal Era; the 6th Aughun 1202 Fussly; the 6th Aughun 1202 Willaity; the 6th Aughun 1851 Sumbut; and the 20th Rubbee ys sanee 1209 Hugeree.

TO prevent the time of the Judges of the Zillah and City Courts being occupied with the trial of petty Suits, and consequently to enable them to determine Causes of magnitude with greater expedition, they were empowered by Section VI, Regulation XIII, 1793, to authorize the Registers of their respective Courts to try and decide any Suits for Money or any Personal Property where the Value or the Value of the thing contested should not exceed the sum of [illegible] hundred Sicca Rupees, and for Malguzarry Land, the annual [illegible] produce of which should not be above two hundred Sicca Rupees, or for Lakhiraj Land, the produce of which should not be more than Twenty Sicca Rupees per annum. But the same Regulation, directing the decrees so passed by the Register, were to be countersigned by the Judge to denote his approbation of them, and were not to be considered valid unless they were so countersigned, and this restriction is equally applicable whether either of the parties were dissatisfied with the decision, or otherwise, and in fact, requiring the Judge solely permissible for it, he was necessarily obliged to revise the proceedings of the Register in every case, which often occupied as much of his time as would have been required for the trial of the suits in the first instance, and consequently tended to defeat the object of the reference. From these circumstances, the Judges have seldom found it expedient to exercise the discretionary power vested in them of referring suits for trial to their Registers, with a view, therefore to the attainment of the object of the rule, and to prevent the time of the Courts of Appeal being occupied by petty suits, and further to expedite the administration of justice by relieving the Zillah and City Courts from the trouble of arranging and comparing the long and intricate accounts, the adjustment of which is frequently necessary in the decision of suits between individuals, respecting Land Revenue, the following Rules have been enacted.

Section VI. Regulation XIII. 1793 is hereby rescinded.

II. Section VI. Regulation XIII. 1793 is hereby rescinded and the following Rules substituted in lieu of it.

THE Governor General in Council having determined, with the concurrence of the rajah of Benares, to introduce into that province, as far as local circumstances will admit, the same system of interior administration as has been established in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, and the limitation of the annual revenue payable from the lands, forming an essential part of that system, as stated in the preamble to Regulation II, 1793, the following rules have been enacted.

II.

The origin and progress of the assessment of the land revenue in the province of Benares.

II. On the expiration of the year 1195 Fussily, the Governor General in Council instructed the resident to make the settlement of the revenue for the ensuing year 1196 under his own immediate control. The resident accordingly completed the settlement, by granting leases for the term of one year to certain aumils, and for five years to others, by which they bound themselves to pay a specific jumma or assessment. But the Governor General in Council being desirous of extending to the province of Benares from the beginning of the year 1197, as far as circumstances might admit, the principles of the decennial settlement directed to be formed in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, those principles were accordingly introduced in the districts of which the aumils, in the preceding year, had obtained leases for five years, by their consenting to the resident's issuing pottahs or leases under their and his joint seals and signatures, for the remaining four years of the term of their own engagements, to all the talookdars, and to the village zemindars, and farmers, by which it was stipulated that they should pay a certain fixed assessment, the amount of which should be received by the aumils, and accounted for by them to government; and in the districts, the leases of which had been granted for one year only, and had consequently expired, by the issuing of pottahs to the talookdars, and the village zemindars, and farmers, under the signature of the resident and the rajah, fixing the revenue to be in like manner paid by them through the aumils for the term of ten years. The particulars of these arrangements, were detailed in the reports on the said settlements for one year, and for four, and ten years, made to the Governor General in Council by the resident on the 26th of April, the 30th of November, and the 26th of December 1789, and the 25th November 1790, and in the papers and accounts therein referred to; and on a consideration of them, the Governor General in Council, on the 11th February 1791, approved of the said quartennial and decennial settlements, with the talookdars, village zemindars, and farmers, and ordered "that the "four years pottahs be confirmed for the ensuing six, so as to reduce the "whole

" whole to a ten years settlement, and that assurances be given to the " pottah holders, that as long as they continue to pay their re- " venue stipulated in the last year of the increase as specified in their " several pottahs; they shall not be liable to any further demand during " their lives." This order has been repeatedly notified to the parties whom it concerned, who, with the exception of the pottah holders in a few purgunnahs, and of certain individual zemindars, and farmers, in others, have by the performance of the conditions required of them, become entitled to hold their lands at a fixed assessment during their lives as specified in the said order. The Governor General in Council has now further resolved, that the revenue stipulated to be paid on account of the lands included in the quartennial and decennial pottahs, the conditions of which have been performed, whether held by zemindars or farmers, shall be fixed in perpetuity, and that the person or persons now holding, or who may hereafter become entitled under the regulations to succeed to, such pottahs, shall not be liable to any additional payment beyond the highest annual jumma, specified in such pottahs. That this resolution may be rendered more immediately and generally known, the resident is to notify it to the parties interested by a proclamation to the following effect.

Revenue assessed on the lands included in pottahs, and the conditions of which have been performed, fixed in perpetuity.

III. First. " On the 11th February 1791, the Governor General in Council signified his approbation, and confirmation, of the quartennial, and decennial settlements, formed in the Fussily year 1197, (1789-90), throughout the four circars comprised in the province of Benares, and directed in respect to the pottahs for four years, that the amount of the jumma payable thereby in the fourth year, should be continued for the next six years, so as to place the quartennial pottahs, on the same footing as the pottahs granted for ten years. The Governor General in Council now declares, that the jumma payable according to the quartennial and decennial pottahs shall remain fixed for ever, so that no sum exceeding the amount specified as the highest annual jumma Proclamation.

Revenue assessed on the lands agreeably to the pottahs granted under the rules for the quartennial and decennial settlements, declared fixed in perpetuity.

jumma payable according to the said pottahs, shall ever be required of those pottahdars or holders of pottahs, who have hitherto paid up their revenue, and observed all the other conditions specified in their pottahs, nor of those who may hereafter become entitled to hold or succeed to such pottahs, so long as they shall continue to discharge the amount, and to perform the conditions, therein stipulated.

Reservations under which the above declarations are made.

Second. The above declarations are made with the following reservations.

Third. The holders of the pottahs are to be considered as bound to conform to all regulations regarding them, the preservation of the rights of the putteedars, or sharers in estates, the ryots, or the administration of justice, which have been or may be passed by the Governor General in Council, and printed and published in the manner prescribed in Regulation XLI, 1793.

Rule regarding the succession to zemindarries.

Fourth. The succession to zemindarries is to take place according to the established laws, rules, and customs of the country, as provided for in the regulations passed, or which may be enacted, for the province of Benares, and printed and published in the manner prescribed in Regulation XLI, 1793.

Cases in which a zemindar dispossessed before the 1st July 1775, shall be restored to his estate on the avoidance of the pottah which may have been granted for it to a farmer.

Fifth. In the event of the death of a farmer, holding a pottah for lands the zemindar of which was dispossessed previous to the 1st July 1775, the date of the cession of the province of Benares to the Company, or of the pottah of any such farmer becoming otherwise void, it has been determined, with the concurrence of the rajah of Benares, that such zemindar, or his heir or heirs, shall be restored to the estate, provided he or they shall agree to pay the fixed jumma assessed on the lands, agreeably to such pottah, and to conform to all regulations for the collection of the revenue, the administration of justice, or other matters, which may be printed and published in the manner prescribed in Regulation Conditions under which such restoration is to take place.

XLI,

XLI, 1793. In ſuch caſe, the eſtate ſhall be made over to him or them, in preference to its being leaſed to a new farmer, or to the heir of the laſt pottah holder.

Sixth. According to the well known rule prevailing in the province, thoſe zemindars who have had poſſeſſion of their eſtates ſince the 1ſt of July 1795, but who were nevertheleſs excluded at the forming of the permanent ſettlement, may recover poſſeſſion of their eſtates from the farmers who may hold pottahs for, and be in the actual management of them, by proving their intermediate poſſeſſion in the court of dewanny adawlut. The courts of dewanny adawlut, are accordingly to decree the reſtoration of any ſuch zemindar ſo claiming, on proof being made by him of ſuch intermediate poſſeſſion; but every ſuch decree is to provide for ſuch zemindars previouſly indemnifying the farmer for the loſs which he may prove to the ſatisfaction of the court, to have ſuſtained in conſequence of his having held the lands under the pottah of government, and the court is accordingly to enquire into and decide upon ſuch loſs, and to cauſe the amount to be made good to the farmer, before the zemindar is reinſtated."

Caſes in which zemindars who have had poſſeſſion of their eſtates ſince the 1ſt July 1795, but which may have been leaſed to farmers, may recover poſſeſſion from ſuch farmers.

IV. The rules contained in Regulation XLI, 1793, entitled, "A regulation for forming into a regular code, all regulations that "may be enacted for the internal government of the Britiſh territories in Bengal," are hereby declared to extend to the province of Benares; and that no doubt may be entertained what regulations ſo enacted may be meant to extend to that province, or otherwiſe, it is hereby declared, that no ſuch regulation that has been or may be paſſed previous to, on, or after this date, ſhall be conſidered to extend, either wholly or in part, to the province of Benares, unleſs the title to the regulation, or the regulation itſelf, or ſome other regulation, ſhall declare the whole or a part of it, to extend to that province.

Regulation XLI, 1793, extended to Benares.

BENGAL SECRETARIAT LIBRARY

A. D. 1795. REGULATION II.

A REGULATION for re-enacting with modifications and amendments, the rules regarding the temporary and permanent ſettlements of the revenue, in the province of Benares.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 27th March, 1795; correſponding with the 16th Chyte 1201 Bengal era; the 2[illegible] Chyte 1202 Fuſſily; the 16th Chyte 1202 Willaity; the 2[illegible] Chyte 1852 Sumbut; and the 5th Ramzaan 1209 Higeree.

PREVIOUS to the year 1781, the reſident ſtationed at Benares on the part of the Britiſh government, was not empowered to interfere in any reſpect in the ſettlement or collection of the revenue of the zemindarry. On the acceſſion of Rajah Mahipnarain in 1781, the adminiſtration of the revenue was committed to the charge of naibs acting on his behalf, and ſubject in ſome degree to the control of the reſident. In the year 1787, the reſident himſelf was entruſted with the ſuperintendence of the formation of the ſettlement, and the collection of the revenue. The ſucceſſive meaſures that have been adopted from the beginning of the Fuſſily year 1195, which commenced in September 1787, regarding the ſettle-

Engagements of the aumils in 1195.

II. At the recommendation of the resident, a new form of cabooleat was taken by the rajah from the aumils, (then the farmers of the revenue,) on the conclusion of the settlement which he entered into with them for the Fussily year 1195. In this cabbooleat it was stipulated, that the aumils should pay to the rajah the jumma for which they had severally engaged, according to the tushkhees or account particulars of the revenue funds in their respective aumildarries, including nuzeranna, and the government's moiety of the bhuray, and russoom khazanah, and exclusive of the articles of mujray, maafy mamooly, and the kharije jumma, which consisted principally of lands exempted from the payment of revenue, and partly of pensions, and charitable, and other allowances, charged on the public revenue. This jumma was to be paid agreeably to the kistbundy or instalments for regulating the periods of the payments of the aumils, which then generally extended from the beginning to the end of the year; and the aumils further agreed, that on proof of their making any undue exactions beyond the tushkhees or funds assigned to them, they should be liable to pay a fine of three times the amount to government.

Provisions for remedying the abuses in the system of collecting the public revenue.

III. First. With a view to provide against sundry abuses and irregularities in the system of realizing the public revenue, the resident, on the 25th June 1788, desired the rajah, to cause a new form of pottah to be established, and issued to the ryots, specifying the denomination and length of the rod by which the betay lands, (lands, of the produce of which, government, or the person having the collection of its dues, is entitled to a certain proportion, the value of which, estimated at the current market price, is paid in money by the cultivator of the land,) were to be measured, in case such measurement should be demanded by either party on the arrival of the period when the produce of the crops of the ryots is estimated by the mode termed Kunkoot; and as in many places where the revenue was thus paid on such estimation of the harvests, disputes occurred between the ryot and the aumil as to the value in money at which the crop was to be appretiated it was provided that twice in the year, or for each harvest, the valuation of the crops should be settled for each pergunnah separately by the authority of government, and a notification thereof issued the rates to be paid for the grain or crops in the khereef, to be fixed in the month of Maug, and those of the rebby-harvest, in Jeyte, according to the actual market prices then current in the several parts and divisions of the country. The above mode of estimating the produce, and appretiating the value of the crops, is accordingly in future to constitute the rule for ascertaining the collections to be made from the betay lands, and for adjusting the aggregate amount of them for the whole year, the kists due on each harvest, being intermediately paid on account, according to the usual proportion of the mofussil kistbundy or instalments. The practice of agore betay, (taking the government's half of the produce in kind after the crop has been reaped, or gathered,) was at the same time forbidden, as affording to individuals the means of defrauding government of its due proportion of the produce; and in the form of the pottahs for the betay lands, it was directed to be specified, whether the value of the produce was to be divided, between the aumil, and the ryot, in equal proportions, or with such zabetaneh, or established difference, as the custom of each pergunnah authorized.

Agore be forbidden.

Second. In the pottahs for nukdy land, (land paying a specific money rent per begah,) the name and length of the null or measuring rod, was directed to be mentioned; and as since the year 1781, sundry new articles of abwaub and charges had been introduced, the pottah provided, that all new abwaub and charges introduced since the Fussily year 1187, should from the year 1196 of the same era, be considered as prohibited and relinquished, and that the maal or original rent, and abwaub, or cesses, which which existed in that year, viz. 1187 Fussily, being incorporated with the maal, so as to form only one aggregate sum, this sum or specific rate, should constitute what the ryots or cultivators of the nukdy lands were to pay per begah.

Rates of fallow or uncultivated lands.

Third. The rent of waste land intended to be brought into cultivation, was directed to be fixed at such rates as the ryots might willingly agree to pay, and without abwaub.

Instructions for carrying these provisions into execution.

IV. On the 1st of July 1788, the canongoes were apprized of the above rules, and of the rajah having deputed aumeens for the purpose of carrying them into effect; and they were further informed that they were to co-operate, in fixing the jumma of the nukdy lands, and ascertaining the proportion and mode of assessment on the betay lands; and that wherever, during the administration of Rajah Cheyte Sing, the null or measuring rod, was more or less than the rod of three dirrahs Ilahee, (which rod alone was ordered to be used for the future,) or wherever a begah consisted of a greater or less extent of land than twenty biswahs in the Fussily year 1187, they were to adjust in proportion to these varieties in the rod, and in the extent of the begah, the rates and modes of the nukdy and betay revenue in one sum, agreeably, and, as nearly as might be possible, equivalent to, the assul and abwaub, or zabetaneh of that year, and to fix the rates in the pottah accordingly. Pottahs were in consequence issued by the rajah's aumeens, comprehending the above specifications, but not so generally or accurately, as fully or effectually to accomplish the object of their deputation; and in the rates inserted in these pottahs, they likewise omitted to make allowance for the difference between the old and new measuring rods and begahs.

Extent and dimensions of a begah of ground, according to the authorized measurement of three dirrahs Ilahee.

V. The begah of three dirrahs Ilahee, thus established, consists of twenty poles, each measuring eight feet, and four inches, and eight-tenths of an inch; the whole length being one hundred and sixty eight feet, giving a surface or area of twenty-eight thousand ſand, two hundred and twenty-four ſquare feet, or three thouſand one hundred and thirty ſix ſquare yards; and the biſwah, or twentieth part of this begah, of one hundred and fifty ſix ſquare yards, and eight-tenths of a yard. On its appearing that ſeveral of the aumils and canongoes, underſtood that the keſraut, or difference in the length between the former and preſent meaſuring rods, was to affect the aſſeſſment on all kinds of cultivation, the reſident iſſued an explanatory notification on the 12th of May 1789, to the following effect, viz. In the places where the null or rod of 1187, was leſs than the general ſtandard rod, eſtabliſhed for that year, ſuch difference was to be taken and calculated per begah, on the jummaee or kowlee, i. e. nukdy land, and alſo upon that known under the denomination of rye kunkooty, or land the produce of which is calculated at a fixed or uſual quantity per begah, and the revenues rated thereon accordingly. Thus, where the rye kunkooty had been three maunds or four maunds, or taken at any other ſpecific eſtimate per begah, according to the rye or rate of 1187, upon the ryot's cultivation in general, either on each diſtinct kind of produce, or upon a medium of the firſt, ſecond, or third kinds of produce; in ſuch caſes, on the principle preſcribed with reſpect to the nukdy, the difference of the rod was to be taken in all inſtances, where actual menſuration by the new rod of three dirrâh Ilahee, ſhould at the deſire of either party be reſorted to, for aſcertaining the whole extent of ground in cultivation. But on the contrary, where the aumeen of the aumil, in the mode termed kunkoot, ſhould proceed with the gowro or eſtimator, and the gomaſtah of the canongoe, and theſe two laſt mentioned officers, with the conſent of both parties, ſhould eſtimate the produce of the crop on an inſpection of it without meaſurement, the taking the difference of the rod was neither neceſſary nor proper, the whole produce being eſtimated without reference to the extent of the begah. All parties were required to attend to the letter and ſpirit of theſe preſcriptions; and in conformity thereto, it was further ſignified to them, that where the crops were eſtimated in the mode termed danabundy kunkooty, that is, where the revenue is aſſeſſed according to the groſs produce, without out a meaſurement of the ground, the keſraut or difference between the old and newly eſtabliſhed rods was not to be taken, as in theſe inſtances, the revenue payable to government was not calculated on the extent of the ground, but on the groſs quantity of the produce. It having appeared alſo that in the old nuls or lettas, (meaſuring rods or ropes,) the ryots had been defrauded by the aumils unduly ſhortening them, by ſubtracting from their length the mour or loops at each end, it was ordered that in aſcertaining the difference between thoſe new and old nuls or lettas, the full length of the old ones ſhould be allowed in favor of thoſe who pay the revenue, inclusive of the mour or loops.

Settlement of 1196 Fuſſily.

VI. The rules paſſed on the 25th June 1788, (as contained in Section III,) were approved by the Governor General in Council, on the 3d of October of the ſame year, as preparatory to the eſtabliſhment of a more regular ſyſtem of aſſeſſing and collecting the revenue. With a view to the introduction of this ſyſtem, the reſident was at the ſame time authorized to take upon himſelf the entire formation of the ſettlement for 1196. This ſettlement was accordingly made principally on the grounds of the reports of the canongoes, and their eſtimates of the actual produce, from the aſſul and abwaub, as the ſame ſtood in 1187 Fuſſily, (the rates of which year, were declared to be the ſtandard according to which the payments of the ryots were to be regulated in future,) and the ſame accounts for 1195, or the lateſt aſſeſſment. Theſe accounts exhibiting the aſſets of thoſe two years, were compared with the douls or eſtimates of the aſſets of the then current year 1196, as delivered in by the canongoes. From theſe douls, the dehyek, or allowance of ten per cent to the aumil as his profits, and the charges of moſuſſil management; the ſeveral articles of deduction and remiſſion coming under the heads of maaſy and mujray; the amount of the nankar or allowances of the canongoes in the lands aſſigned to them in each pergunnah; and the half of the former bhuray, (i. e. the moiety thereof allowed to the aumils for charges of remittance,) being ſeverally deducted, the reſidue of the the groſs aſſets, as contained in the doul or eſtimate of the canongoes, conſtituted the ſum to be paid by the aumil to government.

VII. The other moiety of the bhuray menſioned in the preceding ſection, (which had previouſly been collected on behalf of government,) together with the article of nuzeranah and ruſſoom khazanah, &c. were aboliſhed, in the courſe of the arrangement of the ſettlement of this year, together with the farm of the manufacture of the earth called ſujee, which had before been let on leaſe by the rajah's officers.

VIII. Firſt. A new form of cabbooleat was at the ſame time ordered to be taken from all the aumils, in which the doul of the canongoes, and the deductions made therefrom on account of lands exempted from the payment of revenue, and the form of the new pottah for the ryots, were inſerted. The aumils bound themſelves to perform and abide by the ſeveral ſtipulations and preſcriptions therein contained, as fundamental conditions of the ſettlement. They likewiſe engaged not to demand from the ryots any abwaub eſtabliſhed ſince 1187; nor any abwaub for the canongoes allowances, or the banker's half of the bhuray, the latter article conſiſting, as ſpecified in Section VI, of an allowance to the aumil to pay the charges of the banker through whom he made his remittances to the treaſury. Both of theſe articles, viz. the ceſs hitherto levied from the ryots for the canongoes allowances, and the half bhuray in queſtion, (the other moiety of the latter of which articles was relinquiſhed by government as ſpecified in Section VII,) were aboliſhed, and ſtruck out of the ſettlement. It was at the ſame time provided, that the canongoes ſhould be paid by government from the collections, whilſt the amount of the banker's portion of the bhuray, was granted as a deduction to the aumil, from the tuſhkhees or funds ſtated in the doul or eſtimate of the canongoes, on which the agreement of the aumil with government was founded. On theſe principles, a general ſettlement of the zemindarry Rule regarding hukul tehseel in case of change of farmers in the course of the year.

Second. On the 12th of February 1789, a rule was published for determining the hukul tehseel, or commission on the collections made by farmers of villages relinquishing their engagements before the close of the year. This rule directed, that if the jumma payable by any such farmer to government, did not exceed five thousand rupees per annum, he should not be entitled to, or receive, any such commission, but be held accountable to his successor for the full amount which he had realized, or, where he was not succeeded by any new farmer, to the aumil; but that in the event of the annual jumma of such farmer exceeding five thousand rupees, he should be allowed a commission of five per cent by the aumil out of his own dehyek, (or the commission of ten per cent on the amount which he contracted to pay to government,) so as in either case, to prevent the ryots from suffering by the change of village farmers, whose repeated intermediate commissions, had often been levied from them, by way of cess above their appointed foteh or rent, under the former native administrations in the zemindarry.

Subsidiary rules for the mofussil settlements.

IX. First. For the guidance of the aumils in forming their mofussil settlements, (which took place from the beginning of the Fussily year 1196,) the following orders were issued on the 14th of June 1789, respecting the interior arrangements, to be adopted from the commencement of the second year of the term of the leases for five years.

Reinstatement of the village zemindars.

Second. That the villages and lands should be let by the aumils to the zemindars, or hereditary landholders, and not to mere farmers, (excepting where no hereditary landholders remained,) on the douls or estimates of the revenue assets in each person's share in the lands let on a five years lease, for the remaining four years thereof; but that where the hereditary zemindars refused to engage, and give security for the payment of the amount of the canongoes doul, their lands should be rented for the same term to farmers, and that the pottahs to be given according to the prescribed form, should contain the full amount to be paid on all accounts to the aumils, without any reservation of a separate nuzeranah, or other demand.

and

Third. During the administration of the Nawaub Vizier, a sequestration was made of sundry ayma villages, several of the proprietors of which had obtained money assignments, and pensions in lieu thereof, one of which pensions also was afterwards resumed during his excellency's government. In consideration of the long period which had elapsed since the dispossession of these aymadars, it was declared that if any of them should prefer claims to be restored to the lands which they before occupied, under their former grants, such claims would not be attended to or admitted.

Rule prohibiting the re-admission of dispossessed aymadars.

X. The settlement as made in 1196, for the periods of one year and for five years, was approved of by the Governor General in Council, on the 17th of June 1789. The resident was at the same time directed to endeavour to introduce into Benares, the system proposed for the permanent settlement of the province of Behar; having for its object, the ascertaining and limiting the demand of government, and securing to its subjects in perpetuity, the quiet enjoyment of the fruits of their industry. The arrangements which had been adopted in Benares, were obviously inadequate for that purpose. The amount of the revenue realizable by the aumils from the ryots and under farmers, varied agreeably to the extent of the actual cultivation; and accordingly, the produce of the lands not being ascertainable until the rebby or second crop had ripened, the aumils collected in the mean time from their under-renters, (whether village zemindars, or farmers,) on account, until the arrival of the season for forming an estimate of the produce of the whole year, when the zemindars or farmers entered into cabbooleats for the year. This mode of collection was productive ductive of many disputes. When it appeared to the aumil, that his under farmers were unwilling to pay to him an adequate consideration for their farms, he of course became desirous of dispossessing them, and of either letting the farms to others, or of collecting the rents himself immediately from the ryots. This system tended to discourage agriculture, at the same time that it operated as a source of constant altercation between the aumils and the various competitors for village tenures; and consequently rendered it desirable to conclude separate mofussil settlements, formed under the sanction of government, for each talooka and mozah, or village, throughout the country, paying revenue to government.

Plan for forming the quartennial and decennial mofussil assessment.

XI. On the receipt of the orders of the Governor General in Council, of the 17th of June 1789, the resident issued instructions to the aumils and canongoes, to proceed in the mofussil settlement, declaring it however subject to his revision and confirmation, as he had determined when the rebby or second crop should have been sown, to form an estimate of the revenue funds in each village, payable by the zemindars and farmers respectively, and to fix it for the four unexpired years of the five years leases of the aumils, wherever those leases extended. This revision was appointed to take place in each pergunnah, in order that after the mofussil settlements for four years, beginning from 1197, should have been approved, it might be declared permanent for the same term as the settlement to be made for the period of ten years, throughout that portion of the district which was let on only an annual lease. This last part of the arrangement was to be executed more immediately under the personal inspection of the resident, on nearly the same general principles as had been prescribed by government for the settlement of the province of Behar. On these preparatory measures being communicated to the Governor General in Council, it was resolved, that a settlement of the zemindarry of Benares should be formed for a period of ten years, agreeably to his resolutions of the 20th May, and 18th of September, 1789, regarding the settlement of the province of Behar.

XII.

XII. A material deviation however was unavoidably made from these resolutions. For Rajah Mahipnarain at that time declining, (although he subsequently acquiesced in the measure, as specified in Regulation I, 1795,) to consent to the restoration of the numerous class of village zemindars, who had been dispossessed, and reduced to the situation of cultivating ryots, during the administrations of the Rajahs Bulwunt Sing and Cheyte Sing, it became necessary to exclude from the benefit of the rights to be conferred by this decennial settlement, all those landholders who had been so dispossessed and reduced before the 1st of July 1775, (1182 Fussily,) the date of the final transfer of the sovereignty of Benares to the Company.

XIII. For the purpose of forming this permanent settlement, the resident and his assistants, proceeded in November 1789, on different circuits, throughout the four sircars composing the zemindarry of Benares, their object being, in respect to the quartennial mofussil settlements, to examine and revise the assessment, as proposed by the aumils and canongoes on the ground of the assul and abwaub up to the year 1187; and to correct such errors as should appear to have been made, either in the exclusion of persons entitled to be considered as zemindars, (consistently with the rule of exclusion, specified in Section XII,) or in the allotment of the jumma, in the constituent parts of the total of the assessment of each district. This allotment was to be regulated, (as well in regard to the quartennial as the decennial settlements,) as nearly as might be ascertainable, according to the ability of the respective villages, or puttees, (or shares or sub-divisions of villages,) so as to admit of the zemindars and farmers realizing the revenue assessed in conformity to the revenue rates of 1187; and where a large proportion of the land remained waste and uncultivated, a gradual and moderate russud or encrease, for the few first years of the term of the general leases was to be assessed, in consideration of the right of government to some share in the advantages accruing to the renter, by bringing the land into cultivation. It was farther provided, that the article of spirituous liquors, and the tax tax upon shop-keepers, dealers, and weavers, comprehended under the denominations of abkarry, ghur dewary, and khergui, should be separated from the collections of the renters, and realized by the aumils of the respective districts, as far as those articles separately existed, but without attempting to extend them.

How the deeds for the settlement were issued and authenticated.

XIV. First. In the manner above described, and with the assistance of the accounts of the tushkees for the preceding ten years, and such other accounts and local information as could be obtained through the canongoes or otherwise, the mofussil settlements for four and ten years were concluded. The pottahs for the settlements for four years, were issued under the seals of the aumils, and numbered and countersigned in English by the resident or his assistants; and those for the settlements for ten years, were authenticated by the signatures of the rajah and the resident. The cabbooleats or engagements entered into by the village zemindars and farmers on the formation of the permanent settlement, bound them to an observance of the following articles.

Engagements of the malguzars on the conclusion of the permanent settlement.

Lands and property liable to be sold for balances.

Second. To pay the stipulated annual revenue punctually from the month of Koar, (October) to Jeyte, (June) in each year; and agreeing in case of failure, that their property, real and personal, should be sold to make good the deficiency.

Rule respecting lakheraje lands, or lands held exempt from the payment of revenue.

Third. Not to attach, without the sanction of government, any maafy, mujray, kishnarpun, or other description of lakheraje land in the possession of individuals, and held by them exempt from the payment of revenue, up to the end of the Fussily year 1195; and agreeing in the event of government's resuming any part of such exempted lands, to pay the revenue assessable thereon, in addition to the jumma fixed by their engagements, and stipulating not to make any new grants of exempted lands, on pain of such lands being confiscated to government, and of double the revenue assessable thereon being levied from the grantee or grantees, for the period during which such grantee or grantees should have continued in possession.

Fourth.

Fourth. To collect from the ryots according to the hookumnamas or regulations of the 25th of June and 1st of July 1788, referred to in Sections III and IV.

General rule for the collections.

Fifth. To grant receipts to the ryots for their payments, under the penalty of a fine of double the amount, to be awarded to any ryot who should prove that he had been refused such receipt.

Sixth. To support the canongoes in the full exercise of their functions.

Registry of the canongoes.

Seventh. Not to levy or receive any of the articles of the abolished sayrjehaut, nor any sum on account of khaneh moomary, (another term for the ghur dewary or house tax,) or abkarry or distilleries, the collection of the two last mentioned articles, (as specified in Section XIII,) having been separated from the general settlement, and committed on behalf of government, to the aumils. The penalty for breach of this article was fixed at three times the amount that might be illicitly collected.

Prohibition as to the sayrjehaut, and the house tax, and that on spirituous liquors.

Eighth. To be responsible, subordinately to the aumil, for the maintenance of the peace, and for apprehending all disturbers thereof, in and throughout their respective estates and farms; not to harbor thieves or robbers, but to secure their persons and deliver them up for trial, as well as to recover, or, in failure thereof, to be answerable for, and to make good the value of, all property robbed or stolen within their respective limits.

Responsibility in respect to thefts and robberies and to breaches of the peace.

Ninth. To send in for trial, accompanied by an attested report of the circumstances of the case, all parties concerned in broils, affrays, murders, or other breaches of the peace.

Broils, affrays, and murders.

XV. First.

Authority of the aumil as tehsildar or collector, and hakim or magistrate.

His responsibility in respect to the collection of the revenue assessed according to the settlement, and not making further collections.

XV. First. On the conclusion of this permanent settlement, new engagements were also entered into with the aumils. By these engagements, their office was declared to be that of hakim or magistrate, and tehsildar, or collector of the revenue ascertained by the pottahs issued to the village zemindars and farmers to be payable from their several aumildarries; and they rendered themselves responsible for the regular realizing the amount of this revenue, and bound themselves to abstain from levying any excess on their own account; to enforce the several stipulations with the landholders and farmers as set forth in Section XIV; and to cause the village zemindars to issue pottahs to their ryots in conformity to the regulation of the 25th of June 1788. They were also vested with a discretionary authority to diminish, or to admit to be lowered, the revenue rates of 1187 Fussily, where the exaction of them might be found, under the actual circumstances of any part of the district, to operate to the oppression or distress of the present cultivators; but they were at the same time prohibited from enhancing the rates of the said year 1187, under any pretence whatsoever. They were further required to grant receipts for all payments of revenue made to them, on pain of being subject for refusal or omission, to such fine as the resident should think it proper to impose; to regulate the rates of tullubana leviable on parties in arrear, by the custom of the pergunnah, and to account for and pay the sum realized under this head to government; and to refrain from the collection of any part of the sayer or gunge tolls or duties, under the same penalty for disobedience, as the village zemindars and farmers are declared liable to in similar cases, as specified in Clause Seventh, Section XIV. They were also declared personally responsible to government in the first instance, in regard to the maintenance of the peace, and thefts and robberies committed within their respective aumildarries, under the rules prescribed in similar cases with respect to the zemindars and farmers in Clause Eighth, Section XIV, with a right however to have recourse for their own indemnification, to the landholder or farmer, within whose limits the theft or robbery might occur.

To carry into execution the stipulations with the village zemindars and farmers, and to cause pottahs to be issued to the ryots.

Revenue rates of 1187, may be lowered but not enhanced.

Abolished sayer and gunge duties.

Responsibility in regard to theft and robberies, and breaches of the peace.

Second.

Second. In their capacities of hakims or magiſtrates, the aumils were inſtructed to apprehend and ſend in for trial, accompanied by the neceſſary information and evidence, all perſons committing breaches of the peace; and in concert with the canongoes, to enquire into, and to decide, (ſubject to an appeal to the reſident, ſhould either of the parties deſire it,) according to the principles of the regulations of the 25th of June 1788, all complaints preferred to them regarding differences occurring between the zemindars, farmers, and ryots, relative to the malguzarry or revenue, with authority to refer, with the conſent of the parties, other cauſes of a civil nature, reſpecting caſt, marriage, ſhares in land, and debts, to be determined by arbitration; or, where both parties ſhould not conſent to this mode of adjuſtment, to deſire them to repair to and inſtitute their ſuits in the moolky dewanny adawlut, or provincial civil court eſtabliſhed at Benares; to all orders and decrees iſſued from which, or from any other court of juſtice, or from the rajah or the reſident, the aumils were required and agreed, on pain of diſmiſſion, to yield the moſt prompt obedience.

To apprehend diſturbers of the peace.

Third. It having afterwards appeared, that in ſeveral inſtances, the aumils had clandeſtinely availed themſelves of their authority to procure deeds of conveyance, in their own names or thoſe of their relations, for lands the property of perſons in arrears on account of the revenue, and whoſe balances had been thereby either wholly or partially liquidated; a rule was publiſhed on the 19th of September 1794, prohibiting and declaring null and void, all ſuch conveyances that might be made in future: and on the 31ſt of October following, a further rule was paſſed giving to all perſons who might have thus diſpoſed of their lands, or to their heirs, or putteedars, the option of ſuing for the recovery of them in a court of juſtice, at any time within five years from the date of ſuch conveyances; and the parties ſo proſecuting were declared entitled to have the conveyances annulled, and to regain poſſeſſion of the property, on repaying to the purchaſing aumil or his heirs, the purchaſe money, with ſimple intereſt.

Rule in reſpect to lands conveyed to aumils in liquidation of balances.

XVI.

Rules for the confirmation or eſtabliſhment of the rights of the zemindars and other landholders.

XVI. Firſt. The adjuſtment of the diſputed claims to lands, formed one of the principal difficulties which occurred in the progreſs of the ſettlement. In many inſtances, conteſts exiſted between the putteedars or ſharers in the ſame village, as to their reſpective proportions, or between claimants of different families to the ſame villages. In all theſe caſes, it was obſerved as a general rule to confirm or admit thoſe zemindars, who were either in the actual occupancy, or who had at any time been known to have had poſſeſſion ſince the final transfer of Benares to the Company in 1775, (the zemindars diſpoſſeſſed before which period, the Governor General in Council, on the 11th April 1788, determined ſhould not be reſtored, in compliance with the objections which the rajah then entertained to their reſtoration, but which he ſubſequently relinquiſhed as ſtated in Section XII;) leaving thoſe who might think themſelves entitled to reinſtatement under this rule, to ſeek redreſs in the moolky adawlut. But as it became neceſſary during the progreſs of the ſettlement, to paſs orders, in a ſummary way, on diſputes of this nature, it was explained to all parties, that the new pottahs were meant only to fix the rental, and in no wiſe to conſtitute a bar to the recovery of any proprietary right in land, for which ſuits might be inſtituted in the court of juſtice above mentioned, in the ſame manner as if no ſuch pottahs had been granted. Inſtructions to this effect were iſſued to the judge of the court, and ſeparate engagements were taken from all the preſent pottah-holders, whether zemindars or farmers, binding them to a ready attendance on, and ſubmiſſion to, the judicial authority of the ſaid court, and the court of appeal, in reſpect to all ſuch cauſes; and the aumils were prohibited from making alterations in the pottahs, excepting in conformity to judgements paſſed in both or either of thoſe courts. The ſettlement thus concluded, conſiſted of engagements with zemindars for about eight twelfths of the whole country; of leaſes to farmers for about three twelfths; whilſt the remaining twelfth, continued amauny, in conſequence of there being found for the places included in the laſt mentioned portion, neither zemindars nor farmers; so that the aumils collected the public dues immediately from the ryots.

Second. Pursuant to the principles prescribed for this quartennial and decennial settlement, sundry village farmers having been removed during the progress of it, by the re-instatement of the rightful zemindars, a rule was published on the 21st of February 1790, for adjusting the accounts of the wassilaut or current year's collections between such parties. By this rule, the displaced farmers were entitled to credit for the amount of whatever tuccavy, (money for the purchase of seed,) they might establish to have advanced to the ryots; together with a commission of three per cent (whatever might be the extent of the farm) on the amount of the revenue realized. The amount of this charge was to be borne altogether by the reinstated zemindar, without his being entitled to make any demand on that account from his ryots, who were only to repay to him the amount of the tuccavy that had been really advanced to them by the removed farmer. But such farmer was not to be allowed credit for the amount of any bonds or engagements executed by ryots for sums stated to be advanced for tuccavy, but which should in reality have been taken from them for the balances of former years, which were thence virtually declared irrecoverable.

Rule for the adjustment of accounts between zemindars recovering possession from farmers.

XVII. First. The landholders in the zemindarry of Benares consist for the most part of village zemindars, paying the revenue of their lands to government, jointly with one or more putteedars or partners, descended from the same common stock. Some of these putteedars have had their interior puttees or shares rendered distinct; whilst those of the major part, still continue annexed to, and blended or in common with, the share or shares of the principal of the family, or of the head men amongst the brethren, being either one or more, whose names have been usually inserted in the pottahs, cabbooleats, and other engagements for the public revenue. With the general consent of the inferior putteedars, this mode was adhered to in the aforesaid settlement, leaving an option to such putteedars putteedars as might then or afterwards think themselves aggreived, or be desirous of separating from their brethren, to prosecute for that purpose in the adawlut. By this mode of procedure, they may obtain a separation of their family share of the estate, and procure a separate pottah subject to the payment of a proportionate part of the jumma assessed on the joint estate; but in the mean time, those of the brethren whose names stand inserted in the government's pottah, are held and considered to be immediately responsible through the aumils to government for the whole of that jumma. The only exception to this general rule, exists in the pergunnah of Kurrendeh, where the decennial settlement could only be concluded by a considerable number of these zemindars being admitted to enter into cabbooleats, in which they themselves agreed to the nomination of certain persons to act on their joint parts, under the description of serberakars or managers. This expedient was acquiesced in under the condition that the responsibility of the zemindars should remain undiminished, and that they might, whenever they pleased, dismiss these agents, after adjusting accounts with and satisfying them, as to any balance that might be justly due to them.

Talookdarry tenures in Benares.

Second. There are also many talookdarries within the four circars composing the zemindarry of Benares, which have depending on them, a greater or less number of village zemindars, many of whom still retain the right of disposing by sale of their own estates, subject of course to the payment of the usual jumma to the talookdar, and to the conditions specified in Clause Ninth, Section XXXV, Regulation XXII, 1795. The settlement of government has been concluded (on the same principles as are prescribed respecting the zemindarries,) with these talookdars, who are left to assess their village zemindars, either in proportion to their own sudder jumma, with some addition for charges of management, or, according to the extent and value of the produce, as local custom, or the good will of the parties may direct.

Third.

Third. The circumstances of the pergunnah of Agowrie Burhur in the circar of Chunar, constitute in some degree a deviation from the rule observed in the general settlement. This pergunnah appertained to its separate rajahs, until they were expelled by Rajah Bulwunt Sing. Their descendants appearing, and having performed some public services in 1781, government ordered that Rajah Adil Sah, their then representative, should be restored. This order appearing afterwards to be repugnant to the principle of the general settlement concluded with the Rajah Mahipnarain Sing, the tenure of the family of Adil Sah, was, by an order of government under date the 11th of April 1788, limited to the period of his natural life, during which, the interior settlement of the pergunnah, was, with his consent, and under his seal and the resident's signature, made with the talookdars and zemindars, most of whom were of his own blood and lineage; or with the birteeas, being the persons on whom his ancestors had conferred grants of lands; or with gherrooas, being such persons, as he or his ancestors had put in possession of lands on mortgage. These several descriptions of landholders, are considered as having a permanent interest in their tenures, which have therefore been included in the general account of the settlements concluded with zemindars. The remainder of the pergunnah has been let to farmers, on the conditions common to the rest of the four circars. Rajah Adil Sah subsequently dying, government, with the acquiescence of Rajah Mahipnarain, permitted his heirs to succeed him in the pergunnah, in the permanent settlement of which, however, they are restricted from making any alterations or innovations equally with the other aumils or tehseeldars.

Particular circumstances of the pergunnah of Burhur Agowrie;

Fourth. The pergunnah of Beleeah in the circar of Ghazeepoor, is similarly circumstanced, as to the expulsion of its rajahs by Rajah Bulwunt Sing, and the intended restoration of Bhowayel Deo, their present representative. But his reinstatement having never taken place, he is allowed to live in the pergunnah, on a pension, which he receives from government; and the settlement has been made with such of his family, and of those rajahs of Beleeah, who who preceded it, as could make out pretenſions to permanent tenures or eſtates; and where ſuch pretenſions could not be eſtabliſhed, or were not preferred, the ſettlement has taken place with the mokuddums, or thoſe of the principal ryots who had long paid the revenue of their preſent tenures, being the villages of which they are inhabitants; it being meant that theſe mokuddumy tenures ſhould be conſidered equally permanent, and be liable to the ſame conditions as thoſe of the zemindars: and where neither of theſe deſcriptions of perſons, could be found, the villages were let to farmers, excepting ſuch part of them as for want of farmers, remained amauny.

and of the talooka of Mujchwa in the pergunnah of Kuſwar or Gungapoor;

Fifth. The zemindarry part of the talooka of Mujchwa in the pergunnah of Kuſwar and circar of Benares, has been let out in ſeparate portions, under the ſeal of Phelwaun Sing, (the principal talookdar, and who was acting at the ſame time as aumil and collector on the part of government,) and the confirmatory ſignature of the reſident, or of his aſſiſtant, to Phelwaun Sing himſelf, and his relations; he being ſubject to the ſame reſtrictions with regard to making alterations in the ſettlement without the ſanction of government, as are impoſed on the heirs of Rajah Adil Sah in the pergunnah of Burhur Agowrie, as ſpecified in Clauſe Third.

and of the talooka of Kernadanry in the ſame pergunnah.

Sixth. In the ſettlement of Kernadanry in the pergunnah of Kuſwar or Gungapoor, there is this peculiarity, that after the concluſion of it, Rajah Mahipnarain objecting to pottahs being granted by the reſident to the parties with whom it was made, on the ground that the talooka in queſtion formed part of his family zemindarry of Gungapoor; it was in conſequence ſettled between the rajah and the reſident in October 1794, that although in conſideration of the rajah's objections, the malguzars of this talooka of Kernadanry, ſhould not receive pottahs from government, in exchange for the cabbooleats they had entered into, the rajah, (who is their tehſeeldar or collector,) ſhould not diſpoſſeſs any of them without the ſanction of the officers of government, and in the event of complaints for exaction, that the case should be open to the same mode of enquiry, as is established for similar complaints arising in the malguzarry lands in general; so as to continue the abovementioned talooka in this respect distinct from the neej or family zemindarry lands of the rajah. These family lands consist of the jaghires of Budhoee, and of Kera Mungrore, and of the rajah's part of the pergunnah of Kuswar or Gungapoor, inclusive of the talooka of Kerowna; and in consequence of objections offered by the rajah, no mofussil or interior settlement has been made in them by the authority of government; and the administration of justice in all matters relating to their revenue, is specially provided for in Regulation XV, 1795.

Seventh. The pergunnah of Lucknesr, in the circar of Ghazeepoor, is inhabited by a race of Raujepoots, distinguished by the appellation of singhers, who pay a moderate fixed revenue, (which they assess amongst themselves,) to the tehseeldar or native collector stationed with them on the part of government, whose allowances they separately defray; and as neither the native nor the British government, had interfered with the interior assessment of this pergunnah, it was not included in the general arrangements that took place at the period of the quartennial and decennial settlements. As to the pergunnah of Lucknesr.

Eighth. In the pergunnah of Juanpoor proper, and in that division of this circar called the Buksheeat, there are a certain number of villages held by Mahomedans, in virtue of altumgha, muddud maush, or jaghire grants, from the emperor, or from the soubahdars of Oude, but on which a peishcush by way of quit rent, was established during the administration of the native government. These peishcushy tenures were continued at the period of the permanent settlement. Peishcushy villages in the circar of Juanpoor.

Ninth. That part of the tract of country called Singrowlee, situated to the southward of the Soane river, which extends as far as the Singrowlee.

the Belea rivulet, is tributary to the zemindarry of Benares, whilst the tract of the same district that lies beyond the Belea, pays tribute to the independent rajah of Burdee.

Salt farms.

XVIII. The districts in the circar of Juanpoor, in which salt is produced and manufactured, were let in farm either inclusive of the land revenue, or separately.

Provision made for the pottahdars becoming huzoory in case of oppression on the part of the aumil.

XIX. In consideration of the habits prevalent amongst the newly restored body of zemindars on their first reinstatement, it was thought advisable to continue them, at least for a period, under the superintendency of the aumil of government, both in respect to the police, and the payment of the revenue. But at the same time to provide against exactions being made from them by the aumils, it was, in addition to the penalty specified in Section II, declared a rule, that all persons holding pottahs of government who might prove any oppression against their respective aumils, should thereupon have the option of becoming huzoory, that is, to pay their own revenue directly to the public treasury, without the intervention in any shape of the agency of the aumil.

Government's confirmation of the settlement for the period of the lives of the pottah holders, and abolishing of the tax on weavers.

XX. The settlement thus concluded, was confirmed by government, and extended to the lives of all the pottahdars, by an order of the Governor General in Council under date the 11th of February 1791, with the exception of the part of the ghur dewarry tax, described in Section XIII, levied from the weavers under the denomination of Khergui, which was abolished.

Qualifications in respect to the rule for disallowing of agore-betay.

XXI. The enforcement of the prohibition in Section II, against agore-betay, having met with some opposition from certain Brahmins and Atteets, the government's share of whose crops had always been ascertained in that mode, and who declared their intention of committing violence on themselves, if it was not adhered to with regard to them; the resident, on the 17th of January 1789, issued a publication disapproving of the conduct of these Brahmins and Atteets, and apprizing them that the regulations would be enforced. But the practice of agore-betay having prevailed only in a ſmall portion of the country, and conſequently there being little probability of many ſimilar inſtances of oppoſition occurring, the reſident thought it adviſable to accompany this publication with an order to the aumils, authorizing and enjoining them not to inſiſt on receiving a money rent from ſuch of the abovementioned Brahmins and Atteets as ſhould ſo perſevere in their objections, but to continue the practice of agore-betay with regard to them, until they ſhould conſent to the payment of a money rent, as well as to the rate of the rent. This order was ſanctioned by government.

Reſident's proceedings from the beginning of 1202 or 1794 5, towards reſtoring the defective parts of the permanent ſettlement.

XXII. The firſt period of the quartennial ſettlement having expired with the Fuſſily year 1200, ſeveral farmers and ſome of the landholders, not chooſing to avail themſelves of the privilege of retaining their leaſes during their lives, as granted to them by the order of government of the 11th of February 1791, the lands which they held conſequently became amauny. The death of renters, the abuſes occaſionally practiſed by the aumils, and the over-aſſeſſment of ſome places, had occaſioned vacancies in other tenures, during the ſeveral years that had elapſed ſince the concluſion of the general ſettlement. In conſequence of inſtructions from government under date the 19th of September 1794, the reſident proceeded to re-adjuſt the ſettlement of the lands which had been included in theſe leaſes, by reſtoring ſuch of the renters as appeared to have been unduly diſpoſſeſſed; by admitting the heirs of parties deceaſed; or reinſtating the antient zemindars, both in lands relinquiſhed by farmers, or which had remained amauny in the hands of the aumils; and finally, by adopting means to improve the cultivation preparatory to iſſuing new permanent leaſes (which were accordingly granted,) to the landholders and farmers in the pergunnahs of Nerwun, Dhoos, and Chownſa, the ſettlements made in which places in 1197, had in general failed, owing to the lands being too highly aſſeſſed, and to drought, and other calamities of ſeaſon. The ſettlement of Suktes Ghur, alſo being in a ſimilar predicament, was renewed by the New ſettlement made in the pergunnahs of Nerwun, Dhoos, Chownſa, and in the tuppeh of Suktes Ghur; and that of Zemanea corrected.

the resident in the month of October 1792; and the experience of several years having evinced that some part of the pergunnah of Zemanea, in the circar of Ghazeepoor, had been too highly assessed, adequate abatements were in consequence allowed.

Aumils prohibited from dispossessing the pottah-holders; and canongoes, directed to report the names of all deceased persons of this class.

XXIII. In the beginning of the Fussily year 1202, a circular order, under date the 1st of November 1794, was issued to all the aumils, prohibiting them under penalty of dismission from their aumildarries, from displacing or dispossessing any person holding a pottah from government, without the assent of the resident; and on the 20th of July 1795, circular instructions were transmitted to the canongoes, enjoining them to report without delay, the death of all such pottah-holders, that no lands might remain amauny under the aumils, without the knowledge of government.

Option of becoming huzoory, that is of paying their revenue directly to government, extended generally to all the land and leaseholders.

XXIV. In Section XIX, it has been stated, that it was an original regulation of the general settlement concluded in 1197, that proof of the aumil having made undue exactions from, or otherwise oppressed, any of the landholders or farmers holding pottahs, and paying revenue to government, should entitle such injured party or parties to become huzoory, i. e. to pay their revenue into the treasury at Benares, instead of through the medium of the aumil. But for the more effectual protection and security of such pottah-holders, an option of thus becoming huzoory, was given from the beginning of the Fussily year 1202, by a publication issued under date the 3d of October 1794, to all such pottah-holders as should previously enter into the required maal, fael, and hazer zaminee, or security for the punctual discharge of their revenue, for their peaceable deportment, and for their appearance whenever their attendance may be required. To enable them to procure these securities, they were allowed by the publication, one moiety of the aumil's dehyek and bhurray, on the amount of the revenue payable by them. This publication was sanctioned by the Governor General in Council under date the 19th of September 1794; but from the operation of it were excepted the lands under the rajah and his family, comprehending not only the places specified in Clause Sixth, Section XVII, but those also of which he holds the aumildarry or collectorship, viz. the pergunnah of Ralhoopoor, and the talooka of Jahloopoor, and those villages in the vicinity of Benares called the dehaat amanut. But in case of oppression proved, the pottahdars of these last mentioned places, and of all other mohals under the rajah, in which the settlement has been made by government, are entitled in virtue of the original rule contained in Section XIX, to become huzoory. The difference therefore between these aumildarry mohals under the rajah, and the rest of the country at large, consists in it not being merely optional with the pottahdars, to separate from him under the publication above specified in this section. As to the administration of justice in these aumildarry mohals under the rajah, the jurisdiction of the courts of judicature extends over them in common with the country at large, and consequently they do not form a part of the rajah's neej or family lands, the administration of justice in which is provided for by Regulation XV, 1795.

Exception to this rule, in respect to the rajah's aumildary districts.

Qualification of this exception.

XXV. For determining questions concerning lands between putteedars or brethren, and partners, inheriting and being, or pretending to be, entitled to joint or distinct proportions of one zemindarry, it has been observed as a general rule since the conclusion of the permanent settlement, to consider as superior, and immediately responsible to government, the person or persons amongst such putteedars, in whose name or names the government's pottah has been made out, and to continue the other putteedars, or partners, in such situation as they shall have stood in, since the Fussily year 1197, leaving them if dissatisfied with such order, to prosecute in the adawlut for any further claims.

Regulation relative to disputes between putteedars.

XXVI. The right of government to dispose of landed property at public sale for the recovery of balances of revenue, is established by the tenor of the engagements of the zemindars, as noticed ticed in Clauſe Second, Section XIV; but in conſideration of the local uſages in that reſpect in the province of Benares, no ſuch ſales have hitherto taken place.

Regulations in reſpect to the future periodical aſcertainment of the value of the lands remaining amauny.

XXVII. At the period of the ſettlement concluded in 1197 Fuſſily, the aumils pledged themſelves in writing, and on the faith of their religion, to collect only according to the jumma ſpecified in the pottahs iſſued to the talookdars and village zemindars and farmers, and to pay in the whole amount thereof to government, after deducting the dehyek, and half bhuray. But there then were, and have ſince remained, ſeveral ſpots of ground and mozahs or villages, of which no fixed ſettlement having been made, the collection of the amount of the tuſhkees or aſcertained funds which the canongoes eſtimated to be realizable therefrom, was entruſted to the aumils. Theſe funds had of courſe varied during the period that had elapſed ſince the concluſion of the ſettlement; and ſeveral of the aumils on the expiration of their five years leaſes at the cloſe of the year 1200, claimed and received deductions from government for alledged deficiencies in the funds of thoſe amauny villages; whilſt on the other hand, where the actual had exceeded the eſtimated receipts, it was preſumable that the aumils or their officers had appropriated the ſurplus. From theſe conſiderations, and as the funds in the amauny or kham villages appertained altogether to government, (the aumils being entitled only to their dehyek and bhuray,) the reſident on the 12th of January 1795, publiſhed an order, that from the beginning of the Fuſſily year 1202, the tuſhkees of the amauny or kham or cutcha villages, in every pergunnah, was to be aſcertained by aumeens, or other perſons empowered for that purpoſe, on the part of government, and that the amount of the funds, after deducting the dehyek and bhuray, was to be paid by the aumils to government. Aumeens were accordingly deputed on the abovementioned date to aſcertain the ſtate of theſe lands, with inſtructions, to ſummon the putwarries of every village, and in the preſence of the canongoes, and of the officers of the aumil, to ascertain the tushkees or assessable amount on each village and spot, then held amauny, in conformity to the rye or rates of 1187; and afterwards to prepare and bring with them, the state of the jummabundy of each village under the attestations of the canongoes, and the signatures of the putwarries, and the counter signatures of the officers of the aumils, that the payments of the aumils to government might be regulated accordingly. The aumeens were likewise instructed, that if, in the course of their enquiries, it should appear, that any of the aumils had granted pottahs to their dependants, in any of these amauny lands, at lower rates than those of the pergunnah or division in which they might be situated, such pottahs so granted by them were to be declared null and void, the aumils not having been empowered to dispose of any part of the revenue funds, but since the settlement in 1197, having been merely tehseeldaran-neshandar, or responsible collectors.

Situation of the aumils as responsible tehseeldars or collectors.

XXVIII. Inconveniencies having been experienced, from the applications made to the resident for grants exempting from the payment of revenue, spots of ground in the vicinity of the city of Benares, on their being purchased by the native princes of India, or by wealthy natives, to convert into gardens or places of religious worship, the Governor General in Council determined on the 28th July 1794, that no such grants should be made by the resident without the sanction of government.

Rule in respect to applications to obtain grants of spots of ground in the vicinity of Benares exempted from the payment of revenue for temples and gardens.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION III.

A REGULATION for re-enacting with modifications and amendments, the rules for the collection of the customs in the province of Benares. — PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 27th March 1795, corresponding with the 16th Chyte 1201 Bengal era; the 21st Chyte 1202 Fussily; the 16th Chyte 1202 Willaity; the 21st Chyte 1852 Sumbut; and the 5th Ramzaan 1209 Higeree.

PREVIOUS to the cession of Benares to the Company, the customs on the export, import, and transit branches of the trade of that province, were in general collected on the weight of the goods. In the year 1773, an arrangement was made by government, by which certain exemptions from this mode of collection were prescribed with regard to some of the Company's staples. This arrangement remained in force until the 22d November 1781, when it was ordered, that chokies or custom houses for the collection of the customs, should be established at three places only, viz. Ghazeepore, Benares, and Mirzapoor, where the cuſtoms were directed to be levied on all goods, at the rate of five per cent on the valuation eſtabliſhed in a book of rates then prepared for the purpoſe. On the 8th of April 1782, the duty was to be reduced to two and a half per cent on various articles of ſpicery, raw ſilk, and metals, imported; and by an amended code of regulations for the cuſtoms framed by government on the 21ſt of October 1784, this rate was ordered to be extended to ſilk, and ſilk piece goods. Some alterations were likewiſe made at this period in the book of rates, and all exactions under the denomination of toll, or duty, were prohibited. It was alſo ordered, that no part of the collections in the department of the cuſtoms ſhould be let in farm, and the levying of double duties (viz. the former and the new duties) at Mirzapoor, and the exaction of duty on empty boats, were prohibited. The greater part however of the requiſitions of the regulations of 1784, were as ill attended to as the regulations of 1781, the inland cuſtom houſe ſtations having continued, under the denomination of choora or ſundries, equally numerous as before, and many of them having been farmed out agreeably to the former practice. Other interior tolls likewiſe, continued to be levied by the landholders, and farmers, and at the ſubordinate cuſtom houſe ſtations throughout the country; and the prohibitions as to the collection of the double duties at Mirzapoor, and the exactions on empty boats, were altogether diſregarded. The order for levying two and a half per cent on ſilk, was likewiſe diſobeyed, excepting as it reſpected the article of raw ſilk imported or exported by the ſanaſſy and Irak merchants, who, in conſequence of the new duties operating as a burden on their trade, having diſcontinued to tranſport their goods by the way of Benares, the rajah's naib deemed it expedient to enter into an agreement with them, by which it was ſtipulated that they ſhould pay two and a half per cent on raw ſilk, and five per cent on piece goods, to be calculated on the price inſerted in the rowannah or paſs of the cuſtom houſe at Moorſhedabad, and that the duties on their trade ſhould be collected by a ſeparate darogah or ſuperintendant.

On

On a consideration of these circumstances, the Governor General in Council, with a view to afford greater security to the merchants trading between Benares and the Company's dominions, resolved on the 26th December 1787, that rowannahs should in future be granted conformably to those issued in the provinces; that similar registers also should be kept by the rajah's officers; that the duty on all imports from Bengal or Behar, should be reduced to two and a half per cent; that the Benares rowannahs should be current in the Company's dominions and vice versâ, for the price of the goods exported from each country; that the value of goods produced in and exported from the district of Benares should be ascertained by the invoices of the exporters; that the zemindarry and inland duties, and all other collections on merchandize, excepting those authorized by government, should be formally abolished, and that persons convicted of levying them should be subject to certain specified penalties; and, finally, that a court of justice, to be denominated the commercial court for the zemindarry of Benares, for taking cognizance of infringements of all regulations regarding the customs should be constituted, and presided in by the resident. The regulations for the collection of the customs founded on these resolutions, were directed to be in force from the 1st of April, 1788, and subsequent to the enaction of them, separate rules were passed for collecting the duties on the Decan trade at Mirzapore; a commercial treaty was concluded by the Governor General in Council with the Nawaub Vizier, and another commercial treaty was entered into by the Governor General in Council with the rajah of Nepaul, the provisions in the former of which treaties, as far as they affected Benares, were ordered to take place from September 1788, and those in the latter, from April 1792; and in the last mentioned year, the export duty on goods, the growth or manufacture of the province of Benares, was reduced from five to two and a half per cent. The code of regulations for the collection of the customs, introduced on the 1st April 1788, having been considerably altered by these subsequent arrangements, and other orders passed regarding the department ment of the cuſtoms, and further alterations being rendered neceſſary in conſequence of the ſeparation of the judicial authority from the charge of the collection of the public revenues, the following modified and amended code of rules for the collection of the cuſtoms in the province of Benares, has been enacted.

At what ſtations rowannahs are to be granted.

II. Rowannahs or cuſtom houſe paſſes, are to be granted under the eſtabliſhed rules; from the four ſuperior ſtations, or ſtations of collection, vizt. Benares, Ghazeepore, Mirzapore, and Juanpore, according to the form preſcribed by the regulations introduced on the 1ſt of April 1788.

Rules for receiving derkhaſts and iſſuing rowannahs.

III. The cuſtom houſes are to be open every day for the tranſaction of buſineſs, and every rowannah applied for in the courſe of each day, ſhall be iſſued during the following day. But no rowannah ſhall be granted excepting upon a written derkhaſt or application ſigned by the tranſporters, or their authorized agents, ſpecifying the price, quality, and quantity of the goods; and that the exact weight of the goods may be known compared with the weights in uſe in the province of Benares, the derkhaſt or application is to ſpecify the number of rupees which form the ſeer, at the place where the goods were originally purchaſed by the immediate owner.

How to be authenticated.

IV. Each rowannah is to have affixed to it, the ſeals of the rajah, the darogah or collector, the muſhriff or accountant, and the tevildar or caſhkeeper, and to prevent any balances remaining due at the end of the year, the laſt mentioned officer is on no account to deliver out the rowannah until the duty be paid. Each of theſe officers is to have the cuſtody of the public ſeal of his office, and the ſeal of the rajah is to remain in charge of the darogah. The ſaid officers are ſeverally to affix the ſeals thus entruſted to them to each rowannah, ſubſcribing alſo their reſpective ſignatures, and the darogah writing the words "mutlah ſhood" under the rajah's ſeal. The proper authentications alſo are to be carefully obſerved with reſpect to the zemin or endorſements, and every rowannah is to be drawn out precisely in the same form. For neglect in any of these respects, the party offending is to be punishable by a fine not exceeding twenty rupees, to be levied by the collector for the first offence, and by dismission from office in case of his being guilty of a repetition of any such irregularity. The collector is to report every instance in which he may fine or dismiss any of the officers of the customs under this section, with the circumstances of the case, to the board of trade, for their information, and such orders as they may deem it advisable to issue on the subject.

How neglect in the observance of official forms is to be punished.

V. A rowannah granted at any one custom house, shall be considered as current throughout the province during a period of six months for the same goods, and to exempt the goods from all molestation or detention further than may be requisite to enable the officers of any other custom house to ascertain whether the goods and the rowannah correspond. The detention of goods for this purpose shall never exceed one day, on pain of the darogah or officer causing their longer detention, being fined by the collector in a sum equal to the loss which may in consequence arise to the owner. The collector is to report every instance in which he may exercise the power above vested in him to the board of trade. If the owner or person having charge of the goods, shall not be satisfied with the collector's decision, he may decline to avail himself of it, and have recourse to the nearest court of justice, which is in such case to try the cause, and to award to the party such damages as may appear to it equitable on a consideration of the circumstances of the case. Such suits are to be defended by the vakeel of government according to the instructions he shall receive from the collector, but the damages awarded are to be defrayed by the officer by whom the injury may have been committed, who will of course have the option of appealing to the provincial court of appeal if he shall be dissatisfied with the decision of the zillah court.

For what period a rowannah is to remain in force.

VI. In explanation of that part of Section V, which directs that

a rowannah shall be in force for six months, it is hereby provided, that should a merchant be desirous of keeping his goods for a better market, longer than the period for which the rowannah is current, he shall be entitled to an exchanged rowannah for six months longer, on oath being made by the owner to the identity of the goods, or satisfactory proof thereof being obtained, and the old rowannah being surrendered: or, should a merchant be desirous of dividing a dispatch into smaller parcels after having taken up a rowannah for the whole, he shall be entitled to as many rowannahs as he may require, on identifying the goods as above specified, and surrendering the old rowannah. But a merchant, after arriving at the place of his destination, shall on no account be entitled to a new rowannah duty free, on pretence of his having transported only a part of the dispatch under the original rowannah. On all exchanged rowannahs, the seal and name of the tehsildar are to be omitted, in lieu of which, the number and date of the original rowannah are to be inserted in the body of the exchanged rowannah, and the darogah is to cancel the old rowannah, by endorsing the date of the new one upon it, that it may not be again presented to be exchanged.

Manner in which a rowannah is to be applied for and taken out for goods at a distance.

VII. First. That the transportation of goods by land or by water may be attended with as little interruption as possible, the darogahs of each of the four stations of collection, on the receipt of the written application of the transporter, or of his authorized agent, are to collect the duty, and to issue the rowannah according to the specifications in the written application; but the goods are to be liable to be compared with the rowannah at the several subordinate stations, and at the stations of collection, and if found not conformable thereto, and to the written application for the rowannah delivered by the merchant at the time of his taking it out, the whole of the said dispatch shall be immediately transported to the nearest station of collection, and from thence by the darogah of that station, with a statement of the circumstances of the case, to the collector at Benares, where, upon proof of intention of fraud, the goods shall be liable to the penalties and forfeitures specified in the following following ſection. It is to be underſtood however that the party in charge of the goods, is to be at liberty to apply to the courts of juſtice for redreſs againſt the order which may be paſſed by the collector, provided that ſuch application be preferred within fourteen days after the date of the order.

Penalty for goods paſſing or attempting to paſs by water any ſtation of collection without taking out a rowannah,

Second. The duties on goods being moderate, and there being no difficulty in obtaining rowannahs, merchants importing or exporting goods, to or from the province of Benares, ſhall pay the duties either previous to, or on the arrival of their boats with goods oppoſite to either of the four ſtations of collection, and boats with goods ſtopped in the attempt of paſſing either of the ſaid ſtations, without the duties having been previouſly paid, and a rowannah taken out, ſhall pay double duties.

Third. The officers of every ſubordinate inland chokee or ſtation, are to ſtop all goods proceeding by land, until the proprietors thereof ſhall have ſent to the head ſtation, and taken out a rowannah; and importers of goods paſſing, or ſtopped in the attempt of paſſing, any ſuch ſubordinate inland ſtation on the frontiers, without a rowannah having been taken out for them before their arrival at ſuch ſubordinate ſtation, or without the owner or perſon in charge of them, having ſtopped at ſuch ſtation, and ſent to a head ſtation, and taken out a rowannah, ſhall for ſuch act, be ſubjected to the payment of double duties.

Parties tranſporting goods by water may pay the duty thereon at either of the principal ſtations of collection.

Fourth. As it may be often convenient to perſons tranſporting merchandiſe by the Ganges, to pay the amount of the duty chargeable thereon, at ſome one of the four head cuſtom houſes in preference to another, an option is accordingly left to them of paying the duties at whichever of the four head cuſtom houſes they may think proper, upon condition of their ſubmitting their goods to inſpection at the firſt head cuſtom houſe which they may approach, and entering into a written engagement with the darogah thereof, to pay the duty at the head cuſtom houſe at which they may be desirous of discharging it, to the darogah of which, the said engagement is accordingly to be in due time forwarded by the darogah to whom it may be executed.

Penalty for merchants exhibiting false manifests or fabricated invoices and taking out short rowannahs.

VIII. To deter merchants, or others, applying for rowannahs, from giving in the names of goods of a different species, from, or of an inferior quality to, those which they intend to transport, or from exhibiting fabricated invoices, the darogahs of any of the stations of collection where such goods may pass, are authorized either on suspicion, or information, to order one bale or package to be opened in the public cutcherry, when, if any such fraud be discovered, the darogah shall forward the whole dispatch under a proper guard of peons to the collector, who, on the fact being proved, and where the goods do not exceed the quantity specified in the rowannah, one sixth of the whole, shall order double duties to be levied on the said excess; and where such difference is more than one sixth and not above one fourth, double duties shall be levied on all the said goods, including as well those covered by the rowannah as the surplus; and lastly, where the said surplus or excess shall exceed one quarter of the whole, the said goods shall be forfeited. It is to be understood however, that such double duties, and forfeitures, are to affect only the particular assortment of goods wherein such surplus may be found, and not the other sorts of goods covered under the rowannah; and that in every case wherein the collector is authorized under this section, to pass any order either for the exaction of double duties, or the confiscation of goods, an option is left to the owner, or the party or parties in charge thereof, of applying for relief against such order, to the nearest court of justice, which shall accordingly try the merits of the case, provided that such application be made within fourteen days after the passing of the collector's order. The collector is to be considered as defendant in the cause, and if either party shall be dissatisfied with the decision of the judge, they will be at liberty to appeal under the regulations for preferring appeals. The court to whom the

the party whoſe goods ſhall have been ordered by the collector to be confiſcated, ſhall ſo apply within the preſcribed period, may order the ſaid goods to be reſtored to him, on his entering into good and ſufficient ſecurity in a ſum equal to the eſtimated value thereof, to abide by and perform all ſuch orders and deciſions as ſhall be paſſed in the ſuit which he may have ſo inſtituted.

Benares rowannahs to regulate the duty, to be levied on its exports to Bengal, Behar, and Oriſſa, and vice verſâ.

IX. The Benares rowannahs have been rendered current in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Oriſſa, and vice verſâ, for the price of the goods exported from each country. This rule will exempt the merchants from experiencing any delay in the valuation of their goods, when tranſported from one juriſdiction into the other, as the further or ſecond duty in either juriſdiction, will be payable on the price or valuation of the goods as inſerted in the rowannah under which they may have been firſt exported.

Articles free of duties.

X. Firſt. Goods imported from Bengal, Behar, or Oriſſa, under maafy rowannahs, (rowannahs granted without the payment of any duty,) are to be allowed the ſame exemption in Benares, and vice verſâ, with this proviſo, that all ſuch rowannahs granted in Benares be authenticated by the collector's own ſignature, which is not required to rowannahs for goods charged with duties.

Salgram ſtones, &c.

Second. Salgram ſtones are allowed to be imported, and the quarry ſtones from Chunar to be exported, free of duty; and cattle, horſes, elephants, and all quadrupeds, are exempted from the payment of any import or export duty.

General rates of duty on imports and exports, and valuations on which ſuch rates are to be calculated.

XI. Firſt. With a view to promote the eaſe and advantage of the merchants, the book of rates framed in 1781, and amended in 1784, is no longer to be invariably conſidered as the rule for aſcertaining the value of the merchandiſe on which the duty is to be levied, but the value of the goods, and the rate of duty, are to be aſcertained and levied according to the following rules.

Second.

On imports from Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa, for consumption in Benares, or for exportation into Oude, or to the Decan, or westward.

Second. On all goods imported under rowannahs from the provinces of Bengal, Bahar, and Orissa, intended for exportation to the Decan, or to Oude, or any other of the western markets, or for internal consumption in the province of Benares, two and a half per cent is to be collected on the value of the goods, as specified in the rowannah granted in the said provinces.

On imports from Oude.

Third. According to the commercial treaty concluded by the Governor General in Council with the Vizier in 1788, as far as regards Benares, no exemptions are to be claimed on either side; and the rowannahs are to specify the quantity and valuation of the goods, and the duties in each country are to be levied on the valuation which may be specified in the rowannah granted in the other, excepting that the valuation of cotton, imported through the Vizier's dominions, is to be six rupees per maund of ninety-six sicca rupees to the seer, and on this valuation, which will be specified in the Oude rowannah, a duty at the rate of two and a half per cent is to be levied. This rate of duty, is likewise fixed for silk and cotton goods, imported from the Vizier's dominions. All other goods are to pay on the valuation in the rowannah, a duty of five per cent, half of which is to be levied in Benares, and half at Mangee, when the goods are to be again exported to the province of Behar, or otherwise (with the exception in the treaty as to silk and cotton piece goods) the whole duty of five per cent is to be levied. It is also to be considered as a general rule, that double duties are to be levied on goods that are occasionally imported from Oude, either without any, or with informal and insufficient rowannahs, not specifying the quantity and valuation of the goods as required by the treaty aforesaid, and in such cases, the valuation of the goods is to be taken from the Benares book of rates.

From Nepaul.

Fourth. On imports from Nepaul, a duty of two and a half per cent is to be levied on the importer's invoice, according to the commercial treaty with that state, but if this rate of duty shall have been previously paid on such goods on their passage through Bengal, or Behar, no duty whatever is to be exacted on their importation into the province of Benares.

Fifth.

Fifth. On the imports from all other countries, five per cent is to be paid on the valuation in the book of rates, excepting the article of shawl goods, the duty on which is to be collected, as already established, at the rate of two and a half per cent on the beejick or invoice of the importer. This beejick is to be produced to the custom master, and after having the rajah's seal affixed to it, and a copy of it being retained, it is to be returned to the owner, with the rowannah made out in conformity to it. But as it may sometimes happen, that a person importing shawl goods, may be without such beejick or invoice, from his having brought to the Benares market a part only of his original purchase, the value is in such case to be estimated by the award of three or four respectable merchants, to be assembled for that purpose at the custom house.

On imports from all other countries.

Exception with respect to shawl goods and to the Decan trade to Mirzapoor.

Sixth. On all goods produced or manufactured for exportation in the province of Benares, two and a half per cent is to be levied on the valuation of the invoice exhibited by the exporter. This invoice is thereon to have the custom house seal affixed to it, and a copy of it being retained, the original is to be returned to the party exhibiting it. On indigo, the duty is to be levied according to the valuation in the book of rates. Sugars exported after being refined in the province, from goor or shukker imported into it, are not to be liable to any export duty; but frauds committed under the cover of this indulgence with regard to sugar, are to be punished by confiscation of the entire property, by the same process, and under the same rules, as are prescribed with regard to confiscations in section VIII.

Duty on Benares exports.

XII. Besides the duties above specified, which are to be collected upon imports and exports as mentioned in the preceding section, no duty, custom, toll, or fee whatever, shall be levied upon the transportation of any article of trade or merchandise, or upon the sale or consumption thereof, in any gunge, bazar, haut, pait, village, town, or place, whatsoever. The collector is empowered to receive complaints of exactions against all officers employed by him in the department of the customs, and to cause them to restore unauthorized collections, and to punish the exactors by fine or dismission. It is to be understood however, that the complainants are to have the option of applying to the courts of judicature, in the event of the collectors omitting to afford immediate and satisfactory redress, in which case, the trial is to be conducted in the manner specified in section V.

Encouragement to the native officers of the customs to be watchful in preventing smuggling.

XIII. The darogahs, or principal native collectors of the customs, and the officers of their respective establishments, are to be careful to prevent goods being smuggled, either without rowannahs, or under short rowannahs, granted within the province, whether such goods be passing to or from their own principal station, or either of the three other head stations of collection; and as an encouragement to the darogahs, and to the officers subordinate to them, to be attentive to the discharge of this part of their duty, it is declared that a proportion of twelve annas in the rupee, or three fourths of the produce of the sale of all goods, which having been seized by them in the attempt to be smuggled, may be afterwards confiscated and sold, shall on condemnation in the manner provided in section VIII, belong to the seizers, in the following proportions:

XIV. With the exception of the mushriff and tehvildar, the darogah of each station, is to be held responsible for the conduct of all the officers under him, both at the sudder and in the mofussil, and is to take mochulkas, and security for his own indemnification, for their good conduct, and he is moreover empowered to remove them at his discretion, only informing the collector with his reasons for so doing. If any fee, or any consideration whatever, shall be taken by the darogah, or his sudder or mofussil officers, from any merchant or trader, or any other person or persons whomsoever, such darogah, on complaint, and proof before the collector, or any court of justice, (in the manner prescribed in Section XII,) shall be fined to the amount of three times the sum thus taken either by himself or his officers, besides being liable to dismission at the discretion of the collector, or of the board of trade, either of whom may also order such of the inferior officers to be dismissed, as on such occasions may be found to have personally offended; without however affecting the darogah's right to recover from such offenders for whom he shall have been thus rendered responsible, either by legal process or otherwise, the full amount of the penalty in which he shall have been amerced on their account. The mushriff and tehvildar are to be held responsible for their own acts, and to be subject to the same penalties of fine and dismission, as by the preceding part of this section may be awarded against the darogah.

Darogahs answerable for the acts of all the officers in their department, the mushriff and tehvildar excepted.

XV. The darogahs of each station, are to transmit to the collector, a list of the officers and servants employed by them according to their respective establishments for each division, and to send with their respective monthly accounts, the receipts of the said officers, as vouchers of their having paid their monthly wages.

When the imports are to be examined.

Second. The tellashee, or search and inspection, of the goods imported by land, by the Decan beoparies, is to take place on the arrival thereof at the Decan or south gateway of the mundovy or mart.

When the duty on imports is to be paid.

Third. The import duty of five per cent on the valuation in the book of rates, is to be paid in proportion as the said importers dispose of the whole, or any part of their investments, upon which rowannahs for the goods, are to be issued in the names of the original importers.

When chore chitties may be issued instead of rowannahs.

Fourth. For the quicker dispatch of business, it is ordered at the request of the Decan beoparies, that chore chitties or passes, with one seal only, instead of rowannahs, may be granted for all goods passing from the mart of Mirzapoor to the Decan, provided that such goods shall have been first imported into the mart under a rowannah, certifying the duties of the province of Benares to have been collected thereon; but in respect to goods, which, from being of the produce or manufacture of this country, shall have been imported into the mundovy or mart without a rowannah, or being charged with duties, whenever such goods shall be exported to the Decan, they must be cleared out and accompanied by a regular rowannah, according to the form thereof, established by the regulations which were in force from the first of April 1788.

Sixth. In December 1788, the Governor General in Council sanctioned an arrangement proposed by the Decan merchants at Mirzapoor, whereby, of the duty of five per cent payable on their imports, one half is charged to and received from themselves; and the other moiety is paid by the person or persons to whom they dispose of such goods in the mart, for transportation and sale beyond yond its limits, it being underſtood and ſtipulated,' that if the Decan importer, inſtead of ſelling his goods thus brought into the mart, ſhall chooſe; in view to a better market, to carry them further into the diſtrict, he is to pay the remaining half of the fixed duty himſelf, ſo as on the whole to make up the five per cent import duty due to government on the goods.

Valuation on which the duty on the Decan cotton is to be rated.

Seventh. In conſequence of the former over-valuation of the cotton imported by the Decan beoparies into the Mirzapoor mart, and other parts of the province of Benares, it has been fixed ſince the month of April 1790, that all ſuch cotton ſhall be valued at eight rupees per maund, inſtead of twelve rupees, at which it ſtands valued in the book of rates.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION IV.

A REGULATION for prohibiting the collection of internal duties, in the province of Benares.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council on the 27th March 1795, corresponding with the 16th Chyte 1201 Bengal era; the 21st Chyte 1202 Fussily; the 16th Chyte 1202 Willaity; the 21st Chyte 1852 Sumbut; and the 5th Ramzaan 1209 Higeree.

PREVIOUS to the cession of Benares to the Company, and until the year 1781, internal duties and tolls, in addition to the duties collected on the import and export trade, were exacted throughout the province; and notwithstanding the orders passed in that year, that no duties should be collected but at the stations of Ghazeepore, Benares, and Mirzapore, and the repetition of those orders in 1784, the trade of the province continued to be burdened by a variety of interior tolls and exactions, levied partly at the custom houses, and partly by the aumils, and the zemindars and farmers under their authority, until the end of the Fussily year 1194, or September 1787, subsequent to which period, in order to remove these obstructions to the trade of the province, the following rules and measures were adopted and established, which are hereby enacted into a regulation.

II. In

Abolition of the rahdary, and other interior duties, collected by the zemindars, and aumils.

II. In the ſettlement for the Fuſſily year 1195, it was ſtipulated with the aumils by a clauſe in their cabooleats, that they ſhould relinquiſh the collection of all tolls and duties on the tranſportation of grain, and other articles of the interior trade of the province, which they before collected with the land revenue, under the penalty of being ſubject to a fine equal to treble the amount of every ſum ſo levied.

Order of government for the general abolition of all zemindarry duties.

III. On the 26th December 1787, the Governor General in Council ordered that the zemindarry duties, and all other collections on merchandiſe, excepting thoſe authorized by government, ſhould be formally aboliſhed, and penalties were preſcribed for ſuch perſons as might be convicted of levying any exaction whatever on the property of the merchants, contrary to the ſpirit of this order.

Prohibition of all interior zemindarry, rahdary, and gunge duties, and penalty for the exaction of them.

IV. It was in conſequence ordered by the 13th article of the cuſtom houſe regulations of the 29th March 1788, and which were in force from the 1ſt April following, that no duties of any kind or denomination, ſhould be collected in any part of the country, excepting at the four principal cuſtom houſes of Benares, Ghazeepore, Juanpore, and Mirzapore, nor upon the tranſportation of any goods produced or manufactured in one part of the country, and ſold or conſumed in another, (with the exception of the goods ſold which might be afterwards exported,) and that any perſon levying duties, or exactions, under whatever denomination, on ſuch goods, in oppoſition to this prohibition, ſhould be liable to a fine equal to three times the amount received; and as an encouragement to perſons ſo aggrieved to prefer their complaints to the judge of the neareſt court of adawlut, who was bound to render them ſpeedy and effectual juſtice, the whole of the fine was directed to be paid to the party from whom the exactions might be made.

and abwab, or land revenue only, without including the ſayer collections before levied by the aumils and landholders, which had been prohibited in the preceding year, a clauſe was inſerted in the engagements of the aumils, reciting that all the ſayerjehaut, or ſayer collections, and the duties on the tranſportation of merchandiſe, having from the preceding year 1195 Fuſſily, been prohibited by government, they were neither themſelves to levy, nor to allow any other perſon to levy, any of thoſe articles of collection, under the penalty of paying a fine equal to treble the amount received; and they were furniſhed with forms of cabooleats, containing clauſes to a ſimilar effect, to be taken by them from their under renters, the village zemindars, and farmers.

VI. On the concluſion of the permanent ſettlement with the zemindars and farmers of the talooks and villages in 1197, they entered into cabooleats or engagements, in which it was ſtipulated, that as all the ſayerjehaut, and rahdary duties, and exactions, had been aboliſhed from the Fuſſily year 1195, they were not to make any collections on theſe accounts, under the penalty of paying treble the amount exacted, in the ſame manner as had been ſtipulated with the aumils in the preceding years.

Engagements of the zemindars and farmers to the ſame effect in 1197.

VII. At the concluſion of this permanent ſettlement, the aumils alſo (who were appointed to collect the land revenue payable according to the ſettlement) entered into a new engagement with government, by which it was ſtipulated, that as all gunge, rahdary, and ſayer collections, had been aboliſhed from 1195 Fuſſily, they were not to collect, receive, or ſuffer to be collected, or received, any thing on theſe accounts, under the preſcribed penalty of paying treble the amount ſo exacted.

VIII. The prohibitions contained in the preceding ſections are to be ſtrictly attended to, and the whole of the penalty recoverable on every breach of them, is to be paid to the party from whom the illegal exactions may be made, on his proving them in a court of judicature.

Caſes of undue exactions under the above heads cognizable in the adawluts.

Suits founded on these regulations to be tried in preference to others.

IX. It being of importance that merchants, and others, from whom any ſuch illegal exactions may be made, ſhould obtain the moſt ſpeedy redreſs, the judges of the ſeveral courts, are required to be at all times ready to receive and hear complaints of ſuch exactions, in preference to all other ſuits, ſo that the party injured may experience the leaſt poſſible delay in obtaining a deciſion.

Authority veſted in the collector and darogahs of the cuſtom houſes for repreſſing undue exactions.

X. As it may happen, that perſons from whom ſuch illegal exactions may occaſionally be made, by zemindars or others, may omit to proſecute the offender in a court of juſtice, and it being eſſential to the protection of the trade of the country, that every means ſhould be adopted for preventing ſuch undue collections, the darogahs of each ſtation, are to be careful to tranſmit to the collector, information of all unauthorized chowkies ſtationed for the collection of duties, that may at any time be attempted to be eſtabliſhed by any zemindar, farmer, or other perſon, or perſons, for the collection of rahdary, or gunge, or other duties, or exactions; and, if the party thus offending, ſhall not immediately withdraw and aboliſh the chowkey ſo eſtabliſhed, as well as pay to the collector the amount that he or his people may have levied, (which is to be reſtored to the party or parties from whom it may have been exacted,) the collector is to cauſe a proſecution to be inſtituted againſt ſuch zemindar, farmer, or other perſon ſo offending, both for the removal of the chowkey, and for the recovery of the preſcribed penalties.

Collector reſigning, or removed, not to quit the ſtation without a complete tranſfer of his truſt, and the ſanction of the board of revenue to his departure, ſhall have been obtained.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION VI.

A REGULATION prescribing the process by which the collector, and the tehseeldars, are to realize the public revenue payable from the lands in the province of Benares.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 27th March, 1795; corresponding with the 16th Chyte 1201 Bengal era; the 21st Chyte 1202 Fussily; the 16th Chyte 1202 Willaity; the 21st Chyte 1852 Sumbut; and the 5th Ramzaan 1209 Higeree.

THE following rules are prescribed for the guidance of the collector, and the tehseeldars, in realizing the public revenue payable from the lands.

II. The tehseeldars are to place shaenas, or watchmen, on the crops, at the expence of the parties to whom they may belong, and are not to allow them to be cut down, or carried away, until the zemindar or farmer, in the mushuckhusy lands, (lands for the payment of the revenue assessed on which a settlement has been concluded,) or the ryots, in the lands held amauny, shall have given security for the revenue payable therefrom on account of the year. If such security shall be given before the ripening of the first crops, the tehseeldar is not to station watchmen over the crops, crops, nor is any charge to be incurred on account of watchmen, by the persons who may be responsible for the revenue due from the lands. But where such security is not tendered, watchmen are to be stationed, and an allowance, the amount of which is to be regulated by the local custom, is to be made to them, and included in the deh khurch, or village charges, of which the accounts are kept by the putwarries. To prevent all undue exactions under the head of shaenagee, or allowance to shaenas, or watchmen, the tehseeldar is to furnish each watchman with a dustuck or writ, prescribing the duty he is to perform. On this dustuck, the sheristadars, (heretofore the canongoes,) are to endorse the name of the watchman, the rate of allowance which, according to established custom, he is to receive, and from whom it is to be levied; and the sheristadars, at the end of every month, are to transmit under their official signature, a list of all such shaena dustucks, as they shall have thus attested during the course thereof, together with the rates of shaenagee thereby allowed. The collector is to revise these allowances, and may order them to be reduced, whenever they shall appear to him exorbitant.

When payment of the instalments, is to be demanded.

III. The tehseeldars are not to issue a dustuck, or written demand for the payment of any kist, or instalment, until it be due. Accordingly, in those places where by antient custom the revenues are payable by two instalments in each month, viz. at the amawus, or middle, and the poornmaushy, or end, of the month, he is not to issue a dustuck for such kists before the expiration of the day of payment; and where the revenues are payable by monthly instalments, he is not to issue a dustuck for the instalment of any month, before the elapse of it. But when any person shall have failed to pay in his kist before, or on the date on which it may become due, the tehseeldar is to issue a dustuck, and to cause it to be served on the party in arrear, who, until he shall have discharged the amount, is to pay to the peon employed in serving the dustuck, for the first three days, one anna per day, which rate shall ſhall afterwards be increaſed half an anna per day, until the kiſt be paid, or until the duſtuck be withdrawn, as hereafter provided for. But the defaulter ſhall not be ſubject to any further charge, for the khorack, or ſubſiſtence of the peon, or other account.

IV. Tehſeeldars are ſtrictly prohibited from employing muzcoory peons, to ſerve the abovementioned, or any other duſtucks. This duty ſhall be performed ſolely by peons entertained on monthly wages, and who ſhall have given ſecurity for their good conduct, and whoſe wages ſhall be paid by government out of the tullubana or ſubſiſtence money that may be levied from the perſons on whom they may ſerve the duſtucks. Every tehſeeldar is to report to the collector, the number and names of the peons thus entertained by him, as well as ſuch occaſional diſmiſſions, vacancies, and appointments, as may occur in this part of his eſtabliſhment; and the collector is to furniſh the tehſeeldars with a correſpondent number of chuppraſſes or badges, which ſuch peons are to wear, and without which, they are not to perform any official act. On each of theſe badges ſhall be inſcribed in the Perſian language, and in the Hindoſtanee language and Nageree character "Chupraſſy of the tehſeeldar of " (name of the mohaul or diſtrict, under the charge of the tehſeeldar, in whoſe ſervice the peon may be employed).

V. Every duſtuck iſſued by a tehſeeldar for enforcing payment of a kiſt, ſhall be atteſted by the ſheriſtadars officiating in the tehſeeldarry cutcherry, who, on the eighth of each ſucceeding month, are to tranſmit to the collector, an atteſted liſt of all ſuch duſtucks as may have been thus iſſued; and the peons, on their return with their duſtucks, ſhall account to the ſheriſtadars for the tullubana collected by them in conformity to their duſtucks, and, after retaining one moiety of the amount for their own ſubſiſtence, ſhall pay the other half to the ſheriſtadars, receiving from them regular receipts for the ſums ſo paid. The peons are immediately to deliver these receipts into the dufter or office of the tehfeeldar, who, on the twentieth of every fucceeding month, is to forward an atteſted liſt of them to the collector. The collector is to cauſe the liſt to be examined, and checked by the atteſted liſt of the duſtucks iſſued, which he will have previouſly received from the ſheriſtadars, and to have entered monthly in the moolky treaſury accounts, the neat realized amount of the reſerved moiety of ſuch tullubana, and to allow the ſheriſtadars to apply the ſame towards the diſcharge of ſo much of their monthly wages, as may be payable from that treaſury.

Nature and extent of the reſponſibility of the tehfeeldars.

VI. In conſideration of the liberal rate of commiſſion continued to the tehſeeldars, they are to be conſidered as reſponſible to government, for the regular realizing of the annual amount of the jumma aſſeſſed on the muſhkhuſy lands, within their reſpective tehſeeldarries, the revenue of which is not paid huzzoory, or immediately to the collector, as well as for the annually aſcertained revenue funds of thoſe lands that may remain amauny, (which funds are to be aſcertained in the manner preſcribed in Section XXVII, Regulation II, 1795.) ſuch reſponſibility on their parts, being conſidered as rendering them liable to make good to government from their own property, whatever deficiencies in the collection of the ſaid aſcertained funds, may be proved to have ariſen either from their wilful neglect, or inattention, or from direct embezzlement, to which purport, engagements are to be taken from them by the collector. The tehſeeldars are alſo declared liable to be removed from their offices by the collector, with the ſanction of the board of revenue, and to be proſecuted on the ground of their ſaid engagements, either during the courſe, or at the end, of the year.

Proceſs to be obſerved by the collector in realiſing the ſucceſſive inſtalments, as they fall due.

VII. The kiſts or inſtalments for each month, receivable from the tehſeeldars, and the huzzoory malguzars, are to be paid between the firſt and the ſeventh of each ſucceeding month; and for all arrears not then paid, the collector, at his diſcretion, on a consideration of the credit and responsibility of the parties, is either to issue his dustuck, or to send only a written notice by letter, or a verbal intimation, through the vakeels of the parties, (who are always to be in attendance at his cutcherry), to pay in their kists. But to those who shall not have paid the amount due from them by the fourteenth of the month, the collector shall issue dustucks, under his seal and signature, and countersigned by the dewan, on the fifteenth of the month, and the peons serving such dustucks shall be directed to bring the party or parties to whom they are addressed, without delay, to the collector's cutcherry, and also from the date of their dustuck, to levy tullubana for the first three days, at the rate of two annas per day, to be augmented at the rate of one anna per day, until the kist be discharged, or until the dustuck be withdrawn, as hereafter provided for. Such dustucks, and all other summonses of the collector, are to be served by the badge peons on his establishment of public officers, hired at monthly wages, who shall be allowed to retain one anna per day for their subsistence out of the tullubana which they may levy. In cases however of unavoidable necessity, the collector is permitted to employ muzkoory peons, who are to be allowed out of the tullubana which they may collect, two annas per day, for their subsistence. And on particular occasions, when from the distance of situation, or the necessity for dispatch, the collector, shall deem it proper, instead of a peon, to employ a horseman (sowar) in the serving of any written demand for revenue, the tullubana to be collected by the horseman, shall begin at the rate of four annas per day, and augment at the rate of two annas per day, until the demand specified in the dustuck be liquidated. The horseman shall be allowed to retain out of this tullubana, four annas per day for his own maintenance, and the subsistence of his horse; but no sowars are to be employed by the collector in the serving of dustucks, excepting those who form part of his public establishment, and are entertained on monthly wages. All peons, whether employed on monthly wages, or those termed muzkoory, and also sowars, are to give security, not to exact or receive under any pretence, any sum or sums, or to accept of any subsistence for themselves, or their horses, from any person or persons, to whom they may be thus sent to demand payment of revenue, under the penalty of being made to refund double the amount, either by the collector, on such exaction or receipt coming to his knowledge, or in case of their being afterwards prosecuted on this account, in the city court, or either of the zillah courts.

for

How the sudder tullubana levied by the collector is to be appropriated.

VIII. The tullubana collected as above prescribed, is to be accounted for at the end of every month by the collector's nazir, and the jematdar of the sowars, to the treasurer of the moolky treasury, and the said nazir and jematdar are then to pay in the amount thereof, according to an attested statement under the collector's official seal and signature. This statement is to remain as a voucher in the said treasury, from the gross receipts specified in which, there is only to be deducted the subsistence money allowed to the peons or horsemen, as authorized in the preceding section.

On whom the collector is to make his demand for the huzoory revenue.

IX. When any huzoory malguzar, (whose privileges, and the mode of acquiring them, are explained in Regulation II, 1795,) falls in arrears, the collector may address his dustuck or written demand for the kist, either to the defaulter himself, or to his malzamin or security, or, if necessary, to both.

On whom the tehseeldars are to make their demand for the revenue payable through them.

X. With respect to the lands the revenue assessed on which, is not paid huzoory, or immediately to the collector, the tehseeldar, at the expiration of the fifth day, from the date of his dustucks having been served without success on the party or parties in arrear, is to cause similar written demands, under the same attestations, and subject to the same progressive rate of tullubana, to be served on their sureties, if they shall have given sureties; and, when the revenue in demand, together with the tullubana, shall be realized from the principal or surety, either at their places of abode, in consequence of the dustuck being served upon them, or, at the tehseeldar's cutcherry, to which the peons are to escort them, by ſuch time, (conſiſtently with the period fixed in the enſuing ſection, for their being ſent in to the collector,) as ſhall be ſpecified by the tehſeeldar in the duſtuck, ſuch duſtuck or duſtucks, together with the peons ſerving the ſame, ſhall thereon be immediately withdrawn.

When the tehſeeldars are to ſend in defaulters to the collector.

XI. The tehſeeldars are not to confine in jail, or put into ſtocks or irons, any perſons, whether principals or ſureties, who may be in arrears on account of the revenue; but in caſe of any ſuch defaulter not paying up the demand on him by the tenth day after a duſtuck ſhall have been ſerved on a principal, or by the fifth day after the duſtuck iſſued on his ſurety, ſuch party or parties are invariably to be ſent with a written report of the circumſtances to the collector. In ſuch inſtances, and alſo in ſimilar caſes of huzoory malguzars or their ſecurities, on whom he may have ſent a duſtuck or written demand, and ſummoned in the firſt inſtance, the collector, after enquiring into the circumſtances, ſhall within ten days after the arrival of ſuch defaulter or defaulters at his cutcherry, (during which period of ten days he may either confine their perſons, or only keep over them the peons with whom they arrived,) either diſcharge him or them, on his or their paying the amount in demand, or ſatisfying the collector that he or they will make good ſuch payment, before the expiration of the current Hindoo month; or otherwiſe, the collector is to cauſe the party or parties in queſtion, after the expiration of the ten days, to be conveyed to the public jail of the neareſt court of dewanny adawlut, and the collector is to apply to the court by motion in writing, to be made in open court, (if the court ſhall be ſitting,) through the pleader of government, for the confinement of the defaulter. If the court ſhall not be ſitting, the motion is to be preſented to the judge out of court. The motion is to ſpecify the amount of the arrear due from the defaulter, and the date on which it became payable. Upon receipt of the motion, the judge is immediately to order the defaulter to be confined in the jail of the dewanny adawlut, and detain him, until he ſhall have diſcharged the arrear for which he may have been taken taken into cuſtody, and all ſubſequent arrears that may become due during his confinement, or until the collector ſhall apply to the court by motion made as above directed, to have him releaſed.

Caſes in which defaulters are to be charged with intereſt on arrears.

XII. To prevent proprietors or farmers of land, withholding the payment of the public revenue, to derive the benefit of the uſe of the money, or otherwiſe applying it to their private purpoſes, the board of revenue are empowered, in every caſe, in which it ſhall appear to them that a taloukdar, zemindar, or other actual proprietor, or farmer of land, has wantonly, or without ſufficient cauſe eſtabliſhed to their ſatisfaction, withheld the payment of the public dues, to charge the defaulter with intereſt on the arrear, at the rate of twelve per cent per annum, from the period at which it may become payable, until the date on which it may be diſcharged. The order of the board of revenue to the collector to levy the intereſt, ſhall be a ſufficient authority to him to enforce the payment of it, by the ſame proceſs to which he is empowered to have recourſe, for compelling the diſcharge of arrears of the ſtipulated public revenue. But the board of revenue are not to order the collector to exact the intereſt, until they have ſubmitted the circumſtances of the caſe to the Governor General in Council, and received his ſanction for the demand of it.

Caſes in which the collector is directed to ſuſpend the exerciſe of the powers veſted in him by Section XI.

XIII. If the crops in any eſtate or farm, ſhall have been damaged, or deſtroyed, by drought, inundation, or other calamity of ſeaſon, or from any cauſe not originating in the neglect, miſmanagement, or miſconduct of the proprietor or farmer, and ſuch proprietor or farmer ſhall fall in arrears, ſo as to ſubject himſelf to be confined under Section XI, and the collector ſhall be ſatisfied from the beſt information which he may be able to obtain, that the defaulter is unable to make good the arrears by the end of the current month, as required in the ſaid ſection, either from the collections on account of ſuch year from his eſtate or farm, or from his private funds, or property, or by a loan, he is directed to suspend the exercise of the powers vested in him in Section XI, for the confinement of the defaulter. But the collector is immediately to report the circumstances of the case to the board of revenue, with his reasons for not proceeding against the defaulter, and to wait for, and be guided by, the instructions which he may receive from them.

Precautions to be taken for the security of the revenue, on the confinement of a proprietor or farmer of land.

XIV. In all cases of the default, or confinement of parties, from whom revenue may be due, the collector is to issue directions to the tehseeldar of the district in which the lands of the defaulter may be situated, to levy the public revenue, by realizing in concert with the sheristadars, the defaulter's full share of the assessment on the crops to the end of the year, or until such time as he or his surety, in case he shall have given security, shall have paid up the balance, together with the charges of the peons who may have taken him into custody.

From whom and in what proportions the revenue is to be collected, on government's proceeding to realize the demands of defaulters from the putteedars, and ryots.

XV. This sequestration of the profits of the party or parties in arrear, is to extend also to the profits of all those of the brethren or putteedars, whose names may be inserted in the pottah of government, and who shall have executed the corresponding cabooleat; without however infringing the rights of the inferior putteedars or sharers, or in talookas, of the dependant village zemindars, or under renters, or, in any case, or under any description of tenure, of the common ryots, from whom the collections are to be made by the tehseeldar, according to their engagements with the defaulter or defaulters; or, where no such engagements exist, according to the established rules and usages of the village or talooka; and in addition to the accounts to be kept by the sheristadars, the defaulter may appoint a person to keep a counterpart of the accounts of the receipts and disbursements.

Tehseeldars and collector liable to be prosecuted for any breach of the preceding rules.

XVI. All complaints for any breach of the rules contained in the preceding sections, either by direct infraction of them, or by unnecessary severity in the execution of them, are declared cognizable

in Persons on whom a demand for revenue may be made by any tehsildar or collector, at liberty to institute a suit to try the justice of it.

in the city and zillah courts, to which any of the parties may apply at all times, either in person or by vakeel. In such cases, the judge is to cause the collector, or tehsildar, (according as the act complained of, may have been done by the former or the latter,) to be immediately served with a copy of the complaint, fixing a date, according to the distance of place, for the party complained against to deliver in his answer. On the receipt of such copy and notice, the collector or tehsildar respectively, within the period limited in the notice, shall give in his answer to the court, stating therein the amount in demand from the party or parties on whom the dustuck shall have been issued; and, if the said party or parties shall not thereon dispute the justice of the demand, the judge shall stop all further proceedings in the cause. On the contrary, if the plaintiff, or plaintiffs, in their replication, or that of their vakeel, delivered into court, shall not allow of the justice of the demand, and shall thereon tender to the court sufficient malzaminy or security, as well for the sum actually in demand, as for such further amount as may become due from the growing kists, during the trial, and condition to abide by such decree as the court may pass, including all costs and charges, in case the plaintiff or plaintiffs be cast, the judge shall issue a written precept, addressed to the tehsildar or collector, (according as the former or the latter may be the defendant,) to withdraw the dustuck and peon from the plaintiff or plaintiffs in the cause. In conformity to the precept, the defendant shall withdraw his process on the party or parties complaining, and give in his answer, when if no part of the claim shall be found to be due from the complainant, the judge shall discharge him, and decree such costs and damages against the tehsildar, or the collector, as he may deem equitable, upon a consideration of the circumstances of the case; and the damages so decreed shall be defrayed either by government, or the party prosecuted, according to the rules for such cases hereafter laid down in this regulation. If only a part of the demand shall appear due, the court is to discharge the prisoner upon his paying such part. In both cases however, the court, previous to releasing the prisoner, shall take good security from him to perform the final decision in appeal, in the event of the cause being appealed by the tehsseeldar or collector, in consequence of orders from the board of revenue, or without their orders. If the tehsseeldar or collector, shall state to the court that an appeal will not be preferred from the decision, or, if an appeal shall not be lodged within the time limited for preferring appeals to the provincial court of appeal, the judge shall release the person so confined without taking such security.

How lands of proprietors in arrear at the end of the year, are to be disposed of.

XVII. First. At the expiration of the year, if an arrear shall remain due from any talookdar, or zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, the collector is to communicate the amount to the board of revenue, accompanied by a detailed account of the causes of the failure, when, as far as regards the lands of proprietors, if the deficiency shall clearly appear to have proceeded from his or their embezzlement, or misappropriation of the funds, arising from the produce, and that there be no immediate prospect of the party or parties, or his or their sureties, making good the amount; the board of revenue, provided from the communications of the collector, it shall appear to them expedient so to do, and the Governor General in Council shall approve of the measure, may authorize the collector to transfer the rights of the defaulting landholder, to such one or more of his putteedars, or sharers, as shall be able and willing, in consideration of such transfer, to pay up the balance due to government. In such case, the defaulter is not to be entirely excluded, but is to retain, as an inferior putteedar, such a portion of neej-jote ground, as, with the approbation of the collector, the putteedars who may succeed him, shall be willing to allow him to hold, at the established rate of rent, payable by the most inferior of the family putteedars of the same village or talooka; provided however that no putteedar in arrear on account of rent to the defaulter, shall be allowed to take advantage of this option, which the collector is successively to tender in preference to the others, in proportion to the greater or less inter-or his profits may be ſequeſtered by government.

Second. Where ſuch transfer of a defaulter's rights, to one or more of his putteedars or ſharers, ſhall not prove effectual in realizing the balance; or in caſes where the deficiency cannot be proved to have ariſen from embezzlement on the part of the landholder, but where the cauſe may not be of ſuch a nature, as to induce the Governor General in Council to remit the amount, the board of revenue, with the ſanction of the Governor General in Council, may direct the collector, either to continue the defaulter in poſſeſſion, on his engaging in ſuch manner as ſhall be deemed ſatisfactory, to pay up his balance with the future revenue, or ſequeſter to the uſe of government, the enſuing years profits of the defaulter, in the manner, and under the reſtrictions, ſpecified in Section XV. The laſt mentioned meaſure ſhall be adopted, where there is a reaſonable proſpect of at leaſt realizing thereby, the aſſeſſment payable to government in the enſuing years, and in ſuch inſtances, it ſhall be the duty of the collector, in like manner as in all caſes in which lands are held amauny, to acquire the fulleſt information, and to propoſe to the board of revenue, ſuch improvements, of the jydaad, or funds, as may appear practicable, by making advances for tuckavy, gilandazee, the cutting down of jungles, or by the conſtruction of embankments, or water courſes, ſo as not only to prevent any diminution of the produce of the lands, but to improve and increaſe it.

Third. The profits ariſing from the ſurplus collections over and above the former fixed jumma adjuſted by the permanent ſettlement, after defraying the charges of improvement, whilſt government think fit to leave the lands amauny, ſhall be appropriated entirely to the uſe of the public, in the caſes of all defaulting proprietors who may be diſpoſſeſſed under the preceding clauſe, for embezzlement or miſappropriation of the funds for the payment of

But in the other caſe ſtated in Clauſe Second, in which embezzlement ſhall not have been clearly proved againſt the defaulting landholders, the profits or ſurplus collections, ſhall be ſet off againſt the arrears due from them, and they ſhall be entitled to reinſtatement, as ſoon as the arrears ſhall thus, or otherwiſe from their own funds, have been diſcharged, or when they ſhall deliver in ſatisfactory ſecurity for the amount, incluſive of the whole or the part of the charges of improvement incurred during their diſpoſſeſſion, for which, government, on a review of the circumſtances of the caſe, ſhall think fit to render them reſponſible.

The rules in the preceding clauſes of this ſection, are to be underſtood with this reſervation, that in all caſes where talookdars, zemindars, or other land owners, ſhall be diſpoſſeſſed for arrears of revenue, government ſhall have the option of letting their lands on leaſe, either for a term, or in perpetuity, to any perſon or perſons, in caſe of the diſpoſſeſſed proprietors omitting or refuſing to reſume the management of their lands, under the conditions that may be offered to them.

Right reſerved to government to let the lands of the diſpoſſeſſed proprietors to whomſoever they ſhall think proper,

In extraordinary inſtances of embezzlement, or miſappropriation of the funds from which the revenue may be payable, by any landholder, or in any other caſes in which it may be deemed adviſable, the board of revenue, (in addition to ſuch recourſe as is authorized to be had on the ſurety,) may recommend to the Governor General in Council, the enforcing of that part of the engagements of the landholders, which renders their property, real and perſonal, liable to ſale for arrears of revenue.

Where there are no antient zemindars, or where they decline to take on themselves the balance of the farmer, the latter may be continued, on his stipulating in such manner as shall be deemed satisfactory, to pay off his balance with the future revenue; or otherwise the farm is to be relet in perpetuity, or for such term as government may direct, to such other person or persons, as, in consideration of such lease, shall immediately pay up, or find satisfactory security for the removed farmer's balance, or the part of it, the payment of which shall be required.

Third. Where neither the antient zemindars shall be reinstated, nor the farmer in arrear be continued, nor any new farmer undertake to discharge the balance incurred, or such part thereof as government may require, the lands are to continue amauny, under the same kind of management, and regard to their improvement, as is directed in Clause Second of the preceding section, to be observed in respect to lands from which zemindars shall have been dispossessed.

Property of farmers may be disposed of for the recovery of arrears.

Fourth. The board of revenue, in all cases in which they may judge it advisable, (in addition to such recourse as is authorized to be had on the surety,) may recommend to the Governor General in Council, the sale of the property of farmers in arrears, in conformity to the tenor of their engagements.

If a tehſeeldar ſhall iſſue the proceſs preſcribed in Sections III, or X, againſt any zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, or any farmer, or ſurety, for payment of the amount of the inſtalment in demand, or of any other ſum or arrears of revenue due, and the party to whom ſuch proceſs may be addreſſed, ſhall refuſe to obey, or reſiſt, or cauſe to be reſiſted, the peon deputed to ſerve ſuch proceſs, or abſcond from the peon, after he ſhall have ſerved ſuch proceſs, or retire to any place, ſo that the proceſs cannot be ſerved on him; the tehſeeldar who may iſſue the writing, is immediately to repreſent the caſe to the collector, and to tranſmit a ſooruthaul, or circumſtantial report of it, under the ſeal of the cauzy, and the atteſtations of the ſheriſtadars; whereupon, if the party thus accuſed ſhall not intermediately have made his appearance at the collector's cutcherry, the collector ſhall iſſue a ſummons to him requiring him to repair to his cutcherry for the explanation of his conduct, and for the payment of his kiſt, along with the two peons, or the ſingle ſowar, either of whom, the collector at his diſcretion may depute to ſerve this ſummons. Upon the arrival of the party at the cutcherry of the collector, the latter is to enquire into the circumſtances of the caſe, and as may appear to him proper on a conſideration of them, either order the offender to be committed to temporary confinement for any term not exceeding ten days, or to exact ſufficient hazir or fael zaminy, from him. In all cases in which the collector shall order any zemindar or farmer to be confined, under the authority vested in him by Section XX, he shall cause a notice thereof, and of the date from which such imprisonment is to commence, to be made through the vakeel of government, to the judge of the dewanny adawlut within whose jurisdiction the lands of such zemindar or farmer shall be situated; and such notices are to be filed of record in the courts, to guard against any undue protraction of the term of such commitments.

The publication is to be written in the Persian language, and the Hindostanee language and Nageree character, and shall be fixed up as early after the date of it as may be practicable, at his usual place of abode, or the principal cutcherry in the estate on account of which the arrears may be due, and the office of the collector, and the court room of the dewanny adawlut of the zillah; and in the mean time, the collector is to cause the rents and revenues of the estate of the defaulter to be realized on behalf of government, in the manner specified in Sections XIV, and XV.

Rule for cases in which the provincial court of appeal may reverse such decisions of the city or zillah courts.

If the board shall order an appeal to be preferred, and it shall be lodged within the limited time, and the provincial court should reverse the decision of the city or zillah court, and adjudge the proprietary right in the estate forfeited, and the cause shall not be appealable to the sudder dewanny adawlut; or, if it shall be appealable, and an appeal should not be preferred within the limited time, the provincial court is immediately to forward a copy of their proceedings and decree in the appeal, and of the decree and proceedings of the city or zillah court, to the Governor General in Council. If the judge of the city or zillah court, shall decree the charge proved, and the decision shall be reversed in the provincial court, the collector is immediately to transmit a copy of the decrees and proceedings of the city or zillah court, and provincial court of appeal, with a letter, stating his objections to the decree of the latter court, to the board of revenue, who are to order him to appeal the cause to the sudder dewanny adawlut, (provided the cause shall be appealable,) or not, as they may think proper. If the cause shall be appealed, and the appeal shall be received in the sudder dewanny adawlut, and the court should reverse the decision of the provincial court, and declare the proprietary right in the estate forfeited, the court is immediately to transmit a copy of their decree and proceedings, and of the decrees and proceedings received from the provincial court of appeal, to the Governor General in Council. That no doubt may be entertained from what decrees passed by the provincial court of appeal, under this section, an appeal is to be allowed to the sudder dewanny adawlut, it is declared, that an appeal shall not lie to the last mentioned court, unless the annual produce of the estate of the defaulter on account of which the arrears may have been demanded, calculated according to the amount paid or payable by the putteedars, distinct or common, under farmers, and ryots, to the defaulter, on account of the year in which the decision of the city or zillah court may be passed, shall exceed one thousand sicca rupees; and the collector is enjoined to insert generally in the representation which he is directed to make to the dewanny adawlut of the city or zillah in Section XXII, whether the produce of the estate on account of the year abovementioned, according to the best information he may have been able to obtain, exceeds or falls short of one thousand sicca rupees; but without specifying the actual amount of the produce. If the defaulter shall not deliver himself up within the prescribed time, or if he shall surrender himself by the limited period, and the collector shall have stated the produce of the estate to be under one thousand sicca rupees, and the defaulter shall not deny the truth of the collector's statement in his answer to the charge, and the cause should be afterwards brought before the provincial court of of appeal, an appeal ſhall not lie from the deciſion of that court to the ſudder dewanny adawlut. If the collector ſhall repreſent that the produce of the eſtate for the year beforementioned, exceeds or falls ſhort of one thouſand ſicca rupees, and the defaulter ſhould appear within the limited time, and in his anſwer to the charge, object to the ſtatement, the judge is to try the objections, and paſs ſuch deciſion upon them as may appear to him equitable. If the cauſe ſhould be afterwards brought before the provincial court of appeal, and no objection be offered by either party to the deciſion of the city or zillah court on the collector's ſtatement of the produce of the eſtate, it is to be held accurate. If objections ſhould be offered, the provincial court is to try the objections, and paſs ſuch deciſion upon them as may appear to it equitable. If an appeal from the decree of the provincial court ſhould be preſented to the ſudder dewanny adawlut, and the admiſſion or rejection of the appeal, ſhould depend upon the produce of the eſtate for the year beforementioned, exceeding or falling ſhort of one thouſand ſicca rupees, the court of ſudder dewanny adawlut, is to examine the deciſions paſſed by the dewanny adawlut of the city or zillah, and the provincial court of appeal, reſpecting the produce of the eſtate, and either adjudge the cauſe to be appealable or not, as may appear to them equitable.

Decrees paſſed under this ſection not to be carried into execution, without the ſanction of the Governor General in Council.

Decrees that may be paſſed under this ſection, by the dewanny adawlut of any city or zillah, or any provincial court of appeal, or the ſudder dewanny adawlut, adjudging the proprietary right in the eſtate of a defaulter to be forfeited to government, ſhall not be carried into execution in any caſe whatever, without an order from the Governor General in Council, confirming the decree, and directing in what manner the proprietary right in the eſtate ſhall be diſpoſed of.

If the eſtate is decreed forfeited, the Governor General in Council may confirm the decree, or commute the forfeiture for a fine within four weeks after he may receive the decree.

It ſhall be at the option of the Governor General in Council, within four weeks after the receipt of a decree adjudging the proprietary right of any defaulter in an eſtate forfeited, either to order the decree to be executed, or to commute the forfeiture for ſuch fine, as upon a conſideration of the ſituation and circumſtances in life of the defaulter, he may think adequate to the offence for which the decree may be paſſed. In the event of the Governor General in Council commuting the forfeiture for a fine, the court which ſhall have tranſmitted the decree and proceedings to the Governor General in Council, upon receiving notice of the fine that he may impoſe, are to levy the amount of it, by the ſame proceſs by which they are directed to enforce decrees of the court, and to pay the amount to the collector. But if the Governor General in Council ſhall not, within four weeks after the decree ſhall have been received by him, either order it to be executed, or commute the forfeiture for a fine, the decree is to ſtand good againſt the defaulter. The proceſs which a collector may inſtitute againſt a defaulter in the court of dewanny adawlut of the city or zillah under this ſection, as well as the proſecution or defence of any appeal from the deciſion of ſuch court which may be preferred to the provincial court of appeal, or from the decree of the provincial court, to the ſudder dewanny adawlut, in which the collector may be appellant or reſpondent, is to be carried on at the public expence, and to be conducted by the vakeel of government, whom the collector is to furniſh with the neceſſary inſtructions.

Proceſs and appeals inſtituted under this ſection, to be conducted by the vakeel of government on the part of the collector, and to be carried on at the public expence.

XXIV. If the defaulter mentioned in Section XXII, ſhall be allowed to retain the proprietary right in his eſtate, government is to account to him for the amount received from it during the ſequeſtration, and if it ſhall exceed the public revenue that was due from the eſtate, the expences attending the ſequeſtration, and the fine which may be impoſed on the defaulter, the overplus is to be returned to him. If the ſum received through the officers of government appointed to make the collections during the ſequeſtrations, ſhall be inadequate to the payment of the ſeveral demands abovementioned, and the defaulter ſhall not make good the deficiency, a portion of his lands is to be ſold for the diſcharge of it.

If the eſtate ſhall be conferred upon the heirs of the defaulter, he is to be immediately releaſed, if he ſhould be in confinement. If the eſtate ſhall be diſpoſed of at public ſale, the proceeds of the ſale are to be appropriated towards the diſcharge of the demands of government, either on account of the public revenue, the expence attending the deputation of the aumeen, or other native officer appointed to make the collections, or other charges incurred, in conſequence of the default of the former proprietor. If no ſuch demand ſhall be outſtanding at the time of the ſale, or if any ſuch demand ſhould be due, and the proceeds ſhall exceed the amount of it, the whole of the proceeds in the firſt mentioned caſe, and the overplus in the ſecond, is to be carried to the public account, or applied in any other manner that the Governor General in Council may direct.

The publication is to be written in the Perſian language, and the Hindoſtanee language and Nageree character, and ſhall be fixed up as early after the date of it as may be practicable, at his uſual place of abode, or the principal cutcherry in the farm, and in the office of the collector, and the court room of the dewanny adawlut, and in the mean time the collector is to cauſe the rents and revenues of the farm of the defaulter to be realized on behalf of government, as preſcribed in Sections XIV, and XV. If the defaulter ſhall not ſurrender himſelf before the expiration of the period limited in the publication, or, if he ſhall deliver himſelf up within the preſcribed time, and after receiving his anſwers to the charge, and the evidence that he may have to produce in his defence, and that which the collector may adduce in ſupport of his repreſentation, if it ſhall be proved to the ſatisfaction of the court that the defaulter is guilty of the charge, the court ſhall decree the leaſe of the farmer annulled from the expiration of the Fuſſily year, in which the decree may be paſſed. If the defaulter ſhall not appeal to the provincial court of appeal, within the time limited for preferring appeals to that court, in Section XII, Regulation V, 1793, the court is immediately to tranſmit to the Governor General in Council, a copy of the decree, and of all the proceedings reſpecting the charge. If the defaulter ſhall appeal to the provincial court of appeal within the preſcribed time, and that court ſhall confirm the deciſion of the city or zillah court, or if the cauſe ſhall not be appealable to the ſudder dewanny adawlut, or, if it ſhall be appealable, and the defaulter ſhall not lodge an appeal within the time limited

If there shall be a surplus after discharging all the demands abovementioned, it is to be paid to the defaulter, who shall be at liberty to prosecute in the city or zillah court, the talookdars, zemindars, putteedars, distinct and common, and the under farmers, and ryots, in the lands included in the farm, for any arrears of rent or revenue, that may be due from them to him, on account of the period during which his lease remained in force.

Defaulter to be at liberty to prosecute any proprietors, farmers or ryots, for arrears in the dewanny adawlut of the zillah or city.

XXVIII. If the party, (being a surety), against whom the collector shall have issued his process at the instance of the tehseeldar, as prescribed in Section XX, shall refuse to obey, or resist, or avoid compliance with the requisition of the process, or if in the first instance, the collector shall have issued the process prescribed in Section IX, against the surety of any proprietor or farmer of land, and such defaulting surety, shall refuse to obey, or resist, or cause to be resisted, the peons thus deputed by the collector, or escape after being taken by them into custody, or abscond, or shut himself up in his own or any house, or in any building, or retire to any place, so that the process cannot be served upon him, the collector is thereon immediately to represent the circumstances through the vakeel of government, to the dewanny adawlut of the city or zillah, in the jurisdiction of which the lands on account whereof the arrears shall be due may be situated, and upon the peon or peons deputed to execute the process, or any two or more credible persons, making oath to the truth of the circumstances stated in the representation of the collector, the judge, provided he shall be satisfied in his own mind from such depositions of the witnesses, and their answers upon oath to any questions which he may put to them, that the charge is well founded, is to require the defaulter, by a publication in writing, to deliver himself into the custody of the court, within four weeks calculating from the day following the date of the publication. If the defaulter shall not appeal to the provincial court of appeal within the time limited for preferring appeals to that court, in Section XII, Regulation V, 1793, the court is immediately to transmit to the Governor General in Council, a copy of the decree, and of all the proceedings respecting the charge. If the defaulter shall appeal to the provincial court of appeal within the prescribed time, and that court should confirm the decision of the city or zillah court, or if the case shall not be appealable to the sudder dewanny adawlut, or if it shall be appealable, and the defaulter shall not lodge an appeal within the time limited for preferring appeals to that court, in Section X, Regulation VI, 1793, the provincial court of appeal is immediately to forward a copy of their decree and proceedings in the appeal, and of the decree and proceedings of the city or zillah court, to the Governor General in Council. If the judge of the city or zillah court, ſhall decree the charge proved, and the deciſion ſhall be reverſed in the provincial court, the collector is immediately to tranſmit a copy of the decrees and proceedings of the city or zillah court, and the provincial court of appeal, with a letter ſtating his objections to the the decree of the latter court, to the board of revenue, who are to order him to appeal the cauſe to the ſudder dewanny adawlut, (provided the cauſe ſhall be appealable,) or not, as they may think proper. Governor General in Council not precluded from ordering the lands of a defaulting proprietor to be sold, before the conclusion of the year, whether he be in confinement or not.

XXIX. Although in the ordinary course of the collections, the transfer or sale of landed property for balances, must, of course, take place for the most part towards the end of the year, yet nothing in this regulation, is to be construed to preclude the Governor General in Council, from ordering the sale of the lands of a defaulting proprietor of land, who may not have instituted a suit to contest the arrears, whether he may be in confinement or not, to be made at any time previous to the close of the year in which the arrears may become due, ſhould it in any caſe appear to him inexpedient to poſtpone the ſale until after the the expiration of it. And at whatever period the ſale of the lands of a proprietor in confinement may be ordered to take place, if the arrear ſhall not have been adjudged to be due from him by a decree of a court of juſtice, and provided he ſhall previous to the day of ſale, deny the juſtneſs of the whole or a part of the arrear under his engagements, and give the ſecurity required in Section XVI, the ſale of his lands is not to be made until the cauſe ſhall be finally decided. If the ſale of the lands ſhall have been ordered to be made at Calcutta, the proprietor is either to give the required ſecurity to the board of revenue, previous to the day of ſale, or to the collector of the diſtrict, ten days prior to the day fixed for the ſale, ſo that there may be ſufficient time for him to notify the acceptance of the ſecurity to the board of revenue. The collector is not to accept of the ſecurity, unleſs he ſhall be ſatisfied that it is good and ſufficient. If he ſhall accept of the ſecurity, he is to forward notice of the acceptance of it to the board of revenue, in duplicate, by two different poſts, to provide againſt the non arrival of the notice which may be firſt diſpatched. If the ſale of the lands ſhall be ordered to be made by the collector of the diſtrict, he is empowered to ſuſpend it, upon ſuch ſecurity being delivered to him previous to the ſale. But he is immediately to report the circumſtances to the board of revenue, for the information of the Governor General in Council. If the Governor General in Council ſhall annul the leaſe of any farmer in arrear under Section XXVIII, the defaulter is to be at liberty to proſecute the talookdars, zemindars, putteedars, diſtinct or common, or under farmers, or ryots, in the lands included in the farm, for any arrears of rent or revenue that may be due from them to him, on account of the period during which his leaſe remained in force.

Where and when ſuch ſecurity is to be given, in the event of the ſales being ordered to be made at Calcutta, or in the diſtrict.

Diſpoſſeſſed farmers may proſecute for the arrears due to them.

XXX. When a collector ſhall proceed to confine the ſurety of any proprietor or farmer of land, in the caſes authorized in this re-regulation, he is immediately to cause such portion of the defaulter's lands as he may estimate to be sufficient to make good the amount of the demand, in the event of their being sold, to be attached under the rules prescribed in Section XIV, and XV, for the attachment of the lands of defaulting proprietors. If the surety shall not possess any landed property within the province of Benares, but shall possess lands in either of the provinces of Bengal, Behar, or Orissa, the collector is to depute an aumeen into the zillah in which such property may be situated, with a letter, specifying the amount of the demand on him, and the property to be attached. The collector of such zillah, is immediately to order a peon to point out the property to the aumeen, who is to keep it in attachment, until the board of revenue shall have obtained the sanction of the Governor General in Council for the sale of it. The aumeen is to apply the amount of the collections from the lands, after deducting the expences of his establishment, towards the discharge of the public revenue, which he is to pay to the collector of the zillah in which the lands may be situated. If any surplus shall remain after making good the public dues, it is to be appropriated towards the discharge of the demand on account of which the attachment of the lands may have been made. If the property of the surety that may be attached, shall be too inconsiderable to admit of its being charged with the expence of an aumeen, the collector to whom the money due from the surety may be payable, is to apply to the collector of the zillah, in which the lands may be situated, to order the nearest tehseeldar or native officer employed under him in the business of the collections, to take charge of the lands, and the collector to whom the application shall be made, is to comply with it; and the tehseeldar or native officer to whose charge he may commit the lands, is to perform the duties prescribed to the aumeen in Section VI, Regulation XIV, 1793, and under the same restrictions and penalties. The collector of the zillah in which the lands may be situated, is not to be liable to any prosecution on account of the attachment, but the collector in conformity to whose whose application the attachment may take place, is to be responsible for the consequences, in the same manner as if the lands had been situated in his own jurisdiction. The board of revenue are to apply to the Governor General in Council, for his sanction for the sale of the lands belonging to the surety, either during the course of the year in which they may be attached, or after the close of it, as they may deem advisable.

Board of revenue to apply for permission to sell the lands of the surety.

XXXI. When lands are ordered to be sold under this regulation, the collector, (unless the lands shall have been previously committed to the charge of a tehseeldar, or other native officer, in which case, such officer is to perform the duties hereafter specified in this section,) is immediately to issue instructions to the tehseeldar of the pergunnah, to hold the lands in attachment, collect the rents and revenues under the rules and restrictions prescribed regarding lands under attachment in Section XV, and to prevent waste being committed by the defaulter, and furnish any information that may be required for the adjustment of the jumma to be assessed on the lands directed to be sold.

Collector to attach lands ordered to be sold.

XXXII. Sales of lands that may be ordered to take place under this regulation, are to be made by the collector in his public office, or at Calcutta, in the office of the board of revenue, under the superintendence of their Secretary, according as the Governor General in Council may direct. Previous to any such sale taking place, a publication is to be made in the Persian language, and the Hindostanee language and Nageree character, specifying the jumma at which the lands, or each lot of them, if they are ordered to be sold in two or more lots, will be disposed of, and the place, date, and hour of the day, fixed for the sale, and the proportion of the revenue payable on account of the year in which the sale of the lands may take place, for which the purchaser is to be responsible; or, if the exact proportion cannot be ascertained, the rules by which the amount of it is to be adjusted. The publication is to be fixed up in some conspicuous place in the court room of the dewanny adawlut of

The publication is to be fixed up at the several places abovementioned, for a term not less than one month before the sale takes place. All expences attending the sale are to be deducted from the proceeds of the sale. The other conditions of sale hereafter specified, as well as any special stipulations that may be made, are to be fixed up in a conspicuous part of the room in which the sale may be directed to take place, on the day of sale, and during the three days preceding it.

Penalty for purchasers not paying the purchase money by the stipulated period.

XXXIII. A deposit of five per cent on the amount of the purchase money, is to be made at the time of the sale, by every purchaser of land that may be disposed of under this regulation. If the purchaser shall omit to discharge the purchase money within the period which may be stipulated, he is to forfeit the deposit to government, and the lands are to be resold at his expence. If the lands shall be disposed of at a lower price than that offered by the first purchaser, he is to make good the deficiency. If a profit shall arise on the second sale, it is to be carried to the credit of the defaulter. If the first purchaser shall refuse or omit to make the deposit, or to pay, within the required time, the amount of the deficiency, and the expences arising on the resale, after being served by the collector, in whose jurisdiction he may be, or reside, or by the board of revenue, if he shall be in Calcutta, with a written demand for the amount, for non compliance with which, such defaulting purchaser shall be considered exactly in the same predicament, as sureties of proprietors or farmers of land, who omit or refuse to discharge any sum of money due from them, and he is to be proceeded against accordingly by the collector of the district, or of the zillah, in which he may be, or reside.

year in which the purchase may be made, unless it shall be otherwise stipulated in the conditions of sale. Arrears or suspensions not so stipulated to be made good by the purchaser, are to be paid by the former proprietor, and recourse is to be had to the remainder of his real, or to any other property, which he may possess, or to the confinement of his person, or to both his person and property, for the recovery of the amount. Arrears of rent or revenue that may be due to the defaulting proprietor, from his under farmers, or ryots, preceding the date on which the lands may be sold, are to belong to him, and are to be recoverable by him by suit in the dewanny adawlut of the city or zillah. The defaulting proprietor however, shall be at liberty to transfer his right to such arrears to the new proprietor.

By whom such arrears and suspensions are to be made good.

XXXV. Any person confined for arrears of revenue, or other demands of government, under this regulation, either pursuant to a judicial decree, or without such decree, is to be at liberty to apply to the judge of the court of dewanny adawlut of the city or zillah, to require the collector to shew cause why he is continued in confinement. If the person making such application, shall be confined under a decree passed by the sudder dewanny adawlut, or of the city, or a zillah court, or the provincial court of appeal, and the time prescribed for appealing from the decision shall have elapsed, the judge is not to enter into the merits of the case, but only to enquire whether the prisoner has discharged the amount of the decree, and the sums which may have become due from him subsequent to his confinement. If the prisoner shall not be confined under a judicial decree, but under the process which the collector is empowered by this regulation to observe, before conveying persons to jail for claims of government, and he shall dispute the justness of the demand, the judge is not to enquire into the merits of the case, unless the party should renew his complaint, after the expiration of the period during which the collector, by the discretionary power vested in him by Section XI, is authorized to confine parties in arrear, which rule is hereby extended to demands on sureties and purchasers of land as far as it can be applied to them. If however, the prisoner shall admit the justness of the demand for which he was confined, as well as any other claims that may be made upon him for sums stated to have become due from him subsequent to his confinement, and shall assert that the whole of such sums have been discharged by him, or otherwise apply to the court under Section XVI, the judge is to proceed to enquire into the merits of the case. Upon examination of the prisoner's accounts of his payments, if it shall appear to the judge that the demands for which he may be in confinement, have been liquidated, he is to release him, upon his giving security to make good any sum which the collector may state to be still due from him, in the event of the cause being appealed, and the sum being awarded in favor of government. If the collector shall not object to the adjustment of accounts made by the court, or if he shall object to them, and the person confined shall omit to give the security above required, and the collector shall not appeal within the time limited for preferring appeals, the judge is to release the prisoner without taking any security. If it shall be found that the whole, or a part of the sum for which such person may be in confinement, remains undischarged, and he shall acquiesce in the adjustment of accounts made by the court, and shall have been confined on account of such demand for a term exceeding one year, the judge is empowered to release him, upon his giving good security to pay the sum remaining due from him, by instalments during the course of one year after his release. The collector and the prisoner are to be allowed to appeal from the decision which may be passed by the court under Section XVI, and this section, in the event of either of them being dissatisfied with it, under the rules regarding appeals. The rules prescribed to the collector in the following section, respecting the decisions therein specified, are to be considered applicable to all decisions passed under Section XVI, and this section.

XXXVI.

XXXVI. Upon a decision being passed in the dewanny adawlut, by which the whole or any part of a sum of money that may have been demanded, or actually received by the collector, as an arrear of revenue under this regulation, from any proprietor or farmer of land, shall be adjudged not to be due, the collector is to apply immediately to the court through his own vakeel, for a copy of the proceedings and decree. The court is to order copies of the proceedings and decree, to be delivered to the collector with all practicable dispatch. The collector is to forward the papers without delay to the board of revenue, with a letter stating his objections to the decree. If the board shall be of opinion that the decision is not well founded, they are to authorize the collector to appeal the cause to the provincial court of appeal. If that court shall confirm the decision of the city or zillah court, the collector is to apply for, and the court is to grant, a copy of their proceedings in appeal, exclusive of the decree and proceedings received from the city or zillah court. The collector is to forward the decree and proceedings of the provincial court, to the board of revenue, with a letter, containing his objections to the decree of that court. If the board shall be dissatisfied with the decision of the provincial court of appeal, and the cause shall be appealable to the sudder dewanny adawlut, they are to direct the collector to prefer an appeal to that court. If the board of revenue are satisfied with the decision of the provincial court of appeal, they are to direct the collector not to prefer an appeal to the sudder dewanny adawlut. In all cases in which the board of revenue may order the collector to prefer an appeal to the provincial court, the collector is to be indemnified by government for all costs and damages that may have been awarded against him by the city or zillah court. On the other hand, if the board of revenue shall deem the decision of the city or zillah court equitable, and not direct an appeal, the collector is to defray all the costs and damages that may have been awarded against him in that court. The collector is nevertheless to be at liberty to appeal the cause, but at the risk of paying all costs and damages that may be adjudged against

Appeals in which the collector may be engaged, either in the provincial court of appeal, or the sudder dewanny adawlut, in consequence of orders from the board of revenue, are to be carried on by the vakeel of government, and at the public expence.

If persons prosecuting under Section XVI, shall be cast, and appeal, the collector is to nominate one of the vakeels of the provincial court of appeal, to defend the appeal.

If a collector shall be prosecuted under Section XVI, and the prosecutor shall be cast, or be dissatisfied with the decision of the judge of the dewanny adawlut of the city or zillah, and appeal to the provincial court of appeal, the collector is to appoint one of the vakeels of the court to plead the cause. If the decree of the city or zillah court shall be confirmed, or the appellant should be dissatisfied with the decision of the provincial court of appeal, and appeal to the sudder dewanny adawlut, and an appeal shall be admitted, the collector is to appoint one of the pleaders in that court to defend the suit. If the provincial court of appeal shall not confirm the decision of the city or zillah court, the collector is to apply to the provincial court for a copy of the proceedings and decree of the city or zillah court, and of their proceedings and decree in the appeal. The courts are to furnish the collector with these papers with all practicable dispatch, and the collector is to forward them to the board of revenue, with a letter, stating his objections to the decree in appeal. If the board shall be of opinion that the decree of the provincial court is not well founded, they are to authorize the collector to appeal to the sudder dewanny adawlut. If the board shall see no ground for appealing from the decision of the provincial court of appeal, the collector is nevertheless to be at liberty to prefer an appeal to the sudder dewanny adawlut, but at the risk of paying all the costs and expences which may be awarded against him by that court, in the event of his being cast. All appeals that may be preferred by the collector to the provincial court of appeal, or to the sudder dewanny adawlut, or in which he may be respondent, under this section, agreeably to the orders of the board of revenue, are to be carried on at the public expence, and conducted by the vakeel of government, government, and at the public expence.

XXXVIII. In every case in which a collector may be prosecuted in the dewanny adawlut of the city or any zillah, under this regulation, for sums demanded or received by him on behalf of government, from any proprietor or farmer of land, or from any surety, or from any purchaser of land, or for any sums demanded, or received, or taken by him, directly or indirectly, for his own use, from any of the abovementioned descriptions of persons, over and above what he may be entitled to demand on behalf of the public, or for any acts done in his official capacity, that may be repugnant to this regulation, or which may not be warranted by it, and in appeals that he may have preferred without the orders of the board of revenue, he is to appoint any of the authorized vakeels of the court before which the suit may be brought, to plead the cause.

Collector to appoint vakeels of the city or zillah court, to defend suits preferred against him under this regulation, and to nominate vakeels of the court of appeal to carry on appeals, which he may have preferred without the orders of the board of revenue.

XXXIX. In prosecutions that may be instituted in the dewanny adawlut of the city or any zillah, against the collector of the province, for sums of money demanded, or directly or indirectly received, or taken by him, for his own use, from any proprietor or farmer of land, or any surety, or any purchaser of land, or for any acts done in his official capacity, that may be repugnant to this regulation, or which may not be warranted by it, and that shall not involve any claims to sums received or demanded by him on behalf of government, in conformity to this regulation, (which claims are to be made the subject of distinct suits, and are to be tried in the manner and under the rules prescribed in this regulation,) the collector is not to forward the decree and proceedings to the board of revenue. The suit is to be considered entirely as a dispute of a private nature, between the collector and the prosecutor, and the collector is to defend it at his own risk and expence, in the same manner as individuals amenable to the courts, and not employed by government, are required to defend suits instituted against them.

What suits instituted against a collector under this section, are to be considered of a personal and private nature, and how he is to defend them.

XL. The

Collector not to derive any pecuniary advantage from suits in which he may be engaged, except in the cases specified in Section XXXIX, nor to suffer any loss, if his conduct is determined to be conformable to this regulation.

XL. The collector is not to derive any pecuniary advantage whatever from suits that he may institute, or which may be preferred against him, in any of the courts of justice, in his official capacity, with the exception of suits in which he may be engaged under the preceding section, the sums awarded to him in which, he is to apply to his own use. On the other hand, it is not intended, that the collector should sustain any loss in levying the dues of government, in cases in which his conduct may be adjudged by a final judicial decree to be conformable to this regulation. The collector is accordingly to bring to the credit of government in his monthly accounts, all sums whatever, (with the exception above specified,) that may be adjudged to him as costs or damages, by any of the courts of civil justice, and he is to insert at the foot of his monthly accounts, or in a separate account, or in his monthly accounts, under a distinct head, according as the board of revenue may deem advisable, all sums which he may disburse in conformity to this regulation, on account of process or suits directed to be carried on by the vakeel of government, the costs and damages in which are expressly directed to be defrayed by the public, or in suits, the costs and damages in which may be ultimately defrayable by government, but for which the collector is directed to be held responsible in the first instance. But he is in no case to charge these disbursements in his accounts, without previously obtaining the special sanction of the board of revenue for that purpose. Until such sanction is procured, the collector is to be held answerable for the disbursements.

Collector to bring to account all costs and damages that may be adjudged to him with the exception above specified.

Collector to issue from the public treasury, and note in his accounts, the expences of suits that are at all events to be defrayed by government, as well as the expences of suits that may be ultimately defrayable by government, but not to insert such expences in his accounts, without the sanction of the board of revenue.

Board of revenue to report to the Governor General in Council, any cases in which a collector may have been compelled to pay costs or damages, and for which they may be of opinion he ought not to be made responsible.

XLI. If a collector shall have been compelled to pay costs or damages in any suit under this regulation, and upon his stating the case to the board of revenue, it shall appear to them upon a consideration of the circumstances of it, that he ought not to be made responsible for the amount, the board are to transmit the case to the Governor General in Council, who will determine whether the collector shall be made responsible for such costs or damages, or not.

XLII. Security

XLII. Security is not to be demanded from the collector for his personal appearance, in any suit in which he may be engaged under this regulation. Nor shall any security be required from him for the payment of the costs, or for the performance of the decrees or orders of the court, in suits which are directed by this regulation to be carried on by the vakeel of government, and at the public expence. In suits for sums demanded or received by the collector on behalf of government, for the costs and damages in which he is declared eventually responsible, the courts are to require the same security from the collector for the payment of the costs and damages, as would be taken in similar cases from individual suitors; but they are not to require any security from him, for the performance of their decrees respecting the sums which may constitute the subject of the suits, as government will be answerable for the due performance of them. In the suits described in Section XXXIX, which may be instituted against the collector, he is to give the same security for the payment of the costs, and the performance of the decrees and orders of the courts, as would be required from individual suitors in similar cases. If a collector shall refuse or omit to pay within the limited period, any sum of money that may be ordered to be levied from him, either on account of the suits described in Section XXXIX, or as costs or damages in any other suits for the expences incurred in which he is declared eventually responsible, the court is to levy the amount from his surety, by the customary process. If the court shall not be able to obtain payment from his surety, the judge is to report the circumstances to the Governor General in Council, who will order the amount to be paid from the public treasury, and deduct it from the allowances which may be receivable by the collector from government. In all other cases, if a collector shall omit or refuse to obey any order or decree of a court of judicature, the court from which the process shall have issued, is to fine him according to the nature of the offence. In the event of the collector refusing or omitting to pay the fine, the court is to report the circumstances to the Governor General in Council. who, provided

If the Governor General in Council ſhall order the cauſe to be tried, the judge of the court is to ſend a written notification of the order to the complainant, and the cauſe is to be conſidered as filed in the court from the date of the notification. The court is then to proceed to try the ſuit, under the ſame rules and regulations as are preſcribed for the trial of ſuits between individuals. The collector is to carry on, under the orders of the board of revenue, all ſuits that may be inſtituted against government in conformity to this ſection, and to iſſue the neceſſary inſtructions to the vakeel of government, in the city or zillah court, and in the provincial court of appeal, or the ſudder dewanny adawlut, ſhould the cauſe be appealed to the former, or both of thoſe courts. In the event of government being caſt in the city or zillah court, or in the provincial court of appeal, the collector is to ſend copies of the decree and proceedings of the court, (which are to be delivered by the court to the collector as ſoon as may be practicable, upon his applying for them,) with a letter ſtating his objections to the deciſion, to the board of revenue, who are to ſubmit them, with their opinion on the caſe, to the Governor General in Council, who will order an appeal to be preferred from the decision or not, as he may deem advisable. All costs and damages that may be awarded against government in suits instituted under this section, are to be defrayed from the public treasury.

Rules in this regulation regarding the collector, to be held applicable to the acting collector.

LIII. III. First. In the event of any complaints being preferred to the city court, or to any zillah court, or to the provincial court of appeal, relative to undue exactions of revenue, or any breach of agreement in respect to pottahs, or the resumption of kishnarpun, or other description of lands exempted from the payment of revenue, in the jaghire mehauls of Budhoee, or of Kera Mungrore, or in the rajah's heriditary zemindarry of Gungapore; the complaints are not to be taken cognizance of in the courts of justice, but the parties are to be desired to make application to the rajah, or to his dewan; and in case of their not obtaining justice, they are to have recourse to the collector, who will proceed to bring such causes to a just and equitable termination, in the manner stated in the under specified article of an agreement, concluded by the resident with rajah Mahipnarain, under date the 27th of October 1794. into, shall be made, in like manner as such cases were amicably conducted between Mr. Duncan and the rajah: that is, that since the gentleman holding the station of collector, will have more concern and connection with such matters, than the other gentlemen, the rule shall be, that with the privity and ascertainment of the said collector, (who is to have regard to the honour, and dignity of the said rajah,) such causes are to be settled through the channel of the said rajah, or of the officers of the said rajah's cutcherry; it being at the same time understood, and provided, that as it is a duty incumbent on the honourable Company's government, to distribute and ensure the attainment of justice, to all the inhabitants of Benares, should it so happen, that after referring such complaints to the rajah, or to his officers in the cutcherry, the contentment of the parties complaining and aggrieved, shall not be obtained, the rajah shall, relative to the adjustment of such causes, listen to, and approve of, the suggestions and advice of the collector, in like manner as hath been practised in the time of Mr. Duncan; and it is also incumbent on the said collector, in all proper and just cases, to show the utmost attention possible to the rajah's accommodation, and to hold in view the maintenance of his honor and dignity, such being entirely consistent with the wishes of government; and if, (which god forbid,) any such subject should arise, as cannot be settled between the said collector, and the rajah aforesaid, the decision in such case, shall depend on the Governor General in Council."

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XVII.

A REGULATION for the eſtabliſhment of an efficient police in the province of Benares. — PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 27*th March,* 1795*; correſponding with the* 16*th Chyte* 1201 Bengal era; the 21*ſt Chyte* 1202 Fuſſily; the 16*th Chyte* 1202 Willaity; the 21*ſt Chyte* 1852 Sumbut; and the 5*th Ramzaan* 1209 Higeree.

THE eſtabliſhment of an efficient police in the province of Benares, being as eſſential towards deterring people from committing crimes, as the ſpeedy and impartial trial of offenders when apprehended; a clauſe was inſerted in the engagements entered into by the landholders and farmers with government, rendering them reſponſible, ſubordinately to the tehſeeldars, (heretofore termed aumils,) for maintaining the peace, and for apprehending all diſturbers of it, in their reſpective eſtates, or farms, and binding them not to harbour thieves, or robbers, but to ſecure their perſons, and deliver them up for trial, as well as to recover, or in failure thereof, to make good the value of, all property robbed, or ſtolen, within their ſeveral boundaries. And in like manner as each proprietor or farmer, entered into ſuch engagements, as far as regarded the limits of his own eſtate or farm, ſo each

tehſeeldar executed ſimilar engagements with government, for the entire purgunnah, or other diviſion, with the charge of the police and the collection of the revenue of which he was entruſted, containing however a proviſion entitling him to have recourſe for his own indemnification, to the landholder, or farmer, within whoſe limits a loſs by theft or robbery might occur. But the parties thus made reſponſible, having repreſented, that robberies and theſts committed on beoparries and others, were often perpetrated in conſequence of their ſtopping and remaining during the night, with their cattle and goods, in the open fields, or woods, inſtead of putting up in the villages, and giving notice of their arrival, ſo as to admit of their ſecurity being duly attended to, it was provided by a general notification iſſued by the reſident on the 29th of January 1789, that no perſon ſhould be entitled to reſtitution or indemnification by the aumils, landholders, or farmers, for loſſes by theft or robbery committed at night in the open fields or woods, and that reſtitution or indemnification ſhould be claimable only, in caſes in which the owners of the property had put up at ſome town or village, and given notice of their arrival. But it having been ſubſequently conſidered, that it was the duty of the aumils, and the landholders, and farmers, to have information conveyed to them, of the arrival of merchants and travellers within their reſpective limits, and to provide for their ſecurity and protection; and it having appeared improbable that travellers and merchants in general would be apprized of the requiſition for their giving notice of their arrival, at a town, or village; it was deemed inconſiſtent with the principles of juſtice, that any omiſſion in this reſpect on their part, ſhould be allowed to exempt the aumils, landholders, or farmers, from making good any loſſes they might ſuſtain by theft or robbery. It accordingly became an eſtabliſhed principle throughout the province, that for night robberies in the open roads, or woods, the tehſeeldars, landholders, and farmers, were not to be held reſponſible, unleſs it ſhould be proved that they had ſuch knowledge of the circumſtances, as might reaſonably have been expected to have enabled them to have prevented the theft or robbery; but that for thefts or robberies committed in inhabited places, they were liable to be made responsible, whether notice of the arrival of the parties should have been given to them or not, if, under circumstances of the case, the magistrate should be of opinion, that the perpetration of the theft or robbery was committed with their connivance, or was ascribable to their want of due care, and vigilance. In conformity to the above principles, and for the establishment of an efficient police in the city of Benares, and the towns of Mirzapoor, Ghazeepoor, and Juanpoor, the following rules have been enacted.

Police to be under the joint charge of the tehsseeldars, and of the landholders, and farmers.

II. The police of the country, subject to the control of the magistrates, is to be considered under the joint charge of the tehsseeldars, and subordinately to them, of the landholders and farmers of land, who are bound to, and responsible for, the preservation of the peace. The guard of the Decan road to Mirzapore, is entrusted to certain persons paid from the custom house establishment, who are responsible for all losses by theft, or robbery, committed within their limits, according to the engagements which they have executed.

III. Tehsseeldars, landholders, and farmers of land, are in future to be considered responsible for robberies or thefts committed in their respective limits, estates, or farms, the tehsseeldar in the first instance, and the landholders and farmers to the tehsseeldar, in the manner specified in Clause Eighth, Sections XIV and XV, Regulation II, 1795; it being understood however, that for night robberies in the open roads or woods, the tehsseeldars, landholders, or farmers, are not to be held responsible, unless it shall be proved that they had such knowledge of the circumstances, as might reasonably have been expected to have enabled them to have prevented the theft or robbery, but that for thefts or robberies in inhabited places, they are to be considered as liable to be made responsible, whether notice of the arrival of the owners of the property shall have been given to them or not, if, under the circumstances of the case, the magistrate shall be of opinion, that the theft or robbery was committed with their connivance, or that the perpetration of it, was ascribable to their want of care, or vigilance.

Names and numbers not to be changed without the sanction of government.

Tehseeldars, as police officers, not to be removed but for incapacity or misconduct, proved to the satisfaction of government.

VI. Whenever the magistrates shall deem any tehseeldar disqualified for his station, either from incapacity, misconduct, or other cause, they are immediately to report the grounds of their opinion, to the Governor General in Council, who will determine whether he shall be removed, or continued in his office.

What charges are to be received by the tehseeldars

VII. Any person having a charge to prefer against another, for murder, robbery, house breaking, theft, or other crime, or any misdemeanor, and who shall not choose to lodge it immediately before the magistrate, shall be at liberty to prefer it in writing, to the tehseeldar of the jurisdiction in which the crime or misdemeanor may have been committed, or, if the offender shall have removed himself out of that jurisdiction, to the tehseeldar of the jurisdiction in which he may be found. The tehseeldar of such jurisdiction, shall forthwith cause the party accused to be apprehended. If the charge shall be for murder, robbery, house breaking, theft, or other heinous crime, the tehseeldar shall send the accused to the magistrate, under safe custody, within twenty-four hours after he shall have apprehended him. A concurrent juriſdiction veſted in the magiſtrates, and the police officers of the city and zillahs, in reſpect to each other's local limits, and with those in Behar, in particular caſes, and under certain reſtrictions.

XV. A concurrent juriſdiction is veſted in the magiſtrates of the city of Benares, and the zillahs of Mirzapoor, Ghazeepoor, and Juanpoor, and the magiſtrates in the province of Behar; and their reſpective police officers, in the caſes, and under the reſtrictions following, viz. The tehſeeldars, darogahs, and police officers, ſubject to the authority of the city and zillah magiſtrates in the province of Benares, are ſeverally empowered, either under a written warrant from the magiſtrate, or without ſuch warrant, to purſue perſons charged with crimes, or miſdemeanors, into the juriſdiction of other tehſeeldars, or darogahs, whether ſubject to the ſame magiſtrate as themſelves, or to the magiſtrate of the city, or of either of the zillahs in the province of Benares, or of any of the zillahs, or the city of Patna, in the province of Behar. It is to be underſtood however, that this concurrent authority veſted in the magiſtrates and their police officers, is to extend only to caſes in which the crime or miſdemeanor ſhall have been committed within their reſpective juriſdictions, or, (in the event of the crime having been committed in any other juriſdiction,) where the offender was actually within their juriſdiction, when the charge againſt him was preferred to them. And it ſhall not be lawful for the magiſtrate, tehſeeldar, or darogah, in one city, zillah, or juriſdiction, in the province of Benares, or Behar, to iſſue a warrant for the apprehenſion of any offender, being or reſiding in another city, zillah, or juriſdiction, at the time of the complaint being preferred to them, for any crime or miſdemeanor, not committed within the limits of their reſpective juriſdictions. In ſuch caſes, the complainant muſt apply in the firſt inſtance, to the magiſtrate of the city or zillah, or to the tehſeeldar, or darogah, in the province of Benares, or to the magiſtrate, or darogah in the province of Behar, in whoſe juriſdicton, the crime or miſdemeanor ſhall have been committed, or in which the offender may reſide, or be found.

They ſhall likewiſe be entitled to a commiſſion of ten per cent on the value of all property ſtolen or plundered, which they may recover, provided that the thieves or robbers, be apprehended and convicted. The commiſſion is to be paid by the owner of the property, which is to be fairly valued by the magiſtrate, or by any creditable and competent perſon whom he may appoint for that purpoſe. The magiſtrate is to cauſe the commiſſion in the caſe above directed, to be paid by the owner or his agent, to the tehſeeldar to whom it may be due. The note of the alteration to be entered in the regiſter of intermediate mutations, is to ſpecify the requiſite particulars for completing the entries, in the next quinquennial regiſter, or refer to them, if they be contained in the preceding quinquennial regiſter. The collector is ſtrictly enjoined never to allow the regiſter of intermediate mutations to fall in arrear, but to make the neceſſary entries immediately upon any mutation in property being notified to him.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XXI.

A REGULATION for preventing Brahmins in the province of Benares eſtabliſhing koorhs, wounding or killing their female relations, or children, or ſitting dhurnah; and for preventing the tribe of Raujekoomars in that province killing their female children. — PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 28*th Auguſt,* 1795; correſponding with the 14*th Bhadoon* 1202 Bengal era; the 28*th Bhadoon* 1202 Fuſſily; the 14*th Bhadoon* 1202 Willaity; the 28*th Bhadoon* 1852 Sumbut; and the 11*th Suffer* 1210 Higeree.

THE reverence paid by the Hindoos to Brahmins, and the reputed inviolability of their perſons, and the loſs of, or prejudice to caſt, that enſues from proving the cauſe of their death, have in ſome places in the province of Benares, and more eſpecially in the pergunnahs of Kuntit and Budhoee, been converted by ſome of the more unlearned part of them, into the means of ſetting the laws at defiance, from the dread and apprehenſions of the the persons of the Hindoo religion, to whose lot it must frequently fall to be employed, in enforcing against such Brahmins any process or demands on the part of government. The devices occasionally put in practice under such circumstances by these Brahmins, are, lacerating their own bodies, either more or less slightly, with knives or razors; threatening to swallow, or, sometimes actually swallowing poison, or some powder which they declare to be such; or, constructing a circular enclosure called a koorh, in which they raise a pile of wood or of other combustibles, and betaking themselves to fasting, real or pretended, place within the area of the koorh, an old woman, with a view to sacrifice her by setting fire to the koorh, on the approach of any person to serve them with any process, or to exercise coercion over them on the part of government, or its delegates. These Brahmins likewise, in the event of their not obtaining relief within a given time, for any loss, or disappointment, that they may have justly or unjustly experienced, also occasionally bring out their women or children, and causing them to sit down in the view of the peon who is coming towards them on the part of government, or its delegates, they brandish their swords, and threaten to behead, or otherwise slay, these females, or children, on the nearer approach of the peon; and there are instances, in which from resentment at being subjected to arrest or coercion, or other molestation, they have actually not only inflicted wounds on their own bodies, but put to death with their swords, the females of their families or their own female infants, or some aged female procured for the occasion. Nor are the women always unwilling victims; on the contrary, from the prejudices in which they are brought up, it is supposed that in general they consider it incumbent on them to acquiesce cheerfully in this species of self devotement, either from motives of mistaken honor, or of resentment and revenge, believing that after death they shall become the tormentors of those who are the occasion of their being sacrificed. On similar principles, these Brahmins, to realize any claim or expectation, such as the recovery of a debt, or for the purpose of extorting some charitable donation, frequently proceed either with some offensive weapon, or with poison, to the door of another inhabitant of the ſame town or village, and take poſt there in the manner called dhurna; and it is underſtood, according to the received opinions on this ſubject, that they are to remain faſting in that place until their object be attained; and that it is equally incumbent on the party who is the occaſion of ſuch Brahmin's thus ſitting, to abſtain from nouriſhment until the latter be ſatisfied. Until this is effected, ingreſs and egreſs to and from his houſe are alſo more or leſs prevented, as according to the received opinions, neither the one nor the other can be attempted, but at the riſk of the Brahmin's wounding himſelf with the weapon, or ſwallowing the powder or poiſon, with which he may have come provided. Theſe Brahmins however, are frequently obliged to deſiſt, and are removed from ſitting dhurna by the officers of the courts of juſtice, without any ill conſequence reſulting, it having been found by experience, that they ſeldom or ever attempt to commit ſuicide, or to wound themſelves or others, after they are taken into the cuſtody of government. The rules and meaſures adopted for putting a ſtop to theſe abuſes, and for preventing the revival of the ſtill more ſavage cuſtom, which until within theſe few years had been generally prevalent amongſt the tribe of Raujekoomars inhabiting the borders of the province near Juanpoor, of deſtroying their infant female children, by ſuffering them to periſh for want of ſuſtenance, are hereby enacted with modifications into a regulation.

II. Upon information in writing being preferred to the magiſtrate of the city or a zillah court, againſt any Brahmin or Brahmins, for eſtabliſhing a koorh, or for being prepared to maim, wound, or ſlaughter his women or children, or any or either of them, in the manner deſcribed in the preamble to this regulation, or in any manner ſubſtantially ſimilar thereto, on account of any ſubject of diſcontent, or any other account whatſoever; in ſuch caſe, upon oath being made to the truth of the information, the magiſtrate is immediately to addreſs to the ſaid Brahmin or Brahmins, a written notice in the Perſian language and character, and in the Hindoſtanee language and Nageree character, and under his official ſeal, which notice is to be ſerved on him him or them, by ſuch of the relations, friends, or connections, of the ſaid Brahmin or Brahmins, as the magiſtrate may think fit, and have an opportunity of employing for the purpoſe; and in default of ſuch relations, friends, or connections of the ſaid Brahmin, or Brahmins, the magiſtrate is to cauſe the notice to be ſerved by a ſingle peon of the ſame religion; and the notice ſhall require the ſaid Brahmin or Brahmins to remove the koorh, and the women and people, that may be placed in it; or, to deſiſt from any preparation towards wounding or ſlaughtering the women or children, according as either or both of theſe facts ſhall be charged in the information. The notice ſhall alſo contain a poſitive and encouraging aſſurance to the Brahmin or Brahmins in queſtion, that on his or their complying with the principal exigence thereof, by removing the koorh, and the perſon or perſons therein, or by deſiſting from any preparation to wound or ſlaughter the women and children, and thereon repairing (as ſuch Brahmin or Brahmins may think fit) in perſon, or by vakeel to the city or zillah court, proper enquiry ſhall be made concerning the diſpute that may have given occaſion to the act or acts thus prohibited. But if the iſſuing of the notice, ſhall not have the effect of inducing the ſaid Brahmin or Brahmins to comply with the exigence thereof, a written return to that purpoſe is to be made and atteſted by the party or parties entruſted with the ſerving of it; and the magiſtrate is thereon to iſſue a warrant under his official ſeal and ſignature for the apprehenſion of the ſaid Brahmin or Brahmins, ſpecifying the miſdemeanor and contumacy with which he or they ſtand charged; and the execution of the warrant is to be committed to peons of the Mahomedan religion, nor is any Hindoo to be ſent on ſuch duty. On the Brahmin or Brahmins againſt whom the warrant ſhall have been iſſued being brought before the magiſtrate, he or they are to be dealt with, in the mode preſcribed in Section V, Regulation IX, 1793, reſpecting perſons charged with crimes or miſdemeanors; and if it ſhall appear to the magiſtrate on the previous enquiry, which by the ſaid ſection he is himſelf directed to make, that the miſdemeanor or miſdemeanors charged, (that is the conſtructing of the koorh, or being prepared to wound or ſlay the women or children, according as either or both of theſe acts ſhall have been charged,) were actually committed, and that there are grounds for ſuſpecting the priſoner or the priſoners reſpectively to have been concerned, either as a principal or an accomplice, in the perpetration of either or both of theſe acts; the magiſtrate ſhall cauſe him or them to be committed to priſon or held to bail, (according as the parties ſhall appear to have been principals or accomplices,) to take his or their trial at the next ſeſſion of the court of circuit, and ſhall bind over the informant or complainant, and the witneſſes, to appear at the trial, in the manner preſcribed in the aforeſaid ſection.

Proceſs of the trial, and the puniſhment to be inflicted, for the commiſſion of the aforeſaid offences.

III. The court of circuit ſhall conduct the trial of the Brahmin or Brahmins charged with the above offences, in the manner preſcribed in Regulations IX, 1793, and XVI, 1795, in reſpect to other offences; but as the Mahommedan law cannot adequately apply to offences of this local nature, it is therefore hereby provided and ordered, that where in the opinion of the court of circuit, the charge of being a principal in reſpect to the conſtructing of a koorh, or to having been prepared to wound or ſlay the women or children, ſhall be proved, the ſaid court ſhall ſentence the priſoner to the payment of a fine equal to the amount of his annual income, which is to be eſtimated according to the beſt information that they may be able to procure reſpecting it; and on proof to the court's ſatisfaction of the priſoners being guilty only as an accomplice, he ſhall be ſentenced to the payment of a fine equal to one fourth of his eſtimated annual income. In all caſes of parties being ſentenced to the payment of ſuch fines, they are to be committed to, and are to remain in jail until the amount thereof be paid, or until they ſhall have delivered to the court of circuit, or, after the ſaid court's departure, to the magiſtrate, full and ample malzaminy or ſecurity, to pay the ſame within ſix months from the date of their releaſe; and ſuch parties, before their enlargement, either in conſequence of their having liquidated, or having entered into ſecurity for the payment of, the fine impoſed on them, ſhall deliver into the court of circuit, circuit, or, in their absence, to the magistrate, fael zaminy or satisfactory security from one or more creditable persons, not to offend in like manner in future.

Authority reserved to the nizamut adawlut to mitigate such fines.

IV. All sentences passed by the court of circuit under Section III, without however any intermediate suspension of their execution, are to be transmitted within ten days after their being passed, to the nizamut adawlut, which court may order such mitigation and restitution of the fine or fines thereby imposed, as may be thought proper; but until the order be issued by the nizamut adawlut, the sentence of the court of circuit is to be considered in full force, and to be carried into effect accordingly.

Penalty for Brahmins absconding, for whose apprehension the magistrate shall have issued a warrant under Section II.

V. In case any Brahmin or Brahmins against whom the city or a zillah magistrate, may issue the warrant prescribed in Section II, shall refuse to obey, or resist or cause to be resisted, the peons deputed to serve it, or escape after being taken by them into custody, or abscond, or shut himself or themselves up in any house or building, or retire to any place, so that the warrant cannot be served upon him or them, the magistrate shall issue a precept to the collector requiring him to cause the nearest tehseeldar to attach the lands that such Brahmin or Brahmins may possess in property, or in mortgage, or in farm, or lakheraje. The lands shall remain attached until he or they surrender, and the collections made during the attachment, after deducting such revenue as may fall due to government, shall be accounted for, and paid to, the party against, or on account of, or in resentment to, whom, the koorh was originally established, or the woman or women, or child or children, were to be wounded or slain; and after the surrender or apprehension of the Brahmin or Brahmins who set up the koorh, or was or were prepared to wound or slay his or their women or children, or either of them, his or their lands shall be released; but he or they shall be proceeded against, in respect to his or their trial for the original offence or offences, as prescribed in Sections III, and IV.

VI.

VI. In the event of any Brahmin or Brahmins eſtabliſhing a koorh, or preparing to wound or ſlay his or their women or children, or any or either of them, with a view to prevent the ſerving of any duſtuck or writ on him or them, for arrears of revenue by the local tehſeeldar, or by the collector of Benares, in the manner in which by Regulation VI, 1795, they are reſpectively authorized to iſſue ſuch duſtucks; if it be the duſtuck of the tehſeeldar that is thus oppoſed, he is not, after being informed thereof, to perſiſt in enforcing it, but is to report the caſe immediately to the collector, accompanied by the written teſtimonies of the peon deputed to ſerve the duſtuck; upon receipt of which information, or in caſe of his own original proceſs being in like manner reſiſted, the collector is to repreſent through the vakeel of government, the amount of the balance due by ſuch Brahmin or Brahmins, and the circumſtances attending the iſſuing of his own or of his tehſeeldar's proceſs for realizing it, to the judge and magiſtrate of the city or zillah in whoſe juriſdiction the lands on account of which the arrears ſhall be due, may be ſituated; and upon the peon deputed with the tehſeeldar's or the collector's duſtuck, or any other creditable perſon or perſons, attending in court, and making oath to the truth of the circumſtance ſtated in the repreſentation of the collector, either as to the conſtructing of a koorh by ſuch Brahmin or Brahmins, or as to his or their being prepared to wound or ſlay the women and children, or any of them, (according as one or both of theſe expedients, ſhall be ſtated to have been reſorted to by the Brahmin or Brahmins in queſtion,) the magiſtrate is thereon to iſſue to ſuch Brahmin or Brahmins a written notice under his official ſeal in the Perſian language and character, and in the Hindoſtanee language and Nageree character, which is to be ſerved on him or them by ſuch of the relations, friends, or connections, of the ſaid Brahmin or Brahmins, as the magiſtrate may think fit, and have an opportunity of employing for the purpoſe; and in default of ſuch relations, friends, or connections, of the ſaid Brahmin or Brahmins, the magiſtrate is to cauſe the notice to be ſerved by a ſingle peon of the ſame religion, and the tenor of it ſhall require the Collector to apply to the magiſtrate in caſe of Brahmins eſtabliſhing a koorh, or being prepared to kill or wound, women or children, on account of any proceſs from the revenue department.

Notice, and Proceſs to be iſſued by the magiſtrate thereon.

the ſaid Brahmin or Brahmins to remove the koorh, and the women and people that may be placed in it, or to deſiſt from any preparation for wounding or killing the women or children, (according as either or both of theſe offences may be charged in the information,) as likewiſe, either to diſcharge the balance of rent or revenue that ſhall have been demanded from him or them, or to appear, and entering ſecurity for ſuch part of it as he or they may have pleas againſt the payment of, to file his or their objections to the payment of ſuch part, in the city or zillah court, that the merits of the caſe may be enquired into and decided, according to the principles by which other diſputed demands and accounts of revenue are under Regulation VI, 1795, directed to be determined; and the ſaid notice is alſo to contain a poſitive and encouraging aſſurance to the Brahmin or Brahmins in queſtion, that on his or their complying with the exigence of it, by removing the koorh and the perſons therein, or by deſiſting from any preparation to wound or ſlay the women and children, and either diſcharging the balance of revenue in demand, or repairing in perſon, or deputing a vakeel, to the city or zillah court, and entering ſecurity for the amount of it, proper enquiry ſhall be made into the pleas that he or they may have to ſtate againſt the juſtice of the demand. If the iſſuing of the notice ſhall fail to induce the ſaid Brahmin or Brahmins to comply with the requiſitions of it, a written return to that effect is to be made and atteſted by the party or parties entruſted with the ſerving of it, and the magiſtrate is immediately to iſſue a warrant under his official ſeal and ſignature for the apprehenſion of ſuch Brahmin or Brahmins, in which ſhall be ſpecified the miſdemeanor, contumacy, and arrear, with which he or they ſtand charged; and the warrant ſhall be executed by peons of the Mahomedan religion, as directed in Section II; and if the Brahmin or Brahmins ſhall refuſe to obey, or reſiſt, or cauſe to be reſiſted, the peons deputed to ſerve it, or eſcape, after being taken by them into cuſtody, or abſcond, or ſhut himſelf or themſelves up in any houſe or building, or retire to any place, ſo

that the warrant cannot be ſerved on him or them; the magiſtrate, on information to this effect, ſhall iſſue a precept to the collector, to cauſe the neareſt tehſeeldar to attach the lands that ſuch Brahmin or Brahmins may poſſeſs in property, or in mortgage, or in farm, or lakheraje; and the lands ſhall accordingly remain attached, and the profits of them be appropriated by government, until the liquidation of the balance ſhall be effected, either from the produce, or in conſequence of the ſaid Brahmin or Brahmins making good the ſame from his or their other means; and alſo, until the ſaid Brahmin or Brahmins ſhall have been brought, or made his or their appearance, before the court, when he or they ſhall be tried for being concerned either as principals or accomplices in ſetting up the koorh, or for having been prepared to wound or ſlay his or their women or children, or any or either of them, in the ſame manner, and with the ſame reſervation as to the mitigation of the ſentence, as is ſpecified in Sections II, III, and IV.

Brahmins cauſing the conſtruction of a koorh and perſons firing it, to be tried on a charge of murder for the loſs of the life or lives of any perſon or perſons that may be thereby occaſioned.

VII. If any Brahmin or Brahmins, on account of any diſcontent or alarm, well or ill founded, either againſt government, or its officers, or ſervants, ſhall eſtabliſh a koorh, in which any perſon or perſons ſhall, at any period from its conſtruction until its removal, be burnt to death, or otherwiſe loſe their lives, in conſequence of ſuch koorhs being ſet fire to, by any perſon whomſoever; the Brahmin or Brahmins who ſhall have cauſed the conſtruction thereof, ſhall be held chargeable with, and made amenable for, the crime of murder; as well as the party or parties who may have been immediately employed, or aided in ſetting fire to the pile or combuſtibles in queſtion; and upon proof of the fact to the ſatisfaction of the court of circuit, ſuch Brahmin or Brahmins, and ſuch perſon or perſons, ſetting fire to the koorh, ſhall be ſentenced on trial before the ſaid court, to ſuffer the puniſhment of death, in the ſame manner as if they had committed and been convicted of kutl amd, or premeditated murder, according to the doctrines of the Mahommedan law; and with a view to render the example as public as possible, such sentence (whether consistent with the futwah of the Mahommedan law officers, or otherwise,) is in this case, to be accordingly formally passed by the court of circuit on the Brahmin or Brahmins thus convicted; but it is to be at the same time explained to the party or parties thus condemned, as it is also hereby expressly provided, that all such trials, and the sentences passed, are by the court of circuit to be submitted (in like manner as is prescribed in Section XLVII, Regulation IX, 1793,) to the nizamut adawlut, and the party or parties condemned under this section, are to remain in jail to await the final judgment of that court; and if the nizamut adawlut shall approve of the condemnation, it shall order the Brahmin or Brahmins in question to be conveyed to Calcutta to be thence transported for life in conformity to Section XXIII, Regulation XVI, 1795, which establishes this commutation for the legal punishment of murder perpetrated by Brahmins within the province of Benares; or, if the court of nizamut adawlut shall see cause for not proceeding pursuant to the sentence passed by the court of circuit, either in respect to the Brahmin or Brahmins who may have caused the construction of the koorh, or to the party or parties who may have been employed or aided in firing it, they shall submit the case or cases to the Governor General in Council, and either recommend a pardon, or such other commutation by way of mitigation of the punishment, as to the said court may seem proper.

Punishment for Brahmins wounding women and children.

VIII. If any Brahmin or Brahmins, under the circumstances, and in the manner, described in the preamble to and the following sections of this regulation, or under such circumstances, and in such manner, as shall be substantially similar thereto, with a sword, or other offensive weapon, or otherwise, shall actually wound his or their women or children, or other women or children, or any or either of them, on account or in resentment of any real or supposed injury committed towards him or them, by any aumils, tehseeldars, or other officers, or servants, employed in the revenue or judicial departments; or shall so wound any of his or their own women or children, or any other woman or child, on account or in resentment of, his or their differences with any individual; he or they shall for such act or acts, be sentenced by the court of circuit to transportation, subject to the same reference to the nizamut adawlut, and to the like commutation of the punishment, or pardon, as in the cases referred to in Section VII.

Punishment for Brahmins killing women or children.

IX. If any Brahmin or Brahmins, under the circumstances, and in the manner, described in the preamble to and subsequent sections of this regulation, or under such circumstances, and in such manner, as shall be substantially similar thereto, with a sword or other offensive weapon, or otherwise, shall actually put to death his or their women or children, or other women or children, or any or either of them, on account or in resentment of any real or supposed injury, committed towards him or them, by aumils, tehsseeldars, or any other officers, or servants, employed in the revenue or judicial departments; or shall so put to death any of his or their own women or children, or any other woman or child, on account or in resentment of, his or their differences with any individual; he or they shall be tried for such homicide, and on proof of the fact or facts, be accordingly sentenced by the court of circuit to capital punishment, subject to the same reference to the nizamut adawlut, and to the like commutation of the punishment, or pardon, as in the cases referred to in Section VII; and the families of any Brahmin or Brahmins found guilty of murder under this section, shall, according to the order of the Governor General in Council under date the 17th of June 1789, and the publication made in conformity to it by the resident at Benares under date the 7th of July of the same year, be banished from the province of Benares, and the Company's territories; and his and their estates in land shall be forfeited, and disposed of as to government shall seem proper; and accordingly, the court of circuit is required to subjoin this order to all sentences that they may pass on Brahmins for murder under this section, at the same time reporting such sentence and order to the nizamut adawlut, together with as accurate accurate an account as they may be able to procure, of the number, ſex, and age, of the perſons compoſing the family of ſuch Brahmin or Brahmins, and annexing their opinion how far it may be adviſable or otherwiſe, rigorouſly to enforce the baniſhment of the family of ſuch Brahmin or Brahmins, or to confirm, or mitigate, or annul, the order for the forfeiture of their real property; and the nizamut adawlut, on conſideration of this ſentence and order, and of the opinion of the court of circuit, ſhall either wholly confirm, or recommend to the Governor General in Council ſuch mitigation of, the ſaid ſentence and order, as ſhall appear to them proper; and in all caſes where the forfeiture of the landed property of ſuch Brahmin or Brahmins, and that of his or their family, ſhall be confirmed by the nizamut adawlut, the ſaid court is to adviſe the Governor General in Council thereof, nor ſhall ſuch ſentence be carried into execution as far as regards the forfeiture of the landed property, without an order from the Governor General in Council approving ſuch part of the ſentence, and directing in what manner the lands thus forfeited ſhall be diſpoſed of.

Limitation as to the forfeiture of the family lands of the offenders.

X. In the exerciſe of the diſcretion veſted in the nizamut adawlut by Section IX, of recommending to the Governor General in Council, the mitigation of ſentences and orders paſſed by the court of circuit, under the ſaid ſection, it ſhall be a rule, that whenever the Governor General in Council ſhall in conſequence deem it proper to limit the baniſhment either to the party or parties committing the murder, or to a certain number only of his or their family or families; no confiſcation or forfeiture of the landed property ſhall in ſuch inſtances take place, but the ſame ſhall be entirely left in the poſſeſſion, and as the property, of thoſe members of the family who ſhall be exempted from baniſhment.

Regulations reſpecting Brahmins ſitting dhurna.

XI. Firſt. In conformity to the order of the Governor General in Council of the 2d of November 1792, and the publication iſſued in conſequence at Benares on the 22d of December of the ſame year, and the further order of the Governor General in Council under date the the 7th November 1794, the following rules are enacted for the prevention of dhurna; and for the trial and punishment of Brahmins committing this offence.

Magistrate to cause Brahmins sitting dhurna to be apprehended.

Extended to other Provin by Sect. III. V. 1797.

+ Second. On a complaint in writing being presented to the magistrate against any Brahmin or Brahmins for sitting dhurna, the magistrate, upon oath being made to the truth of the information, shall issue a warrant under his seal and signature for the apprehension of the person or persons thus complained against. On the prisoner or prisoners being brought before the magistrate, he shall enquire into the circumstances of the charge, and examine the prisoner or prisoners, and complainant, and also such other persons, (whose depositions are to be taken on oath), as are stated to have any knowledge of the misdemeanor alledged against him or them, and commit their respective depositions to writing; and after this enquiry, if it shall appear to the magistrate that the misdemeanor charged against the prisoner or prisoners was never committed, or that there is no ground to suspect him or them to have been concerned in the committing of it, the magistrate shall cause such Brahmin or Brahmins to be forthwith discharged, recording his reasons for the information of the court of circuit, in the manner specified in Section XVII, Regulation IX, 1793. On the contrary, if it shall appear to the magistrate that the crime or misdemeanor was actually committed, and that there are grounds for suspecting the prisoner or prisoners to have been concerned therein as principals or accomplices, the magistrate shall cause him or them to be committed to prison or held to bail, (according as in his discretion he shall judge proper,) to take his or their trial at the next session of the court of circuit, and shall bind over the complainant to appear and carry on the prosecution, and the witnesses to attend and give their evidence, in the manner required by Section V, Regulation IX, 1793. The trial shall take place before the court of circuit, in the manner prescribed in the said regulation, and in Regulation XVI, 1795; and after the evidence is closed, it shall be referred to the pundit or pundits of the court, to deliver in writing the bebusta, or exposition

tion of the law of the Shaſter, as to whether the facts contained in the evidence, amount to proof of the priſoner or priſoners having committed dhurna; and in the event of ſuch bebuſta being in the affirmative, the court of circuit is to ſentence the priſoner or priſoners to be expelled from the province of Benares, and to forfeit all title to the right or claim for the realizing of which the miſdemeanor ſhall have been committed; but this ſentence is not to be carried into execution until it ſhall have been reported by the court of circuit to the nizamut adawlut, and it ſhall have been either wholly confirmed, or directed to be enforced under ſuch mitigation as to the expulſion from the province, or to the forfeiture of the right or claim of the priſoner or priſoners to the property for which he or they ſat dhurna, as to the ſaid court ſhall ſeem proper.

Sentence to be paſſed.

* XII. In the event of the bebuſta which the pundit is required to deliver in Section XI, not ſtating the circumſtances ſworn to in the evidence to amount to the offence of dhurna, and the court of circuit ſhall nevertheleſs be of opinion from the evidence before them, that the priſoner did in fact commit dhurna, according to the common conſtruction and received meaning of that term, although the act may not have been attended with all the circumſtances that may be legally required to conſtitute dhurna, according to the deſcription of it in the books of the Hindoos; the ſaid court, is, under ſuch circumſtances, (as directed by the order of the Governor General in Council, under date the 7th of November 1794,) to take from the priſoner or priſoners, a mochulka or engagement conditioning, that if ſuch priſoner or priſoners ſhall again ſit dhurna on any one, or perform any act of a nature ſo ſimilar to dhurna, as ſhall on their being proſecuted before the court of circuit, be deemed by the judges of the ſaid court preſent at the trial, or the majority of them, equivalent or tantamount to dhurna, the ſaid priſoner or priſoners ſhall reſpectively for ſuch ſecond offence, ſuffer the full penalty of dhurna, as provided for by the order of the Governor General in Council, by being expelled from the province, and by being made to forfeit all right and title to the claim in queſtion.

Court of circuit how to proceed in caſe all the legal requiſites to conſtitute dhurna, ſhall not be found, although the offence was ſubſtantially committed.

How Raujekoomars are to be tried for leaving or causing their female infants to perish for want of nourishment.

XIII. In the month of December 1789, the tribe of Raujekoomars having bound themselves to discontinue the practice of causing their female infants to be starved to death; it is now accordingly ordained, that from the establishment and opening of the city and zillah courts, and of the court of circuit in Benares, if any Raujekoomar shall designedly prove the cause of the death of his female child, by prohibiting its receiving nourishment, as set forth in the preamble to this regulation, or in any other manner, the magistrate, on receiving information thereof upon oath, or such other information or proof as he shall deem sufficient to render the charge highly probable, shall cause such Raujekoomar to be apprehended in the manner prescribed, and make the enquiry ordered, in Section V, Regulation IX, 1793; when, if it shall appear to the magistrate that the crime has been actually committed, and that there are grounds for suspecting the prisoner to have been concerned in the perpetration of it, the magistrate shall cause him to be committed to prison to be tried before the court of circuit, and shall at the same time take all the other precautions required in the section and regulation last quoted, relative to securing the attendance of the original complainant or informant, and of the witnesses; and the prisoner shall be tried accordingly, in the manner directed in Regulation IX, 1793, and Regulation XVI, 1795, with respect to other cases of murder.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XXII.

A REGULATION for preſerving the record of the principal rules regarding the adminiſtration of juſtice, and the police, in the province of Benares, paſſed between the year 1781, and the period of the abolition of the office of reſident in 1795; and for determining what part of thoſe rules are to be conſidered ſtill in force; and for transferring the cauſes depending in the courts of judicature aboliſhed on this date, to the courts eſtabliſhed in lieu of them.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 27*th March,* 1795; correſponding with the 16*th Chyte* 1201 Bengal Era; the 21*ſt Chyte* 1202 Fuſſily; the 16*th Chyte* 1202 Willaity; the 21*ſt Chyte* 1852 Sumbut; and the 5*th Ramzaan* 1209 Higeree.

PREVIOUS to the ceſſion of Benares to the company, and until the year 1781, the adminiſtration of juſtice in the ſeveral pergunnahs and diſtricts in the province of Benares, was committed, ſubject to the control of the zemindar, to the aumils or native collectors collectors of the revenue, who, in the exercise of this trust, were guided chiefly by unwritten custom. In the city of Benares, certain judicial powers in civil suits, were lodged in the superintendent of an office denominated the amanut dufter, and the police was entrusted to a cutwaul. This system continued with little variation until the year 1781, when the British government first interfered in the interior administration of the country. It being necessary that all the rules which have been passed from that period, to the abolition of the residency, regarding the administration of justice, or the police, should be printed and published, for the security of the rights of those individuals whose property is held under, or has in any shape been affected by them, and that it should be declared what part of those rules are still to be considered in force; and it being requisite, that provisions should be made for transferring the suits depending in the courts abolished on this date, to the courts which have been established in lieu of them; the following rules have been enacted.

Institution of a court of justice, for the city of Benares.

II. On the 19th of October 1781, a chief magistrate was appointed for the preservation of the peace, and the administration of justice, in the city of Benares, and to enable him to execute the duties assigned to him, a dewanny adawlut, or civil court, a foujdarry adawlut, or criminal court, together with a cutwally, or office of police, were established under his superintendence. The magistrate was authorized to frame rules of practice for the courts, subject to the approbation of the British government at Calcutta, to whose authority alone he was subject.

III. On the 27th of January 1788, a court of justice was established in the town of Ghazeepoor, under the superintendence of a native judge, who was vested with civil, criminal, and police jurisdiction, within the limits of the town. In civil causes instituted in this court, the law of the religion of the parties, was made the rule of decision, excepting when the parties were of different persuasions, as in suits between Mahomedans

Rule of law to be observed therein.

and Hindoos, in which cases, the court was ordered to be guided by the law of the religion of the defendant. But in all criminal cases, (excepting those which had relation to cast or marriage amongst the Hindoos,) the futwahs or sentences, were directed to be delivered in conformity to the Mahomedan law. The sentences in criminal trials however, were ordered not to be carried into execution, until they had been approved by the resident, excepting in cases in which the punishment did not exceed twenty stripes, or imprisonment for one week, which sentences, the judges were authorized to carry into execution by their own authority.

Subsistence to prisoners.

IV. The judge at Ghazeepoor was instructed to furnish persons confined for criminal offences, with a daily subsistence at the expence of government; but debtors, and others detained in custody on civil actions, were ordered to be maintained by the prosecutors; and the court was directed to release them, in the event of the prosecutors not paying the required sum for their subsistence.

Police.

V. In the cutwally or police department, the fees which had been usually collected from the inhabitants, were abolished; and to obviate disturbances in the city, travellers, sepoys, and others, were directed to apply through the native magistrate for such assistance as they might require, instead of going themselves, or deputing people for that purpose, into the town.

Rules respecting the officers of the court.

Oath taken by the judge.

VI. The judge was entrusted with the appointment and dismission of the officers subordinate to him, but with instructions to report all removals and nominations to the resident. The judge was sworn to the diligent and faithful discharge of his trust, and the officers of the court were declared liable to be made to refund three times the amount of any sums which might be proved to have been corruptly or unduly received by them.

VII.

Similar establishment of a court for the town of Juanpoor.

VII. On the 15th of March 1788, a court of judicature was established in the town of Juanpoor, under a native judge, with the same powers and jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases, and in matters of police, as had been vested in the native judge of Ghazeepoor.

Limitation of the period within which causes were to be heard.

VIII. A rule was passed, authorizing the two courts above-mentioned, to entertain and decide on suits where the cause of action had arisen within the twelve years previous to the 15th of March 1788, but no civil causes of longer standing were to be received, unless the party first obtained from the resident, an order for their being admitted.

Establishment of a court of justice at Mirzapoor.

IX. On the 31st of March 1788, a court of judicature was established in the town and mart of Mirzapoor, under the superintendence of a native judge, who was vested with the same civil, criminal, and police jurisdiction, as the judges of the courts at Ghazeepoor, and Juanpoor; and on the 11th of November following, the jurisdiction of the Mirzapoor court was declared to extend to the site and temple of Bindebashnee, a place in that vicinity, resorted to by the Hindoos for religious purposes.

Regulation for hearing appeals from the courts of Ghazeepoor, &c.

X. First. On the 15th of March 1788, the following rules were established in pursuance of the orders of the Governor General in Council of the 29th of February 1788, empowering the resident to hold a dewanny court of appeal at the sudder, or Benares, for trying appeals from the decrees of the courts of Mirzapoor, Ghazeepoor, and Juanpoor.

Second. 1*st.* "That in all causes of a civil nature, the party dissatisfied with the decree of the Mofussil court, shall be at liberty to appeal to the resident at Benares by a petition of appeal, stating the causes of appeal, so that every such petition against any decree made in any of the said mofussil courts, be presented to such mofussil court, or to the resident in his capacity of judge judge of the court of appeal at Benares, within two months after the day on which the decree was made. Provided nevertheleſs, that ſuch perſon may prefer his petition of appeal to the ſaid court of appeal at Benares, after ſuch period, if he can ſhow juſt and reaſonable cauſe to the ſatisfaction of that court for not having preferred the ſame within the ſaid two months; and if the petition of appeal be againſt any decree, whereby the right of poſſeſſion of any houſe, or land, ſhall be decreed to the plaintiff, all proceedings ſhall immediately be ſtaid, and no execution had, or poſſeſſion given, under the decree appealed againſt, until the ſaid appeal ſhall have been finally determined in the ſudder dewanny adawlut, if the party againſt whom the decree is given, enter into good and ſufficient ſecurity in a ſum equal to one year's value of the rents, iſſues, and profits of ſuch land, or houſe, which ſhall have been decreed, to abide by and perform ſuch order as ſhall be made in the court of appeal at Benares. But if ſuch party ſhall neglect or refuſe to enter into ſuch ſecurity, on or before the court day next after ſuch appeal ſhall be preferred, then the moſuſſil dewanny adawlut ſhall order execution to be had, and poſſeſſion to be delivered, according to the decree; and in all other caſes, the moſuſſil dewanny adawlut may either order the decree to be carried into execution, or ſufficient ſecurity to be given by the party againſt whom the decree ſhall be made, in a ſum equal to the ſum of money, or the value of the thing decreed, for the performance of the decree; and if the moſuſſil dewanny adawlut ſhall order the decree to be executed, ſecurity ſhall be taken from the party in whoſe favor the decree is made, in a ſum equal to the ſum of money, or value of the thing decreed, for the due performance of ſuch order or decree, as ſhall be made in the court of appeal; and in all caſes, the party appealing, ſhall give full and ſufficient ſecurity in a ſum not exceeding two hundred rupees, for the payment of all ſuch coſts, and for the performance of ſuch order, or decree, as the court of appeal may think proper to award, or make thereupon; and in every caſe, where any petition of appeal ſhall be preſented in any moſuſſil dewanny adawlut, againſt any decree given in ſuch court, and ſuch ſecurities as are hereby required ſhall have been entered into, the judge of ſuch moſuſſil dewanny adawlut, ſhall immediately endorſe on ſuch petition in his own hand writing, the day of the month and year in which it was preſented, and ſign the ſame with his name, and ſhall likewiſe cauſe to be written in the margin of the record immediately oppoſite to the decree of the court the word "appealed," and ſhall receive every petition of appeal, and tranſmit the ſame to the court of appeal at Benares; and the judge ſhall cauſe notice in writing to be given to the appellant, that he will within ſix days certify to the court of appeal the ſeveral proceedings had in the cauſe appealed, and that if the appellant ſhall not proceed in his appeal within fourteen days after the ſame ſhall have been received by and filed in the court of appeal, his appeal will be diſmiſſed, unleſs the appellant ſhall ſhow reaſonable cauſe to the ſatisfaction of the court for not proceeding therein."

Record and papers how to be certified to the court of appeal.

Third. 2*d.* "That the judge of ſuch moſuſſil dewanny adawlut ſhall within ſix days next after the receipt of ſuch appeal, certify under his hand and the ſeal of his court, to the reſident as judge of the court of appeal at Benares, the record ſo made up, and authenticated as aforeſaid, together with the original complaint, anſwer, replication, and rejoinder of the parties, and the original depoſitions, exhibits, and every original paper read in the cauſe, and before he ſhall tranſmit the ſame to the court of appeal, cauſe true and faithful copies of all ſuch originals, authenticated by the ſignature of the ſheriſtadar or head moonſhy, to be made out and depoſited in the moſuſſil dewanny adawlut, in lieu of the originals, which ſaid copies ſhall be, and ſhall be eſteemed, records of the court."

In what cauſes an appeal is to lie from the deciſion of the court of appeal at Benares.

Fourth. 3*d.* "That where the cauſe of action ſhall not exceed one thouſand rupees, the judgement of the reſident, in his capacity of judge of the court of appeal at Benares is to be final; but in cauſes exceeding that amount, the parties are to be at liberty to appeal appeal from the decision of the resident, to the sudder dewanny adawlut at Calcutta, under the restrictions prescribed in the regulations for the administration of justice, in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa."

Rules for ascertaining in such cases the value of the subject litigated.

Fifth. 4th. "That for the purpose of ascertaining what causes are, and what causes are not appealable, from the court of appeal at Benares, to the sudder dewanny adawlut at Calcutta, the mode of fixing what causes exceed, and are under, one thousand rupees, shall be as follows: In causes respecting land, it shall be estimated according to the annual produce or jumma, that is to say, lakheraje land at ten times the amount of its annual produce; ayma lands paying a quit rent to government, at twenty times the amount of the annual quit rent; and malguzarry land, at one year's amount of the jumma to government; and if for a house and the ground belonging to it, according to the price in the bill of sale, or if there be no bill of sale, according to the appraisement of two creditable appraisers of the place."

Process in respect to the execution of the decision of causes liable to be appealed.

Sixth. 5th. "In all causes, the mofussil judges, are, after hearing the cause and the evidence produced, and considering all the vouchers of both parties, to pass their decision thereon, according to the Mussulman and Hindoo laws, in the manner distinctly specified in regard to each in their sunnuds of investiture, which they are to announce in the public cutcherry to the parties, and to furnish each of them with an attested copy of the decree passed under the judge's signature, and the seal of the adawlut, which decrees, the judges are respectively to order on the next court day to be carried into execution, if either of the parties shall not then or before have applied to appeal, in which case, the judges are to act according to the regulations contained in the preceding articles."

Security to be taken from parties in civil suits.

Seventh. 6th. "The judges are on the institution of each cause, as soon as the petition of complaint is received, to take sufficient ficient ſecurity from the parties in the cauſe to carry on their ſuit, and to abide by the judgement of the court when paſſed, or to appeal therefrom, in the manner directed by the preceding regulations."

Juriſdiction of the court of appeal at Benares extended over the city court.

XI. The Governor General in Council having extended the juriſdiction of the court of appeal at Benares, to hearing appeals from deciſions of the city court of Benares, eſtabliſhed as ſpecified in Section II, the native judge was adviſed accordingly on the 11th of May, 1788. On the 6th of Auguſt following, the Governor General in Council determined, that the court of appeal ſhould not receive any appeals from cauſes decided by the judge of the city court previous to the 31ſt of Auguſt, 1787, the date of the then reſident's firſt arrival at Benares.

Rule in reſpect to bonds of old date.

XII. On the 11th of October, 1788, a rule was paſſed directing the courts at Ghazeepoor, Juanpoor, and Mirzapoor, to entertain and try all civil ſuits founded on bonds of whatever date, in part of which any payments had been made within the period of the twelve years fixed for rendering cauſes cognizable.

Mahomedan and Hindoo laws to be conformed to in the city court of Benares.

XIII. On the 20th of October, 1788, the court of appeal at Benares, directed the ſame uſe and application of the Mahomedan and Hindoo laws reſpectively, to be obſerved in the city court of Benares, as had been preſcribed to the courts of Mirzapoor, Ghazeepoor, and Juanpoor.

Eſtabliſhments provided for the two country courts of moolky dewanny and moolky foujdarry adalats.

XIV. Some proviſion was thus made for the adminiſtration of juſtice in the city of Benares, and the towns of Mirzapoor, Ghazeepoor, and Juanpoor; but the juriſdiction of theſe courts being confined to the limits of the city and towns in which they were reſpectively eſtabliſhed, and not extending into the interior parts of the zemindarry, the greater proportion of the inhabitants were ſtill left without any adequate protection, or means of procuring redreſs. For although ſome ſteps had been taken in 1786, towards the the inſtitution of a court of juſtice for the country, (hence called the moolky or country adawlut,) with the limited authority of hearing and trying ſuch cauſes as the reſident might refer for that purpoſe, its powers and influence were ſo circumſcribed, as to be productive of little benefit, until the month of October 1787, when this tribunal was formed into two diſtinct courts, one, denominated the moolky dewanny adawlut, or civil country court, and the other, the moolky foujdarry adawlut, or criminal country court. A ſeparate judge was nominated to each of theſe courts, and under the ſubſequent inſtructions of the Governor General in Council of the 29th of February, and 3d of October 1788, adequate eſtabliſhments were aſſigned to theſe two moolky adawluts on the 26th of November following. The moolky dewanny adawlut was veſted with powers to hear, try, and decide, all civil ſuits ariſing in the four circars compoſing the zemindarry of Benares, with the exception of the city of Benares, and the towns of Mirzapoor, Ghazeepoor, and Juanpoor. The moolky foujdary adawlut was veſted with a co-extenſive criminal juriſdiction; and both of theſe courts were placed ſo far under the ſuperintendence of the reſident, that appeals lay to him from the former, and the futwahs or ſentences of the latter were rendered ſubject to his reviſion. The ſame application of the Mohomedan and Hindoo laws was directed to be obſerved in theſe courts, as in the other eſtabliſhed courts abovementioned.

Extent of the juriſdiction of theſe courts.

XV. Firſt. On the 18th of January 1789, the rules contained in the following clauſes were preſcribed for the guidance of the moolky dewanny adawlut.

Rules paſſed on the 18th January 1789.

Second. The judge was authorized to take cognizance of ſuch civil actions coming within the cognizance of the court, as had originated within the twelve years previous to the 26th of November 1788, but he was ordered not to hear cauſes of older date, unleſs they were referred to him for that purpoſe.

Term limited for cauſes being actionable in the moolky dewanny adawlut.

Third.

In respect to prosecutions for lands and zemindarry rights.

Third. In consequence of the regulation passed by government on the 11th of April 1788, the court was prohibited from taking cognizance of claims to lands and zemindarry rights, where the party had been dispossessed antecedent to the 1st of July 1775, answering to the Fussily year 1182.

Causes relative to the revenue.

Fourth. Causes relating to the collection of the revenue, were declared not cognizable in this court, unless referred to it.

Form of oath to be used in this court.

Fifth. The court was prohibited from administering any of the oaths described in the books of the Hindoos, excepting the oath on the water of the Ganges.

How decrees for landed property were to be executed.

Sixth. Orders for possession of land awarded by decrees of this court, were directed to be issued from the office of the resident, on the parties exhibiting the decrees.

Process of this court in regard to summoning parties and witnesses.

Seventh. The process of this court for summoning witnesses, and parties, was directed to be served through the aumils and jaghirdars, and any neglect on the part of the said officers and persons in executing the process, was punishable by a fine to be imposed by the resident.

Rule for the enforcement of decrees.

Eighth. In cases in which the party cast might plead inability to pay the amount adjudged against him, the judge was instructed to propose the liquidation of it by a kistbundy to be agreed to by the parties, taking security for the kists or instalments being duly discharged. In the event of failure in the payment of the instalments, and of the party cast not appealing to the court of appeal, he was to be detained in jail for three months, at the expiration of which period, the judge was to receive from the plaintiff, and to report to the resident, the means possessed by the defendant for the liquidation of the claim adjudged against him, and to wait the resident's instructions.

Punishment of contempts.

Ninth. The judge was authorized to punish contempts committed mitted in open court, by a fine not exceeding ten rupees, and by committing the party to cuſtody until the fine was paid; and in caſe of the party guilty of the contempt, being unable to pay the fine from indigence, the judge was allowed to puniſh him by the infliction of any number of ſtripes, not exceeding fifteen. On the 2d April 1794, the court was authorized to diſmiſs the claim of the party for ſuch contempts, but without depriving him of his right to have recourſe for a further hearing to the court of appeal.

Penalty for creditors ſeizing on and confining the perſons of their debtors.

XVI. To aboliſh the practice which had more or leſs obtained in different parts of the zemindarry, of creditors ſeizing on the perſons of their debtors, and detaining them in confinement until their claims were ſatisfied, a proclamation prohibiting this abuſe was iſſued by order of the Governor General in Council on the 13th of July 1789, in which it was declared, that any perſon convicted in a court of juſtice of having confined another on account of debt, ſhould forfeit all claim to ſuch debt, or be ſubject to the payment of ſuch a ſum of money as damages to the perſon confined, as the court might think proper to award, upon a conſideration of the circumſtances of the caſe. This rule was notified to the judges of the ſeveral courts for their information and guidance.

Rule in reſpect to ſuits founded on deeds of mortgage.

XVII. On a conſideration of the nature of mortgage deeds, on the 28th of Auguſt 1789, it was made a general rule for the guidance of all the courts, that ſuits preferred relative to writings of this deſcription by any parties intereſted therein, ſhould not be reſtricted to any limitation in point of time, but be allowed to go to iſſue on their merits, with the exception ſpecified in Clauſe Eighth, Section XXXV.

Oaths of the judges of the moolky adawluts.

XVIII. On the 18th of September 1789, the judges of the moolky dewanny, and moolky foujdarry adawluts, were ſworn into their offices, their oath of office being to the ſame purport as that that taken by the judges of the towns of Ghazeepoor, Juanpoor, and Mirzapoor.

Judges of the ſeveral courts, to receive and try all complaints and ſuits preferred agreeably to the regulations.

XIX. On the 21ſt of November 1789, the judges of the ſeveral courts, were directed to receive, try, and decide, all ſuits according to the regulations, without waiting for, or making any plea of delay, for their not being referred for that purpoſe by the reſident, as no ſuch references would be made in future, excepting in caſes of complaint for undue delay or denial of juſtice, or other apparent irregularity in the courts.

Pottahs not to be conſidered as fixing the proprietary right in lands.

XX. On the 12th of December 1789, on the forming of the general ſettlement of the public revenue to be paid from the lands throughout the zemindarry, the judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut was informed, that the pottahs then iſſued not being meant to fix the proprietary right in lands, but only to aſcertain the revenue payable from each eſtate, he was therefore not to conſider thoſe deeds of ſettlement, as any bar to the admiſſion of ſuits preferred in conformity to the regulations, reſpecting the proprietary right in ſuch eſtates. To this effect, engagements were taken from the parties with whom the ſettlement was made, as ſpecified in Section XVI, Regulation II, 1795.

Rule for the moolky dewanny court in caſes in which defendants could not be found, or refuſed to attend.

XXI. On the 2d of January 1790, the following rule was paſſed for the guidance of the moolky dewanny adawlut. That where a defendant ſhall have abſconded, and is not after diligent ſearch to be found, the judge ſhall cauſe a written notice to be ſtuck up in the court room, and alſo ſend a copy thereof, to the aumil of the diſtrict in which ſuch defendant lives, to be poſted on the door of the houſe in which ſuch defendant may reſide, ſpecifying that if he ſhall not appear to defend the ſuit on or before the expiration of one month from the date, and iſſuing of ſuch publication, the cauſe ſhall be heard and decided on the evidence which may be adduced on behalf of the plaintiff. On the 15th June 1792, a

ſimilar rule was extended to perſons refuſing to attend the court, after a ſummons had been duly ſerved on them.

XXII. Firſt. To prevent the evils and inconveniencies likely to ariſe from the great prevalence of the ſpirit of litigation between parties claiming to be reſtored to zemindarry rights, the following rules were paſſed on the 21ſt of March, 1790, for the guidance of the judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut.

Rules and reſtrictions for the guidance of the moolky dewanny adawlut, in reſpect to zemindarry claims.

Second. 1*ſt.* "No zemindar ſhall be required to attend in perſon to defend any ſuit which may be inſtituted againſt him, but the ſummons ſhall expreſs that he may appear for that purpoſe in perſon, or by his authorized vakeel."

Zemindars when defendants may attend in perſon or by vakeel.

Third. 2*d.* "Before any proceſs is iſſued for ſummoning a zemindar, or his vakeel, in any ſuit relative to the proprietary right in his zemindarry, a mochulka is to be taken from the claimant ſpecifying in what year ſince 1182 Fuſſily, he had poſſeſſion, either as a partner with, or in excluſion of, the party now in poſſeſſion. The mochulka is to expreſs in the body of it, that if the period of the plaintiffs poſſeſſion therein ſpecified prove untrue, his ſuit for that cauſe alone, ſhall be diſmiſſed, and until this mochulka be entered into, no ſummons or proceſs ſhall iſſue againſt the defendant."

Mochulka to be executed by claimants to zemindarry rights.

Fourth. 3*d.* "After executing ſuch mochulka, the plaintiffs are further to enter into ſuch ſecurity as the court ſhall deem ſufficient, to pay, in caſe they ultimately fail in their ſuits, ſuch damages to the zemindar who is the defendant, as the proſecution of their unjuſt complaint ſhall have occaſioned to him; the amount of which damages is to be adjudged by the court on the deciſion of every ſuch ſuit, and recovered in like manner as all other decrees for ſums of money are directed to be carried into execution.

Security for damages to be entered into by claimants to zemindarries.

Fifth

Defaults for which claims to zemindarries are to be dismissed.

Fifth. 4th. " In case of the plaintiffs mentioned in the two preceding articles, refusing to enter into the required mochulka, and security, their claims are to be dismissed, and the process in all such zemindarry causes now depending in the court, is to be suspended until the security above required be entered into, after which they are to be proceeded with, or, if not entered into, such causes are to be likewise dismissed. The parties however in all such causes as may be so dismissed, shall have the option of appealing to the court of appeal.

Decrees relative to zemindarries to be reported to the resident.

XXIII. On the 10th of July, and 3d of September 1790, it was made a rule, in addition to the rule contained in Clause Sixth, Section XV, that the judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut should advise the resident of all decrees passed by him adjudging the possession of any zemindarry, or other landed estate, whether paying revenue, or held exempt from the payment of revenue.

Rules for levying a russoom or commission on causes tried in the city court.

XXIV. Under the authority of an order passed by the Governor General in Council on the 1st of July 1789, the resident having authorized the judge of the city court of Benares, to receive from the 22d of September following, a russoom or commission of one per cent on the amount of claims preferred in civil suits instituted in that court, the following rules for levying it, where adopted on the 5th of August 1790. Where the cause or claim was for ready money, the prescribed russoom was directed to be levied on the amount; but on claims for malguzarry land, the russoom was ordered to be calculated on the annual revenue payable to government; and on claims for lakheraje lands, on ten times the amount of the annual produce; and on claims for ayma lands paying a quit rent to government, on twenty times the amount of the annual quit rent; and on claims for houses and gardens, on the price specified in the bill of sale, or, where there was no bill of sale, on the current value of the property to be ascertained by enquiry, or from the opinion of two creditable builders, who were to report the value of it to the adawlut on oath. Such russoom was directed to be paid in depoſit by the plaintiff, at the time of filing his bill of plaint, but in the event of the decree being given againſt the defendant, and the whole of the money or property demanded by the complainant, being decreed to the plaintiff, a ſum equal to the depoſit was to be awarded to the plaintiff, and added to the decree given in his favor; but if part only of the plaintiffs claim was decreed to him, a ſum bearing the ſame proportion to the money or value of the thing decreed, as the depoſit did to the demand laid in the complaint, was ordered to be adjudged and added to the decree, and recovered from the defendant, in the ſame manner as any other money, or the value of property, which might be awarded againſt him.

Appeals not to lie from the awards of arbitrators.

Exception.

XXV. On the 30th of Auguſt 1790, it was ordered that appeals ſhould not lie from decrees founded on the awards of arbitrators, unleſs the party deſirous to appeal, ſhould eſtabliſh by the evidence of two credible witneſſes, corruption, or groſs partiality, againſt the arbitrators.

Length of intermediate poſſeſſion required to found a deciſion on for zemindarry rights.

XXVI. On a query ſubmitted by the judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut, reſpecting the term of intermediate poſſeſſion ſubſequent to the period of limitation ſpecified in Clauſe Third, Section XV, which ſhould be conſtrued as entitling a perſon to proſecute for permanent reinſtatement, the reſident, on the 4th of September 1790, informed him, that poſſeſſion during one year ſince ſuch period, and the proſecuting party having cloſed the collections, were neceſſary for that purpoſe, and that an interrupted tenure of one, two, or four, or more months, was not to be conſidered ſufficient.

Further rules as to ſecurities in ſuits.

XXVII. On the 11th of September 1790, the ſeveral courts (excepting the court for the city of Benares,) were inſtructed by the reſident to take hazerzaminy, or ſecurity for the appearance of all plaintiffs in civil ſuits; and they were further informed, that (beſides the ſecurity required in zemindarry ſuits by Section XXII,) the ſureties for the defendants, were to be bound not only for the parties being forthcoming, but that ſuch defendants, after the courts judgement had paſſed, ſhould either abide by, and perform the requiſitions thereof, or appeal from it according to the regulations; in default of which, ſuch ſurety or ſureties, were to ſtand engaged to make good whatever part of the plaintiffs claim ſhould have been ſo eſtabliſhed. This rule was extended to the court of the city of Benares.

Vakeels of aumils, not to practiſe as court vakeels.

XXVIII. On the 19th of September 1790, the vakeels of aumils were prohibited from practiſing as vakeels in the moolky dewanny adawlut.

Canongoes to hold the temporary management of lands ſequeſtered by the adawlut.

XXIX. To ſave the expence of management to parties proſecuting for zemindarries, the moolky dewanny adawlut was inſtructed on the 21ſt of October 1790, to make it a general rule to appoint the canongoes to hold the charge of ſuch revenue lands as might, under the proceſs of that court, be temporarily attached pending the ſuit, in conſequence of the nature of the tenure of the litigating parties.

Prohibition of the uſe of certain oaths in the practice of the courts.

XXX. The judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut having requeſted to be informed whether in the practice of the court, he might admit the oaths in uſe amongſt the Hindoos, which reſt the proof of the fact to be determined by the contingency of any evil or misfortune befalling, within a certain number of days, the family, connections, or property, of the party ſwearing, he was acquainted on the 1ſt February 1791, that ſuch oaths were not to be admitted.

Reſtrictive rule in reſpect to zemindarry claims in Kuſwar.

XXXI. On the 14th of February 1791, the moolky dewanny adawlut was prohibited from taking cognizance of claims to zemindarries in the rajah's family pergunnah of Kuſwar, unleſs ſuch claims were expreſsly referred to it for that purpoſe.

XXXII.

XXXII. In the cafe of a zemindarry, the property of Mahomedans, in which there were feveral partners, but which was held and managed by one of them as the principal, who made his partners fome allowance out of the produce, but not in proportion to their refpective fhares, the judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut, having on the 3d April 1791, defired to know whether the claim of the partners to be put in poffeffion of their full fhares, might be admitted, he was anfwered in the negative, and that fuch partners could not be entitled to any thing more than they had enjoyed within the period limited in Claufe Third, Section XV, for the general reftoration of landholders.

Application of the rules in refpect to zemindarry rights against claimants profecuting for larger intereftf therein, than they held previous to the period of limitation.

XXXIII. The reftoration of the village zemindars, at the conclufion of the permanent fettlement in the year 1197, correfponding with the years 1790-91, having given rife to many difputes between them, concerning the boundaries of their feveral eftates, a proclamation was iffued on the 7th of April 1791, declaring, that all lands and ground were to remain as they ftood annexed and poffeffed up to the year 1182 Fuffily, (ending in September 1775,) and that no claims were to be admitted contrary to this principle; with the exception of fuch cafes, as having originated antecedently to the year in queftion, were then ftill in a courfe of enquiry either by arbitration, or otherwife, under the authority of the exifting native government, and ftill remained unadjufted; in fuch cafes, it was determined that the refident on the application of the parties might refer the hearing of the caufe to the adawlut, which was thereon to take cognizance of the fuit, and to decide it according to juftice, without reference to the period of limitation.

Period of limitation in regard to difputed boundaries.

Exceptions.

Causes dismissed to be reported.

XXXVIII. To enable the resident to ascertain whether there were any suits the circumstances of which on principles of equity might entitle the parties to have them referred for trial under the discretionary power vested in the resident by Clause Second, Section XV, the judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut was directed on the 3d and 15th of August 1791, to make a report to the resident of all causes then about to be dismissed under the rule of limitation, and to direct the parties themselves to shew cause to the resident why their suits should not be dismissed that he might pass such order thereon as might seem to him proper.

General rule for plaintiffs to enter into securities to pay such costs and damages as might be awarded.

XXXIX. The resident considering the hardship under which defendants in causes labored, from there being hitherto no settled mode, (except in zemindarry causes,) of indemnifying them for the costs and charges incurred in the defence of unjust claims preferred against them, on the 14th of October 1791, a circular order was issued to all the adawluts, to the same purport as the provision made for the guidance of the moolky dewanny adawlut in respect to zemindarry causes, under Clause Fourth, Section XXII. And on the 30th of October 1791, it was ordered, that until such security be given, the defendant is not to be summoned, nor the plaintiff's petition to be proceeded on, except in cases in which the judge may think it probable that the plaintiff prefers a just claim, but from indigence, is unable to deliver in the required security.

XLI. On a question submitted by the judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut, stating that according to the Musselman law, the evidence evidence of Hindoos could not be legally received in causes relative to Mohomedans, and requesting instructions how to proceed; in consequence, the resident acquainted him on the 22d of March 1792, that in consideration of the state of society in this country, it was necessary to receive as valid, the evidence of Hindoos in the causes of Mohomedans.

Judge not to correspond with suitors.

XLII. On the 18th of March 1794, in consequence of orders to that effect, passed by the Governor General in Council on the 7th of the same month, the several courts were prohibited from corresponding with parties in causes, who were required to submit their representations to the court, either in person or by vakeel; on which the judges respectively were directed to pass such orders as they might think fit, leaving it to the suitors to have recourse to the court of appeal, if they were dissatisfied with the orders so passed.

Engagements to be taken from Europeans prosecuting natives.

XLIII. On the same date, the courts were advised of the orders passed by government on the 7th of March 1792, and furnished with the form of the security bond to be entered into by all Europeans, who might institute any suit against a native or natives in the courts in question, according to the prescribed form in Regulation XXVIII, 1793, extended to the province of Benares by Regulation XXIV, 1795.

XLIV. On the 26th of March 1794, it was made a general rule, that all persons desirous of redeeming mortgaged land, should apply for that purpose to the moolky dewanny adawlut or to the court having the local jurisdiction, that the accounts of the mortgage being adjusted and any balance due discharged, the mortgage might be declared redeemed, and that on notice thereof from the proper court, the resident might cause possession of the property to be delivered to the party thereby become entitled to it.

XLV.

Parties not to sue in the courts in which they are judges or officers.

XLV. On the 1st of April 1794, a rule was made to prevent the cause of any officer or servant of the several courts, from being tried in the court to which he might be attached. Such causes were directed to be referred by the court, after the sanction of the court of appeal had been obtained for that purpose, to be heard in one of the other courts. This rule was also occasionally observed in instances where the parties applied to have their causes transferred from the court of one jurisdiction to that of another, under the plea that they expected to obtain a more speedy, or just decision of their suits.

Time limited in respect to the sale of houses under decrees of the adawluts.

XLVI. On the 4th of August 1794, it was made a general rule for the guidance of the courts, that the notice to be given of the sale of houses in satisfaction of decrees, should not be less than fifteen days, and that this notice should be given by public advertisement, so as to allow sufficient time for parties who might have claims on such property, to be apprized of the intended sale, and to prefer any objection they might have to offer to its taking place.

XLVII. On the 4th of January 1795, the rule established under Clause Third, Section XV, Regulation II, 1795, relative to such bills of sale as might have been made to aumils for balances of the public revenue, up to the 19th of September 1794, (when such conveyances were altogether prohibited,) was communicated for the information and guidance of the moolky dewanny adawlut.

Further general rules for limiting the period within which causes are cognizable by the several courts.

XLVIII. On the 5th and 8th of September 1794, in pursuance of orders from the Governor General in Council under date the 15th of August preceding, the city court of Benares was restricted from entertaining suits in which the cause of action was of older date than twelve years; and with a view to reduce to one uniform rule the several orders relating to this period of limitation, in respect to the other courts, as already stated under Sections VIII, and XV, a cir-

a circular order and notification was written on the 13th of January 1795, to the moolky dewanny adawlut, and to the dewanny courts of Mirzapoor, Juanpoor, and Ghazeepoor, prohibiting them from hearing claims of longer ſtanding than twelve years, with the exceptions in regard to mortgages, and bonds, already ſpecified under Sections XII, and XVII, and to zemindarry rights and claims to lands, as ſeparately limited in the preceding ſections of this regulation; but at the ſame time providing, that when the complainant can ſhow by clear and poſitive proof, that he had made demand of the ſum or matter in queſtion, and that the defendant had admitted the demand, or promiſed to pay the money, or that he directly preferred his claim for the matter in diſpute, to the hakim-ul-wukht, or magiſtrate for the time being, within that period, and without any default on his part, that the ſuit had not been proceeded with; or ſhow that either from minority, or other good and ſufficient cauſe, he had been precluded from the means of procuring redreſs. All cauſes under theſe circumſtances were to be heard, incluſive of all ſuch claims as ſhould be referred for that purpoſe by the court of appeal, and inſtructions to the ſame effect were iſſued to the city court.

XLIX. On the 13th of January 1795, the rules in Section X, Regulation VIII, 1795, for diſpenſing with ſecurity in civil ſuits in the caſe therein mentioned, were iſſued to the city court, and to the moolky dewanny adawlut.

Rule relative to the lands formerly purchaſed by Abdullah, in the diſtrict of Ghazeepoor.

L. On the 19th of February 1795, the judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut repreſented that Sheikh Abdullah, the father of Ali Azeem Khan, having heretofore purchaſed ſeveral villages from the antient zemindars in the ſircar of Ghazeepoor, and the heirs of the latter, having nevertheleſs obtained pottahs for ſuch lands, at the concluſion of the permanent ſettlement in 1197 Fuſſily; ſuch pottah holders, or ſome of them, in bar to proſecutions being inſtituted againſt them by parties claiming to be their partners alledged that in conſequence of their anceſtors having ſold the lands in question as aforesaid, they could be considered only as farmers, although the pottahs they had obtained were for zemindarry tenures. The judge desiring instructions, on this point, he was informed that under the orders of government of the 11th of April 1788, Sheikh Abdullah's purchases had been deemed void; and that in consideration thereof, his representative, the above named Ali Azeem Khan, now received a pension from government, as reported by the resident in his letter to the Governor General in Council of the 15th of May 1788, and therefore that he was to admit the said suits, and to hear, try, and decide them, according to the letter and import of the zemindarry pottahs, held by the present incumbents.

Further rules as to issuing decrees;

LI. First. The city court of Benares was instructed to deliver or tender to all parties in civil suits, authentic copies of the decrees which might be passed in their causes, within eight days after the same might be passed, endorsing thereon the refusal of such of the parties as might decline to accept them, and this rule, as far as regarded the delivery of copies of the decrees, was subsequently extended to all causes previously decided. Similar instructions were given to all the other civil courts in the province.

receiving appeals,

Second. On the 7th February 1795, it was made a rule, that no petition of appeal should be admitted, unless the party had previously applied for and obtained a copy of the decree desired to be appealed from.

and as to appellants filing their objections.

Third. It was likewise made a rule, that appellants should deliver in their objections to the decree of the lower court, within a fortnight after the admission of the appeal, or their appeals should be dismissed, in conformity to the spirit of the original rule to that effect in Clause Second, Section X, and of the further order in Clause Second, Section XXXVI.

LII.

LII. Under the rule contained in Section XLV, the resident occasionally referred civil causes, to be tried by the same process as in the civil courts, to the moolky foujdarry adawlut. This court however, had jurisdiction only in such suits of this description, as were expressly referred to it by the resident.

Instances of civil causes referred to the moolky foujdarry adawlut.

LIII. The rules in this section, and the eight following sections, relative to the opium contract, were issued for the information and guidance of the courts of justice.

Rules for the guidance of the courts of justice, in respect to the opium contract, and the rights of the contractor.

LIV. On the 21st of March 1790, the advertisement published by the Governor General in Council, under date the 19th of February preceding, was transmitted for the information and guidance of the courts of adawlut, in respect to that clause of it, which prescribes the levying from natives, a fine of three hundred and seventy-five rupees, (half to be paid to the informer, and the other moiety to government,) for every maund of opium which they might be proved to have procured or provided, contrary to the regulations for limiting the provision of that article to the contractor.

Penalty provided against the illicit provision of opium.

LV. First. On the 5th of May 1790, the following summary of certain of the clauses of the then existing contract, and the regulations for the provision of opium within the zemindarry, was transmitted to the several courts for their information and guidance.

Summary of the conditions of the existing contract.

Second. 1*st.* The contractor is to pay to the ryots or cultivators for their opium, at the rate of two Benares sicca rupees and eight annas, per seer, each seer to weigh ninety-six Benares sicca rupees, and to make them advances in the former established mode, and to deduct one chuttack per seer, (equal to two seers and a half per maund,) in consideration of the moistness of the crude opium when delivered into the godown.

Third. 2*d.* When the poppy has attained the proper growth, the quantity of opium produced, is to be ascertained on the spot

by

by the officer of the contractor, in concert with two or three creditable cultivators, who are to assist in forming the estimate. The cultivator is to execute an engagement to deliver the estimated quantity, together with any surplus which may be produced.

Fourth. 3*d.* The opium is to be fairly weighed by weights, bearing the mark of the resident, in the mode termed dherm dundy, so as to preclude the agents of the contractors from attempting to exact undue weight.

Fifth. 4*th.* In cases in which the short deliveries of the ryot shall appear to have proceeded from calamity of season, or other accident, and not from any neglect or fault on his part, the courts shall only adjudge him to restore a proportionate part of the advances made to him, with interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum; if it shall be proved that the short deliveries have been owing to the negligence, or other fault of the cultivator, he shall restore such proportional advance with interest, at the rate of twelve per cent per annum; if it be proved that short deliveries have originated in the cultivators having embezzled or illegally disposed of the opium, he shall be subject to the payment of a fine of four sicca rupees per seer, and the opium shall be seized and confiscated; or if it cannot be found, the court shall award a fine of ten sicca rupees per seer.

Sixth. 5*th.* The above price of the commodity is to be paid to the ryots in full, without any deduction being made by the officers of the contractor, for tulbana, batta, aret, interest, or on any other plea or pretext whatsoever, under the penalty of the contractors being subject, on proof of any such deductions or exactions, to pay a fine of three times the amount of them.

Further rules for the guidance of the courts on this subject.

LVI. First. On the 18th of May 1790, the judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut, having submitted certain queries respecting the opium contract, the resident furnished him with the following following instructions, as appearing to him consistent with the spirit of the conditions of the contract.

Second. In the event of a ryot selling the crude opium to any person excepting the contractor, such ryot, although the opium thus sold should be above or exclusive of the koot, or quantity estimated to be deliverable, under Clause Third, Section LV, is to incur a penalty of four rupees per seer in addition to the confiscation of the opium, or, if the opium cannot be seized, ten rupees per seer.

Penalty for ryots disposing of the opium otherwise than to the contractor, Third. For opium the produce of former years, sold otherwise than to the contractor, a fine of three hundred and seventy five rupees per maund is to be levied from the seller, according to the proclamation published by the Governor General in Council, on the 19th of February 1790.

Fourth. Persons buying any quantity of opium from the growers, or otherwise than from the contractors, are to be liable to the payment of a fine of three hundred and seventy five rupees per maund.

Penalty against purchases.

Fifth. These instructions were approved by the Governor General in Council on the 28th of May 1790, and were accordingly circulated for the guidance of the other courts.

LVII. On the 24th of May 1790, on a further query from the judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut, the resident informed him that the penalty for dealing in opium the produce of former years, as specified in Clause Third, Section LVI, was to extend only to the fine therein specified, and not to the confiscation of the opium. But on this answer being submitted to the Governor General in Council, he determined on the 2d of June 1790, that the opium therein described should be confiscated, in addition to the exaction of the penalty, and the several courts were advised accordingly.

Further order directing that in addition to the penalty, the confiscation shall also take place of the opium of former years produce attempted to be illicitly sold.

LVIII.

Consequences and penalty of bringing Bahar or Oude opium to Benares.

LVIII. First. On the 17th of June 1790, the resident transmitted the following answers to certain questions submitted to him by the judge of the adawlut at Ghazeepoor.

Second. That in the event of opium, the produce of the dominions of the Nawaub Vizier, being seized in the zemindarry of Benares, and the owner pleading ignorance of the regulations existing against its importation, he shall be permitted to retain it, on entering into good security, that he will not dispose of it in the zemindarry, excepting to the contractor; but that, if opium the produce of Behar should be so seized, it was to be confiscated, and the fine thereon levied according to the proclamation issued by the Governor General in Council on the 19th of February 1790.

Opium contractor to carry on suits relative to his contract, without incurring the expence of russoom or commission.

LIX. On the 17th of September 1791, a rule was passed by the resident, allowing the opium contractor to prosecute suits relative to his contract, without the payment of the russoom or commission on the amount of his claims. This rule was confirmed by the Governor General in Council on the 25th of April 1794.

Further queries from the moolky dewanny adawlut in respect to the contractor's prosecutions for embezzlements and malversations, by his servants in the opium department.

LX. First. In December 1790, the judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut reported to the resident the circumstances under which certain prosecutions had been brought by the opium contractor against his servants, for alledged frauds and embezzlements; and desired that rules might be prescribed for his guidance, as those already issued did not appear to him to apply to the cases under litigation, which were as follow. 1st, For injuring the contractor in raising, or allowing to be grown, other articles, such as gool masuffer, in the poppy grounds, to the diminution of the produce in opium. 2dly, For embezzlements, by granting false receipts for, and making false entries of deliveries of the crude opium. 3dly, For embezzlements of cash, undue detention of the contractor's money, on plea of arrears of wages. The following rules were passed respecting the above cases, on the 31st of December 1790.

Second.

Second. 1*st.* If it has always been cuſtomary to ſow gool maſuffer among the opium, and it ſhall not appear that the plaintiff prohibited this practice, the defendant is not liable to any ſpecial penalty on this account. But if the ſowing of this article be a new practice, introduced by the agent of the contractor for his own advantage, in ſuch caſe, an eſtimate is to be made of the diminution of the produce of opium thereby occaſioned, and the value of ſuch opium appretiated at the bazar or market price, is to be awarded to the plaintiff.

Penalty for diminiſhing the opium produce by unduly mixing other articles of growth in the poppy beds.

Third. 2*d.* With regard to embezzlements committed by the ſervants of the contractor by their paſſing undue receipts for and entries of opium or otherwiſe, as the regulations againſt ſmuggling did not appear to apply to ſuch frauds, the judge was inſtructed to award againſt the defaulters, a penalty equal to twice the bazar value of the opium, aſcertained to have been ſo embezzled.

For fraudulent entries and miſtated deliveries of the crude material.

Fourth. 3*d.* At the ſame time that the ſervants of the contractor are ſubjected to the above penalties, they are to be ſecured in the receipt of their full wages, whilſt in office, that is, until the period of their being replaced by their ſucceſſors, and are to be conſidered bound to render a fair and juſt account, of all ſums or advances made to them by the contractor.

Servants to be ſecured in the receipt of their wages and to render accounts.

LXI. The judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut, having applied to the reſident to know whether by the term of the bazar value in Clauſe Third, Section LX, that of the city of Benares, or the price paid by the contractors to the ryots, was to be underſtood, he was informed on the 3d of February 1791, that the opium was to be eſtimated according to its value in the bazar of Benares; this rule and that contained in Clauſe Third, Section LX, in conſideration of the various circumſtances under which theſe frauds were committed, ſo as to render one ſpecific or general penalty inapplicable to each of them, were reſcinded; and in lieu thereof, the judge was directed to award in all caſes of this deſcription, ſuch Rule as to the bazar value.

Repeal of this rule and penalties in ſuch ca-fes to be in conformity to the law of the religion of the party prosecuted.

such penalty for any fraud or frauds, or opium embezzlements, committed by the contractors servants, as by the law of the religion of the party prosecuted, might be ascertained to be equitable according to the circumstances of each case, as established on the trial.

Penalties against illicit buyers declared to be the same as against the sellers.

LXII. The judge of the moolky dewanny adawlut, in consequence of certain suits instituted in the court, having represented, that although he had been instructed respecting the penalties that were to be levied for the illicit sale of opium, yet that those against buying that article had not been fixed; he was directed on the 28th May, 1792, to adjudge the same penalties against the purchaser, as were prescribed for the seller. This order was in conformity to the proclamation issued by the Governor General in Council, under date the 4th of March 1791, which had been previously circulated to all the aumils for general information on the 9th of April 1791, and was afterwards communicated to the several courts, under date the 9th of June 1792: with instructions to cause to be paid in the instance of the purchasers therein specified, one half the fine to the informer, and the other moiety to government; but to pay to the contractor as before the whole of the fine leviable from the ryot disposing of the opium. These further instructions were approved by the Governor General in Council on the 29th of the same month and year, and by his orders of this date not only ryots embezzling or disposing of opium otherwise than to the contractor, are declared subject to the penalties specified in Clause Fifth, Section LV, and Clause Second, Section LVI, but all zemindars, talookdars, or other landholders (when not themselves the purchasers or possessors of the opium, in which case they will be subject to the same penalties as ryots carrying on an illicit traffic in opium) are to be liable to a penalty of ten rupees per seer, for all smuggled opium that may be proved to have been sold within the limits of their lands, with their connivance or knowledge.

Mode of appropriation of the penalties incurred by parties purchasing opium clandestinely.

The ſentences thus approved were directed not to be referred to the Governor General in Council, previous to their being carried into execution, excepting in caſes in which the reſident might deem ſuch reference neceſſary. No ſentences however of a capital nature, or inflicting any ſevere puniſhment, were ever confirmed by the reſident, or carried into execution by the courts, until they had been previouſly approved by the Governor General in Council, and directed by him to be enforced.

Brahmins convicted of murder to be tranſported beyond ſea.

LXIV. Firſt. It having been deemed objectionable to ſubject Brahmins within the zemindarry of Benares to capital puniſhment, for murder, or ſuch other crimes, as according to the Mahomedan law, rendered them liable to that puniſhment, the Governor General in Council, on the 8th of Octobor 1790, ordered that ſuch criminals ſhould in future be liable to be tranſported to Prince of Wales's iſland, to be kept there during the remainder of their lives. Public notice of this rule was accordingly promulgated; on the 28th of December following throughout the zemindarry; and on the 29th of November 1793, that place of tranſportation was changed by order of government for the Andamans, to which iſland, by a further order of the 6th of June 1794, all perſons who may be hereafter ſentenced to confinement for life, for murder, robbery, or theft, are declared liable to be tranſported for a ſhorter or longer period, according to the nature of the offence.

LXV. The following rule was passed by the Governor General in Council on the 29th of April 1791. That in future, where prisoners shall be sentenced by the criminal courts in the zemindarry, to lose two limbs, such punishment shall be commuted for fourteen years imprisonment and hard labor; and that in cases where prisoners shall be condemned to lose one limb, the punishment shall be commuted for imprisonment and hard labor for a period of seven years. This rule was accordingly notified to the several courts on the 10th of May following, for their information and guidance.

This rule was afterwards repeated, and extended, in a proclamation, publiſhed by the Governor General in Council on the 26th May 1790, which comprehended the following clauſes.

Prohibition againſt private ſervants appearing dreſſed like ſepoys.

Second. 1*ſt.* " All perſons, Europeans or natives, within the Company's provinces, which include the diſtrict of Benares, (excepting the vakeels from the native powers,) are poſitively forbid to dreſs any of their ſervants, either for the purpoſe of parade or of buſineſs, in the uniform of the honorable Company's ſepoys and laſcars, or in a dreſs ſo nearly approaching to that uniform, as to enable the perſons wearing it, to impoſe themſelves on the country people for ſepoys and laſcars."

Third. 2*d.* " All natives excepting thoſe actually in the military ſervice of the Company, or belonging to the vakeels of the native powers, are forbid to wear a dreſs ſimilar to that mentioned in the firſt article."

Fourth. 3*d.* " Collectors of diſtricts, chiefs of factories, commercial and ſalt agents, magiſtrates, and other Company's ſervants, in official capacities, who are allowed eſtabliſhments of peons, and pikes, or who have occaſion to employ perſons of that deſcription, are prohibited from putting them in a military dreſs."

Fifth. 4*th.* " Native officers and ſepoys, excepting ſubadars, jemadars, and ſerangs, even though in the ſervice of the Company, who may temporarily reſide, or have occaſion to travel, in the interior parts of the country, unleſs employed on the public ſervice, are forbid to wear their uniform coats."

Sixth.

Sixth. 5*th.* " By the operation of the foregoing articles, the uſe of a military dreſs will be confined to natives in the military ſervice of the Company, (or to thoſe belonging to the vakeels of the native powers,) and in the interior parts of the country, to ſuch of them only, with the exception of the commiſſioned officers, ſpecified in the fourth article, as may be employed on public duties; and to ſecure the full effect of theſe orders, the military commanding officers of ſtations, and of detachments, in the interior parts of the country, collectors of diſtricts, reſidents, and magiſtrates, are hereby veſted with authority, and are required to deprive any man of a military dreſs, who ſhall preſume to wear one contrary to theſe regulations, unleſs it ſhall appear that ſuch man is in the ſervice of the Company, in which caſe, if he be not employed upon duty, he is to be ſent to the corps to which he may belong, with a written complaint againſt him."

Seventh. 6*th.* " Military officers, or other perſons to whom eſcorts may be allowed when travelling through the country by land, or proceeding by water, are forbid to ſend ſepoys or laſcars into the villages for the purpoſe of procuring any ſorts of proviſions, or of preſſing coolies and dandies. Every town and village upon proper application to the chief perſon in it, will in conſequence of inſtructions from the ſeveral collectors to that end, furniſh ſuch aſſiſtance in the above points, as they may be capable of affording, and by that means, render forcible and violent meaſures entirely unneceſſary."

Eighth. On the 14th October 1792, the aumils were enjoined to attend to the due accommodation of travellers, whether Europeans or Aſiatics, as an eſſential part of their duty, for any failure or neglect in which, they would be held accountable.

Penalty againſt Begaree or conſtrained ſervice.

LXIX. On the ſame date, a prohibition was iſſued againſt Begaree, or the practice of individuals ſeizing, and compulſively exacting ſervice from artificers, maſons, and other workmen, or ſervants, vants under the penalty of the offenders being fined for ſuch offence, in a ſum equal to double the uſual wages of the perſon or perſons thus put under conſtraint, to whom ſuch fine is to be paid as an indemnification.

Prohibition againſt the uſe of compulſion in commercial tranſactions.

LXX. A general notification was publiſhed throughout the zemindarry, prohibiting all perſons, whether Britiſh ſubjects or natives, from having recourſe to any compulſion in carrying on trade, or forcing advances on the ſellers, or taking the goods of any ryot or trader through violence, under the plea of purchaſing them.

Diſcontinuance of fines on new ſettlers, and on the ſale of houſes in the mart of Mirzapoor.

LXXI. First. It appearing to have been cuſtomary under the native government, to levy a tax or fine on all new ſettlers, as well as to receive one fourth of the price of all houſes, ſold in the town or mart of Mirzapoor; an order was iſſued to the judge on the 20th of April 1788, to diſcontinue theſe exactions.

Nature of the tenure held by the inhabitants of the Engrezee mohullah at Mirzapoor.

Second. The mart of Mirzapoor, having encreaſed conſiderably in extent and population; an entire new and extenſive quarter has been added to it, under the name of the Engrezee mohullah. For the ground in this mohullah on which the houſes are built, bukhſheſhnamas or grants, on the payment of a ſmall fine of entry to government, were iſſued by the reſident, with the approbation of the Governor General in Council, exempting theſe tenements from all ground rent in time to come.

Prohibition againſt perſons from employing badged peons.

LXXII. On the 2d of July 1788, the Governor General in Council directed a publication to be iſſued prohibiting all perſons, (except the reſident, the rajah, and the judges,) from employing badged peons, in the management of their private affairs; and requiring the officers of government ſtationed throughout the country, to apprehend all ſuch perſons, and ſend them to the reſident, who was thereon to report the names of their employers to the Governor General in Council. Since the date of the publication, no

perſon or perſons, excepting thoſe above ſpecified, have been allowed to diſtinguiſh their peons by badges, excepting the commercial reſident, and occaſionally the opium contractor.

How French and other European ſubjects are to be proceeded againſt, if they commit any breach of the peace.

LXXIII. Under date the 12th November 1788, the Governor General in Council acquainted the reſident, in his capacity of magiſtrate at Benares, that all Europeans, not Britiſh or French ſubjects, were equally amenable with the natives to the authority of the magiſtrate, within the ſaid diſtrict, and to the juriſdiction of the foujdarry courts, and that in the event of any acts being committed by French ſubjects, which, had they been Britiſh ſubjects, would render them objects of a criminal proſecution and trial in the ſupreme court of judicature, ſuch French ſubjects were to be apprehended on information being lodged againſt them upon oath; and ſent to the preſidency, if there appeared grounds for the inſtitution of a criminal proſecution againſt them.

Proclamation iſſued againſt the exportation of ſlaves.

LXXIV. On the 7th of Auguſt 1789, the reſident publiſhed the proclamation iſſued by government on the 22d July preceding, prohibiting the purchaſing or procuring natives of either ſex, for the purpoſe of exporting them for ſale, as ſlaves, to different parts of India, or elſewhere, and declaring that all perſons, who ſhould in future be concerned directly or indirectly, in this inhuman and deteſtable traffic, ſhould be proſecuted with the utmoſt rigour in the ſupreme court at the expence of the Company; and if Britiſh born ſubjects, that they ſhould be forthwith ſent to Europe; or if ſuch perſon or perſons ſhould not be ſubject to the juriſdiction of that court, he or they, upon information being given to the local magiſtrate, ſhould be apprehended and kept in confinement, to be dealt with according to the laws of the country.

Abolition of the chunam and fire-wood monopolies.

LXXV. On the 10th November 1789, the excluſive privilege of providing chunam and fire-wood for the uſe and conſumption of the city of Benares, which had been before let in farm, was aboliſhed, and the traffic in theſe articles was rendered free.

LXXVI.

LXXVI. In consequence of the inconvenience and disputes which resulted from the same ryots cultivating lands on both sides of the line of frontier, between the district of Benares and the dominions of the Nawaub Vizier, this practice was prohibited on the 14th December 1790, and the aumils under both jurisdictions, were apprized accordingly.

Prohibition against the same ryots cultivating on either side of the borders.

LXXVII. On the same date, a circular order was addressed to the aumils throughout the zemindarry, to cause the roads and highways to be kept in a due state of repair by the zemindars, and renters of each talooka, or village, as far as such roads and highways should extend through their respective limits.

Highways to be kept in repair by the zemindars and farmers, within and throughout their respective limits.

LXXVIII. On the 23d December 1789, an engagement was entered into by the tribe of Raujekoomars, to renounce the practice which had long obtained among them, of suffering their female infants to perish under the circumstances specified in Section XIII, Regulation XXI, 1795.

Prohibition against Raujekoomars killing their children.

LXXIX. On the 2d January 1790, a circular letter was written to the aumils, requiring them to be attentive to prevent any zemindar or farmer within their limits, from constructing any new ghurry or fort, or repairing any of the existing forts, it being desirable, that the latter might gradually become unserviceable as strongholds. The aumils were at the same time instructed to endeavour to clear their several districts of the jungles and thickets, which had been in many instances purposely allowed to grow by the landholders, as places in which they might take refuge, against the regular operations of the authority of government. The clearing of these places was further necessary, as they afforded shelter to robbers and other ill disposed persons.

Prohibition against the contraction of new ghurries, or repairing those that are still standing; and jungles to be cut down.

LXXX. On the 12th March 1788, an establishment was formed for the protection of the inland trade, carried on by the Decan road to Mirzapoor. The persons appointed for that purpose have have rendered themſelves reſponſible for all robberies committed within their reſpective limits, and on the 13th March 1790, the number of guards on their eſtabliſhment was encreaſed to one hundred and thirty-nine, whoſe monthly pay is defrayed from the eſtabliſhment of the cuſtom houſe at Mirzapoor.

Rules relative to the ſtone mehal.

✝ LXXXI. Firſt. On the 25th November 1789, in conſequence of repreſentations made to him by the reſident and the commiſſary of bazars, (which laſt mentioned officer holds the excluſive management of the ſtone mehal,) the Governor General in Council ordered that the receipts from this mehal be carried to the credit of the military fund, as heretofore, but that the commiſſary ſhould not be allowed to demand a higher price for the ſtones, than that for which they were ſold previous to the year 1781.

Second. The ſtones required for the interior uſe of the country, ſuch as preſſing the ſugar cane and various domeſtic purpoſes, were directed to be continued to be furniſhed at the ſame reaſonable rates as thoſe at which the country people formerly procured them.

Third. The Governor General in Council further directed, that the duties claimed by the commanding officer at Chunar on boats paſſing the fort, were to be conſidered to have been annulled on the late general abolition of all interior impoſts, and that in future, no duties whatever were to be levied on boats and merchandiſe paſſing Chunar, either by the commanding officer or for the benefit of the military fund.

Farther rules for the ſtone mehal at Mirzapoor.

✝ LXXXII. Firſt. In conſequence of diſputes ſoon after enſuing between the farmer of the ſtone mehal, and the inhabitants of Mirzapoor, (over which place the excluſive rights of the farmer did not appear to have been before eſtabliſhed, although he had occaſionally ſold ſtones there to individuals, without however having been able to prevent other dealers from carrying on the ſame trade,) it appeared to the reſident under theſe circumſtances, that it would prove an

an adequate conſideration to the farmer, if he were thenceforth allowed the excluſive privilege of furniſhing the ſtones wanted by the inhabitants of Mirzapoor, at the prices ſpecified in the firſt and ſecond columns of the following comparative ſtatement, being thoſe which had been uſually paid for ſtones by the ſaid inhabitants, for their buildings, and other domeſtic purpoſes; and orders were accordingly paſſed at Mirzapoor on the 13th March 1790.

Second.

Second. At the ſame time, the inhabitants of Mirzapoor agreed to pay the farmer for the ſtones they might want, according to the prices in the firſt and ſecond columns of the preceding ſtatement, as being thoſe which they acknowledged to have been current previous to the year 1781.

Concurrence of the inhabitants at Mirzapoor, to purchaſe from the farmer of the ſtone mehaul accordingly.

Third. But with regard to the irregular ſhaped, and inferior deſcription of ſtones, called dhooka, which the ryots and the poor had been invariably permitted to bring from the hills on their heads, or on bullocks, or in carts, to be diſpoſed of for their own benefit, it was declared that this petty traffick ſhould continue as before altogether free, and independent of the farmer of the ſtone mehaul; and the inhabitants of the town of Mirzapoor may accordingly purchaſe theſe dhooka ſtones from the dealers.

The trade in dhooka ſtones left free.

Fourth. The hill people are not to be required to pay any duty for the ſtones of any kind, which they may want for their own uſe, and the farmer of the ſtone mehal is not to interfere with them.

Hill people at liberty to procure ſtones for their own uſe as uſual.

Fifth. To prevent any other perſon beſides the farmer of this mehaul, from exporting ſtones from Mirzapoor, it was made a rule, that ſtones exported, ſhould be accompanied by the paſs of the farmer.

Stones exported from Mirzapoor to be accompanied by the farmer's paſs.

Sixth. Stones exported from Mirzapoor, are ſtill liable, (as preſcribed by the order of the Governor General in Council, paſſed on the 14th of June 1793,) to a duty on paſſing the fort of Chunar, which is levied by the commiſſary for the benefit of the bazar, or military fund; whilſt the cuſtom houſe, and all other duties or tolls on the exportation of this article, have been aboliſhed, as referred to in Clauſe Third, Section LXXXI.

Duty leviable at Chunar on ſtones thus exported.

LXXXIII. On the 31ſt of March 1790, a reward of ten rupees was fixed for every tyger, bear, or other deſtructive and wild animal, that ſhould be killed within the zemindarry.

Reward for killing tygers, &c.

LXXXIV.

Contribution payable by the inhabitants of the city of Benares, for cleansing and repairing the drains and water courses within the city.

LXXXIV. The magistrate of the city of Benares, having reported that the drains and water courses had been usually cleansed and repaired by a behree or cess levied on the inhabitants, equivalent to the expence, the resident, on the 10th of July 1790, authorized the magistrate to make such collection for the purposes in question, as far, and in such instances, as the inhabitants should voluntarily agree to contribute their respective quotas.

Regulation to protect weavers against the impositions of the dellolls and dustoories.

LXXXV. In consequence of complaints preferred by the weavers in the sircar of Ghazeepoor, of the impositions practised on them by the dellols and dustoories, orders were issued on the 22d of March, and 22d of July 1790, notifying that the weavers throughout the four sircars, composing the zemindarry of Benares, were to be considered as having the option of carrying on their business, either through or without the interference of the above-named intermediate agents, and that they were at full liberty to bring their cloths into any bazar or market, and freely to dispose of them to the best advantage; and that no person was to presume on any pretence, to fix any price on their goods; and that they were to sell their fabrics to whomsoever they might think proper, and for such price, as they and the purchaser might mutually and voluntarily settle.

Scavenger's establishment in the city of Benares.

LXXXVI. On the 9th of August 1790, an establishment was entertained and placed under the control of the magistrate of Benares for keeping the city clean, the expence of which was defrayed from the russoom or commission authorized by Section XXIV, and XXXIV, to be levied on law suits.

Prohibition of Dhurna.

LXXXVII. The orders of the Governor General in Council under date the 2d of November 1792, prohibiting the practice of sitting dhurna, were issued as specified in Regulation XXI, 1795.

LXXXVIII. In purſuance of the order of government of the 12th of November 1792, meaſures were taken to promote the ſalubrity, and improve the police of the city of Benares, by fixing on ſeparate ſpots in the ſuburbs, for the ſhambles and liquor-ſhops, and by cutting an extenſive water-courſe, to drain the ſuperfluous waters from the back part of the town into the Burna rivulet.

Regulation reſpecting the ſhambles, and liquor ſhops, in the city of Benares.

LXXXIX. The ſeveral rules detailed in the preceding ſections, and eſpecially thoſe which relate to zemindarry claims and rights in Sections XV, XX, XXII, XXVI, XXXII, XXXIII, and XXXV, are to continue in force, with the exception of the whole or any part of ſuch rule or rules, as have been or ſhall be either expreſsly repealed, or altered by, or may be inconſiſtent with, any proviſion or proviſions in any regulation declared to extend to the province of Benares, paſſed on this date, and printed and publiſhed in the manner preſcribed in Regulation XLI, 1793, or that may be hereafter paſſed, and ſo printed and publiſhed. But with reſpect to the preſcriptions in Section XXXIII, relative to boundary diſputes, unleſs the ſeparation and annexation ſhall be clearly proved to have taken place previous to the period referred to in Clauſe Seventh, Section XXXV, or a regular decree ſhall have been ſince paſſed by ſome competent court deciding the diſpute, the courts, in future, are not to conſider the mere lapſe of time as a bar to their taking cognizance of ſuch ſuits. As far as may be practicable, the courts are to procure all ſuch diſputes to be decided by arbitration, and in the event of any part of the lands included in the pottahs for the payment of the revenue aſſeſſed on the eſtates of either of the parties at the concluſion of the permanent ſettlement in 1197, being awarded to the other, either by arbitrators, or by the courts, a proportionate part of the fixed revenue ſhall alſo become payable by the party thus acquiring the additional land, and the amount of ſuch proportion ſhall be determined agreeably to the rules preſcribed in Regulation XXVII, 1795.

Rules in the preceding ſections to operate and to have force and effect under the new ſyſtem of adminiſtration introduced into Benares, unleſs reſcinded or altered by any printed regulation, paſſed on or after this date.

Exception with reſpect to the future deciſion of boundary diſputes.

XC.

How the records of, and the causes pending in, the old courts, are to be transferred to the new.

XC. The records of the civil and criminal causes decided, and the papers and pleadings in those depending, in the courts of the city of Benares, and the towns of Ghazeepoor, Juanpoor, and Mirzapoor, and in the moolky dewanny and moolky foujdarry adawluts, are to be made over by the native judges to the British judges of the newly established courts to which they may belong, or in which they may be cognizable, according to the local jurisdiction assigned to the courts by Section IV, Regulation VII, 1795; and the native judges are to obtain receipts in duplicate for such records from the British judges respectively, and are to retain one copy of the receipts in their own possession, and to lodge the other with the provincial court of appeal, established under Regulation IX, 1795.

How the judicial records in the native languages, in the resident's office are to be disposed of.

XCI. With respect to the records in the native languages in the possession of the resident, in his capacities of judge of the court of appeal and revision for hearing appeals from the decisions of the native courts, and magistrate; the resident, or the senior of his assistants on the spot, is to deliver over the former, (with the exception of the records and papers in the causes specified in Section XCIII,) to the provincial court of appeal established by Regulation IX, 1795, and the latter, to the court of circuit instituted under Regulation XVI, 1795. The register to these courts, is to grant duplicate receipts for such records as shall be thus transferred, of which, one copy is to be transmitted to the register to the sudder dewanny adawlut, and the other, to the register to the nizamut adawlut.

How the civil suits depending, and subjects of criminal prosecution, are, after the transfer of the records thereof to the new courts, to be proceeded with.

XCII. Upon this transfer of the records, the causes depending, whether civil or criminal, are to be proceeded with by the new courts, according to the regulations passed on this date, or which may be hereafter passed, and printed and published in the manner prescribed in Regulation XLI, 1793. All proceedings held in the former courts, on each undetermined suit or prosecution, are to be preserved, and to make part of the record in such suits and prosecutions, and are to be allowed their full weight in the decision and judgement, judgement, as far as they shall appear to be consistent with the rules then in force for the administration of justice, as contained in the several sections of this regulation.

In what manner undecided causes depending in the court of appeal and revision, superintended by the resident, are to be disposed of; and when they are to be heard and decided.

XCIII. Causes depending and undecided in the court of appeal and revision superintended by the late resident, are to be transferred by him, or by his senior assistant on the spot, together with all the records and pleadings relative thereto, (for which duplicate receipts are to be given and disposed of as prescribed with regard to the papers alluded to in Section XCI,) to the judges of the newly established courts of adawlut in which they may be cognizable, according to the local jurisdiction assigned to the several courts by Section IV, Regulation VII, 1795, and the judges shall revise these causes, on the same principles, as under the rules in this regulation, the resident would have heard them in appeal. If the revising judge shall think the proof or proceedings on either side defective, he is to call on the parties to supply the defects, and after making such further enquiry as he shall deem necessary, he is to confirm, alter, or reverse the decree of the native court, as may appear to him equitable. From any such decree of the revising judge, an appeal is to lie to the provincial court of appeal, under Regulation V, 1793, and Regulation IX, 1795, and eventually to the sudder dewanny adawlut, (if the cause shall be cognizable by that court,) under Regulation VI, 1793, and Regulation X, 1795.

When the hearing of such undecided causes in appeal, are to be proceeded with.

XCIV. The British judges are to proceed to the hearing of the appealed causes alluded to in Section XCIII, on days to be specially appointed for that purpose, of which due notice is to be given to the litigating parties, that they or their authorized vakeels may attend; and separate reports are to be made of the decisions passed by the judges on these appealed causes, in the form prescribed in Section XI, and XII, Regulation XVIII, 1793, extended to the province of Benares, by Regulation XVIII, 1795.

What reports are to be made in respect to them.

XCV.

What description of undecided causes in appeal from the native courts, may be referred to arbitration.

XCV. With respect to such of the abovementioned undecided causes in appeal, as may be of the nature of the suits described in Section II, Regulation XVI, 1793, extended to the province of Benares by Regulation XV, 1795, the judges, without regard to their amount, are to recommend to the parties to submit the same to arbitration, either with or without reference to the record of the first trial in the native court, as the parties may agree on; and the said judges are respectively empowered, with the consent of the parties, thus to refer the decision of such undecided causes in appeal to one or more arbitrators, and to pass a decree conformably to the award, subject to all the rules relative to awards, contained in Regulation XVI, 1793.

What part of these depending causes in appeal, may be revised and decided on by the register of the city court of Benares.

XCVI. As the greater number of the undecided causes in appeal, under the operation of the rule contained in Section XCIII, will be transferred to the court of the city of Benares, the judge of this court, is therefore empowered to authorize the register to try and decide, in like manner as he might himself, all or any of the appealed causes in question, where the amount or value of the thing contested shall not exceed the sum of one thousand sicca rupees. The decrees which may be passed by the register in such cases, are to be attested with his signature and the seal of the court, and an appeal is to lie from them to the provincial court of appeal, in the same manner as if they had been revised and decided by the judge.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XXIII.

A REGULATION declaratory of certain reſervations made by government, and of rights preſerved to the proprietors of landed eſtates, under the permanent ſettlement of the land revenue made in the province of Benares; for allowing of the transfer or diviſion of entire eſtates, or portions of eſtates, and preſcribing rules for apportioning the fixed jumma on the ſeveral ſhares of eſtates which may be divided, or portions of eſtates which may be transferred; and for continuing the putwarries in the diſcharge of their antient functions.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council on the 27th March, 1795; correſponding with the 16th Chyte 1201 Bengal era; the 21ſt Chyte 1202 Fuſſily; the 16th Chyte 1202 Willaity; the 21ſt Chyte 1852 Sumbut; and the 5th Ramzaan 1209 Higeree.

REGULATIONS I, and II, 1795, contain the rules according to which the ſettlement of the land revenue in the province of Benares, made for one year, and the quartennial and decennial cennial settlements were concluded. By the first mentioned regulation, the decennial settlement, has been declared permanent, and for the information and guidance of the talookdars, zemindars, and other actual proprietors of land, and all persons whomsoever, the following further rules respecting the permanent settlement are enacted.

Jumma which may be hereafter agreed to by proprietors whose lands are held amany, or let in farm, declared fixed for ever.

II. As the lands of some few zemindars, and other actual proprietors of land, may have been continued amany, or let in farm, in consequence of their refusing to pay the assessment required of them, under the regulations for the quartennial and decennial settlements; the Governor General in Council notifies to the talookdars, zemindars, and other actual proprietors of land, whose lands are held amany, that they shall be restored to the management of their lands, upon their agreeing to the payment of the assessment which has been or may be required of them, in conformity to the regulations abovementioned, and that no alteration shall afterwards be made in that assessment, but that they, and their heirs, and lawful successors, shall be permitted to hold their respective estates at such assessment, for ever; and he declares to the talookdars, zemindars, and other actual proprietors of land, whose lands have been let in farm, that they shall not regain possession of their lands before the expiration of the period for which they have been farmed, (unless the farmers shall voluntarily consent to make over to them the remaining term of their leases, and the Governor General in Council, shall approve of the transfer,) but that at the expiration of that period, or in the event of any such farmer, or farmers, forfeiting his or their leases by falling in arrear, or otherwise, such proprietors of land shall be reinstated, on their agreeing to the payment of the assessment which may be required of them, or, (according to the nature of the case,) to the conditions with respect to the arrear that may be due, as specified in Clause First, Section XVIII, Regulation VI, 1795, and no alteration shall afterwards be made in the said fixed annual assessment, but such proprietors of land, and their heirs, and lawful successors, shall be allowed to hold their respective estates at such assessment, for ever.

III. In

III. In the event of the proprietary right in lands, that are or may become the property of government, being transferred to individuals; such individuals, and their heirs, and lawful successors, shall be permitted to hold the lands at the assessment at which they may be transferred, for ever.

Jumma at which lands belonging to government may be transferred to individuals, declared fixed for ever.

IV. First. The Governor General in Council trusts that the proprietors of land, sensible of the benefits conferred upon them by the public assessment being fixed for ever, will exert themselves in the cultivation of their lands, under the certainty, that they will enjoy exclusively the fruits of their own good management and industry, and that no demand will ever be made upon them, or their heirs, or successors, by the present, or any future government, for an augmentation of the public assessment, in consequence of the improvement of their respective estates.

Proprietors expected to improve their estates, in consequence of the profits being secured to them.

Second. To discharge the revenue at the stipulated periods, without delay or evasion, and to conduct themselves with good faith and moderation towards their putteedars, under renters, and ryots, are duties at all times indispensably required by government from the proprietors from whom the revenue is immediately receivable; and a strict observance of those duties is now more than ever incumbent upon them, in return for the benefits which they will themselves derive from the orders now issued. The Governor General in Council therefore expects, that the aforesaid proprietors of land, will not only act in this manner themselves towards their putteedars, under renters, and ryots, but also enjoin the strictest adherence to the same principles, in the persons whom they may appoint to collect the rents from them, in whatever instances there may be occasion for such delegation of trust.

Conduct to be observed by the proprietors of land towards their putteedars, under renters, and ryots.

V. First. It being the duty of the ruling power to protect all classes of people, and more particularly those who from situation are most helpless; the Governor General in Council, whenever he may deem it proper, will enact such regulations as he may think

Government to enact such regulations as they may think necessary for the welfare of the putteedars, under rent-ters, ryots, and cultivators; and proprietors not to withhold the revenue on that account.

think necessary for the protection and welfare of the putteedars, under renters, ryots, and other cultivators of the soil, and no talookdar, zemindar, or other proprietor of land, shall be entitled on this account, to make any objection to the discharge of the fixed assessment, which they may have respectively agreed to pay.

All internal duties that may be hereafter established, to belong exclusively to government.

Second. The Governor General in Council having, on the 26th December 1787, directed the sayer collections to be abolished, and a subsequent settlement having been made with the proprietors of land, exclusive of the articles of collection given up by that abolition; he now declares, that if he shall hereafter think it proper to re-establish the sayer collections, or any other internal duties, and to appoint officers on the part of government to collect them, no proprietor of land will be admitted to any participation thereof, or be entitled to make any claims for remissions of assessment, on that account.

Jumma that may be assessed on alienated lands held under invalid titles, to belong exclusively to government.

Third. The Governor General in Council will impose such assessment as he may deem equitable, on all lands at present alienated, and paying no public revenue, which have been or may be proved, to be held under illegal or invalid titles. The assessment so imposed, will belong to government, and no proprietor of land will be entitled to any part of it.

Police lands eventually resumable by government.

Fourth. The jumma of those zemindars, talookdars, and other actual proprietors of land, which is declared fixed in the foregoing articles, is to be considered entirely unconnected with, and exclusive of, the produce of any lands set apart for the maintenance of pheris, passees, ghorites, or other description of watchmen, employed in services of police; and the Governor General in Council reserves to himself the option of resuming the whole or part of the produce of such lands, should he at any time hereafter think fit to exonerate the proprietors of the land from being responsible for the peace, and to appoint officers on the part of government, government, to perform the duties relating to the police now required from them. The Governor General in Council however declares, that the produce of lands which may in that case be resumed, will be appropriated to no other purpose but that of defraying the expence of the police, or providing a maintenance for the pheris, pasees, ghorites, or other description of watchmen, employed therein.

Allowances that may be so resumed, not to be added to the jumma, but to be collected separately, and applied solely to the police.

Fifth. Nothing in this or any other regulation, shall be construed to render the lands, of which there are dispossessed proprietors, liable to sale, for any arrears which have accrued, or may accrue, on the jumma that has been or may be assessed upon their lands, under the regulations for the quartennial and decennial settlements, provided that such arrears have accrued, or may accrue, during the time that they have been, or may be, dispossessed of the management of their lands. It is to be understood however, that whenever all or any of the descriptions of dispossessed landholders, shall be permitted to assume or retain the management of their lands, in consequence of the ground of their dispossession no longer existing, or of the Governor General in Council dispensing with, altering, or abolishing those regulations, the lands of such proprietors, will be held responsible for the payment of the jumma that has been or may be assessed upon them in perpetuity, from the time that the management may devolve upon them.

Estates of dispossessed proprietors, not liable to sale for arrears of assessment, accruing whilst they are deprived of the management of them.

VI. That no doubt may be entertained, whether proprietors of of land are entitled under the existing regulations, to dispose of their estates without the previous sanction of government, the Governor General in Council notifies to the talookdars, zemindars, and other actual proprietors of land, that they are privileged to transfer to whomsoever they may think proper, by sale, gift, or otherwise, their proprietary right in the whole, or any portion of their respective estates, without applying to government for its sanction to the transfer; and that all such transfers will be held valid, provided that they be conformable to the Mahomedan or Hindoo laws, (according as the religious persuasions of the party

Provided the transfer be conformable to law, and not contrary to any existing regulation.

or parties making ſuch transfer, may render the validity of it determinable by the former or the latter code,) and that they be not repugnant to any regulations now in force, which have been paſſed by the Britiſh adminiſtrations, or to any regulations that they may hereafter enact.

Rules for apportioning the fixed jumma on portions of eſtates, in the event of their being diſpoſed of at public ſale, or transferred by the proprietors, and on ſhares of eſtates divided amongſt the joint proprietors, upon the transfer or diviſion being notified to the collector, or other preſcribed officer; and the jumma ſo adjuſted, declared fixed for ever.

VII. From the limitation of the public demand upon the lands, the neat income, and conſequently the value, (independent of encreaſe of rent obtainable by improvements,) of any landed property, for the aſſeſſment on which a diſtinct engagement has been or may be entered into between government and the proprietor, or that may be ſeparately aſſeſſed, although included in one engagement, with other eſtates belonging to the ſame proprietor, and which may be offered for public or private ſale entire, will always be aſcertainable, by a compariſon of the amount of the fixed jumma aſſeſſed upon it, (which agreeably to the foregoing declarations, is to remain unalterable for ever, to whomſoever the property may be transferred,) with the whole of its produce, allowing for the charges of management. But it is alſo eſſential, that a notification ſhould be made of the principles upon which the fixed aſſeſſment charged upon any ſuch eſtate, will be apportioned on the ſeveral diviſions of it, in the event of the whole of it being transferred by public or private ſale, or otherwiſe, in two or more lots, or of a portion of it being transferred in one or in two or more lots, or of its being joint property, and a diviſion of it being made among the proprietors; otherwiſe, from the want of a declared rule for eſtimating the proportion of the fixed jumma, with which the ſeveral ſhares would be chargeable in ſuch caſes, the real value of each ſhare would be uncertain, and conſequently the benefits expected to reſult from fixing the public aſſeſſment upon the lands, would be but partially obtained. The Governor General in Council, has accordingly preſcribed the following rules for apportioning the fixed aſſeſſment in the ſeveral caſes abovementioned; but as government might ſuſtain a conſiderable loſs of revenue by diſproportionate allotments of the aſſeſſment, were the apportioning of it in any of the cases above specified, to be left to the proprietors, he requires that all such transfers or divisions as may be made by the private act of the parties themselves, be notified to the collector of the revenue, or such other officer as government may in future prescribe, in order that the fixed jumma assessed upon the whole estate, may be apportioned on the several shares in the manner hereafter directed, and that the names of the proprietors of each share, and the jumma charged thereon, may be entered upon the public registers, and that separate engagements for the payment of the jumma assessed upon each share, may be executed by the proprietors, who will thenceforward be considered as actual proprietors of land. And the Governor General in Council declares, that if the parties to such transfers or divisions, shall omit to notify them to the collector of the revenue of the province, or such other officers as may be hereafter prescribed, for the purposes beforementioned, the whole of such estate will be held responsible to government for the discharge of the fixed jumma assessed upon it, in the same manner as if no such transfer or division had ever taken place.

First. In the event of the whole of the lands of a zemindar, talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been or may be concluded, under the regulations abovementioned, being exposed to public sale by order of the Governor General in Council, for the discharge of arrears of assessment, or in consequence of the decision of a court of justice, in two or more lots, the assessment upon each lot, shall be fixed at an amount which shall bear the same proportion to its actual produce, as the fixed assessment upon the whole of the lands sold, may bear to the whole of their actual produce. This produce, shall be ascertained in the mode that is or may be prescribed by the existing regulations, or such other regulations, as the Governor General in Council may hereafter adopt, and the purchaser or purchasers of such lands, and his, or her, or their heirs. and lawful successors, shall hold them at the jumma at which they may be so purchased, for ever.

Second. When a portion of the lands of a talookdar, zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been, or may be concluded, under the regulations beforementioned, shall be exposed to public sale by order of the Governor General in Council, for the liquidation of arrears of assessment, or pursuant to the decision of a court of justice, the assessment upon such lands, if disposed of in one lot, shall be fixed at an amount, which shall bear the same proportion to their actual produce, as the fixed assessment upon the whole of the lands of such proprietor, including those disposed of, may bear to the whole of their actual produce. If the lands sold shall be disposed of in two or more lots, the assessment upon each lot shall be fixed at an amount, which shall bear the same proportion to its actual produce, as the fixed assessment upon the whole of the lands of such proprietor, including those sold, may bear to the whole of their actual produce. The actual produce of the whole of the lands of such proprietor, whether the portion of them which may be sold, be disposed of in one lot, or in two or more lots, shall be ascertained in the mode that is or may be prescribed by the existing regulations, or such other regulations as the Governor General in Council may hereafter enact, and the purchaser or purchasers of such lands, and his, or her, or their heirs, or successors, will be allowed to hold them at the jumma at which they may be so purchased, for ever; and the remainder of the public jumma, which will consequently be payable by the former proprietor of the whole estate, on account of the portion of it that may be left in his, or her, or their possession, will continue unalterable, for ever.

Third. When a talookdar, zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, with or on behalf of whom a settlement has been or may be concluded, shall transfer the whole of his or her estate, in two or more distinct portions, to two or more persons, or a portion tion thereof, to one perſon, or to two or more perſons, in joint property, by private ſale, gift, or otherwiſe; the aſſeſſment upon each diſtinct portion of ſuch eſtate ſo transferred, ſhall be fixed at an amount, which ſhall bear the ſame proportion to its actual produce, as the aſſeſſment upon the whole of the eſtate of the tranſferring proprietor of which the whole or a portion may be ſo transferred, may bear to the whole of its actual produce. This produce ſhall be aſcertained in the mode that is or may be preſcribed in the exiſting regulations, or ſuch other regulations as government may hereafter adopt, and the perſon or perſons to whom ſuch lands may be transferred, and his, or her, or their heirs, and lawful ſucceſſors, ſhall hold them at the jumma at which they may be transferred, for ever; and where only a portion of ſuch eſtate ſhall be transferred, the amount of the remainder of the public jumma, which will conſequently be payable by the former proprietor of the whole eſtate on account of the lands that may remain in his or her poſſeſſion, ſhall be continued unalterable for ever.

Fourth. Whenever a diviſion ſhall be made of lands, the ſettlement of which has been or may be concluded with or on behalf of the proprietor or proprietors, and that are or may become the joint property of two or more perſons, the aſſeſſment upon each ſhare, ſhall be fixed at an amount, which ſhall bear the ſame proportion to its actual produce, as the fixed jumma aſſeſſed upon the whole of the eſtate divided, may bear to the whole of its actual produce. This produce ſhall be aſcertained in the mode that is, or may be preſcribed by the exiſting regulations, or ſuch other regulations as the Governor General in Council may hereafter adopt, and the ſharers, and their heirs, and lawful ſucceſſors, ſhall hold their reſpective ſhares at the jumma which may be ſo aſſeſſed upon them, for ever.

VIII. Nothing in this or any other regulation, paſſed previous to, or on, this date, ſhall be conſtrued to authorize the public ſale of the lands in any talookdarry, or zemindarry, whilſt the party or

II, 1795, not to be liable to be disposed of at public sale.

or parties, claiming the same as the antient proprietors, continue to stand excluded under the limitation specified in Section XII, Regulation II, 1795; or until by the operation of the repeal of that limitation under Section III, Regulation I, 1795, or in pursuance of the consequent provision in Section XVIII, Regulation VI, 1795, or some other consonant rule, made, or that shall hereafter be made, in consequence of the said repeal, such party or parties, shall have been restored to the management of the revenue of his or their respective talookdarries, or zemindarries.

Rules regarding putwarries.

IX. First The annual revenue to be paid to government from the estates of the proprietors of land, with whom a settlement has been or may be concluded, having been declared fixed for ever; and courts of justice having been established, with powers to protect them against all demands exceeding that fixed revenue, whether made by the officers of government, or other persons, or by the authority of government itself; and on the other hand, the grounds on which deductions and abatements were heretofore occasionally obtained by proprietors of estates, when their jumma was liable to frequent variation, no longer existing; neither their rights, nor the value of their property, can be affected in future, by the real produce of their estates being known. The rules therefore hereafter prescribed regarding putwarries, which are framed solely to facilitate the decision of suits in the courts of judicature, between proprietors and farmers of lands, and persons paying rent or revenue to them, and to guard against any diminution of the fixed revenue of government, or injustice to individuals, by enabling the collectors to procure the necessary information and accounts, for allotting the public jumma upon estates that may be divided, agreeably to the principles prescribed in this regulation, can be objected to by those proprietors only, who may have it in contemplation, in the event of the division or transfer of a portion of their estates, to deprive government of a part of the fixed revenue, or defraud some of the partners in their estates, by obtaining a disproportionate allotment of the public assessment on the several shares, or to oppress

the persons paying rent or revenue to them with impunity, by withholding from the courts of justice the documents necessary to enable them to afford redress to the complainants. It being essential to the security of the public revenue, as well as of private rights and property, and at the same time consistent with the antient usages of the country, that means should be devised for counteracting all or any of such unjustifiable views either in proprietors or farmers, the following rules have been adopted.

Second. Every proprietor or farmer of land, who may not have established a putwarry in each village in his or her estate or farm, to keep the accounts of the ryots, shall immediately appoint a putwarry in each village for that purpose. All proprietors or farmers of estates, are to deposit in the dewanny adawlut, in the jurisdiction of which the land may be situated, the collector's cutcherry, and the principal cutcherry in each mohal or purgunnah, a list of the putwarries in their respective estates or farms, and the names of the villages, the accounts of which they may be severally appointed to keep. The proprietors and farmers, are to notify every three months to the court, and the collector, all vacancies that may occur, and the names of the persons whom they may appoint to fill them. The board of revenue, are empowered to authorize any proprietor or farmer to reduce the number of putwarries, in such proportion as they may think proper, in cases in which it may appear to them unnecessary to entertain a separate putwarry for each village.

Proprietors and farmers, to appoint a putwarry, to keep the accounts in each village.

Board of revenue may authorize proprietors and farmers to reduce the number of putwarries.

Third. The putwarries in every estate, are to produce all accounts relating to the lands, produce, collections, and charges, of the village or villages, the accounts of which may be kept by them respectively, and to furnish every information and explanation that may be required regarding them, whenever they may be demanded by any court of justice, to adjust any suit that may be depending before the court, between the proprietor or farmer of the estate, and the ryots, or any persons, paying rent or revenue to them, or any other suit.

Putwarries to produce all accounts required by the courts of judicature, and also for the allotment of the public revenue in the cases herein specified, when required by the collector.

Fourth. The putwarries in each estate, shall also produce the accounts specified in the preceding clause, and furnish every explanation and information that may be required respecting them, for the allotment of the public revenue, agreeably to the principles laid down in this regulation, in the event of the whole or any portion of the estate being directed to be disposed of at public sale, or being transferred by any private act of the proprietor or proprietors, or of the estate being ordered to be divided pursuant to a decree of a court of judicature, or, where it may be a joint estate, in consequence of the request of one or more of the proprietors. But the collector is not to require a putwarry to attend him and produce his accounts, but for the purposes abovementioned, or in any other cases in which he may be expressly empowered to require them, by any regulation, printed and published in the manner directed in Regulation XLI, 1793, extended to Benares by Regulation I, 1795; and, if the collector shall require the putwarry of any village or villages, to attend him and produce the village accounts for purposes, or, in cases, in which he may not be authorized to inspect them, the court of dewanny adawlut, upon the circumstances being represented to it by the proprietor or farmer of the estate, is empowered to make an order to prohibit the collector requiring the accounts, and in the event of his repeating the requisition, to adjudge him to pay a fine to the proprietor or farmer of the estate, of such sum as to the court may appear proper, and to levy the fine in the mode in which the courts are empowered to levy fines from the collectors, in the suits described in Section XXXIX, Regulation VI, 1795.

Cases in which the collector is prohibited requiring accounts from putwarries, and penalty for breach of the prohibition.

How the collector and the courts, are to compel the attendance of putwarries.

Fifth. When a collector shall require the attendance of a putwarry for the examination of his accounts, either before him, or any officer whom he may depute for the purpose, he is to serve such putwarry with a written notice, under his official seal and signature, to attend with the accounts required, which are to be particularized in the notice. If he shall omit to attend with the accounts by the limited time, and shall not show good cause to the collector for the omission, the collector is authorized to represent the circumstances, through the vakeel of government, to the court of dewanny adawlut of the zillah, the judge of which, provided there shall appear to him sufficient cause for so doing, may order such putwarry to be committed to close custody until he produces the accounts. A. D. 1795. REGULATION XXXII.

A REGULATION for enacting into a regulation, the terms of the contract concluded for the provision of Opium on account of government in the province of Benares, from the 1st September 1793, to the 31st August 1797, and for preventing illicit trade in that article.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council on the 27th March 1795, corresponding with the 16th Chyte 1201 Bengal era; the 21st Chyte 1202 Fussily; the 16th Chyte 1202 Willaity; the 21st Chyte 1852 Sumbut; and the 5th Ramzaan 1209 Higeree.

IN adjusting the terms of the contract for the provision of opium in the province of Benares, it was the object of government, as in settling the terms of the contracts in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, to prevent this source of public revenue operating as an oppression on the ryots, by depriving the contractors of the power of compelling any person to cultivate the poppy, and by ensuring to those who might voluntarily enter into engagements for that purpose, the full price of the quantity of opium which they might deliver. It was at the same time necessary, that provisions should be made to guard against the contractors being defrauded by the cultivators, and alſo for preventing illicit traffic in opium, the terms of the contract as publiſhed on the 26th April 1793, and the proviſions above alluded to, are hereby enacted into a regulation.

Three chests of approved Benares opium, of the years from the supplies of which the musters are to be taken, will be deposited at the office of the board of trade, as a standard for ascertaining the quality of the opium delivered. The deliveries shall be compared with the musters by one of the members of the hospital board, and a person appointed by the board of trade, and any disputes that may arise between the officers of government, and the contractors, regarding the quality of the opium, are to be determined by three creditable persons to be appointed by government, who shall be bound by oath to decide impartially.

When the poppy ſhall be full grown, the contractors are then to depute their agent, who with the cultivator, ſhall proceed into the field, and with the aſſiſtance of two or three other creditable cultivators, form the eſtimate of what ſuch field is to produce; whereupon the grower ſhall enter into an engagement to deliver ſo much, and ſhould the field produce more, to deliver that alſo, pro rato.

Fourteenth.

How losses in the produce are to be enquired into.

Fourteenth. 13*th.* In the event of the crops being injured by hail, or any other calamity of season, either previous or subsequent to the period when the estimate of the produce directed to be formed in the preceding article, shall have been completed, the resident, or the local agent of government for the time being, is upon application being made to him by the contractors (within five days after such calamity shall have happened,) to depute an aumeen to ascertain, in conjunction with the agents of the contractors and the ryots, the actual extent of the loss occasioned thereby. The contractors, or their agents, making use of weights or scales not so sealed, or of uneven scales, or deficient weights, although sealed, are to be liable to such fine as the resident, or the local agent of government for the time being, may think proper to impose. In weighing the opium, the scales are not to be held up in the hands of the dundeedars, or native weighmen, but the opium is to be weighed in the presence of both parties, in the mode known under the denomination of dherm dundee, (or fair and conscientious weighing,) by the scales being poized on a wooden stand, fixed in the earth.

Eighteenth. If the contractors suspect or believe the cause of failure, to be in the wilful neglect or embezzlement of the ryot, they are to complain to the judicial power, that is to the adawluts, or directly to the resident, and upon proof of its being owing to neglect, the judge or resident is to award, that the ryot shall restore the proportional advance, with interest at the rate of twelve per cent per annum; and if from embezzlement, or otherwise disposing of it, the resident or judge is to punish such offence, by imposing a fine of four sicca rupees per seer, and confiscating the opium, if it can be seized, and where it cannot be seized, by imposing a fine of ten sicca rupees per seer, to be levied by the mode of process laid down in the judicial regulations for the enforcement of decrees.

In case of short delivery proceeding from the fault of the ryot.

Nineteenth. The ryot is to be liable to no penalty for breach of contract, (unless in the case of embezzlement,) where it shall not appear and be proved, that he had in his hands, at the period of the failure, unliquidated advances from the contractors; but where he wilfully embezzles the crude material, by selling it to others, although without having at such time any advances of the contractors in his hands, the contractors are to complain against him to the resident, or the court of adawlut of the district in which such person shall reside, and the resident or judge shall punish such offence in the mode pointed out in Clause Eighteenth.

Exceptions and qualifications, in respect to the ryots having at the time unliquidated advances from the contractors.

Twentieth. Where the ryot mixes water with the crude material, with a view to encrease the weight of it, and brings it in that state to be delivered, the contractors, or their agents, shall appoint two or more head and creditable opium growers, to decide on their dherm or conscience, what surplus quantity shall be taken

Twenty-firſt. Where the crude material ſhall be delivered in by the growers in an adulterated ſtate, by the admixture of foreign ingredients, (excluſive of the water noticed in the preceding article,) the contractors are immediately to ſeize on, and declare the ſame confiſcated, ſealing it up at the ſame time in the ryots preſence, and under his mark, depoſiting it alſo in a ſecure and ſeparate place, and leaving the ryot to have recourſe againſt him to the judicial power; for which purpoſe, they are to keep the ſaid opium thus ſealed up for three weeks, and if in that time the ryot lodge not his complaint, it ſhall not be afterwards heard, but the contractors may then open the ſaid opium, and ſell it for their own advantage for local conſumption, they being liable however to ſuch fine as government may think proper to impoſe, ſhould it ever be proved that they had made up any part of ſuch adulterated and condemned opium, in that which they were to deliver to the Company.

Prohibition and penalty in caſe of the contractors or their agents, levying or receiving, any premium, aret, or duſtoor, from the queyrees or opium ryots.

Twenty-ſecond. The contractors, or their agents, officers, and ſervants, of every deſcription, are poſitively prohibited from collecting any fee, premium, aret, or duſtoor, on their engagements with the queyrees or opium ryots, on pain of paying three times the amount of all ſuch exactions, or receipts, together with the complainants coſts of ſuit, to be eſtimated by the judge, on proof before the court, which fine is to be levied by the courts, not from the native receivers, but from the contractors, or from their chief agent on the ſpot, leaving them to ſettle with their inferior agents thus offending; and the whole amount of this penalty, together ith the coſts of ſuit as above ſpecified, are to be awarded by the judge to the party from whom the exaction was made.

Twenty-third.

Twenty-third. The contractors are to be amenable to the courts of justice, in all matters relating to their contract. The contractors or their agents, and the opium cultivators, during the existence of the late office of resident, had the option of lodging their complaints in the first instance before the native judges of the mofussil courts, or immediately before the resident, and complaints preferred in the native courts, were appealable to the resident, and complaints lodged before the resident, were appealable to the Governor General in Council, provided the amount of the suit was not less than the sum limited by the regulations respecting appeals. But from the period of the abolition of the office of resident, (in which were united the authorities of collector of the revenue, and of judge of the court of appeal from the native judicatures then established,) the contractors and ryots, are to make their applications in the manner prescribed by the regulations for the administration of justice in the province of Benares.

Course in which causes cognizable by the courts of justice under this regulation, are to be tried according to the rules in force during the existence, and since the abolition of, the general office of resident.

III. All British subjects, detected in acting contrary to the regulations of government, limiting the provision and manufacture of opium to the public contractors, upon proof of the offence, shall forfeit the Company's protection, and be sent to Europe; and any native guilty of the same offence, upon proof thereof being established in any of the courts of dewanny adawlut, shall be subject to a fine of three hundred and twenty-five Benares sicca rupees per maund, for every maund of opium which he may be convicted of having illegally provided, one half to be paid to the informer, and the other half to government.

Penalty enacted against Europeans acting contrary to this regulation, in illicitly manufacturing or buying opium.

IV. All persons not European British subjects, who may be proved to have purchased smuggled opium, or in whose possession smuggled opium may be found, shall be liable to the same fines as are imposed on ryots, selling, or embezzling opium; viz. four sicca rupees per seer, in addition to the confiscation of the opium, when it can be seized, and when it cannot be seized, ten sicca rupees per ſeer, recoverable in the dewanny adawlut by the proceſs laid down in the judicial regulations. Such fines, as well as the neat proceeds of the opium confiſcated, are to be paid, half to the informer, and half to government; and all zemindars, talookdars, or other landholders, (when not themſelves the purchaſers or poſſeſſors of the opium, in which caſe they will be ſubject to the fines abovementioned,) ſhall be liable to the like penalty of ten ſicca rupees per ſeer, recoverable and payable as aforeſaid, for all ſmuggled opium, which may be proved to have been ſold within the limits of their lands, with their connivance, or knowledge.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XXXIII.

A REGULATION for enacting into a regulation, the rules passed relative to the cultivation and manufacture of indigo, on behalf of, or, by, natural born British subjects, and other Europeans, having the permission of Government to reside in the province of Benares.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 27th March 1795; corresponding with the 16th Chyte 1201 Bengal era; the 21st Chyte 1202 Fussily; the 16th Chyte 1202 Willaity; the 21st Chyte 1852 Sumbut; and the 5th Ramzaan 1209 Higeree.

IT has long been an established rule, that no European shall hold lands in the interior parts of the country without the express permission of Government; and an adherence to this rule, was considered particularly necessary in the province of Benares, where the reasons on which it is founded, apply with additional force. Accordingly, when Government were first informed that the two first projectors of works for the manufacture of indigo in in that province, had, for the purpose of facilitating the raising of the plant, farmed one or more talooks, the resident was immediately directed to dispossess them of such farm or farms; but in consideration of the heavy expence which they had incurred, and as it was presumed that the extension and cultivation of indigo, under proper regulations, might prove beneficial to the country at large, they were permitted in the beginning of 1790, to continue their manufacture, and to make advances to such ryots as might be willing to cultivate, and furnish them with the indigo plant, as well as to hold land upon pottah from the zemindars and farmers, in the same manner as other ryots, for the purpose of cultivating the plant themselves. This special permission granted in consideration of the peculiar circumstances of these two manufacturers, and who had also entered on the business with the permission of Government, was afterwards erroneously construed as extending to all Europeans who might undertake the cultivation or manufacture of indigo in the province of Benares. Accordingly, between the last mentioned period, and the beginning of the year 1794, sundry other British subjects, obtained and held grounds for the cultivation of indigo, without the knowledge or sanction of Government. The inconveniencies and evils which arose in consequence, at length attracted the attention of Government, and on the 7th of March 1794, the Governor General in Council ordered, that Europeans should not be allowed to acquire any landed property in Benares, exceeding what might be sufficient for the erection of houses or buildings for carrying on manufactures, nor be competent to hold a greater extent of land upon lease, than might be sufficient for the same purposes. This order affecting materially the interests of the indigo planters who had established themselves in the province without the sanction of Government, they presented a memorial to the Governor General in Council setting forth the circumstances of their situation. Although the leases which they had procured for ground for the cultivation of the indigo plant, from having been obtained without the permission and sanction of Government, were liable to immediate resumption, the Governor General in Council, on the supposition that many of these individuals, from not being prohibited in the first instance from holding the lands, might have been induced to believe that they were not deviating from public regulations; and adverting also to the heavy loss which they might have sustained, had they been compelled to relinquish the lands immediately; resolved on the 23d of May 1794, to allow them the term hereafter specified for reaping the full benefit of any lands that they might have actually sown with indigo, and for enabling them to make the necessary arrangements with the ryots or other individuals to furnish them with the weed, in the same manner as it is procured by the planters in Bengal. These rules, with the subsequent additions made to them, are now enacted into a regulation.

Prohibition of farther leases of land to Europeans.

II. Conformably to the restrictions alluded to in the preamble to this regulation, on the 20th March 1794, a circular order was issued to the aumils forbidding any more ground to be leased to natural born British subjects, or to other Europeans, or conveyed to them by sale, or otherwise, without the sanction of Government to be first had and obtained; and (lest the natives should misconstrue, and any of them make an improper use of, this regulation,) it was at the same time ordered, that the Europeans were not to be dispossessed of what ground they now occupied without the resident's sanction, and to enable him to pass his determination in all such cases, an account was ordered to be prepared of all such lands in the occupancy of Europeans.

Prohibition against receiving the public revenue through Europeans.

III. On the 22d of March 1795, the resident notified to all the aumils by a circular order, that as it was contrary to the intentions of Government that any part of the public revenue should be paid, (excepting in aumany villages) through the medium of any Europeans, either for the ground in which they cultivated the indigo, or on any other account, they (the aumils) were prohibited from receiving the revenue through any other channel than that of the native zemindars, or farmers, holding pottahs from Government, leaving it to them to settle with those who were indigo planters, according to the existing engagements between the parties.

IV. First. On the grounds set forth in the preamble to this regulation, and with a view to obviate or provide against the numerous complaints which the planting and manufacturing of indigo by British subjects had occasioned; the rules contained in the following clauses were passed by Government on the 23d of May, and 4th of July 1794.

Leases of land to European indigo planters of a date not subsequent to the 20th of March 1794, to be allowed to remain in force until the expiration of the period of the decennial settlement.

Second. Art. 1st. "That all existing leases of lands for the purpose of cultivating indigo, actually and bonâ fide obtained before the 20th of March 1794, by any European, be allowed to remain in force, until they expire, provided the term of them shall not extend beyond the period of the decennial settlement."

All leases of a subsequent date declared invalid.

Third. Art. 2d. "That all leases obtained directly or indirectly by Europeans, either in their own names, or those of others, since the 20th day of March 1794, be declared null and void, and that the lessees be immediately dispossessed."

Penalty enacted in prohibition of such posterior leases.

Fourth. Art. 3d. "That in future, no new leases for lands shall be entered into, directly or indirectly, by any European; and that any such leases shall be void, and the lessee, not only be dispossessed, but be liable to be ordered immediately to Calcutta."

Exception with respect to ground to construct indigo works or dwelling houses on.

Fifth. Art. 4th. "After the expiration of the last year of the decennial settlement, no European shall be permitted to rent or hold any land, directly or indirectly, either in his own name, or that of others. This rule however is not to extend to land not exceeding fifty begahs, which Europeans shall be permitted to purchase or rent, for the purpose of erecting dwelling houses, or buildings for carrying on manufactures, provided they previously obtain the sanction of the Governor General in Council, through the resident, to purchase or rent the land."

Sixth.

Sixth. Art. 5th. "If any native servant, or dependant of any British subject, or other European, shall intercept on the road, or otherwise unduly seize, any bhoosa, or other property, he shall, on the party injured complaining to the resident, and on the latter's seeing sufficient ground for such a mode of procedure, be committed by him for trial for such violence to the foujedary court, and besides suffering such punishment, (in case of conviction,) as the court may inflict, such servant shall be thereon rendered incapable of entering again within the district, into the service of any British born subject, or other European, in any capacity whatsoever; and in all cases of undue seizure of bhoosa, or other property, as aforesaid, by any British subject or subjects, or by his or their servant or servants, on their behalf, it shall be the duty of the resident, on the receipt of any complaint to this effect, to enter on a summary enquiry into the circumstances of the case; whereupon, every such British subject shall strictly and without reserve, conform to any requisition or order that he (the resident) may thereon issue, for full restitution of the bhoosa, or other article, so detained, to the proper owner, as well as for the paying to the latter such indemnification and damages as the resident may award."

Prohibition against Europeans or their servants, seizing bhoosa or any other article.

Seventh. Art. 6th. "In the event of the servants of any British subject attempting to press into, or forcibly carry away for, their master's service, any artificers, workmen, or labourers, they shall be liable for every such offence, to be themselves apprehended by the proper local officers of Government, and brought thereon to such trial or punishment, as the laws of the country point out; besides being in all cases where conviction shall ensue, rendered incapable, (in like manner as is expressed in Clause Sixth,) of acting again in the service of any European."

Against British subjects pressing artificers and other workmen or labourers into their service.

Eighth. Art. 7th. "No British subjects shall be permitted to cut down any trees, unless the owner shall have previously and voluntarily sold them to him, and executed to him a writing, attested teſted by two credible witneſſes, expreſſing his conſent to the ſale of the trees, and the price of them."

European indigo planters to keep vakeels to anſwer to complaints preferred againſt them.

Ninth. Art. 8th. "The regulations of the 7th March laſt, prohibiting all epiſtolary correſpondence between the reſident, or the native judges of the ſeveral courts, and parties in ſuits or complaints brought before them; it is directed, with a view to facilitate the reſident's enquiring into, and ſettling the frequent and various complaints that are preferred in reſpect to the indigo cultivation and manufacture, that the ſeveral perſons concerned in it, ſhall at all times have in attendance in the reſident's cutcherry, well informed vakeels on their reſpective parts, properly authorized and inſtructed to deliver competent anſwers to, and explanations in, the Hindovee tongue, of ſuch allegations as may from time to time be brought by any of the natives againſt their conſtituents, or their ſervants."

Tenth. Art. 9th. "No European ſhall ſeize or confine an individual ryot, or other perſon, or do any of the acts which their ſervants are prohibited doing by theſe regulations; and where it ſhall be proved to the ſatisfaction of the reſident, that the ſervants of any ſuch Britiſh ſubjects have done any ſuch acts, by the orders or with the connivance, or knowledge of their maſters, the latter ſhall be held reſponſible for the act, and ſhall be conſidered to have committed a breach of the regulations."

European indigo planters to bind themſelves to the obſervance of theſe regulations.

Eleventh. Art. 10th. "Every European indigo planter ſhall ſign, and perſonally engage for the adherence to, the above articles, or any other regulations that may be hereafter enacted reſpecting them, under the penalty of five hundred rupees for the firſt offence, and of being ſent to Calcutta for the ſecond."

No European to be allowed to abide without the permiſſion of Government in the zemindarry of Benares.

Twelfth. Art. 11th. "No European is to take up his abode in the zemindarry of Benares, without the ſanction of the Governor General in Council. The reſident is to ſend any perſon guilty of a breach of this rule to Calcutta."

V.

V. The resident was at the same time desired to afford every encouragement to Europeans in procuring the indigo plant to be raised for them, at a given rate for every begah, or bundle, by contract, with the ryots or aumil, with this caution to be observed in regard to the latter, that they were not to be permitted to avail themselves of their official influence as an aumil, to compel ryots or any individual, to plough, or work upon the lands, against their inclination, or to exercise any undue authority whatever in the management of the concern.

Encouragement to be given to the mode of Europeans raising indigo by contract.

VI. On the 1st July 1794, the aumils and the people of the country at large, were furnished with a translation of the preceding rules, and at the same time apprized, that Government had no immediate concern whatever in the provision of the indigo, and that the above measures had been adopted solely upon the ground that the introduction of a new and valuable article of produce could not fail to be productive of advantage both to the cultivators and proprietors of the soil, as well as to the merchants, provided the trade in it could be conducted without prejudice to individuals, or to the good order and government of the country.

Notification to the natives of the Government's having no immediate concern in the planting or manufacture of indigo.

VII. First. On the promulgation of the prohibition in Section II, it was set forth on behalf of several Europeans, that previous to the date thereof, they had obtained fair and voluntary engagements from sundry zemindars and others, for a certain extent or number of begahs for the cultivation of indigo; and therefore requested that orders might be issued for the ground in question being measured out, and delivered over to them, for the term allowed of under Clause Second, Section IV, which the resident did accordingly admit of and order on the 7th of June 1794; in as far as the land thus found to be fairly contracted and engaged for, previous to the order of prohibition, might not be liable to all or either of the grounds of objection in the following clauses, the existence of which was to bar the Europeans possession of the lands in question.

Further description of what grounds engaged by Europeans before the 20th of March 1794, are to be allowed of.

Second.

If the grant thereof shall have been fairly made by persons duly authorized.

Second. Art. 1st. "The engagement or contract for the delivery of the ground to the Europeans, must issue and be from the party or parties holding the pottahs of government; and not merely from their putteedars, as the subordinate partners of such pottahdars are not authorized to introduce, without the concurrence of the Government's pottahdar, any ryot, and still less a natural born British subject, into the possession or cultivation of any part of the territory included under such pottah."

Such grants not to be for whole villages.

Third. Art. 2d. "In consideration that the Governor General in Council hath prohibited any British subject from holding farms of revenue, and as in fair construction, any pottahdar of Government making over all the territory under the pottah to any British subject, would be equivalent to such a taking in farm, as is meant to be forbidden, therefore no pottahdar is, out of the grounds included under such pottah, to be allowed to make over to any European, a larger proportion than shall be suitable to the moderate idea of a ryotty tenure."

Not to affect the grounds in the occupancy of chupperbund ryots without their consent.

Fourth. Art. 3d. A pottahdar of Government is not to be deemed competent to grant to any natural born British subject for the cultivation of indigo, the grounds of any chupperbund and khud casht ryot, unless on the condition of such settled ryots razynamah being previously delivered into the office of the resident under the attestation of the canongoes."

Similar rules for the observance of the aumils and canongoes where the lands are amauny.

Fifth. Art. 4th. As the aumil is in the amauny, or unsettled villages of each pergunnah, in the stead and place of the pottahdars of Government; such aumils are, as far as regards the granting of any grounds therein to any European for the cultivation of indigo, to consider themselves as bound to be governed by the same qualifications, restrictions, and conditions, as are provided and specified in the three preceding clauses and articles, for the guidance of the pottahdars in similar instances; nor is any aumil to make such grants out of the cutcha lands, without the privity and consent consent of the canongoes, who are to attend in every such instance to the due and full observance of the requisitions thus made.

Sixth. The notification comprehended in this section, was confirmed by the Governor General in Council under date the 4th of July 1794.

VIII. First. On the 12th of July 1794, a circular notification was published by the resident, announcing to the natives, that the Governor General in Council had no objection, but rather wished to encourage, their entering into contracts with Europeans, to raise for them the indigo plant, and to deliver it to them when ready to be cut and transported to their manufacturing-houses, subject however to the conditions in the clauses undermentioned.

Terms notified on which the natives may contract with Europeans for the raising of the indigo plant.

Second. Art. 1st. "That only the pottahdars of Government, (or in amauny lands the aumil,) be competent to enter into such grants with Europeans, which condition has however been since modified as under the next section."

What persons among the natives may thus contract.

Third. Art. 2d. "That even pottahdars of Government shall not be competent to apply the grounds occupied in husbandry by chupperbund or khud casht ryots not in balance as to their rent, to raise indigo on, without the latter's full and free consent."

Exception in respect to the grounds of chupperbund ryots.

IX. First. But on a representation being made by some of the indigo planters that the prohibition in Clause Second, Section VIII, would prove highly prejudicial to them, and particularly expose them to undue exactions on the part of the pottahdars of Government; at the same time that they offered to hold the produce of the indigo crops at all times bound for the payment of the amount of the contract rates, for which they should have agreed, so as always to prove an adequate security to the pottahdar or pottahdars of Government, for the jumma of the part of his or their zemindarry or farm planted with indigo; Clause Second,

In what instances putteedars & chupperbund ryots may contract with Europeans for the raising of indigo.

Section

Section VIII, was with a view to the promotion and general encrease of cultivation, declared on the 22d July, 1794, to be repealed, so far as that Europeans were pronounced at liberty to enter into contracts on the above conditions with the chupperbund or khud casht ryots, or with putteedars whose puttees might be distinct and separate, and have been divided off from the pottahdar's part of the estate, for cultivating, sowing, and rearing, the indigo plant by their own labor, within their respective limits of cultivation, in the same manner as is allowed to pottahdars under Section VIII.

Canongoe to fix the money rent on indigo culture in cases where it has heretofore been paid by betay.

Second. Where such indigo cultivation as is described under the first clause of the present section, shall take place in spots where hitherto the rent of the land payable by the ryot, has been the moiety or other proportion of the produce; the canongoes shall in all such cases fix the money assessment which is to be, on an indigo crop, paid by the ryot, or joint putteedar, to the pottahdar of Government, whilst the indigo manufacturers are to pay to either of the two latter by whom the ground may be possessed, the amount for which they shall have contracted.

Rules in this Section passed by way of experiment and declared liable to be repealed if found unsuitable.

Third. The rules contained in this section were declared by the resident to the parties soliciting them, to be passed merely by way of experiment, and liable to such future amendment or entire revocation, as might hereafter appear necessary, or as Government might at any time direct.

In what degree the judges of the city and zillah courts are charged with the execution of the requisitions of this regulation.

X. The authorities vested in, and duties required to be discharged by, the resident, under the preceding sections, are to be considered as transferred from the date of their entering respectively into office, to the judges of the city and zillah courts, from whose decisions appeals are to lie, in all cases allowed by the regulations.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XXXIV.

A REGULATION for re-enacting with modifications, the rules respecting the pensions payable from the government and moolky treasuries in the province of Benares.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 27*th March,* 1795*; corresponding with the* 16*th Chyte* 1201 Bengal era; the 21*st Chyte* 1202 Fussily; the 16*th Chyte* 1202 Willaity; the 21*st Chyte* 1852 Sumbut; and the 5*th Ramzaan* 1209 Higerec.

THE following rules are prescribed, for determining the continuance or discontinuance of the pensions, payable in money from the government and the moolky treasuries at Benares.

II. The pensions under the heads of maash, and rozeena, sanctioned by the Governor General in the year 1781, amounting to Benares sicca rupees 33,296 7 annas, having been originally granted, either wholly or in part, as indemnifications for ayma, or other lands, resumed under the native government, are not to be liable to resumption on the death of the persons who now receive them, notwithstanding that such resumption made part

part of the original order iſſued for the confirmation of them, but are to be conſidered as property, and are to deſcend to the heirs of the preſent and future receivers, and are declared liable to be ſued for and inherited, in the ſame manner as other property.

Second claſs of penſions, to non-reinſtated landholders determinable on the demiſe of the parties.

III. The ſecond claſs of penſions payable from the treaſury, conſiſt of allowances granted in 1781 by the Governor General, to certain perſons who repreſented themſelves to have been landholders in the zemindarry of Benares, and whom it was then intended to reinſtate. Agreeably to the orders of the Governor General in Council under date the 11th of April 1788, no part of theſe penſions are to be continued to the heirs of the perſons now in the enjoyment of them, without his ſpecial ſanction.

Third claſs of penſions, formerly iſſuable out of the local collections, and all other allowances of this deſcription, depend for their continuance after the death of the preſent holders, on the will of government; as do the fourth or miſcellaneous claſs of penſions.

IV. Beſides the penſions noticed in the preceding ſection, there are others payable from the moolky treaſury, which were heretofore paid by the aumils in their ſeveral purgunnahs, and for the amount of which they received credit in their accounts of the revenue; and alſo certain other miſcellaneous allowances to individuals, receivable partly from government's, and partly from the moolky treaſury, the continuance of all which depend on the conditions and limitations under which they were ſeverally granted. But it is to be conſidered as a general rule, that the collector is to report to the board of revenue, the death of all penſioners whoſe penſions are receivable either from the government's or the moolky treaſury, with the circumſtances and conditions of the original grant, and the ſeveral orders that may have been ſubſequently paſſed on the ſubject. The board of revenue are to ſubmit this report, with their ſentiments on the caſe, to the Governor General in Council, who will thereon iſſue ſuch orders as may be applicable reſpecting the continuance or reſumption of each particular penſion or allowance.

Fifth claſs. Allowance for khelauts to the cauzy and moofty at the two Eeds.

VI. The ſixth claſs of penſions, conſiſts of the allowances granted by the order of the Governor General in Council of the 11th of February 1791, and paid from the Fuſſily year 1200, (1792-3,) to ſuch of the perſons who formerly received penſions from the ſayer, as from indigence, age, or helpleſſneſs, were deemed objects of real charity, under tuſheas or certificates, ſpecifying that ſuch penſions were to ceaſe on the death of the holders. That this fund may continue to be faithfully applied to its original object, by being appropriated ſolely to the relief of thoſe natives and ſettled inhabitants of the diſtrict of Benares, who from age, ſex, or infirmity, ſhall be unable to provide for themſelves, or earn a livelihood by their labor, it ſhall be the duty of the collector of Benares, to report immediately to the board of revenue, the demiſe of every penſioner on this liſt, and to recommend the transfer of the penſion, wholly or in part, to one or more proper objects. The board are to ſubmit this recommendation to the Governor General in Council, with their opinion on it, and in the event of its being approved by him, they are to order the collector to grant a tuſhea or certificate for the penſion under his ſeal and ſignature, bearing date from the demiſe of the laſt holder. This certificate, is to ſpecify the ſex, and age, of the party on whom the penſion may be conferred, and the motive for beſtowing it on him or her, with a proviſion that it is to be continued only during the natural life of the holder. The aggregate of the penſions ſpecified in this ſection, is not to be encreaſed beyond the preſent amount of them, excepting by order of the Governor General in Council.

All the penſions in this claſs to lapſe on the death of the holders.

How to be again granted to proper objects.

VII. Certain charitable allowances are likewiſe defrayable from the religious offerings made at the temple of Bindabaſhnee near to Mirzapoor, the diſtribution of which, (as hitherto made to the parties entitled to receive it under the authority of the native judge,) is to be continued as formerly, with this alteration, that the the diſtribution is to be made, under the orders of the board of revenue, and the Governor General in Council, by the collector, who is to be held reſponſible for the proper diſpenſation of the charity, agreeably to the eſtabliſhed rules for the management of it. If any of the parties intereſted in this fund, ſhall deem themſelves aggrieved by the orders of the collector, they may repreſent the circumſtances to the judge of the dewanny adawlut, who is to forward the petition to the Governor General in Council, who reſerves to himſelf the power of paſſing ſuch determination on the petition as may appear to him proper.

VIII. For every penſion which may be hereafter granted by the Governor General in Council, or that may be renewed on the demiſe of a penſioner, and which may be iſſuable from either of the beforementioned treaſuries at Benares, the collector ſhall deliver to the party by whom the penſion is to be received, a certificate, ſtating the amount of the penſion, the title of the party thereto during his or her life, the ground of ſuch title, and the date of the grant.

Regiſter of penſions to be kept.

IX. The collector is to keep a ſeparate liſt of all penſions paid under this regulation, and is to number and regiſter the certificates or other ſunnuds and vouchers under which they are held, in a regiſter in the Engliſh and Perſian languages to be kept for this purpoſe; and he is to be careful to note therein ſuch perſonal identifications of the parties receiving the penſions, as may detect any future attempt to transfer them to others.

Penſions to be paid monthly.

X. The annual amount of the penſions is to be iſſued in monthly proportions, agreeably to the practice which has hitherto prevailed in the province.

Rule for the payment of penſions exceeding fifty rupees per annum by the collector.

XI. All perſons receiving penſions exceeding fifty ſicca rupees per annum, are to attend the collector in perſon at the ſtated periods, to receive the amount of their reſpective penſions, and the collector is prohibited from iſſuing any penſions excepting to the parties perſonally, perſonally, unleſs they ſhall be diſabled from attending by illneſs, or other ſufficient cauſe, of which ſatisfactory proofs ſhall be exhibited. The collector, on being ſatisfied of the inability of the parties, whether from age, ſex, or diſtance of abode, to attend in perſon, is permitted to iſſue their penſions to their authorized vakeels; but he is to take due precautions to prevent impoſitions after the death of the penſioners, and in the event of any penſion not being claimed within ſix months after it may become payable, he is to aſcertain whether the party who received it be deceaſed, and report accordingly.

XII. All penſions not exceeding fifty ſicca rupees per annum, are to be paid by the cauzy of the pergunnah in which the penſioners may reſide, the collector ſupplying him monthly with the funds neceſſary for that purpoſe, and furniſhing him with a liſt of the perſons entitled to ſuch penſions. In iſſuing theſe penſions, the cauzies are to be guided by the ſame rules and reſtrictions as are preſcribed to the collector in Section XI, reſpecting the penſions exceeding fifty rupees per annum, which are to be paid to the penſioners immediately by him. The cauzies are to take receipts from the penſioners for their reſpective allowances, and tranſmit them to the collector. They are to report to the collector the death of any penſioner, the payment of whoſe allowance may have been entruſted to them, and any cauzy who ſhall iſſue a penſion without taking the preſcribed precautions to aſcertain that the perſon entitled thereto is in exiſtence, or appropriate to his own uſe the allowance of any penſioner, or continue to any perſon not entitled thereto, the allowance of a deceaſed penſioner with whoſe demiſe there ſhall be ſatisfactory grounds for believing he was acquainted, ſhall be liable to be dimiſſed from his office, upon ſuch miſconduct being proved to the ſatisfaction of the Governor General in Council.

To whom the payment of penſions not exceeding fifty rupees per annum, is to be committed

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XXXV.

A REGULATION for better enabling Individuals to recover Arrears of Rent or Revenue due to them.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council on the 27th March 1795; corresponding with the 16*th Chyte* 1201 Bengal Era; the 21*st Chyte* 1202 Fussily; the 16*th Chyte* 1202 Willaity; the 21*st Chyte* 1852 Sumbut; and the 5*th Ramzaan* 1209 Higeree.

GOVERNMENT not admitting of any delay in the payment of the public Revenue receivable from Proprietors and Farmers of Land, justice requires that they should have the means of levying their Rents and Revenues with equal punctuality, and that the persons by whom they may be payable, whether Under Farmers, Dependant Talookdars, Ryots, or others, should be enabled, in like manner, to realize the Rents and Revenues from which their engagements with the Proprietors or Farmers are to be made good. Regulation XVII, 1793, was enacted with a view to enable all of the abovementioned descriptions of individuals, to enforce payment of Arrears of Rent or Revenue, without application to the Courts of Judicature, as far as the amount might be realizable from the crops and personal property of the defaulter, leaving him to sue in the Courts for redress, in the event of any sums being unjustly exacted from from him. This was the leading principle of the Regulation; but to prevent so extensive a power being abused on the first delegation of it, provisions were made for obliging the distrainer to withdraw the attachment on property, in the event of his demand being contested by the defaulter, and of his giving security to try the justness of it within a specific time in the Court of Judicature, and to pay interest on the amount, with Costs, in case of its being decreed to be due. These provisions however, have been found to counteract the object of the Regulation, by the delay often unavoidable in bringing suits to a conclusion, and the opportunity which they afford to defaulters of protracting the discharge of just demands. In large estates, in which extensive tracts of Country are underfarmed, the Under Farmers often fall in arrear to so considerable an amount, as to render the realizing of the deficiency by the distress of their personal property impracticable. In such cases, the Proprietors or Farmers, are obliged to sue the defaulter or his surety in the Dewanny Adawlut for the recovery of the arrears, but as the persons to whom the arrears may be due, are not allowed any suspension in their payments to the public whilst the suit is depending, the Lands of Proprietors are liable to be sold, and the persons and property of Farmers are subject to attachment, for deficiencies arising not from their own misconduct or mismanagement, but from breach of engagements on the part of their Under Farmers. To obviate the above inconveniencies, the following rules have been enacted.

Sections IX, and X, of Regualtion XVII, 1793, and part of Section VIII, rescinded.

II. Sections IX, and X, Regulation XVII, 1793, by which distrainers are required to withdraw the attachment on distrained property, on the person from whom the arrear is demanded, denying the justness of the demand, and giving security to have it tried in the Dewanny Adawlut within a certain time, and to pay interest to the date of the decree, with costs, in the event of the demand being decreed to be just, are hereby rescinded, together with the following Clause of Section VIII, of that Regulation, viz. "or he shall contest the demand, and procure the attachment to be withdrawn in the manner hereafter specified."

III. In

III. In future, distrainers are permitted to affix their signature only to writings for the attachment of property, instead of both their seals and signatures as required by Section VIII, Regulation XVII, 1793.

THE Appeal immediately to the Provincial Courts of Appeal, from decisions passed by the Registers, allowed by Section VII, Regulation VIII, 1794, interfering considerably with the more important duties of those Courts; and the Governor General in Council being of opinion that from decisions passed by the Registers to the Zillah and City Courts for money or personal property under Regulation VIII, 1794, and from decisions of the native Commissioners appointed under Regulation XL, 1793, one Appeal to the Judge of the Zillah or City will be sufficient for the purposes of Justice, or at all events, that the advantages which might be expected to result from allowing of a further Appeal to the Provincial Courts of Appeal, from the decisions of the Judges of the Zillahs and Cities, would be more than counterbalanced by the delay in the determination of causes of greater importance that must necessarily arise from the considerable portion of the time of the Zillah and City Courts, and the Provincial Courts of Appeal, which would be occupied in preparing and transmitting the records of the trials in these petty Causes, and in the decision of them; and with a view to render Serberakars or Managers of joint undivided Estates, eligible to the Office of Commissioner for the decision of suits under Regulation XL, 1793; and to provide against the undue detention of Prisoners in confinement, or delay in the execution of sentences or orders of the Nizamut Adawlut, by the loss or miscarriage of the proceedings in trials referred to that Court, or of the sentences or orders on such trials; and to accelerate the decision of Civil suits arising in the districts now comprised in the Zillah of Burdwan, which, from the great extent of the Zillah, have been found too numerous for one Court to determine with sufficient expedition; the following Rules have been enacted.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XXXVIII.

NO expence attending the institution of suits in the first instance; and the ultimate expence, being moderate and limited, whatever length of time the suit may be depending; and no fees whatever being charged on the exhibits and papers filed in the Courts, nor on Petitions presented to the Courts not immediately forming part of the proceedings in any suit under trial; many groundless and litigious suits and complaints have been instituted against Individuals, and the trials of others have been protracted, by the filing of superfluous exhibits, or the summoning witnesses whose testimony was not necessary to the development of the merits of the case. The business in many of the Courts of Judicature, has in consequence increased creaſed ſo as to prevent the Judges determining the cauſes and complaints filed, with that expedition which is eſſential for deterring Individuals from inſtituting vexatious claims, or refuſing to ſatisfy juſt demands, and for giving full effect to the principles of the Regulations. The eſtabliſhing of fees on the inſtitution and trial of ſuits, and on Petitions preſented to the Courts, being conſidered to be the beſt mode of putting a ſtop to this abuſe of the ready means now afforded to Individuals of availing themſelves of the exerciſe of the Laws, without obſtructing the bringing forward of juſt claims; the following rules have been enacted.

PREVIOUS

PREVIOUS to the 20th June 1788, the impoſts levied by government on the trade of the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Oriſſa, were of two deſcriptions, the Calcutta cuſtoms, and the government cuſtoms. The Calcutta cuſtoms, alſo denominated the Calcutta town duties, were collected by the Company, in virtue of their antient factorial rights, and were leviable on all goods whatever, imported into Calcutta, by land or by water, whether for conſumption in the town, or for the purpoſe of being afterwards exported from it. The government cuſtoms were collected by the Company, as the ruling power, in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Oriſſa, and were leviable, under certain reſtrictions, on all goods, (including the exports and imports by way of the foreign ſettlements,) imported into, or exported from, any part of thoſe provinces under their immediate dominion, by land or by water, either by Britiſh ſubjects, foreigners, natives, or others; being equally exacted on the imports and exports of the port of Calcutta, in addition to the Calcutta town duties. Merchants however being required to pay the government cuſtoms, and take out a rowanaah or paſs from one of the cuſtom-houſes, before they moved any goods, the produce of the country, from the places of proviſion or manufacture, theſe cuſtoms operated alſo as an internal impoſt on conſumption, on ſuch of the articles produced or manufactured in the country as were not exported. On the 3d November 1787, the Company judged it expedient, for reaſons aſſigned in their orders of that date, to direct that the government cuſtoms throughout the three provinces ſhould be aboliſhed. On the 20th June 1788, the Governor General in Council, on a conſideration of theſe orders, determined that they were not meant to extend to the Calcutta cuſtoms, or town duties; and at the ſame time that in conformity to thoſe orders, he aboliſhed the cuſtom-houſes at Calcutta, Moorſhedabad, Patna, Dacca, and Iſlamabad; he reſolved that a cuſtom-houſe ſhould be eſtabliſhed at Manjee, at the conflux of the rivers Ganges and Gogra, for the purpoſe of levying the government cuſtoms on all exports and imports paſſing the frontier by that route. Under this arrangement, arrangement, all imports and exports, (excepting those which passed the frontier at Manjee, or entered the port or town of Calcutta,) including the imports and exports by way of the foreign settlements, became exempt from the payment of any duty to government. This arrangement however having been found objectionable, both on account of the diminution which it occasioned in the public resources, and the partial burden which it imposed on the trade of the town of Calcutta, it was deemed advisable, with a view to the re-establishment of the revenue formerly derived from the customs, and to the future encrease of it from the expected extension of the trade of the country, as well as to place all persons, whether foreigners or others, trading to or from the Company's dominions, on the same footing, that goods imported into, or exported from, any part of the provinces of Bengal, Behar, or Orissa, under the immediate dominion of the Company, and by whatever channel or route, and whether by British subjects, foreigners, natives, or others, should be equally subjected to the payment of duties. The Governor General in Council has accordingly resolved as preparatory to this last mentioned arrangement, to abolish the Calcutta customs or town duties, and to re-establish the government customs formerly levied on all imports into, or exports from, the provinces by the port of Calcutta, which were discontinued on the 20th June 1788; reserving for his future determination, what arrangements shall be made for collecting the government customs on the imports or exports by way of the foreign settlements, and on the goods imported into, or exported from, the said provinces, by any other channel or route than the port of Calcutta, or the station of Manjee. The following rules have been accordingly enacted.

II. The duties denominated the Calcutta customs, or town duties, levied on all goods and merchandise, imported into the town or port of Calcutta, are hereby abolished, and all the rules for levying those duties contained in the several sections of Regulation XLII, 1793, from Section XXI, to the conclusion of the said regulation, are hereby rescinded, from the 1st June next.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XLI.

A REGULATION prescribing rules for trying the validity of the titles of persons holding, or claiming a right to hold, lands exempted from the payment of revenue to government in the province of Benares, under grants not being of the description of those termed badshahee or royal, nor made by the supreme power for the time being; and for determining the amount of the annual assessment to be imposed on lands so held, which may be adjudged or become liable to the payment of public revenue.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council on the 31st July 1795; corresponding with the 18th Sawun 1202 Bengal era; the 29th Sawun 1202 Fussily; the 18th Sawun 1202 Willaity; the 29th Sawun 1852 Sumbut; and the 13th Mohurrum 1210 Higeree.

BY the antient law of the country, the ruling power is entitled to a certain proportion of the produce of every begah of land, (demandable in money or kind according to local custom,) unless it transfers its right thereto for a term or in perpetuity, or limits limits the public demand upon the whole of the lands belonging to an individual, leaving him to appropriate to his own uſe, the difference between the value of ſuch proportion of the produce, and the ſum payable to the public, whilſt he continues to diſcharge the latter. As a neceſſary conſequence of this law, if a zemindar made a grant of any part of his lands to be held exempt from the payment of revenue, it was conſidered void, from being an alienation of the dues of government without its ſanction. Had the validity of ſuch grants been admitted, it is obvious that the revenue of government would have been liable to gradual diminution. Numerous grants however of this deſcription have been made, not only by the zemindars, but by aumils, and other officers of government, appointed to the temporary ſuperintendence of the collection of the revenue, under the pretext that the produce of the lands was to be applied to religious or charitable uſes. Of theſe grants, ſome were applied to the purpoſes for which they were profeſſed to have been made, but in general, they were given for the perſonal advantage of the grantee, or with a view to the clandeſtine appropriation of the produce to the uſe of the grantor, or ſold to ſupply his private exigencies. In conformity to the principles which prevailed under the native adminiſtration, the Britiſh government have at various times declared all grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue made ſince the 1ſt July 1775, (the date of the final ceſſion of the province of Benares to the Company,) without their ſanction, illegal and void; and the Governor General in Council deems it incumbent on him to recover the public dues thus alienated in oppoſition to the antient and exiſting laws of the country, as alſo to reſume the revenue of all lands the grants for which have expired, the proprietors of eſtates not being entitled to collect ſuch of the public dues from the lands included in their eſtates, as government may have judged it adviſable to transfer to individuals, or to reſume thoſe which have been alienated by themſelves or others, the amount in both caſes being excluded from the aſſets on which the permanent ſettlement has been formed. The

Governor

Governor General in Council however, at the ſame time that he is deſirous of recovering the public dues from lands which have been illegally alienated, is equally ſolicitous that perſons holding ſuch grants under titles that are declared valid, ſhould be ſecured in the poſſeſſion and enjoyment of their property. It is likewiſe his wiſh, that the recovery of the dues of government from thoſe lands which have been illegally alienated previous to the commencement of the Fuſſily year 1196, ſhould be attended with as little diſtreſs as poſſible to the poſſeſſors; and to obviate all injuſtice, or extortion, in the enquiry into the titles of perſons holding exempted lands, he has further reſolved that the claims of the public on their lands, (provided they regiſter the grants as required in this regulation,) ſhall be tried in the courts of judicature, that no ſuch exempted lands may be ſubjected to the payment of revenue, until the titles of the proprietors ſhall have been adjudged invalid by a final judicial decree. Upon the above grounds, and with a view to facilitate the recovery of the public dues from lands held exempted under invalid grants, as well as to prevent any ſimilar alienations being hereafter made, to the prejudice of the ſecurity of the public revenue which has been aſſeſſed in perpetuity upon the eſtates of individuals; and further that government, and the officers employed in the collection of the public revenue, may at all times have in their poſſeſſion a correct regiſter of the lands in the province of Benares held exempt from the payment of revenue; the following rules have been enacted.

II. Firſt. All grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, made previous to the 1ſt July 1775, the date of the ceſſion of the province of Benares to the Company, by whatever authority, and whether by a writing, or without a writing, ſhall be deemed valid, provided the grantee actually and bonâ fide obtained poſſeſſion of the land ſo granted previous to the date abovementioned, and the land ſhall not have been ſubſequently rendered ſubject to the payment of revenue by the officers or the orders of government. If it ſhall be proved to the ſatisfaction Grants of alienated land made previous to the 1ſt July 1775 declared valid, provided the grantee obtained poſſeſſion before that date, and has ſince held poſſeſſion without paying revenue.

Grants made before the 1st July 1775 of no validity, if possession was not obtained prior thereto, or the lands have been since subjected to the payment of revenue.

satisfaction of the court, that the grantee did not obtain possession of the land so granted previous to the 1st July 1775, or that he did obtain possession of it prior to that date, but that it has been since subjected to the payment of revenue by the officers or the orders of government, the grant shall not be deemed valid.

Courts to refer to the Governor General in Council, in the event of their entertaining doubts as to the authority of any officer of government who may have subjected exempted land granted before the 1st July 1775, to the payment of revenue.

Second. In the event however of a claim being preferred by any person to hold land exempt from the payment of revenue under a grant made previous to the 1st July 1775, and of it being proved to the satisfaction of the court in which the suit may be instituted in the first instance, or to which it may be appealed, that the grantee held the land exempt from the payment of revenue previous to that date, but that it was subjected to the payment of revenue posterior thereto, by an officer of government, and the court shall entertain doubts as to the competency of such officer under the powers vested in him, to subject the lands to the payment of revenue, the court shall suspend its judgement, and report the circumstances to the Governor General in Council, to whom a power is reserved of determining whether such officer, was or was not competent to subject the land to the payment of revenue; and upon receiving the determination of the Governor General in Council, the court is to decide accordingly. No such claim however to hold exempt from the payment of revenue, land that may have been subjected to the payment of revenue for the twelve years preceding the date on which the claim may be instituted, shall be heard by the city or any zillah court, unless the claimant can show good and sufficient cause for not having preferred the claim to a competent jurisdiction within the twelve years, and proceeded in it, as required by Section VIII, Regulation VII, 1795.

Claims to hold exempted from revenue, lands that have paid revenue for twelve years, not to be heard.

Exception.

No persons not being the original grantees, to be entitled to hold exempt from the payment of revenue lands, now sub-

Third. But no part of the two preceding clauses, is to be construed to empower the courts to adjudge any person not being the original grantee, entitled to hold exempt from the payment of revenue, land now subject to the payment of revenue, under a grant made previous to the cession of Benares to the Company, the writing for which may expressly specify it to have been given for the life of the grantee only, or, supposing no such specification to have been made in the writing, or the writing not to be forthcoming, or no writing to have been executed, where the grant from the nature and denomination of it shall be proved to be a life tenure only, according to the antient usages of the country.

ject to the payment of revenue under grants for life made previous to the last cession of Benares.

Fourth. Nor to entitle the heirs of any person now holding land exempt from the payment of public revenue under a grant made previous to the 1st July 1775, to succeed to and hold such land exempt from the payment of revenue upon the demise of the present possessor, where the writing for such grant may expressly specify it to have been given for the life of the grantee only, or, supposing no such specification to have been made in the writing, or the writing not to be forthcoming, or no writing to have been executed, where from the nature and denomination of the grant, it shall be proved to be a life tenure only, according to the antient usages of the country. Nor to entitle the heir to any such person, to hold the lands exempt from the payment of revenue after his demise, supposing the writing for the grant not to specify whether it was to be considered hereditary or otherwise, unless it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the court, that the grant, from the nature and denomination of it, is hereditary, according to the antient usages of the country. But upon the demise of the present possessor of any such grant, which may be adjudged not hereditary under this clause, if it shall appear that one or more successions, in virtue of whatever right, shall have taken place before the 1st July 1775, the lands shall not be subjected to the payment of revenue under the decree, without the sanction of the Governor General in Council, to whom a copy of the proceedings and decree of the court is to be transmitted, and to whom is reserved a power of declaring the lands subject to the payment of revenue or not, as may appear to him proper.

The heirs of persons now possessing exempted lands under life grants made previous to the 1st July 1775, not entitled to hold such lands exempt from the payment of revenue upon the death of the present possessor.

Power reserved to the Governor General in Council, of determining whether life grants to which one or more successions, of whatever nature, may have taken place prior to the 1st July 1775, shall be subjected to the payment of revenue or not, on the death of the present possessor.

Fifth.

The present possessors of such life grants prohibited from transferring them, or mortgaging the revenue of them, beyond their own lives.

Fifth. The present possessors of lands now exempt from the payment of revenue, under such life grants made previous to the 1st of July 1775, and declared by the preceding clause not to be hereditary, are prohibited from selling, or otherwise transferring them, or mortgaging the revenue of them for a longer period than their own lives, and all such transfers and mortgages, are declared illegal and void. It is to be understood however, that if any such life grants shall have been confirmed as hereditary tenures by government, or by the officers of government empowered so to confirm them, they are not to be liable to the payment of revenue on the death of the present possessor, and are to be excepted from the other rules contained in this and the preceding clause. If doubts shall arise in any court, as to the competency of the authority of any officer of government to confirm any such life grant as hereditary, the court is to suspend its judgment, and report the circumstances to the Governor General in Council, to whom a power is reserved of determining finally, whether such officer possessed competent authority to confirm the grant as hereditary, or not, and the court, upon receiving the determination of the Governor General in Council, is to decide accordingly.

Such life grants, if confirmed by government, or its officers, not to be subject to the payment of revenue on the death of the present possessor.

All grants made or confirmed since the 1st July 1775, excepting by the authority of government, or its officers duly empowered, declared invalid.

III. First. All grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, which may have been made since the 1st July 1775, and previous to the beginning of the Fussily year 1196, by any other authority than that of government, and which may not have been confirmed by goverment, or by any officer empowered to confirm them, are declared invalid.

Second. If doubts shall be entertained by any court as to the competency of the authority of any officer to confirm any such grant, the court is to suspend its judgment, and report the circumstances of the case to the Governor General in Council, to whom a power is reserved of determining finally, whether the officer possessed competent authority to confirm the grant, or otherwise, and the court; upon receiving the determination of the Governor General in Council, shall decide accordingly.

Third. The rule contained in Clause First, is not to be considered to extend to authorize the subjecting to the payment of revenue, any land, the grants for which, whether for the life of the grantee, or otherwise, were made previous to the 1st of July 1775, where the quantity of land granted shall not exceed ten begas, and the produce of it is bonâ fide appropriated as an endowment on temples, or to the maintenance of Brahmins, or other religious or charitable purposes. The rule in this clause is declared to extend also to all grants of land whatever not exceeding ten begas, made previous to the above date, the produce of which may be now so appropriated.

Exception in favour of lands not exceeding ten begas granted before the dates herein specified, which are appropriated to religious or charitable purposes.

IV. This regulation, as far as regards lands alienated previous to the commencement of the Fussily year 1196, respects only the question whether they are liable to the payment of revenue or otherwise. Every dispute or claim regarding the proprietary right in lands alienated previous to that date, and which in conformity to this regulation may become subject to the payment of revenue, is to be considered as a matter of a private nature to be determined by the courts of dewanny adawlut, in the event of any dispute or claim arising respecting it, between the grantee and the grantor, or their respective heirs or successors. The grantees, or the present possessors, until dispossessed by a decree of the dewanny adawlut, are to be considered as the proprietors of the lands, with the same right of property therein as is declared to be vested in proprietors of estates subject to the payment of revenue, and they are to execute engagements for the revenue with which their lands may be declared chargeable, either to government, or to the proprietor, or farmer of the estate in which the lands may be situated, or to the officer of government, (according as the revenue of the estate in which the land may be situated, may be payable by the proprietor, or a farmer, or collected khaus,) under the rules for the permanent settlement.

Questions regarding the proprietary right in lands alienated before the commencement of the Fussily year 1196, and adjudged liable to the payment of revenue, to be determined in the dewanny adawlut; this regulation with respect to such lands relating only to the revenue.

Benefits arising to the grantee or poſſeſſor by his being continued in poſſeſſion of the land under the preceeding ſection.

V. By continuing the proprietary right in the land to the grantee or poſſeſſor, as ſpecified in the preceding ſection, inſtead of diſpoſſeſſing him of the land altogether agreeably to former uſage, and aſſeſſing the land in the mode preſcribed in the two following ſections, a liberal proviſion will be left to him. Where the grant may have been made ſubſequent to the 1ſt July 1775, and previous to the 31ſt Auguſt 1781, the proprietor will hold his land as an eſtate paying a fixed revenue of only half the amount aſſeſſed on other malguzarry lands in the country, and where the grant may have been made ſubſequent to the laſt mentioned period, and previous to the commencement of the Fuſſily year 1196, he will hold the land ſubject to the payment of the ſame revenue as other lands aſſeſſed with revenue under the rules for the permanent ſettlement, as hereafter directed.

To whom the revenue aſſeſſed on lands not exceeding fifty begas alienated before the Fuſſily year 1196, ſhall belong.

VI. The revenue aſſeſſable under Section IX, on land not exceeding fifty begas of the meaſurement that may prevail in the pergunnah wherein it may be ſituated, and whether lying in one village, or two, or more villages, and that may have been alienated by any one grant made previous to the Fuſſily year 1196, and which may be adjudged or become liable to the payment of revenue, ſhall belong to the perſon or perſons reſponſible for the diſcharge of the revenue of the eſtate or putteedarry, in which the land may be ſituated, notwithſtanding any thing ſaid in Section V, Regulation XXVII, 1795, and he ſhall not be liable to the payment of any additional revenue on account of the aſſeſſment which may be chargeable on ſuch lands, during the continuance of the engagements under which he may pay the revenue of ſuch eſtate, or putteedarry, when the land may be ſo adjudged liable to the payment of revenue. If the eſtate or putteedarry, ſhall be held amauny or khaus, khaus, when the lands are declared liable to the payment of revenue, the amount is to be collected by, and paid to, whomsoever the rents and revenue of the estate or talook may be payable, until a settlement shall be concluded for the revenue of it either with the proprietor or a farmer.

The revenue assessable on lands exceeding fifty begahs alienated prior to the Fussily year 1196, declared to belong to government.

VII. The revenue assessable under Section VIII, on land exceeding fifty begahs of the measurement that may prevail in the pergunnah wherein it may be situated, and whether lying in one village, or two or more villages, and alienated by any one grant made previous to the Fussily year 1196, and which may be adjudged or become liable to the payment of revenue, is declared to belong to government, but is to be paid through the proprietor of the estate from which the alienation was originally made, under Clause Third, Section XIV, Regulation II, 1795.

Rules for fixing the assessment on the lands specified in Section VII.

VIII. First. The amount of the revenue payable from the lands specified in Section VII, is to be adjusted according to the following rules:

If the grant shall have been made previous to the 31st August 1781.

Second. If the grant shall have been made previous to the 31st August 1781, the revenue to be paid to government, shall be equal to one half of the annual produce of the land, calculating according to the rates at which other lands in the pergunnah of a similar description may be assessed. If any part of the land shall be uncultivated, the proprietor is to be required to bring it into cultivation, and to pay such russud or progressive increase, to be regulated with a reference to the reduced rate of the assessment on the cultivated land, as the board of revenue, with the sanction of the Governor General in Council, may deem reasonable. The produce of the land shall be ascertained by a survey and measurement, one half of the expence attending which, is to be defrayed by the proprietor, in the event of his agreeing to the jumma required of him, and the other moiety by government; or, by such other mode of investigation as the collector, with the sanction of the board of revenue, venue, may judge advisable. If the proprietor shall refuse to agree to the assessment, the lands are to be let in farm or held amauny. If the proprietor shall agree to pay the revenue that may be required of him, the amount shall not be liable to any variation in future, but he and his heirs and successors, shall hold the land at such fixed revenue, for ever.

If the grant shall have been made subsequent to the 31st August 1781.

Third. If the grant shall have been made subsequent to the 31st August 1781, the revenue or jumma to be paid to government from the land, shall be assessed agreeably to the rules prescribed in Regulation V, 1795, for forming the settlement of estates paying revenue to government, and the produce shall be ascertained, and the expence of the investigation defrayed, in the manner specified with regard to the lands in the preceding clause. If the proprietor shall refuse to agree to the assessment, the lands are to be let in farm or held amauny or khaus, under the rules for the decennial and quartennial settlements. If the proprietor shall agree to pay the revenue that may be required of him, the amount shall not be liable to any variation in future, but he and his heirs and successors, shall hold the land at such fixed revenue, for ever.

Rule for fixing the amount of the revenue on the lands specified in Section VI.

IX. The rules in the preceding section, are to be held applicable to the lands specified in Section VI, with this difference, that the proprietor, farmer, putteedar, or officer of government, to whom the revenue may be payable, shall ascertain the produce of the land without subjecting the grantee to any expence, and submit the accounts of it to the collector, who shall fix the revenue to be paid from the lands in perpetuity, reporting the amount for the confirmation of the board of revenue, who are empowered in cases in which it shall appear to them proper to encrease or reduce the amount. If the proprietor shall agree to pay the revenue required of him, he, and his heirs, and successors, shall hold the lands as a dependant puttee, subject to the payment of such fixed revenue, for ever.

X. All grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, whether exceeding or under fifty begahs, that have been made since the beginning of the Fussily year 1196, or that may be hereafter made, by any other authority than that of the Governor General in Council, are declared null and void, and no length of possession shall be hereafter considered to give validity to any such grant, either with regard to the property in the soil, or the rents of it. And every person who now possesses or may succeed to the proprietary right in any estate, or who now holds, or may hereafter hold, any estate in farm of government, or of the proprietor, or any other person, and every officer of government appointed to make the collections from any estate or talook held khaus, is authorized and required, to collect the rents from such lands at the rates of the pergunnah, and to dispossess the grantee of the proprietary right in the land, and to reannex it to the estate or talook in which it may be situated, without making previous application to a court of judicature, or sending previous or subsequent notice of the dispossession or annexation to any office of government; nor shall any such proprietor, farmer, or putteedar, be liable to an encrease of assessment on account of such grants which he may resume and annul, during the term of the engagements that he may be under for the payment of the revenue of such estate or talook, when the grant may be so resumed and annulled. The managers of joint undivided estates, are authorized and required to exercise on behalf of the proprietors, the powers vested in proprietors by this section.

XI. BENGAL SECRETARIAT LIBRARY

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XLII.

A REGULATION for enacting with modifications, the rules for trying the validity of the titles of persons holding, or claiming a right to hold, altumgah, jaghire, and other lands, in the province of Benares, exempt from the payment of public revenue, under grants termed badshahee or royal, or made by the supreme power for the time being; and for determining, when certain grants of that description, shall be considered to have expired; and for fixing the amount of the public revenue to be assessed upon the lands, the grants for which may expire, or be adjudged invalid.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 31*st July* 1795; corresponding with the 18*th Sawun* 1202 Bengal era; the 29*th Sawun* 1202 Fussily; the 18*th Sawun* 1202 Willaity; the 29*th Sawun* 1852 Sumbut; and the 13*th Mohurrum* 1210 Higeree.

BY the antient law of the country, the ruling power is entitled to a certain proportion of the produce of every begah of land, unless it transfers its right thereto for a term, or in perpetuity.

tuity. As a necessary consequence of this law, every grant or alienation of government's proportion of the produce of land without its sanction, was considered null and void. Had the validity of such grants or alienations been admitted, it is obvious that the public revenue would have been liable to gradual diminution. Under the native government, grants, under the denomination of jaghire, altûmgah, and, other appellations, were occasionally made of the government's share of the produce of lands, for the support of the families of persons who had performed public services, for religious or charitable purposes, for maintaining troops, and for other services. The British government have continued in possession the grantees, and their heirs, as far as respects such of these grants as were hereditary, and were made before the 1st July 1775, the date of the cession of the province of Benares to the Company, provided the grantees or their heirs obtained possession previous to that date; but those grants which were for life only, have been invariably considered as resumable from the death of the grantees. No complete register of these grants having been formed on the cession of the province to the Company, nor subsequent to that period, many persons may have retained possession of lands under fabricated or antedated grants, or succeeded to life grants on the demise of the original grantee, or former possessor, without the sanction of government. The Governor General in Council deems it incumbent on him to resume the public dues from lands held under invalid tenures, as well as the revenue of all lands, the grants for which may expire; but at the same time that he is desirous of recovering the public dues from lands held under invalid tenures, he is equally solicitous that persons holding lands under grants that are declared valid, should be secured in the quiet possession and enjoyment of them. With this view, and to obviate all injustice, or extortion, in the enquiry into the titles of persons possessing lands under such grants, he has resolved that all claims of the public for the resumption of such grants; (provided the grantees, or persons in possession, register their grants as required in this regulation,) shall be tried in the courts of judicature, that no ſuch grants may be reſumed until the title of the grantee, or preſent poſſeſſor, ſhall have been adjudged invalid by a final judicial decree. Upon the above grounds, and with a view to facilitate the reſumption of invalid grants, as well as to prevent any grants being hereafter made without the authority of government; and further that government and its officers, may at all times have in their poſſeſſion a correct regiſter of the lands held exempt from the payment of revenue under badſhahee grants, the following rules have been enacted.

II. Firſt. The term badſhahee grant, is to be conſtrued to extend to all grants made by the ſupreme power for the time being; and conſequently to include grants of the following deſcriptions: 1ſt, royal grants, properly ſo called; 2dly, grants made by the ſoubahdars of Owde; and 3dly, grants made by the authority of the Britiſh government.

Definition of the term badſhahee grant.

Second. Altumgah, jaghire, ayma, muddud maaſh, or other badſhahee grants, for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, made previous to the 1ſt of July 1795, the date of the ceſſion of the province of Benares to the Company, ſhall be deemed valid, provided the grantee, actually and bonâ fide, obtained poſſeſſion of the land ſo granted previous to that date, and the grant ſhall not have been ſubſequently reſumed by the officers or the orders of government. If it ſhall be proved to the ſatisfaction of the court, that the grantee did not obtain poſſeſſion of the land ſo granted previous to the 1ſt July 1775, and that it has not been ſince confirmed to him by the authority of the Governor General in Council, or that he did obtain poſſeſſion of it prior to that date, but that it has been ſince reſumed by the officers or the orders of government, the grant ſhall not be deemed valid.

Badſhahee grants made previous to the 1ſt July 1795, declared valid, provided the grantee obtained poſſeſſion before that date, and has ſince held poſſeſſion.

Grants made before the 1ſt of July 1775, of no validity, if poſſeſſion was not obtained prior thereto, or has not been ſince confirmed, or if they ſhall have ſince been reſumed by authority.

Third. In the event however of a claim being preferred by any perſon to hold land exempt from the payment of revenue, under under a badshahee grant made previous to the 1st July 1775, and on it being proved to the satisfaction of the court in which the suit may be instituted in the first instance, or to which it may be appealed, that the grantee held the land exempt from the payment of revenue previous to that date, but that it was subjected to the payment of revenue posterior thereto by an officer of government, and the court shall entertain doubts as to the competency of such officer under the powers vested in him, to resume the grant, and subject the lands to the payment of revenue, the court shall suspend its judgement, and report the circumstances to the Governor General in Council, to whom a power is reserved of determining whether such officer was or was not competent to resume the grant, and upon receiving the determination of the Governor General in Council, the court is to decide accordingly. No such claim however to hold exempt from the payment of revenue, land that may have been subjected to the payment of revenue, for the twelve years preceding the date on which the claim may be instituted, shall be heard by any court of dewanny adawlut, unless the claimant can show good and sufficient cause for not having preferred the claim to a competent authority within the twelve years, and proceeded in it, as required by Section VIII, Regulation VII, 1795.

Claim to hold exempt from revenue under badshahee grants, lands that have paid revenue for twelve years, not to be heard.

Exception.

Persons not being the original grantees, not to be entitled to hold exempt from the payment of revenue, land paying revenue, under a life grant made before the cession.

Fourth. But no part of the two preceding clauses, is to be construed to empower the courts to adjudge any person not being the original grantee, entitled to hold land paying revenue to government exempt from the payment of revenue, under a jaghire or other grant, made previous to the 1st July 1775, where the grant may expressly specify it to have been given for the life of the grantee only, or, supposing no such specification to have been made in the grant, or the grant not to be forthcoming, where the grant from the nature and denomination of it, shall be proved to be a life tenure only, according to the antient usages of the country.

Nor to entitle the heirs of persons now possessing exempted

Fifth. Nor to entitle the heirs of any person now holding lands exempt from the payment of public revenue under a jaghire, ghire, or other badshahee life grant, made previous to the 1st of July 1775, to succeed to, and hold such land exempt from the payment of revenue upon the demise of the present possessor, where the grant may expresly specify it to have been given for the life of the grantee only, or, supposing no such specification to have been made in the grant, or the grant not to be forthcoming, where from the nature and denomination of the grant, it shall be proved to be a life tenure only, according to the antient usages of the country.

lands under life grants made previous to the 1st July 1775, to hold such lands exempt from the payment of revenue upon the death of the present possessor.

Sixth. The present possessors of lands now exempt from the payment of revenue under such jaghire, or other life grants, made previous to the 1st of July 1775, and declared by the preceding clause not to be hereditary, are prohibited from selling, or otherwise transfering them, or mortgaging the revenue of the lands for a longer period than their own lives, and all such transfers and mortgages which have been or may be made, are declared illegal and void.

The present possessors of such life grants, prohibited from transferring them, or mortgaging the revenue of them, beyond their own lives.

III. First. All badshahee grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue, which may have been made since the 1st of July 1775, by any other authority than that of government, and which may not have been confirmed by government, or by any officer empowered to confirm them, are declared invalid. But grants of land held exempt from the payment of revenue under grants made by the residents at Benares since the 1st of July 1775, are not to be annulled by the decree of the city or any zillah court, but the judge is to proceed with them, as directed with regard to the grants mentioned in Clause Third, of this section.

All grants made or confirmed since the 1st July 1775, excepting by the authority of government, or its officers duly empowered, declared invalid.

Exception.

Second. The Governor General in Council having determined on the 11th April 1788, that the lands assigned in the year 1781 in lieu of malikanah, to certain dispossessed zemindars, should not descend to the heirs of the present incumbents without his express orders orders for that purpose, the judges and the collector are to attend to this rule, and the latter is accordingly to attach such lands on the demise of the present holders, until the determination of government respecting them be received.

Courts how to proceed in the event of their entertaining doubts of the authority of the officer to confirm the grants.

Third. If doubts shall be entertained by any court, as to the competency of the authority of any officer to confirm any grant, the court is to suspend its judgment, and report the circumstances of the case to the Governor General in Council, to whom a power is reserved of determining finally, whether the officer possessed competent authority to confirm the grant, or otherwise, and the court, upon receiving the determination of the Governor General in Council, shall decide accordingly.

Questions regarding the proprietary right in lands included in grants, to be determined in the dewanny adawlut.

IV. It is to be understood that this regulation respects only the government proportion of the revenue arising from lands, held or claimed to be held, under badshahee grants, and whether government is entitled to resume or retain such revenue or otherwise. Every dispute or claim regarding the zemindarry or proprietary right in lands included in any grant, is to be considered as a matter of a private nature between the contending parties, and is to be determined in the dewanny adawlut.

Collectors to attach the revenue of lands included in escheated grants.

V. When a jaghire, or other life grant, shall escheat to government, the collector is immediately to attach the revenue of the lands, and report the circumstances to the board of revenue, who are to obtain the orders of the Governor General in Council, regarding the resumption of the grant.

Lands included in resumed grants to be assessed, and the revenue to be paid by the proprietor, according to the regulations for the decennial and quartennial settlements.

VI. When any badshahee grant shall be resumed, or expire, or escheat to government, the revenue to be paid to government from the lands included in it shall be assessed, and the settlement made in perpetuity, agreeably to the rules contained in Regulation V, 1795, with the person possessing the zemindarry or proprietary right in the lands whoever he may be. If the proprietor shall ſhall refuſe to pay the jumma demanded of him, the land ſhall be held khaus, or let in farm.

VII. It is to be the duty of the collector, after receiving the ſanction of the board of revenue for that purpoſe, as directed in Section IX, to proſecute in the courts of dewanny adawlut on behalf of government, for the reſumption of grants that are declared invalid by this regulation, and no lapſe of time ſhall be conſidered as a bar to the reſumption of ſuch grants.

Collectors to proſecute for the reſumption of grants which are declared invalid.

No lapſe of time to be a bar to the reſumption of grants.

VIII. The collector ſhall receive a commiſſion of twenty-five per cent on the amount of the jumma which may be aſſeſſed in perpetuity, on the lands contained in grants that may be reſumed in conſequence of ſuits which may be proſecuted by him to a final judgement. A collector who may inſtitute ſuits for the recovery of the public dues from lands, but who ſhall not proſecute them to a final deciſion whilſt he may hold the office, ſhall not be entitled to any commiſſion in the event of the lands being adjudged liable to the payment of revenue, but the commiſſion ſhall be paid to the collector, who may proſecute the ſuit to a final judgement as above preſcribed, unleſs the Governor General in Council ſhall deem it equitable, upon a conſideration of the circumſtances of the caſe, to give the whole or any part of the commiſſion to the collector, by whom the ſuits may have been inſtituted, or to the collector, who may have ſucceeded the collector who inſtituted the ſuits, and preceded the collector by whom they may have been proſecuted to a final deciſion.

Commiſſion of twenty-five per cent to be received by collectors on the permanent jumma of lands included in grants reſumed in conſequence of ſuits proſecuted by them to a final deciſion.

IX. When a collector ſhall have reaſon to believe that land is held by any perſon exempt from the payment of revenue under a grant that is declared invalid by this regulation, he is to ſtate ſuch information as he may poſſeſs, or be able to procure reſpecting it, to the board of revenue, who, if there ſhall appear to them ground to believe that the grant is invalid, are empowered to order the collector to inſtitute a ſuit for the reſumption of it. The board of revenue

The collector is to give a receipt for the writings. If the grantee or possessor shall omit or refuse to deliver the writings within the limited time, the board of revenue are empowered to order the collector to issue a second and similar requisition to him, to deliver the writings by a specific day, and shall at the same time impose such daily fine on the grantee or possessor, as they may judge proper upon a consideration of his situation and circumstances in life, and the amount of the fine shall be levied by the process prescribed for the recovery of arrears of revenue: and if the grantee or person in possession, shall not deliver up the writings by the time prescribed in the second requisition, the board of revenue are empowered to attach the lands, and collect the rents on account of government, until the grantee or person in possession, shall produce the writings, or the grant shall be adjudged invalid. But no collector is to require any person holding lands under any grant to produce his title deeds or writings, (excepting for the regis-

Any person having a claim to hold lands paying revenue, exempt from the payment of revenue, under a badshahee grant, must institute his claim against government, who alone can be the defendant in such suits, in the dewanny adawlut in the jurisdiction of which such lands are situated, in the same manner as in cases where individuals may claim a right to hold lands paying revenue, exempt from the payment of revenue, under grants not of the description of those termed badshahee, in virtue of Regulation XLI, 1795. The collector of the revenue is to defend all such suits as may be instituted against government, and such suits, and the suits which the board of revenue may direct the collector to institute, are to be defended or prosecuted by the vakeel of government, under the instructions of the collector; and in the event of government being cast, either wholly or in part, or, if the collector shall be dissatisfied with the decree in any respect, all the rules contained in Section XXXVI, Regulation VI, 1795, and the other sections in that regulation, respecting decisions given against a collector in the city or any zillah court, in suits instituted against him by any proprietor or farmer of land, for sums of money demanded or actually received by him as arrears of revenue, are to be held applicable to such decree, with this difference, that the suit, from the commencement of it, is to be defended or carried on at the expence of government, and in the event of the board of revenue not deeming it proper to order an appeal from the decision of the city or zillah court to be preferred to the provincial court of appeal, or from the decision of the provincial court to the sudder dewanny adawlut, in the event of their ordering the cause to be appealed to the provincial court, and of its

These entries in the regiſter of intermediate reſumptions and occurrences, are likewiſe to be inſerted in the regiſter of intermediate mutations in landed property paying revenue to government, directed to be kept by Section XVI, Regulation XIX, 1795, in order that the land may be recorded in its proper place, as an eſtate paying revenue to government, in the next quinquennial regiſter which may be formed agreeably to the above mentioned regulation. The collector is to inſert in red ink, oppoſite to the entries relating to ſuch lands in the periodical regiſter, and the regiſter of intermediate reſumptions and occurrences, the number of the page in the regiſter of intermediate mutations, in which the above required entries may be made, and he is alſo to ſpecify in red ink oppoſite to ſuch entries in the regiſter of intermediate mutations, the number of the page in the periodical regiſter, and the regiſter of intermediate reſumptions and occurrences, in which ſuch entries reſpecting the land may be inſerted.

Shares held separate, how to be assessed.

IV. It is to be understood, that if any one or more of such sharers, shall apply to have the separate possession of his or their share or shares, the proportion of the public jumma charged upon the whole estate which is to be assessed upon such share or shares, is to be adjusted according to the rules prescribed in Section VII, Regulation XXVII, 1795.

V.

V. Nothing contained in this regulation, is to be construed to entitle any person to a share of an estate which may be now held entire by any individual, or that may devolve entire to any individual prior to the beginning of the Fussily year 1204, in exclusion of the other heirs of the last proprietor, under the custom in virtue of which such individual may so hold or succeed to the whole of such estate, and for the future abolition of which this regulation is enacted; but such person or persons are to be considered bound in the cases specified in Clause Tenth, Section XXXV, Regulation XXII, 1795, by what they had acquiesced in.

This regulation not to be in force until the beginning of the Fussily year 1204, and then not to operate retrospectively.

VI. Nor to prevent persons transferring their property in the manner and to whom they may think proper, provided the transfer be not repugnant to the Hindoo or Mahomedan law, or the regulations of the Governor General in Council.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XLV.

A REGULATION for empowering talookdars, zemindars, and all other descriptions of landholders, and farmers of land, in the province of Benares, to distrain and sell the personal property of under farmers, ryots, and dependant zemindars, and putteedars, and, (in certain specified cases,) their sureties, for arrears of rent or revenue; and for preventing landholders and farmers of land in the said province, confining or inflicting corporal punishment on their under farmers, ryots, and dependant zemindars, and putteedars, or their sureties, to enforce payment of such arrears.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 28*th August* 1795; corresponding with the 14*th Bhadoon* 1202 Bengal era; the 28*th Bhadoon* 1202 Fussily; the 14*th Bhadoon* 1202 Willaity; the 28*th Bhadoon* 1852 Sumbut; and the 11*th Suffer* 1210 Higeree.

THE regulations not defining the nature and extent of the coercion which landholders and farmers of land might legally exercise over their under farmers, ryots, and dependant zemindars, and putteedars, putteedars, to enforce payment of arrears of rent or revenue; many landholders and farmers, availing themselves of the sanction of former usage, had recourse to the most oppressive means for realizing arrears, and frequently employed the same severities for the purposes of extortion; whilst others, doubtful what measures they were empowered to adopt to enforce payment from defaulters, and apprehensive of subjecting themselves to prosecution for oppression, refrained from all compulsion, and were often defrauded of arrears to which they were justly entitled. These defects in the regulations tending to screen oppression and dishonesty on the one hand, and to discourage moderation and good faith on the other; and it being as essential to the prosperity of the country, and the punctual collection of the public revenue, that landholders and farmers of land, should have the means of compelling payment from defaulters, without being obliged to have recourse to the courts of justice, and incurring the delay and expence necessarily attending a law-process for the recovery of every arrear, as that under farmers, ryots, and dependant zemindars, and putteedars, should be protected from oppression and unjust demands; the Governor General in Council, with a view to the attainment of these important objects, has passed the following rules.

What persons may distrain. Whose and what property is liable to distraint and sale.

II. Talookdars, zemindars, and other actual proprietors of land, and farmers of land who hold their farms immediately of government, are empowered to distrain without sending notice to any court of justice, or any public officer, the crops and products of the earth of every description, the grain, cattle, and all other personal property, whether found in the house or on the premises of the defaulter, or in the house or on the premises of any other person, within or without the limits of the estate or farm of the distrainer, belonging to their under renters, and ryots, and the dependant zemindars, and putteedars paying revenue through them, for arrears of rent or revenue, and to cause the said property to be sold for the discharge of such arrears. The same powers are likewise vested in dependant zemindars, and putteedars, distinct or common, for the recovery of arrears of rent from their under farmers, and ryots, and also in under farmers who farm lands from talookdars, zemindars, putteedars, or other actual proprietors of land, or farmers of land, who hold their farms immediately of government, to enable such under farmers to enforce payment of arrears of rent or revenue from their dependant zemindars, putteedars, or under farmers, or ryots. The several descriptions of landholders and farmers of land above specified, are to exercise the powers hereby vested in them under the following rules and restrictions.

III. Persons vested with the power of distraint, shall not distrain or sell the lands, houses, or other real property of their under farmers, and ryots, or of the zemindars or putteedars paying revenue through them; nor goods or advances belonging to the Company; nor the loom, thread, unwrought silk, or materials of manufacture, of any weaver or manufacturer; nor the tools of any tradesman or labourer standing towards them in the relation of under farmer, ryot, or dependant zemindar, or putteedar. All such distraints and sales are declared illegal and void. The defaulter shall stand acquitted of the arrear for which the distress may be levied, and the property shall be restored to him, or the distrainer shall be compelled to make good to him the value of it, if it shall be personal property, and shall have been destroyed, damaged, or injured, or shall not be forthcoming, and the distrainer shall be further obliged to pay to him damages adequate to the loss which he may prove to have sustained in consequence of such attachment or sale, with all costs of suit.

Distraint and sale of it, illegal and void.

Penalty.

IV. The ploughs and implements of husbandry, the cattle actually trained to the plough, and the seed grain of under farmers, ryots, and dependant zemindars, or putteedars, shall not be distrained for arrears, provided the defaulter shall possess, and the distrainer shall have it in his power to attach, other cattle, grain, or property, sufficient for the discharge of the arrear. Distrainers are enjoined to attend strictly to this rule, and every deviation from it shall be punished

When under farmers, &c. are to be considered to have defaulted.

Rep. by Sect. 7. Reg. V. 1800

Sureties not exonerated by the distraint of the property of defaulters.

V. Under farmers, ryots, and dependant zemindars, and putteedars, shall not be considered to have defaulted until the arrears have been ineffectually demanded from them, and also from their surety, if they shall have given security, and the surety shall be forthcoming; and when, as the last resource, an attachment shall be issued against the property of a defaulter, the responsibility of the surety shall not be thereby in any degree diminished.

Penalty for attaching property if no arrear be due.

VI. If any person vested with the power of distraint, shall attach, or cause to be sold, the property of any under farmer, ryot, or dependant zemindar, or putteedar, for arrears of rent or revenue, and it shall appear upon trial that no arrear was due, the distrainer shall be compelled to restore the property to the owner, or to make good to him the value of it, if it shall have been sold, damaged, injured, or destroyed, or shall not be forthcoming, and to pay to him as damages a sum adequate to the value of such property, and all costs of suit.

Attachment not to take place if the defaulter shall tender the arrears upon demand.

VII. If the defaulter, in the presence of two creditable witnesses, shall tender the arrears demanded of him, to the person deputed to attach his property, such person shall receive the arrears, and shall not proceed to the attachment.

Distrainers to furnish the person they may depute to distrain, with a writing, specifying the amount of the arrear, and the date on which it became due.

VIII. Distrainers shall deliver to the person whom they may depute to attach the property of a defaulter, a writing under their signature, specifying the amount of the arrear for which the attachment may be issued, and the date on which such arrear became due. The person so deputed shall produce this writing as his authority for making the attachment, and on the day on which he may attach the property, shall deliver a copy of it to the stated defaulter, endorsing thereon a list or inventory of the property attached, and the name of the place where it may be lodged or

If the defaulter ſhall be abſent, a copy of the above writing, with the preſcribed endorſement, ſhall be fixed up or left at his uſual place of reſidence, before the expiration of the third day, calculating from the day of the attachment. If any perſon veſted with the power of diſtraint, ſhall cauſe property to be attached, without furniſhing the agent whom he may employ for that purpoſe with the writing above directed, or if ſuch agent ſhall be furniſhed with the writing preſcribed, and ſhall omit to deliver a copy of it, with the required endorſement to the defaulter, or in the event of his abſence, to leave ſuch copy at his uſual place of reſidence within the period limited, the diſtrainer ſhall not be entitled to recover the arrear for which the diſtreſs may have been levied, and he ſhall be compelled to reſtore the property to the defaulter, or the value of it, if it ſhall have been ſold, damaged, injured, or deſtroyed, or ſhall not be forthcoming, and to pay all coſts of ſuit.

In caſe of any diſpute ariſing reſpecting the expences of the attachment, it ſhall be determined by the cauzy of the pergunnah in which the diſtreſs may have been levied. The courts of dewanny adawlut, upon complaint made to them, are to puniſh any diſtrainer who may act contrary to this

XIV.

XIV. The diſtreſs levied ſhall not be exceſſive, or in other words, the property ſeized ſhall be as nearly as poſſible proportionate to the amount of the arrear. If any perſon veſted with the power of diſtraint ſhall attach any property the value of which ſhall be diſproportionate to the arrear, and it ſhall be proved that he could have ſeized other property of leſs value, and which would have been ſufficient for the liquidation of ſuch arrear, the court of dewanny adawlut ſhall award to the owner damages according to the circumſtances of the caſe, with all coſts of ſuit.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XLVI.

A REGULATION for extending to the province of Benares, Regulation XXXIII, 1793, entitled, A Regulation for re-enacting with modifications, the rules passed on the 11th February and 21st October 1791, for repairing the embankments kept in repair at the public expence; and for encouraging the digging of tanks or reservoirs, and watercourses, and making embankments.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 28*th August* 1795; corresponding with the 14*th Bhadoon* 1202 Bengal era; the 28*th Bhadoon* 1202 Fussily; the 14*th Bhadoon* 1202 Willaity; the 28*th Bhadoon* 1852 Sumbut; and the 11*th Suffer* 1210 Higeree.

THE reasons assigned in the preamble to Regulation XXXIII, 1793, for providing for the repair of the embankments which are kept in repair at the public expence, and for encouraging the digging of tanks, or reservoirs, and watercourses, and making embankments, in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, being

Regulation XXXIII, 1793, extended to the province of Benares with a modification.

¶I. The rules contained in Regulation XXXIII, 1793, are hereby extended to the province of Benares, with this modification, that all proprietors of land applying for advances under Section VIII, shall give the same securities as are required from farmers or other persons making such applications, who are not the proprietors of the land for the benefit of which the works are intended to be undertaken.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XLVII.

A REGULATION for levying a tax on intoxicating liquors and drugs, and for preventing the illicit manufacture or vend of them, in the province of Benares.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 28th August 1795; corresponding with the 14th Bhadoon 1202 Bengal era; the 28th Bhadoon 1202 Fussily; the 14th Bhadoon 1202 Willaity; the 28th Bhadoon 1852 Sumbut; and the 11th Suffer 1210 Higeree.

ON grounds similar to those stated in the preamble to Regulation XXXIV, 1793, for establishing a tax on intoxicating liquors and drugs, and for preventing the illicit manufacture or vend of them, in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, the following rules have been enacted for the province of Benares.

No person to manufacture spirituous liquors without a license from the collector.

II. All persons are prohibited from manufacturing spirituous liquors without a license from the collector of Benares.

No tax or duty to be levied on spirituous liquors but by government.

III. No tax shall be levied on the manufacture or sale of spirituous liquors, excepting on the part of government. Any persons having having claims to deductions or compensations on account of duties or taxes levied by them in jaghires, or in talookas, or places, to which the general settlement concluded in 1197 Fussily did not extend, are to prefer their claim to the collector, that he may investigate and report upon it to the Board of Revenue, who are to decide upon it, and submit their decision for the confirmation of the Governor General in Council. The courts of judicature are not to take cognizance of such claims, but where a compensation shall have been granted, and the payment of it shall be with-held, they are empowered to take cognizance of suits to obtain payment.

Sections IV, V, VI, and VII, Regulation XXXIV, 1793, extended to Benares.

IV. The rules contained in Sections IV, V, VI, and VII, Regulation XXXIV, 1793, are hereby extended to the province of Benares.

Licenses not to be granted for working stills in the neighbourhood of the city of Benares, or the towns of Mirzapore, Ghazeepore, and Juanpore.

V. As granting licenses for working stills in the neighbourhood of the city of Benares, or the towns of Mirzapore, Ghazeepore, or Juanpore, would not only defeat the object of this regulation as far as it regards the police of the said city and towns, by affording a harbour for disorderly persons in the vicinity of them, but also injure the public revenue, by enabling the distillers in such places to undersell those residing in the said city or towns; the collector is not to grant licenses for working stills within such a distance of the city of Benares, or of the towns above mentioned, as may be likely to affect the police, or the produce of the tax on the stills worked therein. This rule is also to be applied as far as may be necessary to any other large towns, where circumstances may require it; and where any large town may be situated contiguous to the city of Benares, or to either of the three towns above mentioned, the collector is to grant licenses in such large town, as if it formed a part of the said city or the town to which it may be so contiguous, or to adopt such arrangements as may appear to him calculated to obviate the consequences above stated.

This rule to be applied as far as may be consistent with the object of it, to large towns either situated at a distance from, or contiguous to, the city of Benares, or the towns of Mirzapore, Ghazeepore, and Juanpore.

VI.

VI. The rules contained in Sections IX, X, XI, XII, XIII, XIV, XV, Regulation XXXIV, 1793, are hereby extended to the province of Benares.

Sections IX, X, XI, XII, XIII, XIV, XV, Regulation XXXIV, 1793, extended to Benares.

VII. The collector is not to authorize the eſtabliſhment of ſtills for the manufacture of ſpirituous liquors, within two coſs of the military ſtation at Chunar. The commiſſary of bazars, and the collector, are to proceed in reſpect to ſhops for the ſale of ſpirituous liquors eſtabliſhed within the limited diſtance, in the mode preſcribed for ſimilar caſes in Section XVII, Regulation XXXIV, 1793.

Stills not to be eſtabliſhed within two coſs of Chunar.

Rules to be obſerved in the removal of ſhops eſtabliſhed within the limited diſtance.

VIII. The rules in Section XVIII, Regulation XXXIV, 1793, are hereby extended to the province of Benares.

Section XVIII, Regulation XXXIV, 1793, extended to Benares.

IX. The rules contained in Sections II, III, IV, V, and VI, Regulation I, 1794, are hereby extended to Benares, with this exception, that the duties therein aſſigned to the darogahs of the police juriſdictions in the zillahs in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Oriſſa, are, in the province of Benares, to be performed by the tehſeeldars, wherever the police juriſdiction veſted in them by Regulation XVII, 1795, may extend.

Sections II, III, IV, V, and VI, Regulation I, 1794, extended to Benares.

Exception.

X. For the more expeditious trial of perſons charged with the offences ſpecified in this regulation, and the ſections of Regulation XXXIV, 1793, and Regulation I, 1794, above declared to extend to the province of Benares, upon any ſuch perſon being brought before the judge, the collector is to order the vakeel of government to exhibit the information and proofs againſt him; and the judge ſhall without delay make a ſummary enquiry into the matter, and paſs ſuch deciſion as may appear to him equitable. If a perſon convicted of any of the ſaid offences ſhall omit or refuſe to diſcharge the penalty which may be impoſed on him, the judge is to commit him to cloſe cuſtody, and proceed to levy the penalty by iſſuing the ſame proceſs againſt his property, as is preſcribed for Proceſs againſt offenders under this regulation to be carried on by the vakeel of government.

How penalties are to be levied.

Punishment to be inflicted where the penalty cannot be exacted.

for enforcing decrees of the court. If property belonging to the offender sufficient to make good the penalty, shall not be found, the judge is to commit him to the jail of the criminal court, and keep him to hard labor for one month, and then discharge him.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION XLVIII.

A REGULATION for prohibiting covenanted civil servants of the Company employed in the administration of justice, or the collection of the public revenue, in the province of Benares, from lending money to talookdars, zemindars, putteedars, or other actual proprietors of land, or to farmers of land holding farms immediately of government, or the under farmers, or ryots, of the several descriptions of proprietors and farmers of land abovementioned, or their respective sureties; and for prohibiting in the said province, Europeans of any description, holding possession of lands that may be mortgaged to them, or purchasing or renting lands, for erecting houses, or buildings for carrying on manufactures, or other purposes, without the sanction of the Governor General in Council.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 28th August 1795; corresponding with the 14th Bhadoon 1202 Bengal era; the 28th Bhadoon 1202 Fussily; the 14th Bhadoon 1202 Willaity; the 28th Bhadoon 1852 Sumbut; and the 11th Suffer 1210 Higeree.

THE

THE reasons assigned in the preamble to Regulation XXXVIII, 1793, passed for the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, for preventing the covenanted civil servants of the Company employed in the administration of justice, or the collection of the revenue, from lending money to the landholders, or farmers, or others concerned in the collection or payment of the revenue, and for restricting all Europeans from purchasing or holding lands out of the limits of Calcutta, excepting for the erection of dwelling houses, or buildings for carrying on manufactures, or for other commercial concerns, and prohibiting them from purchasing or holding such lands even for those purposes, without the sanction of the Governor General in Council, being equally applicable to the province of Benares, the following rules have been enacted.

Covenanted servants of the Company employed in the administration of justice, or collection of the revenue, prohibited lending money to proprietors, or farmers of land, dependant zemindars, under farmers, or ryots, or their sureties.

II. Europeans now possessing, or who may hereafter purchase, rent, or occupy, land without the sanction of the Governor General in Council, liable to be dispossessed at his discretion.

III. No European of whatever nation or description, shall purchase, rent, or occupy, directly or indirectly, any land within the province of Benares, without the sanction of the Governor General in Council; and all persons now so holding land, without having obtained such permission, either directly from government, or from any of the residents, or who may hereafter unauthorizedly purchase, rent, or occupy land, shall be liable to be dispossessed of the same at the discretion of the Governor General in Council, nor shall they be entitled to any indemnification for buildings which they may have erected thereon, or other account.

IV.

IV. Europeans who are not prohibited under Regulation XXXIII, 1795, or otherwise, from lending money to proprietors, or farmers of land, dependant zemindars, putteedars, under farmers, or ryots, and who may make loans to them on the security or mortgage of their lands or leases, shall not be allowed, directly or indirectly, to hold possession of the lands, the proprietary right in which, or lease whereof, may be mortgaged to them as security for the loan, nor to make or appropriate the collections, nor to have any concern or interference whatever in the management or collection of the rents or revenue of the lands.

Europeans, not prohibited lending money to proprietors, &c. on mortgage of the estates or leases, not to be allowed to have possession of the land, or to have any concern in the collections.

V. When a European shall be permitted by the Governor General in Council, to purchase, occupy, or rent, any land in the province of Benares, it shall be measured by an officer to be appointed by the collector, and the expence attending the measurement, shall be paid by the party purchasing, renting, or occupying the ground. A. D. 1795. REGULATION L.

A REGULATION for prohibiting talookdars, zemindars, or other proprietors of land paying revenue, in the province of Benares, from fixing the jumma of dependant tenants, (whether zemindars or putteedars,) or granting leases or pottahs for a term exceeding ten years; and, in cases of lands being disposed of at public sale for the discharge of arrears of the public revenue, for rendering null and void all engagements, (with certain exceptions,) subsisting between the defaulting proprietor, and his dependant zemindars, putteedars, under farmers, and ryots, for the payment of rent or revenue on account of the lands so sold.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 28th of August 1795; corresponding with the 14th Bhadoon 1202 Bengal era; the 28th Bhadoon 1202 Fussily; the 14th Bhadoon 1202 Willaity; the 28th Bhadoon 1852 Sumbut; and the 11th Suffer 1210 Higeree.

THE public demand upon the estates of the proprietors of land, with whom a settlement has been or may be concluded under the original regulations for the quartennial and decennial settlements, having having been declared fixed for ever; it is to be apprehended that many proprietors, either from improvidence, ignorance, or with a view to raise money, or from other causes or motives, may be induced to dispose of dependant zemindarries, or other tenancies, to be held at a reduced jumma; or fix the jumma of such dependant tenancies of this description as now exist in their respective estates, at an under rate; or let lands in farm, or grant pottahs for the cultivation of land at a reduced rent, for a long term, or in perpetuity. Such engagements, if held valid, would leave it in the power of weak, improvident, or ill disposed proprietors, to render their property of little or no value to their heirs; promote vice and injustice; occasion a permanent diminution of the resources of government arising from the lands, in the event of the rent or revenue reserved by such proprietors, being insufficient for the discharge of the amount of the public demand upon their estates; be an abuse of the great and lasting benefit which has been conferred upon the landholders, by the possession of their lands being secured to them in perpetuity at a fixed assessment; and moreover, be repugnant to the antient and established usages of the country, according to which the dues of government from the lands, (which consist of a certain proportion of the annual produce of every begah of land, demandable, according to the local custom, in money or kind, unless government has transferred its right to such proportion to individuals for a term or in perpetuity, or fixed the public demand upon the whole estate of a proprietor of land leaving him to appropriate to his own use the difference between the value of such proportion of the produce, and the sum payable to the public, so long as he continues to discharge the latter,) are unalienable without its express sanction. It is at the same time essential that talookdars and proprietors of land, should have a discretionary power to fix the revenue payable from their dependant tenancies, and to grant leases, or fix the rents of their lands, for a term sufficient to induce their dependant zemindars, under farmers, and ryots, to extend and improve the cultivation of their lands, and that such engagements should be held inviolable in all cases, excepting where they may interfere with or affect in any ſhape the primary and indefeaſable rights of government. Upon the above ground, and as the proprietors of land previous to the quartennial and decennial ſettlement being declared perpetual, were not entitled to enter into any engagements with their dependant zemindars, putteedars, under farmers, or ryots, for a period extending beyond the term of their own engagements with the public; the Governor General in Council has enacted as follows.

II. No taloukdar, zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, nor any perſon on their behalf, ſhall diſpoſe of a dependant tenancy to be held at the ſame or at any jumma, or fix at any amount the jumma thereof for a term exceeding ten years, nor let any lands in farm, nor grant pottahs to ryots or other perſons for the cultivation of lands, for a term exceeding ten years. Nor ſhall it be lawful for any taloukdar, zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, who may have entered into an engagement with any dependant zemindar, fixing the jumma of his tenancy for a term not exceeding ten years, or let any lands in farm, or granted pottahs for the cultivation of lands for a term not exceeding ten years, to renew ſuch engagement, leaſe, or pottah, at any period before the expiration of it, excepting in the laſt year, at any time during which, it ſhall be lawful for the parties to renew ſuch engagement, leaſe, or pottah, upon the ſame or any other terms for a period not exceeding ten years, calculating from the expiration of the year in which ſuch renewal may take place. All evaſions of the prohibitions contained in this ſection, by entering into two ſeparate engagements, leaſes, or pottahs, at the ſame time; dating an engagement, leaſe, or pottah, ſubſequent to the period at which it may have been actually executed; or by any other device; ſhall be conſidered as an infringement of them; and every engagement fixing the jumma of a dependant tenancy, and every leaſe, or pottah, which has been or may be concluded, or granted, in oppoſition to ſuch prohibitions, is declared null and void.

No jumma of dependant tenancies to be fixed, nor farms or pottahs granted, for a term exceeding ten years.

Engagements for ten years, or leſs, not renewable at any period during the term of them, except in the laſt year.

All evaſions of this rule null and void.

All engagements, leaſes, and pottahs, which have been or may be granted repugnant to this ſection, declared void.

III.

Existing engagements between talookdars, or other proprietors, and their dependant zemindars, under farmers, and ryots, if conformable to this regulation, not to be affected by divisions of the estate made pursuant to judicial decrees, or the request of the joint proprietors.

III. Where a division of a joint estate shall be made, at the request of the proprietors, or pursuant to the decree of a court of justice, the fixed public revenue assessed upon the whole estate, shall be apportioned on the several shares, agreeably to the principles prescribed in Section VII, Regulation XXVII, 1795, without regard to any engagements that may subsist between the proprietors and their dependant tenants, under farmers, or ryots. But the sharers shall not demand from the dependant tenants, under farmers, or ryots, in their respective shares, any sum beyond the the amount specified in the engagement, lease, or pottah, which may have been entered into between them and the proprietors jointly previous to the division of the estate, provided that such engagement, lease, or pottah, be not repugnant to the rules prescribed in Section II, and such dependant tenants, under farmers, or ryots, shall duly perform their part of it; but it shall remain in full force, (excepting in the event of the lands being disposed of at public sale for the discharge of arrears of the public assessment,) until the term of it shall have expired.

Engagements abovementioned not to be affected by the transfer of the lands by public sale, (except for arrears of revenue,) or by any private act of the proprietors.

IV. If the whole or a portion of any estate, shall be transferred by public sale, (excepting it be so disposed of for the discharge of arrears of the public revenue,) or by private sale, gift, or otherwise, or devolve to any person upon the death of the former proprietor, according to the Hindoo or Mahomedan law of Inheritance, the person or persons to whom the lands shall be so transferred, or may so devolve, shall not demand from the dependant tenants, under farmers, or ryots, in the lands transferred, any sum beyond the amount specified in the lease, pottah, or other engagement, for the payment of rent or revenue, which may have been entered into between them and the former proprietor previous to the transfer, or devolution, provided that such engagement be not repugnant to the rules prescribed in Section II, and that such dependant tenants, farmers, or ryots, duly perform their part of it, but it shall remain in full force until the term of it shall have expired.

V.

V. Whenever the whole or a portion of the lands of any talookdar, zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land, shall be disposed of at public sale for the discharge of arrears of the public assessment, all engagements which such proprietor shall have contracted with dependant tenants, whose tenancies may be situated in the lands sold, as also all leases to under farmers, and pottahs to ryots for the cultivation of the whole, or of any part of such lands, (with the exception of the engagements, pottahs, and leases, specified in Section VII.) shall stand cancelled from the day of sale, and the purchaser or purchasers of the lands, shall be at liberty to collect from such dependant tenants, and from the ryots, or cultivators of the lands let in farm, and the lands not farmed, whatever the former proprietor would have been entitled to demand, according to the established usages and rates of the purgunnah or district in which such lands may be situated, had the engagements so cancelled never existed.

When lands are sold to make good arrears of public revenue, all engagements subsisting between the proprietors and their dependant talookdars, farmers, and ryots, on account of such lands to be null and void.

Exception to the rule.

VI. Nothing contained in this regulation shall be construed to prohibit any talookdar, zemindar, or other actual proprietor of land selling, giving, or otherwise (as far as he may be legally competent) disposing of any part of his lands as a dependant tenancy, whether as a zemindarry, or putteedarry.

This regulation not to prohibit proprietors from disposing of dependant tenancies.

VII. Nor to prohibit actual proprietors of land granting without the sanction of government, or its officers, to any person not being a British subject, or a European, a lease or pottah for ground, for any term of years, or in perpetuity, for the erection of dwelling houses, or buildings for carrying on manufactures, or other purposes, and for offices for such houses or buildings, or for gardens.

Nor to prohibit grants or leases for any term for the purposes herein specified, except to British subjects and Europeans.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION LI.

A REGULATION respecting ryotty pottahs in the province of Benares.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 28*th August* 1795; corresponding with the 14*th Bhadoon* 1202 Bengal era; the 28*th Bhadoon* 1202 Fussily; the 14*th Bhadoon* 1202 Willaity; the 28*th Bhadoon* 1852 Sumbut; and the 11*th Suffer* 1210 Higerce.

TO prevent undue demands being made on the ryots, or cultivators of the soil, by the aumils, zemindars, farmers, or others, entitled to levy from them the hakimee or government's proportion of the produce, aumeens were deputed by the resident at Benares on the 12th February 1795, to cause pottahs to be granted to the ryots agreeably to certain forms, by which their payments were to be regulated. For reasons hereafter stated, these aumeens were recalled before they had completed the issue of the prescribed pottahs. The instructions to these officers, with alterations and additions, calculated for the more effectual accomplishment of the object of these instructions, are now enacted into a regulation, and are to be considered as the rules respecting ryotty pottahs throughout the districts in the province of Benares to which the settlement concluded by the resident extended.

Measures adopted to cause bilmok a pottah to be granted to ryots.

II. First. Orders were repeatedly issued to the aumils and canongoes, to cause the zemindars and farmers to issue to their ryots bilmokta pottahs, (i. e. pottahs with the maal and aboab consolidated,) for the nekdy or money part of the rent payable to them, and to specify therein, where the rent is estimated according to the produce, the mode of the betay or division of the crop, and also the proportions in which the division was to be made, (viz. whether in equal proportions, or in the proportions of seven to nine, or of five to two, or of two to one, or according to whatever local zebetaneh or custom might be prevalent in each place;) and the aumils were also repeatedly enjoined to issue similar pottahs, in those parts of the pergunnahs which continued amauny. There being ground to believe however, that notwithstanding these orders, the prescribed pottahs had not been duly issued, aumeens were deputed on the 12th of February 1795, to cause them to be granted, throughout all that part of the four circars, to which the general settlement had extended. The aumeens thus deputed, were accordingly furnished with instructions to cause the talookdars, zemindars, and farmers, in the musheekhéesee mozahs, or villages, for which a settlement had been concluded, and the aumils, in the villages which remained amauny, to grant the prescribed pottahs to the ryots and cultivators in conformity to a draft prepared for the purpose; the pottahs to be granted to every ryot and cultivator, in the musheekheesee villages to specify with precision, the rates of payment according to the two last years, as far as regarded the nekdy, or money part thereof; and also the modes and proportion of the betay, where the payments of the ryots were estimated in kind, or upon the produce; and in the event of the rates to be thus inserted in the pottahs being any where disputed between the aumils or malgoozars on the one part, and the ryots on the other, such disputed rates were directed to be regulated and adjusted, on reference to the accounts of the putwarries, and with the assistance of the

canongoes; so that, consideration being had to the present condition of the ground, and the cast of the cultivator, the bilmokta rye or rate, inclusive of maal and aboab, on account of such ground, might be fixed at the same rate as that at which a cultivator of the same cast would have been assessed for it, in the Fussilee year 1187.

Second. Under these instructions, where the custom of mootry, (or the payment of one general rate for different kinds of grouud and of crop,) was found to prevail, the aumeens were directed to continue it, and even to endeavour to extend it, wherever the parties concerned might voluntarily agree to its adoption.

Pottahs for mootry tenures.

Third. In pottahs issued for a money rent, with the exception of those granted for mootry tenures, the number of begas, the description of bega, (viz. whether the bega computed by the rod of three deras ilahee, the begah of the measure prevalent in the pergunnah, or the dherawat, or begah ascertained by estimate,) and the bilmokta rye or consolidated rate of assessment on each of such begas, were directed to be specified, so as to preclude the necessity of superadding to such rate the kesraat, or difference of rate proportionate to the variation in the extent of the several descriptions of begas. For this purpose it was ordered that the malgoozars and ryots, with the assistance of the opinions of the canongoes, and the approbation of the aumeens, should fix at once the bilmokta rye, or consolidated rate, in one sum, in proportion to the extent of the bega, leaving it to the parties to determine on which of these three descriptions of begas the calculation of the rye should be made, instead of confining them to one description of bega, as had been prescribed by the rule contained in Section IV, Regulation II, 1795.

Fourth. In the event of any of the putteedars, being desirous of obtaining pottahs for the land cultivated by them, the aumeens were instructed to cause the pottahdars, or persons holding pottahs of government, to grant pottahs accordingly, in conformity to the principles above prescribed. Fifth. In the musheekheesy lands, these pottahs were directed to be issued with the concurrence of the aumeen, and under the signatures of the grantors, (i. e. the pottahdars of government,) and to be attested also by the canongoes. In the villages which were continued amauny, it was directed that the said pottahs should be issued by the aumils, under their signature, and the attestation of the canongoes, and that they should also be countersigned by the aumeens; as for the future, the aumils neither had, nor were to possess, any authority to augment or diminish the rental of government, their duties being limited to the realizing of the fixed revenue; the preservation of the peace throughout their respective limits, and the execution of such orders as might occasionally be addressed to them.

Sixth. The zeyl, or detailed particulars, annexed to the form of pottah, with which the aumeens were furnished, contained an enumeration of the different modes of ryotty payments, whether of mootry, nekdy, herkowla, or betay, and of purtee, keel, and jungle, &c. one or other of which would necessarily be found applicable to the land and circumstances of every cultivator; and it was pointed out to the aumeens that the pottahs of those ryots only whose cultivation was carried on agreeably to the practice termed mootry, and no other, were to specify the amount of the rent annexed to their pottahs under that single head only; whilst in instances in which ryots cultivated not only on mootry, but also on nekdy and betay agreements, this form of pottah also prescribed how the particulars of the zeyl, were under such circumstances, to be subjoined; at the same time that it comprehended under the several heads of cultivation, a specification of the denomination of bega, in order that as all the three descriptions of begas particularized in Clause Third, were more or less in use in the province, it might be left to the option of the malgoozars and ryots, to adopt in their engagements whichever of these three standards they might prefer, the aumeens being required only to see that the description of bega agreed on should in every instance be specified.

Seventh. The following is a translate of the general form of pottah with which the aumeens were furnished:

"A pottah of engagement and stipulation in the name of according to the zeyl, without aboab, or serf; the fota or rent for the entire year of the cultivation, shall be taken bilmokta, or according to one rate; and exclusive of that, neither a daam or dhirm shall be taken."

Execution taken on the departure of the aumeens to apprize the landholders of the object of their deputation; and points ascertained during their progress.

III. First. On the departure of these aumeens, the strongest assurances were published to all the zemindars and farmers, that the object of their deputation, was solely to ensure from them, that justice to their ryots, which government had bound itself to observe to them by concluding with them a permanent settlement, the conditions of which would on no account be infringed. A considerable degree of jealousy however was manifested by the zemindars and farmers during the progress of the aumeens; several of whom represented the difficulties which they experienced in the execution of their instructions, both from the above and other causes. These difficulties are stated in the following clauses, with a view to future eventual arrangements.

Second. The aumeen in the tuppah of Ophroude, in the pergunnah of Chourassy, represented, that several places in that tuppah were without putwaries; and as similar complaints were received from other parts of the district, the aumeens were in reply directed to cause the proprietors, and farmers, to appoint putwaries wherever they were wanted; and in the mean time, to oblige the gomastahs of the said proprietors or farmers, or the officers entertained for keeping such written or other village accounts as are kept, to produce them to the courts of judicature, or to the collector, in the instances in which either are empowered by the regulations to require them.

Rule in case of no putwaries being kept in an estate or farm.

Third. Several ryots in the pergunnah of Chownsa, and other parts, who had been used to divide the grain with the zemindar or farmer in the mode called agore, according to the produce, would not take pottahs specifying either any rent per bega, or even the number of begas which they cultivated; circumstances that are adverted to, and in some measure provided for, in Section XXI, Regulation II, 1795.

Refusal of certain descriptions of ryots to take pottahs.

Fourth. The aumeen in the tuppah of Kone, in the pergunnah of Chourassy, represented, that sundry zemindars had mortgaged a part of their lands to other zemindars, and had in consideration thereof, given them pottahs at lower rates than the established ones, so as merely to prove equal to the payment of government's jumma; whilst the mortgagees caused the grounds in question to be cultivated by other ryots, from whom they took the usual rate of rent. The aumeens desired instructions whether they should cause pottahs to be given to these mortgagees, according to those which they held from the zemindars; or, whether the pottahs should be issued at such rates as the mortgagees exacted from the ryots. In reply to this application, the aumeens were directed to cause pottahs of the last mentioned description to be issued to the ryots, not however by the proprietors, but by the mortgagees; and they were further informed that this rule was to be observed in all similar cases.

to

Mode of zemindars and farmers attempting to conceal the funds in their estates by pretended exorbitant grants to the putwaries.

Fifth. It appearing by a representation from the aumeen at Mureeahoo, that the zemindars and farmers concealed the revenue lands in their occupancy, by pretending to have assigned them in larger proportions, than was ever usual, to the putwaries, for their maintenance, or otherwise; the aumeen was instructed not to admit of this abuse, but to cause pottahs to be issued for all grounds over and above the usual quantity granted to the putwaries for their maintenance in their official situations.

Difficulty in respect to betay pottahs from the custom of superadding aboab to be proportionably levied on the valuation of the crop.

Sixth. The aumeen in the pergunnah of Baleeah, represented, that although his instructions required that the rate of rent should be fixed bilmokta, or in one sum, there were circumstances which rendered the observance of this rule in some instances impracticable; such as various aboabs proportionally added in the betay ryotty tenure to the money result of the jumma or valuation of the crop, according to the market prices of grain; these aboabs being often at the rate of one anna or of two annas, per rupee, on the valuation of the crop, on account of batta; and perhaps, of three annas for the dehkherch per bega; whilst in several other villages, these articles of batta and kherch, were levied uniformly at a certain rate per rupee, on the amount of the valuation of the crop, as aforesaid. That it was therefore evident, that these money rates could not be taken into account, so as to admit of their amount being ascertained in a betay pottah, farther than by fixing their proportional rates in the rupee on the amount of the valuation of the crop, or on the bega of the cultivation, as the local custom might in either case require. This aumeen was accordingly instructed to confine himself to the insertion of these proportionate rates of aboabs.

Seventh.

Seventh. It appeared that in ſundry villages in the pergunnah of Kureendeh, it had been and continued the cuſtom amongſt the malgoozars and aſſamies, (i. e. the zemindars or farmers, and the ryots,) to carry on their cultivation, and keep their accounts, according to the practice termed by them cucha dherawat gortaur, that is, where the begas are meaſured by ſteps, of which one bega is equal only to eight pukhta biſwas; and two and a half of cucha begas to one pukhta bega. The aumeen in that pergunnah, having hereon reported, that the ryots in ſuch places, could not be made, without great difficulty, to comprehend the advantage of calculating by the pukhta, inſtead of the cucha bega, directions were given that their own cuſtoms ſhould be continued, on condition that the deſcription of the bega, and the mode of meaſurement, ſhould be clearly ſpecified in the pottahs to be granted in ſuch places.

Reſpecting the ſmall bega in the pergunnah of Kureendeh.

Eighth. In the ſaid pergunnah of Kureendeh, it was on the ſame day ordered, in reply to a query from the aumeen, that where the ſerberakars or managers, (mentioned in Section XVII, Regulation II, 1795,) were on terms of good underſtanding with the zemindars, they might, if they pleaſed, affix their ſignatures to the pottahs to be granted to the ryots; but that wherever it became a queſtion which of them ſhould have the preference, it muſt be allowed to the ſerberakar, as long as the latter remained reſponſible for the revenue.

Preference aſſigned to the ſerberakars, above the zemindars in Kureendeh in reſpect to ſigning the ryots pottahs.

Ninth. The ſame aumeen having reported, that in Pehaurpoor, and ſome other villages in Kureendeh, he had iſſued the pottahs, in the terms of his inſtructions, although in fact it had been and ſtill was cuſtomary for the zemindars, putteedars, and other chupperbund aſſamees or ryots, to meet together, and lay on ſuch a money-aſſeſſment on the government's half of the grain, as might make up the public revenue; it was thereupon ordered that thoſe who preferred this mode, might adhere to it, and even have this condition inſerted in their pottahs, without the ſtipulation that ſuch aſſeſſment ſhould be founded on the market price, as is the rule in general, for all other places.

Farther motives for the refuſal to accept of pottahs.

Tenth. The aumeen in the pergunnah of Mohammedabad, reported that certain perſons in that diſtrict, claiming to be the deſcendants of the antient zemindars of villages now rented to farmers, refuſed to receive pottahs for the ground which they cultivated from the latter, alledging that they ſhould thereby ſuffer degradation.

Government's order to recal the pottah aumeens.

IV. The deputation of the aumeens, and their proceedings, having been reported to the Governor General in Council, he obſerved in his reply of the 26th June 1795, that difficulties ſimilar to thoſe ſtated by the aumeens in Benares, had been experienced in enforcing the regulations regarding pottahs in the other three provinces. That in many places, the ryots had omitted to take out pottahs, or objected to receive thoſe tendered to them agreeably to the regulations; and that owing to the variation in the rates in the different pergunnahs and diſtricts and other local circumſtances, diſputes had been occaſioned where both the proprietor and the cultivator of the lands were before ſatisfied with the rates of aſſeſſment that had been mutually agreed upon between them. That the rules regarding pottahs contained in Regulation IV, 1794, for the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Oriſſa, had in conſequence been paſſed, under which, if any diſpute aroſe between a proprietor or a farmer of land, and a ryot, regarding the rates of pottahs, the latter, by application to the court of judicature, could always obtain a pottah at the antient and eſtabliſhed rates of the diſtricts; and that where no ſuch diſpute ſubſiſted, the interference of government was of courſe unneceſſary. That from theſe conſiderations, and as the variations in the rates in the different diſtricts, and in the quality of the lands in Benares, might render it extremely difficult for the aumeens to fix the rates and the terms of the pottahs to the ſatisfaction of both parties; and as there might be conſiderable danger of their often favoring one or other of them; the Governor General in Council directed the aumeens to be recalled, and ordered dered that rules similar to those contained in Regulation IV, 1794, should be adopted in Benares; it being presumed that the operation of them would gradually lead to the defining and fixing the rates to be paid for land in the different districts and villages, where any dispute might subsist respecting them; without incurring the inconveniencies liable to arise from attempting to effect this object at once by the deputation of aumeens.

Recal of the pottah aumeens and remark as to the degree of validity or otherwise of the pottahs issued under their instructions.

V. In pursuance of the directions in the preceding section, the pottah aumeens were recalled on the 8th of July 1795; and with respect to the progress which they made in granting pottahs, wherever it shall appear that they have caused pottahs to be granted in deviation from the letter and spirit of the instructions under which they acted, such pottahs are to be deemed invalid, and are to be so adjudged in any court of justice; whilst, on the other hand, the operation of those in which the parties have acquiesced are to be admitted. This last mentioned rule can be productive of no injury to either party, as all the pottahs, with the exception of those for the mootry tenures, are liable to annual renewal, in consequence of the alteration that unavoidably takes place in the annual cultivation of the ryots.

VI. On the recal of the aumeens, they were directed to make it known that it was expected and required of the talookdars, zemindars, and farmers, that they should complete the issuing of the pottahs to their ryots, in the form and manner required in Section II. The proprietors and farmers of land are accordingly hereby allowed until the expiration of the Fussilee year 1204, for granting these pottahs, and after that period, no engagements for rent, (exclusive of the exceptions in the cases specified in Clauses Third, Ninth, and Tenth, Section III, the usages detailed in which are to be admitted,) contrary to those ordered in that section, or such other as the collector, with the sanction of the Governor General in Council, may prescribe, shall be held valid, and the parties prosecuting under such informal engagements, shall be nonsuited with costs.

VII.

Rules for cases in which ryots omit or refuse to take out the prescribed pottahs.

VII. To provide against the ryots refusing or omitting to take out or receive pottahs, although the persons from whom they are entitled to demand them, be ready to grant them, in the form and on the terms that now are, or may be hereafter prescribed by this or any future regulation, it is declared, that if a proprietor or farmer of land shall fix up in the principal cutcheries, in his estate, or farm, a notification in writing under his seal and signature, specifying that pottahs according to the form prescribed in Clause Seventh, Section II, or such other form as the collector with the sanction of the Governor General in Council shall have approved, and at the established rates, will be immediately granted to all ryots who may apply for them, and stating where, and when, and by whom, the pottahs will be delivered; the notification shall be considered as a legal tender of a pottah, and the proprietor of land or the farmer, shall be deemed to have complied with the order; and the persons so tendering pottahs shall be entitled to recover the rents due to them from such ryots, as fully and effectually to all intents and purposes, as if there existed written engagements between the parties.

All new forms of pottahs to be registered in the city or zillah courts, and copies to be deposited in each of the principal cutcheries.

VIII. The approbation of the collector in respect to the pottahs, is to be considered to extend to the form only; as far as regards which, he is, under the orders of government, authorized either to adhere to that contained in Clause Seventh, Section II, or to adopt such other forms as the local circumstances of the district may in any part thereof render more expedient. But in all cases of deviation from the form aforesaid, the collector is to signify his approbation of the new form of pottah introduced, by superscribing it with his name and official appellation; and thereupon, he is to register a copy of such form or forms in the dewanny adawlut of the city, or zillah, within the jurisdiction of which such pottahs are to be issued; and to cause a copy thereof to be deposited in each of the principal cut[illegible] of the estate, or farm, or talooka, in which such pottahs are t[illegible] granted.

IX. If a dispute shall arise between the ryots, and the persons from whom they may be entitled to demand pottahs, regarding the rates of the pottahs, (whether the rent be payable in money or kind,) it shall be determined in the dewanny adawlut of the city, or zillah, in the jurisdiction of which the lands may be situated, according to the rules established in the pergunnah, or tuppeh, or talooka, for lands of the same description and quality, and for the same cast of cultivators, as those respecting which the dispute may arise.

Rules for determining the disputes regarding the rates of pottahs to be granted to the ryots.

X. The rules in the preceding section, are to be considered applicable not only to the pottahs which the ryots are entitled to demand in the first instance, but also to the renewal of pottahs which may expire or become cancelled; and it is declared that no proprietor or farmer of land, nor any other person, shall require ryots, whose pottahs may expire or become cancelled, to take out new pottahs at higher rates than the established rates of the pergunnah, for lands of the same quality and description; due consideration being had, as far as may be required by the custom of the district, to the alteration of the species of culture, and the cast of the cultivator. Under this rule, khodcasht or chupperbund ryots, will be entitled to have their pottahs renewed at the established rates, upon making application for that purpose to the person by whom the pottahs are to be granted, as are also paykasht ryots, provided the proprietor or farmer chooses to permit them to continue to cultivate the land, which they have the option to do or not as they may think proper on the expiration of all paykasht leases; whereas khodcasht ryots cannot be dispossessed as long as they continue to pay the stipulated rent.

Rule applied to the renewal of pottahs that may expire or become cancelled.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION LII.

A REGULATION for licencing the importation of salt into the port of Calcutta, on ships built, and fitted out within the provinces of Bengal, or Behar, or that part of Orissa which is under the dominion of the Company, and being the property of British subjects, or of natives residing within the said provinces, and subject to the Company's Government.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 28th August 1795, corresponding with the 14th Bhadun 1202 Bengal era; the 28th Bhadun 1202 Fussily; the 14th Bhadun 1202 Willaity; the 28th Bhadun 1853 Sumbut; the 12th Suffer 1210 Higeree.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION LIII.

A REGULATION for putting a stop to the illicit trade in opium carried on in the province of Bengal, by means of the cloths and earthen vessels, termed cappah and dogah; and for preventing the poppy being cultivated in the said province without the knowledge of the contractor.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 28th August, 1795; corresponding with the 14th Bhadoon 1202 Bengal era; the 28th Bhadoon 1202 Fussily; the 14th Bhadoon 1282 Willaity; the 28th Bhadoon 1852 Sumbut; and the 11th Suffer 1210 Higeree.

THE Governor General in Council having received information that an illicit trade in opium is carried on in the province of Bengal, by means of certain cloths and earthen vessels termed cappah and dogah, and that in the zillahs of Rungpore, Dinagepore, and Purnea, and other places in the said province, individuals frequently cultivate the poppy without the knowledge of the contractor, and clandestinely dispose of the opium produced therefrom; and these practices being equally injurious to the contractor tractor and to the Company; the following rules for preventing the continuance of them have been enacted.

Cloths and vessels, termed cappah and dogah, to be delivered to the contractor, who is to pay the contract price for the opium which they may yield.

II. All the opium cloths known by the name of cappah, and the earthen vessels termed dogah, in which the crude opium collected from the poppy is deposited, and which, from their porousness, absorb a part of the opium, shall be delivered by the opium cultivators to the contractor, who shall pay to them for the quantity of opium which such cloths and vessels may yield, at the rates established for the crude opium by Regulation XXXII, 1793.

Rules respecting persons cultivating the poppy without taking advances from the contractor.

III. First. Persons who may choose to cultivate the poppy without taking advances from the contractor, shall notify to him or his agent, the quantity of land which they may propose so to cultivate, and shall obtain from him, or his agent, a writing acknowledging the receipt of such notification, and such persons shall deliver the opium produced from the lands cultivated by them to the contractor, at the fixed price received by the cultivators who may have taken advances.

Penalty for breach of the rule in the preceding clause.

Second. If any person shall cultivate the poppy without apprizing the contractor or his agent, and receiving from either of them, the writing prescribed in the preceding clause, the contractor or his agent, shall be at liberty to attach the crop of poppies so cultivated, and to collect the opium which they may produce, and the cultivator shall be liable to pay for the quantity of opium so collected, the same penalty to which he would have been subject, had the opium been seized in the attempt to make an illegal sale of it. The opium and the penalty, shall be appropriated in the same manner as opium seized by the contractor and confiscated under the regulations, and the penalty leviable on account of such opium.

From what date the penalty prescribed in the preceding clause

Third. To prevent a retrospective operation of the rules contained in this section, persons who may have cultivated the poppy

for

for the current year without the knowledge of the contractor or his agent, shall not be liable to the penalty specified in the preceding clause, provided they make the notification therein prescribed to the contractor or his agent, before the 20th of February next, corresponding with the 11th Phaugun 1202 Bengal era; the 27th Maug 1203 Fussily; the 11th Phaugun 1203 Willaity; the 27th Maug 1852 Sumbut; and the 10th Shabaun 1210 Higeree

A REGULATION for prohibiting the courts of civil judicature from requiring security from guardians of disqualified landholders when parties in suits with their wards, under Section XXXII, Regulation X, 1793.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 1st September 1795; corresponding with the 18th Bhadoon 1202 Bengal-era; the 2d Bhadoon 1202 Fussily; the 18th Bhadoon 1202 Willaity; the 2d Bhadoon 1852 Sumbut; and the 16th Suffer 1210 Higeree.

DOUBTS having arisen whether guardians sued jointly with their wards, under Clause First, Section XXXII, Regulation X, 1793, are not liable under the regulations to give the same securities as are required from defendants in general; and it not having been intended by the rule contained in the abovementioned clause, that guardians should incur any personal responsibility on account of such suits, they being entrusted only with the care of the person, maintenance, and (if a minor,) the education of the ward; and the estate of the ward being answerable for all claims upon it, the Governor General in Council has been pleased to enact the following rule, which is to be considered in force from the date of its receipt in the several courts respectively.

Guardian when party to civil suits with other persons, exempted from securities.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION LVI.

A REGULATION for allowing the heirs of invalids in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, to hold their land rent-free to the expiration of the tenth year from the date of the original grantee's being put in possession, in case of his dying within ten years from such date; and for providing for the absence of invalids from their tannahs in the said provinces at the time of inspection, in consequence of permission, or from sickness, or other unavoidable cause. — PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 1st September 1795, corresponding with the 18th Bhadoon 1202 Bengal era; the 2d Bhadoon 1202 Fussly; the 18th Bhadoon 1202 Willaity; the 2d Bhadoon 1852 Sumbut; and the 16th Suffer 1210 Higeree.

BY Clause Seventh, Section V, Regulation XLIII, 1793, it is directed to be made a stipulation in the leases which have been or may be obtained from any zemindars or other proprietors

for lands thus allotted to the invalids under the conditions contained in that Section, that if the original grantee shall die within seven years from the date of his being put in possession of his lands, his heirs shall continue to hold them rent-free until the expiration of such period of seven years, from which time the lands are to become subject to the conditions in Clauses Fifth and Sixth of the abovementioned Section of the said regulation, in the same manner as if the heir had then first succeeded to them, and his ancestor had held them for a term exceeding seven years; and by Section VIII. of the same regulation, this rule is made applicable to cases in which the grants may form part of lands the property of Government. It having been deemed proper however, in consideration of the peculiar disadvantages to which invalids must often be subject, in bringing their lands into cultivation, from want of skill, or from bodily infirmity, and the consequent necessity of employing persons to cultivate their lands at a heavy expence, to extend the period for which such lands are to be so held free of rent, to ten years, in order to ensure to the heirs of invalids the full benefit which it was intended they should derive from the grants; and it often occurring that invalids are absent from their tannahs at the period of inspection, by permission, or from sickness, or other unavoidable cause; and doubts having arisen whether invalids so circumstanced, are not subject to the operation of the rule in Section XXX, Regulation XLIII, 1793, which directs that invalids not present at their respective tannas at the periods of inspection and payment of the proportion of their pay which Government may continue to them in addition to their provision in land, shall be struck off the establishment; the following rules have been enacted:

Heirs of invalids who die within ten years from the date of their grants to hold the lands free of rent to the expiration of the ten years from such date.

II. First. The rule in Clause Seventh, Section V, Regulation XLIII, 1793, is hereby rescinded, and from the date of the receipt of this regulation in the several zillahs and cities, and in all cases in which any lands, whether the property of Government, or of individual proprietors, may be assigned to invalids after such date, it shall be made a condition of the grant, that if the original grantee shall die within ten years from the date of his being put in possession of the lands, his heir shall continue to hold them rent-free, until the expiration of such period of ten years, from which time the lands are to become subject to the conditions specified in Clauses Fifth and Sixth, Section V, Regulation XLIII, 1793, in the same manner as if the heir had then first succeeded to them, and his ancestor had held them for a term exceeding ten years.

Second. In cases in which an original grantee whose lands were obtained from a proprietor on lease during the time when Clause Seventh, Section V, Regulation XLIII, 1793, was in force, shall die subsequent to the expiration of seven years from the date of his grant, and previous to the expiration of ten years from such date, Government will indemnify the proprietor for the amount which he would have been entitled to receive if the said clause had remained in force. If the grant shall form a part of land the property of Government, the Governor General in Council will relinquish to the heir the amount which would have been demandable from him under the said clause.

If the land be the property of a individual proprietor, and the lands shall have been obtained from him prior to the receipt of this regulation in the several zillahs and cheels, Government shall indemnify the proprietor for the rent he would receive by the rule in the preceding clause.

Government to remit their claim of proprietary of the lands.

III. The clause in Section XXX, Regulation XLIII, 1793, which declares that the invalids, who shall not be present at their respective tunnahs at the periods of inspection and payment of the proportion of their pay which Government may judge it proper to continue to them in addition to the provision in land, shall be struck off the establishment, is declared not to extend to those invalids who may be absent at such period with permission, or from sickness or other unavoidable cause, that may appear satisfactory to the regulating officer, or in his absence, to his assistant.

Invalids absent from their tunnahs at the period of inspection, on leave, or from any unavoidable cause, not liable to be struck off from the establishment.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION LVII.

A REGULATION for enacting into a regulation, certain orders issued by the Governor General in Council, for the abolition of the collection heretofore made on grain imported into Calcutta, under the denomination of kyauree duttoor, and for the appropriation of the proceeds of confiscated goods and merchandise at the Manjee custom house; and for levying the Calcutta export duties on the Calcutta price of the goods, instead of the aurung price or prime cost, as prescribed by Section XVII, Regulation XXXIX, 1795.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council on the 28th September 1795; corresponding with the 14th Assin 1202 Bengal era; the 29th Bhadoon 1202 Fussily; the 14th Assin 1203 Willaity; the 29th Bhadoon 1852 Sumbut; and the 14th Rabbeeul Awul 1210 Hegeree.

ON the 24th October 1788, the Governor General in Council directed that the collection made by the custom master under the denomination of kyauree duttoor on grain imported into Calcutta, should be suspended until the bazar price of that kind of rice which is usually consumed by the lower orders of the people, should fall to a certain price. On the 12th of September 1794, this species of rice had fallen to the limited price; but instead of reviving the collection, it was resolved to discontinue it altogether, including the collection on mustard seed, and teel seed, from the considerations that it fell chiefly on the lower orders of the people, and impeded the exportation of grain, to the prejudice of the agriculture of the country. For the final abolition of the above mentioned collection; and to extend to the officers of the Manjee custom house the same encouragement for the detection of illicit trade, as has been granted to the officers of the custom house at Calcutta; and to obviate the inconveniencies experienced at the Calcutta custom house in levying the export duties on the aurung, or prime cost of the goods, owing to the importers from the interior parts of the country seldom or ever showing their invoices to the purchasers of them for exportation, and the consequent difficulty of determining the amount on which the duty is leviable; the following rules have been enacted.

Kyaulee dustoor finally abolished.

II. The collection heretofore made by the custom master on grain imported into Calcutta, including mustard seed, and teel seed, under the denomination of kyaulee dustoor, is declared to be finally abolished.

Appropriation of the proceeds of confiscated goods at the Manjee sudder house.

III. In the event of goods or merchandise seized by the officers of the customs at Manjee, being confiscated, the proceeds shall be divided as follows:

One-fifth to the collector of the customs.

Two-fifths to the informer or seizer.

Two-fifths to the Company.

Calcutta export duties to be levied on the Calcutta price of the goods deducting one tenth.

IV. From the 6th of October next, the duty on exports from Calcutta, will be calculated on the Calcutta price of the goods, deducting one tenth, instead of the aurung or prime cost, as prescribed by Section XVII, Regulation XXXIX, 1795.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION LVIII.

A REGULATION for granting to the collectors a commission on the jumma of lands which may be subjected to the payment of revenue under Section XXVI, Regulation XIX, and Section XXI, Regulation XXXVII, 1793, and Section XXVI, Regulation XLI, and Section XXI, Regulation XLII, 1795; and for determining on what amount such commission, and the commission granted to collectors in cases of lands being adjudged liable to the payment of revenue in consequence of prosecutions, shall be calculated; and for requiring the zillah and city courts in the four provinces, to transmit to the collectors and the board of revenue, copies of certain decrees in suits between individuals respecting the right to land exempted from the payment of revenue; and for defining of what decrees regarding malguzarry land, the zillah and city courts are to furnish the collectors and the board of revenue with copies under Section IX, Regulation IV, 1793, and Section IV, Regulation VIII, 1795.—PASSED by the Gover- nor General in Council, on the 28th September 1795; corresponding with the 14th Assin 1202 Bengal era; the 29th Bhadoon 1202 Fussily; the 14th Assin 1205 Willaity; the 29th Bhadoon 1852 Sumbut; and the 14th Rubbeeul Awul 1210 Higeree.

IT being deemed equitable that the collectors should be permitted to draw the same commission on the jumma of lands subjected to the payment of revenue in consequence of their not being registered, agreeably to Regulations XIX, and XXXVII, 1793, and XLI, and XLII, 1795, as they are allowed on the jumma of lands adjudged liable to the payment of revenue in consequence of prosecutions on the part of Government; and to determine on what amount such commission may be granted in the event of a settlement of the resumed lands not being immediately concluded in perpetuity; and to provide for the regular transmission to the collectors, and to the board of revenue, of copies of all decrees passed in suits between individuals, affecting the right in, or possession of, landed property exempted from the payment of revenue to Government, that the alterations in such right or possession made by the said decrees, may be duly entered in the quinquennial registers; and doubts having arisen as to the description of decrees regarding or concerning land subject to the payment of revenue, of which copies are to be transmitted by the judges of the zillah and city courts to the collectors and the board of revenue; the Governor General in Council has enacted the following rules.

Collectors to receive a commission of twenty-five per cent on lands resumed under Section XXVI, Regulation XIX, or Section XXI, Regulation XXXVII, 1793, or Section XXVI, Regulation XLI, or Section XXI, Regulation XLII, 1795.

II. The collectors shall receive a commission of twenty-five per cent on the amount of the annual jumma, which may be assessed in perpetuity, on lands finally resumed and declared liable to be assessed with public revenue, under Section XXVI, Regulation XIX, 1793, or Section XXI, Regulation XXXVII, 1793, or Section XXVI, Regulation XLI, or Section XXI, Regulation XLII, 1795. The commission shall be paid to the collector who shall shall discover and report to the board of revenue the omission of the registry of the lands, unless the Governor General in Council should deem it equitable in any particular case, to give the whole or a part of the commission to any other collector. If circumstances should prevent the forming of a permanent settlement of such lands, or of lands on which the collectors may be entitled to a commission under Section XIII, Regulation XIX, and Section VIII, Regulation XXXVII, 1793, and Section XIII, Regulation XLI, and Section VIII, Regulation XLII, 1795, it shall be at the option of the Governor General in Council to grant a commission on whatever amount he may deem an equitable jumma for such lands.

What collectors are to be considered entitled to the commission.

How the commission of the Collector shall be estimated in case of omitted lands becoming subject to the assessment of revenue and a permanent settlement not being immediately made.

III. The judges of the zillah and city courts in the four provinces, shall furnish the collectors of the districts in which the land may be situated, and the board of revenue, with a copy of every decree in suits between individuals, which they may pass, or which may be sent to them by superior courts to enforce, by which the right in, or possession of, any lands held exempt from the payment of public revenue, under whatever description of grant the same may be so held, may be affected, in order that the collectors may be enabled to make the necessary entries of the alterations in such right or possession, to be inserted in the quinquennial registers of lands held exempt from the payment of revenue, directed to be kept by Regulations XIX and XXXVII, 1793, and XLI and XLII, 1795. The copies of such decrees shall be transmitted by the judge within twenty days after the same may be passed or received by him.

Zillah and city courts to furnish copies of certain decrees by which the rights, or the property in, any lands exempted from the payment of public revenue may be altered.

IV. The decrees regarding malguzarry land which the judges of the zillah and city courts in the four provinces are directed by Section IX, Regulation IV, 1793, and Section IV, Regulation VIII, 1795, to transmit to the collector of the zillah, and to the board of revenue, are hereby declared to be such decrees only as affect the proprietary right in, or possession of, the land.

Of what decrees copies are to be transmitted to the collectors and the board of revenue under Section IX, Regulation IV, 1793, and Section IV, Regulation VIII, 1795.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION LIX.

A REGULATION for further postponing to the 10th April 1796, the operation of such parts of Sections XVIII, XIX, XX, and XXIII, Regulation XXXV, 1793, as regard the silver coin.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 29th September, 1795; corresponding with the 15th Assin 1202 Bengal era; the 1st Assin 1203 Fussily; the 15th Assin 1203 Willaity; the 1st Assin 1852 Sumbut; and the 15th Rubbee ul Aowul 1210 Higeree.

THE reasons assigned in the preamble to Regulation VI, 1794, for suspending certain rules in Regulation XXXV, 1793, until the 10th April 1795, continuing to operate, and consequently rendering it necessary that the enforcement of those rules should be further postponed; the Governor General in Council has enacted as follows.

II. Such parts of Sections XVIII, XIX, XX, and XXIII, Regulation XXXV, 1793, as regard the silver coin in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, shall not have effect until the Operation of the rules in Regulation XXXV, 1793, therein specified, postponed to the 10th April 1796.

10th of April 1796, corresponding with the 31st Chyte 1202 Bengal era; the 18th Chyte 1203 Fussily; the 31st Chyte 1203 Willajty; the 18th Chyte 1853 Sumbut; and the 1st Showal 1210 Higeree; after which period, all the rules contained in those sections are to be considered in full force. Until the arrival of that period, rupees of sorts shall be received at the public treasuries in those provinces, and shall be current therein, under the rules that were in force regarding them previous to the 10th April 1794; but the rupees which may be so received, are not on any account to be disbursed from the said treasuries, but are to be sent to the mint to be recoined into siccas of the nineteenth sun, as prescribed in Section XVII, Regulation XXXV, 1793.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION LX.

A REGULATION for extending to the province of Benares, Regulation XXXVIII, 1795, entitled a regulation for prescribing the payment of certain fees on the institution and trial of suits in the courts of civil judicature; and on petitions presented to those courts; and on the institution of suits before the munsiffs under Clause Sixth, Section V, Regulation XL, 1793. — PASSED by the Governor General in Council, on the 13th November 1795; corresponding with the 30th Kautic 1202 Bengal era; the 17th Kautic 1203 Fussily; the 30th Kautic 1203 Willauty; the 17th Kautic 1852 Sumbut; and the 30th Rubbee us Sauee 1210 Higeree.

THE reasons assigned in the preamble to Regulation XXXVIII, 1795, for prescribing the payment of certain fees on the institution and trial of suits in the courts of civil judicature cature in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, and on petitions presented to those courts, and on the institution of suits before the munsiffs under Clause Sixth, Section V, Regulation XL, 1793, being with little exception applicable to the province of Benares, the following rules have been enacted.

Regulation XXXVIII, 1795, extended to the province of Benares.

II. The rules contained in Regulation XXXVIII, 1795, are hereby extended to the province of Benares.

A. D. 1795. REGULATION LXI.

A REGULATION for determining what ſicca rupees of the nineteenth ſun ſhall be conſidered as of ſtandard weight in payments in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Oriſſa.—PASSED by the Governor General in Council on the 13th November 1795; correſponding with the 30th Kautick 1202 Bengal era; the 17th Kautick 1203 Fuſſily; the 30th Kautick 1203 Willaity; the 17th Kautick 1853 Sumbut; and the 30th Rubbee us Sanee 1210 Higeree.

AGREEABLY to the antient uſage of the country, all payments in ſilver are made by weight. This uſage was eſtabliſhed to keep up the circulating coin to its full ſtandard weight, by obliging the holders of light coin to carry it to the mint for recoinage; and as the demand of Government on the proprietors of eſtates with whom a ſettlement has been made, is fixed in perpetuity at a ſpecific amount in money; it is eſſential to the intereſts of the ſtate, that this, as well as all other rules calculated to prevent the circulation of light coin, should be adhered to as strictly as may be possible. A practice however obtained under the native administration, and which continued to prevail under the British Government, of receiving light rupees in payment of private, and not unfrequently of public demands, with an allowance or batta adequate to the deficiency; individuals often finding it more convenient or advantageous to make good this deficiency, than to send their light coin to the mint, or to dispose of it to a shroff for coin of full weight. By the abuse of this practice, in progress of time the circulation became filled with coin rendered deficient in its weight by wear, or artificial means. The landholders and farmers of the revenue, availed themselves of this defective state of the currency to exact large sums from their ryots and tenants, on account of the deficiency in its weight, urging that similar demands would be made on them when they tendered it in discharge of their revenue; and the shroffs levied similar impositions in private transactions. To obviate these and other abuses, it was determined by Regulation XXXV, 1793, that after a certain period, no rupees should be considered as a legal tender of payment excepting the rupees of the nineteenth sun of the weight and standard specified in that regulation. In weighing however the rupees received into the treasuries, against standard weights, with a view to a strict adherence to the letter of the regulation, instead of a specific number of the newest coin procurable, as had been generally the practice, it was found that the nineteenth sun siccа rupees, almost immediately after their introduction into circulation, were generally from two to four annas per cent deficient in weight; and on inquiry, it was ascertained that from the number of points in the inscription, and the fineness of the silver, this deficiency invariably arose on the first introduction of new coin into circulation, although it would circulate several years without suffering any further considerable diminution in its weight. In order therefore to preserve the salutary custom of receiving the coin by weight, and at the same time to obviate the loss and inconvenience that would have resulted both to the public and individuals by rejecting the new coin in payment on account of the smallest deficiency in weight, and consequently compelling the holders to return it to the mint almost immediately after its being issued from thence, certain orders were issued and communicated to the board of revenue and to the collectors on the 2d October 1795. These orders, with modifications, are now enacted into a regulation, which is to be in force from the date of its receipt in the several zillah and city courts in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa.

II. All sicca rupees of the nineteenth sun, which shall not have lost by wear a greater proportion of their full standard weight than six annas per cent, or six sixteenths of a rupee in one hundred rupees; shall be considered as of standard weight, and be received as such in all public and private transactions.

Sicca rupees of the nineteenth sun which may not have lost by wear more than six annas per cent, to be received as of full weight.

III. The above rule however is to be considered applicable to those nineteenth sun rupees only, in which the loss of weight has been occasioned by wear. Whenever rupees of the above description may have lost any part of their full weight, although such loss shall not exceed six annas per cent, by filing, clipping, or other artificial means, they shall not be considered as of standard weight, and, if tendered in payment at any of the public treasuries, or offices, they shall be received at their intrinsic value as hereafter directed, and the podars, or examiners of the public money, are required to separate all such rupees.

Rule in case of loss of weight by artificial means.

IV. First. Rupees of the nineteenth sun deficient in weight from any other cause excepting wear, or deficient in weight from wear in a greater amount than six annas per cent, are to be received agreeably to the following rule.

And in cases where the loss of weight by wear shall exceed six annas per cent.

Second. For one hundred sicca weight of such light nineteenth sun sicca rupees, the payer is to receive credit for one hundred nineteenth sun sicca rupees. The light rupees thus received at the public treasuries, are not to be disbursed again, but are invariably to be sent to the mint to be recoined.

How such rupees shall be received.
